

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5886-Yegor looked at James and said, "You're from Earth, so you must've heard of the saying that the good cannot coexist with the bad. In fact, the saying can be applied anywhere.

"We're cultivators that can travel across galaxies, spaces, and universes. We also have great strength, yet we can't escape fighting over fame and fortune, nor can we suppress our desire for power.

"We're humans from the same planet. However, we're enemies here. It's either you die, or I die." James frowned and asked, "Is it because I'm from the Dark World?"

Yegor nodded and said, "Yes. Although the Dark Genesis World is part of the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds, it's not recognized here. The Dark Genesis World's Lord was so mighty and strong.

"Even after he gained the strength to overpower everyone in the Genesis Worlds, he could not convince them to accept the Dark Genesis World.

"Ultimately, he became an exceptional existence in his world. However, he was the cause of the rift between the Dark Genesis World and the other Genesis Worlds. It had been his biggest regret." Judging from Yegor's complicated expression, James immediately understood the person whom he was speaking of was Franciscus.

When James encountered Franciscus' soul, they touched on the topic.

Franciscus split the Dark Genesis World in two, hoping the other Genesis Worlds would accept them. He separated the evil and tried to merge the Dark World, which contained justice, with the other Genesis Worlds. However, they still refused to accept the Dark Genesis World. If even a powerhouse like Franciscus could not achieve something, then who else could?

Yegor looked at James, who had fallen silent. He sighed and said regretfully, "You should return to the Dark World. With your talent and Franciscus' inheritance, you'll be able to dominate the Dark World. You'd be in control and can rule the Dark World. Why would you want to come to a place where you're not welcomed and put yourself in danger?"

James raised his head and sneered, "Are you here to persuade me to leave?" Yegor did not speak, but his silence was enough of an answer.

James slowly stood up and said, "Franciscus couldn't do it, but it doesn't mean I can't! As his successor, I must fulfill his wish!"

Yegor stood up and said, "You? You're just a weakling who just survived a tribulation to enter the Yuraeceon Rank.

James turned around, stared at Yegor, and answered firmly, " Yes. However, I don't want to merge the Dark Genesis World with the other Genesis Worlds! I want them to be integrated into the Dark Genesis World!"

"That's a wild dream! Do you know how many major forces are within the different Genesis Worlds? Do you have any idea how many peerless powerhouses exist?" Yegor was exasperated.

James stared straight into Yegor's eyes and said, "You think only the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds has peerless powerhouses? We do as well.

Franciscus was from the Dark World, and he became a taboo for the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds. Your so-called peerless powerhouses from the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds sound like a joke!"

"You..!" Yegor was speechless.

James said firmly, "Franciscus has already paved the way for the Dark Genesis World. We must finish what he started! He made a mistake. He had the power to suppress everyone else and make the rules. However, he chose to cater and lower his head to them.

"Who the hell decided that the rules set by a few powerhouses were the standard and must be followed?

"Why is it that not following your rules means we're evil, and following them is justice? Just because you are the majority doesn't mean you are the rule-makers!"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5887-"You should know that good can exist in the dark, and evil can also exist in the light. Those sanctimonious forces that advocate justice are simply exploiting and oppressing others for their own benefit.

James sighed and said, "I've seen a lot in the Dark World. In the first place, there are no such things as rules and regulations. Ultimately, everything boils down to the strong suppressing the weak. However, they put on a facade and pretend to be just. Don't you think it's hypocritical?"

"In my opinion, your force, Skynet, is probably cleaner than them. You trade information for a specific price. It's a fair trade between two willing parties.

Nobody is forced to do it."

Yegor raised his head and closed his eyes, recalling James' words. It had been a long time since he had heard such pleasing words.

He had held a high position for a long time and had been respected by many.

Over time, he also naturally accepted that his words carried weight and were like absolute rules.

In truth, it was just the weak giving in to the strong. Those with power were respected but insisted their acts were of justice. Eventually, they became sanctimonious.

After a moment of silence, Yegor sighed. He stood up and said, "I've gained a lot from listening to you. Since you're firm in your beliefs, you shouldn't ever waver.

"However, you must understand the path you're about to walk is full of obstacles and danger. It's not going to be easy.

"Franciscus and I were great friends. He gave me a lot of guidance. I owe my status and cultivation achievements to him."

Yegor turned around, looked at James, and said, 'To return his favor. I'll naturally have to take care of his successor.

"Don't worry. I'll keep your identity and ambitions a secret. I won't let a third person find out.

'The Timaeus Sect is the strongest in the Ancient Genesis World. There are a lot of resources and Supernatural Powers that can help you improve to a rank you will be able to protect yourself.

"With your talent and potential, the Timaeus Sect will invest a lot to train you.

You must make good use of it.

"However, don't ever go to the Daemon Prison. No matter who asks you to go, you must refuse it."

Yegor suddenly waved his hand, and a golden brocade box floated before James.

"It's a gift for you. Please cherish it.

"From now onward, never use the name James Caden. Instead, keep using Forty-nine.

"Also, my son is very mischievous. Please take care of him."

After speaking, Yegor transformed into a beam of light and disappeared.

James held the brocade box and stood confusedly in place.

Yegor had appeared out of the blue and disappeared without warning.

James had heard everything Yegor had said, but whether or not he understood was a different matter.

□

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5888-Xzavion, Stephen and Quattro, who had been petrified, emitted a bright light and returned to normal. They exchanged confused glances, then rested their gazes on James.

Quattro was the first to speak. "What happened to us just now, General? We suddenly couldn't move or hear anything. Is your soul damaged, and it caused a delay in time?"

After suggesting a possibility, Quattro shook his head and said, “No, no. This is unsafe. We should quickly get out of here. If it happens again, we might be sealed here forever.”

Stephen rolled his eyes and said, “Shut up, piggy! We would’ve been dead by now if it weren’t for James. Do you even have a heart?” Xzavion looked at James and asked, “I seemed to have sensed a powerful force just now. Did a powerhouse draw your soul?”

James held the brocade box and answered calmly, “It was Truett’s father.”

Everyone’s eyes widened in shock.

Since Truett was Skynet’s Young Master, his father would be the founder, a peerless powerhouse at the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation that had great prestige within the Ancient Genesis World.

They were surprised about being sealed by a powerhouse at the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation.

Xzavion recomposed and asked nervously, “W-Why was he here?”

James slowly opened the brocade box without responding to the question. A golden light suddenly flew into the sky, forming a vast light curtain.

Under the astonished gazes of James and his friends, a huge map gradually materialized on the light curtain. The map included 30 Genesis Regions.

The Ancient Genesis World occupied 15 of the Genesis Regions.

Out of the 15 Genesis Regions, the Timaeus Sect took up three regions. The Yaquis Sect and the Bellerian Dynasty had two regions each. In addition, the Tempestara and Skynet had one region each. Hundreds of other forces shared the remaining six regions.

Around the Ancient Genesis World, there were five other major Genesis Regions. Together, they made up the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds, Outside the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds, there were ten slightly smaller Genesis Regions, representing the countless Micro Genesis Worlds.

In the past, James and his friends were clueless even after learning about the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds and the Micro Genesis Worlds. Now that they had a map, they had a clearer picture of the Genesis Worlds.

The Genesis Worlds were like a spiral. In the center was the Ancient Genesis World, surrounded by the Three Thousand Great Genesis Worlds. Then, the Micro Genesis Worlds were at the outermost part.

It looked as if they were interlocked with each other and were in line with the natural way of the Heavenly Paths.

James and his friends could see the divisions of the Genesis Worlds and where the different major forces were located. The number of powerhouses in each region was also marked.

After examining the map for a while, they learned that the top ten powerhouses of the Ancient Genesis World were all at the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation, The Three Thousand Great Genesis World's top ten powerhouses were lords of their worlds and also at the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation. The other lords were weaker, with the stronger ones at the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Fifth to Sixth Tribulation and the weaker ones at the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's First or Second Tribulation

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5889-The forces and powerhouses outside the Ancient Genesis World were much weaker. The strongest lord of a Micro Genesis Worlds was only at the Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation.

It was a strength gap caused by the difference in cultivation resources and territory. The disparity in strength affected the fate of an entire Genesis World.

To change their situation, they would have to have a miracle happen. Otherwise, it was almost impossible for changes to happen.

Quattro suddenly pointed at the map and said, "Why is that portion there black, General? Is that the Dark Genesis World?"

Xzavion and Stephen searched for the area and were shocked when they found it.

James nodded and said, "Probably. Skynet's intelligence network isn't in the Dark Genesis World. Therefore, he couldn't mark anything about it."

Quattro said doubtfully, "Is the Dark Genesis World so big? The Yaquis Sect isn't even half our size! I can't forgive them!"

Xzavion sighed and snarled, "We occupy such a large area but are isolated. We're being unfairly treated and slandered. They're just bullying us."

Stephen pointed at a location on the map and said, "Look, Master! It says the Righteous Alliance. The Timaeus Sect, Yaquis Sect, and Tempestara are part of the alliance.

"If I'm not wrong, the so-called Righteous Alliance is to suppress the Dark Genesis World, right?"

James squinted his eyes and said, "Of course. The Righteous Alliance coerced smaller forces to besiege the Dark Genesis World and seal us away."

Xzavion exclaimed, "I finally understand why we had to go through the dangerous and uncertain Halcyon Path to reach the other Genesis Worlds. It's because of the Righteous Alliance!"

Xzavion turned to James and said, "Do you remember the seal on the Dark World that prevented outsiders from entering?"

James nodded and said, "Yeah. It wasn't a seal placed on us by the other Genesis Worlds. Franciscus was the one who sealed away the Dark World to protect us from the Righteous Alliance."

Xzavion looked at James and said surprisedly, "Y-You already knew?"

James shook his head and answered, "No, I met Franciscus' remaining soul when I received his inheritance from the Zephyria World. He told me about it back then."

Xzavion said, "I see. But how long can his seal resist the Righteous Alliance?"

James slowly turned around and fell silent. He brought his comrades to the Genesis Worlds to find Thea. At the same time, he wanted to gain a broader knowledge and improve his cultivation rank.

After seeing the map from Yegor, James realized how dangerous the Dark Genesis World's situation was.

If he could not defeat them in confrontation, he had to cause internal conflict. It was the only way to divide their strength and buy more time.

James turned around and said, "Give me all the Genesis Cores you guys have. I need a lot to recover my physical body.

"After I repair my golden body, we'll have to use the Timaeus Sect's name to stir up a storm."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 5890-Xzavion and Stephen took out their Genesis Cores and handed it over without hesitation. The two would not even blink an eye if James asked them to fight with their lives, let alone give him a few Genesis Cores.

Quattro, on the other hand, squirmed and quietly stepped away.

Stephen suddenly turned around and shouted "You pig! What are you doing?" Quattro stuttered, "I ...My head feels dizzy. I think the powerhouse just now left some kind of seal in my mind...I..."

Before Quattro finished his sentence, his body went limp, and he fell into a pile of mud.

Xzavion walked over, grabbed his legs, and lifted him into the air.

Quattro struggled to escape and shouted, "What are you doing? You guys are bullying me! Do I have no pride?!"

"We're just punishing a pig." Stephen stepped forward, and a beam of light emerged and sealed Quattro.

Then, Stephen began drawing out things from Quattro's spatial storage. He took out all kinds of stuff, including weapons, manuals, and even adult toys.

Xzavion and Stephen were stunned to see the pile of stuff on the floor. Even James had his eyes opened.

Quattro was not only greedy but was also lustful. Even if he had ten thousand women, he could not use up the stuff he had lying on the ground.

Quattro cried out, "Let go! Hurry and let go of me! Are you going to watch a helpless pig get bullied, General? I've been following you and fighting alongside you for so long! Don't you feel a little bit of pity for me?"

Instead of sounding like he was begging for mercy, it sounded like a cliché way to escape the situation.

James was numb to his cringeworthy words.

Stephen suddenly grabbed Quattro's head and said, "Tell me! Where are the Genesis Cores? Where did you hide them?"

"I don't have anymore! I already used everything to recover, " Quattro said aggrievedly.

Xzavion grabbed Quattro's legs and shook him. "Lies! We've ransacked the Yauis Sect's sale point and seized many treasures. You got the most Genesis Cores and the highest quality at that!"

Xzavion snorted, "He's right! I saw you hide over twenty Genesis Cores of the ninth-grade Yuraeceon Daelm Rank. You're only at the Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank's First Tribulation. You don't need them! Hand them over!"

Quattro, who was held upside down, stopped wailing after being exposed by Xzavion and Stephen.

"Alright, I'll hand them over. But at least put me down first."

Xzavion let go, and Quattro fell to the ground, causing the ground to tremble.

Linder Xzavion and Stephen's watchful eyes, Quattro reluctantly took out a few dozen high-quality Genesis Cores.

"I'm not a stingy person, General. For you, I could risk my life. A few Genesis Core are..."

Before Quattro could finish his sentimental speech, James pocketed all the Genesis Cores.

Quattro watched with a pained and sorrowful expression.

James looked at everyone, then said, "Don't worry. I'll pay you guys back in double."

Stephen looked at James and said, "Why are you saying such things, Master?

We owe you our lives."

Xzavion took a deep breath and said, "He's right. If you hadn't brought us with you, we would never have embarked on such a great adventure."

Quattro also joined in, saying. "I also have never suffered a loss while following you, General! Look at my cultivation rank! I improved so much after leaving the Dark World!"

Stephen grabbed Quattro's mane and said, "Then why are you stingy toward him?"

Quattro shouted in frustration, "I'm just being conservative! One must always have some backup in case of an emergency!"