

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6081 - 6084

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6081-The colossal energy ball revealed that he was standing in the center of Tai Chi, surrounded by countless majestic Genesis powers.

In the void, a resonant voice presented him with a choice to either return along the original path or become one of the Eighty-one Great Heavenly Paths beneath Tai Chi.

Simultaneously, other living beings also underwent the Heavenly Path Selection, where they were required to make the same choice.

At the same time, the powerful illusory voice enumerated the benefits of the Heavenly Path. Besides gaining endless boons and the Heavenly Path Power, one could command all the laws and destinies of a realm's living beings.

be automatically released upon ascending to the Heavenly Path. The only requirement was the complete severance of all ties with the past and present, forever renouncing the seven emotions and six desires.

Watching the living beings in the energy ball, James felt even more nervous than they did. "This is truly a grand boon. Ascending to the Heavenly Path in a realm is a dream providence sought by many living beings. It must not be missed."

Hearing James' words, the two elders in black and white robes smiled mysteriously. Meanwhile, Rebella kept her eyes fixed on the energy balls. She muttered softly, "Some of them will come back. They'll find that staying with you is less worrying and more interesting."

Upon hearing this, James turned to her and asked, "Does that include you?"

Rebella was stunned and then lowered her head awkwardly, emitting a very soft hum.

Looking at the energy balls in the void, James sighed gently. "Everyone has their own aspirations. I hope they can make their truest choices. I'll support them regardless of what they choose."

“You’re quite easy-going!” The white-robed elder chuckled, then asked, “If given the choice, what would you do?”

“I wouldn’t become a Heavenly Path living being, of course,” James responded without hesitation. “It means being alone. Even if I get to control the laws of all living beings and the natural principles, what’s the point of it all without family, friends, and all matters and emotions?”

“Take my wife as an example. Our family would feel as if it had scattered if she became a Heavenly Path living being.”

Upon hearing this, the white-robed elder laughed heartily, “She wasn’t selected.

It’s destiny.”

“Absurd destiny,” retorted James. “Can I resign from the Heavenly Path?”

“You have that option for the Eighty Heavenly Paths and below, but not for the Four Extremes Heavenly Path,” explained the black-robed elder deliberately.

James pursed his lips and said no more.

Just then, Truett was the first to make a choice. “I choose to return along the original path!”

Hearing the words emanating from the energy ball, James and the others were momentarily stunned.

“Isn’t becoming a Heavenly Path living being good?” asked the resonant voice in the void. “You can command the laws of everything in a realm.”

Truett spread his hands inside the energy ball, smiling cynically as he said, “There’s no James, my father, my brothers, or friends! If I truly ascend to the Heavenly Path, I have to sever all ties and forget them. This is more painful than death.”

“So, you have no regrets?” inquired the majestic voice in the void.

“No,” replied Truett without hesitation. “Please send me back.”

As soon as he finished speaking, a flash of white light shone from within Tai Chi, and Truett disappeared instantly.

"I knew he would choose this." James laughed at this scene. "I understand my brother the best! We have the same personality. How else could we get along so well at first sight?"

Seeing James' proud face, the black-robed and white-robed elders shook their heads with a wry smile.

It was Xitlaly's turn to make a choice in the energy ball. However, she asked a question that left everyone amused.

"Can I still meet James and my husband? Is it possible for me to bear children with my husband?"

Then, the resonant voice in the void was momentarily stumped.

"Answer me." Xitlaly blinked her beautiful big eyes.

"No," replied the resonant voice with a hint of regret. "All seven emotions and six desires must be severed."

"Can I choose not to sever them?" asked Xitlaly again. "Or can I sever others and just keep my husband and James?"

Tai Chi spoke without words.

"If not, then forget it." Xitlaly sighed lightly. "As tempting as the Heavenly Path is, I still find it more interesting to be with James and my husband."

At these words, James raised an eyebrow. "Is this silly girl trying to infuriate Tai Chi?"

"She's interesting!" The black-robed elder nodded. "Her Spiritual Root is also sufficient."

"Yes," sighed the white-robed elder gently. "What is the meaning of love in the world? It makes people willing to live and die together, forgoing the Heavenly Path."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6082-James glanced at the two elders. "If you truly find her interesting, grant her more boons."

“With boons come tribulations,” responded the black-robed elder slowly. “The greater the tribulation, the greater the boon. It’s not something within human control.”

“Fortune lies within misfortune, and misfortune leans on fortune,” said the white-robed elder with a faint smile. “This is the way of nature.”

James thought that if these old foxes were unwilling to grant the boon, then so be it. Whatever words came out of their mouths seemed profound and irrefutable.

“Look, it seems like Tai Chi doesn’t want Xitlaly to leave,” exclaimed Rebella suddenly, pointing at the energy ball.

Following her gaze, James looked puzzled.

In the current energy ball, Xitlaly still stood within a Tai Chi, her entire body enveloped in a faint black and white light.

After a while, Tai Chi spoke, “You have the tribulation of emotions. So be it. I’ll grant you time and bestow upon you the Orient Force. After you settle the tribulation of emotions, you can inquire about the Heavenly Path.”

As it spoke, the Tai Chi that stood by Xitlaly suddenly burst forth with a dazzling green light. The next moment, she waved a single hand, and a mighty surge of Genesis Power shot out. It transformed into countless cyan dragons that roared and moved in a circle, creating a terrifying spectacle in its magnitude.

“The Orient Force!” exclaimed the white-robed elder as he stood up. “This female being has been granted a boon.”

The black-robed elder looked astonished too. “Nine cyan dragons as protection, forcefully pulling up from the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Eighth Tribulation’s lower grade, extinguishing the Heavenly Tribulation, and paving the way for the Path.

Tai Chi is truly giving an extraordinary reward.”

Hearing the words of the two elders, James frowned. “So, my sister-in-law’s current cultivation has reached the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Eighth Tribulation's lower grade, and she also gained the Nine Cyan Dragon Forces?"

"This means nothing," the white-robed elder said with a slight smile. "As her Spiritual Root increases with her cultivation, and with the assistance of the Orient Force, she will rarely encounter opponents within her cultivation base."

After hearing this, James drew in a breath of cold air.

Rebella twitched her stunning cheeks. "So, she's at the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Eighth Tribulation now.

Does that mean she's essentially invincible within the Eighth Tribulation?"

Both black and white elders nodded simultaneously.

"No way!" Rebella took a cold breath. "If she advances to the Ninth Tribulation, won't I be no match for her?"

"That's a matter of time," said the black-robed elder slowly. "Because she has extinguished the Heavenly Tribulation, there is no longer any worry about crossing the tribulation."

Rebella was rendered speechless.

However, James suddenly thought of something and burst into laughter. The black-robed elder and Rebella were both stunned. They looked at him in surprise.

"What are you laughing at?"

"I'm laughing at Truett," said James with a grin. "This guy loves to pick fights. I'm afraid he'll be constantly suppressed by his wife in the future, beaten up to a pulp."

Everyone was left speechless.

As they were discussing, Xitlaly, empowered by the Orient Force accompanied by the nine cyan dragons, disappeared from the energy ball.

give up the Heavenly Path.

Especially Xatia, who could potentially be one of the top ten Great Heavenly Paths among the Eighty- one Great Heavenly Paths, surprisingly chose to give it up.

Their reason for giving up was one and the same. They did not want to leave their Master.

In light of this reason, the black-robed and white-robed elders, along with Rebella, once again looked at James with curiosity.

□

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6083-“Why are you all looking at me like that?” James rolled his eyes. “It’s their own choice. I didn’t force anyone.”

‘You’ve had quite a few romantic entanglements,” teased the elder in the white robe. ‘The path of cultivation is already difficult and full of thorns, yet now you have to go through romantic entanglements. Poor you!’

“A free-spirited person must have charm,” added the elder in the black robe. “It’s because of this that such destinies unfold.”

“Please don’t make fun of me, Sirs.” James waved his hand. “I’m a married man, and I’ve never had any other intentions.”

As these words were spoken, Rebella, who was standing beside him, suddenly froze. Then, she lowered her head in disappointment.

“You may not like others, but you can’t stop others from liking you.” The white□robed elder laughed. “Emotions are not bound by any grand principles. You have to handle them yourself.”

These words left James speechless.

At that moment, Tai Chi’s sigh resonated simultaneously within the energy balls bodies and disappeared in an instant.

Following that, the last energy ball in the void was Abelard’s.

James did not hold much hope for Abelard because he was extremely intelligent. Even if he submitted, it would be out of necessity. Now, there was a chance to ascend to the Heavenly Path, and regardless of the type of Heavenly Path, it meant regaining freedom from being controlled by anyone.

This was a rare opportunity for him.

"I'm willing to be the Heavenly Path," said Abelard softly within the energy ball.

"However, can I make a request?"

"Of course," permitted Tai Chi.

"Could you give me some time?" asked Abelard indifferently. "I owe a debt of gratitude to someone for saving my life and recognizing my worth. I want to fulfill my long-cherished wish."

"Alright," said Tai Chi again. "On this condition, you'll descend from your current Sacred Heavenly Path to the Xenith Heavenly Path."

"What's the difference?" asked Abelard.

'The Sacred Heavenly Path consists of Eighty-one Great Heavenly Paths, while the Xenith Heavenly Path has thirty-six thousand five hundred Petit Heavenly Paths," explained Tai Chi.

Abelard frowned. "Can the Petit Heavenly Path be upgraded to the Great Heavenly Path?"

"Yes, but it's extremely difficult," responded Tai Chi.

"As long as there's a chance." Abelard nodded. "Please send me to the fourth layer of Forladdt Land. My Master's Golden Body has been destroyed, and he's in imminent danger. I must do my best to help. If I die in battle, then the Heavenly Path will be beyond my reach, and I'll have no regrets."

Upon hearing this, James stood up immediately. "Why is he so foolish? He's the most adept at scheming. Why is he being so persistent now?"

At this point, James turned to the black-robed and white-robed elders, 'Sirs, may I speak with him directly? This involves his future, and I ask for your understanding."

'We only have the right to recommend in the Heavenly Path Selection."

The white-robed elder appeared hesitant and looked at the black-robed elder.

“In so many years, this is my first time seeing such sentimental living beings.”

The black-robed elder sighed lightly. “Let’s give it a try.”

With that said, he sent a black light toward the energy ball. Subsequently, the energy ball expanded infinitely, and the entire fourth layer of Forladdt Land was enveloped in a brilliant golden light.

The next moment, Abelard, who was inside the massive energy ball, suddenly exclaimed, “Master, Ms. Rebella?”

“Remember this, Abelard!” shouted James solemnly. “I don’t need your gratitude. I have no favor toward you. Everything you do is for selfpreservation and caution, not friendship. You’re an extremely intelligent living being. There’s no need to be overly sentimental.

“Moreover, Truett and Xitlaly, both of whom have a strong connection with me, have become the Heavenly Path. You don’t need to be so wishy-washy. Before the great boon, there is no room for sentimentality. If it were me, I would choose the Heavenly Path without hesitation.” Upon hearing this, Abelard was stunned.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6084-On the side, Rebella looked at James. “Master, you...” “Shut up!” James’ face darkened. “It’s not your turn to speak. You’re just a slave!”

Watching James’ unusual behavior, Rebella’s stunningly beautiful face was filled with astonishment.

The black-robed and white-robed elders glanced at each other but remained silent.

“Abelard Jherais!” James spoke again, “If you insist on returning to Forladdt Land, I will kill you, and you will never become a Heavenly Path. I will not allow my enemy to have such a powerful boon.”

After hearing James’ ruthless words, Abelard raised his head and took a deep breath.

"I, Abelard Jherais, grew up in loneliness and obtained a boon by chance as a lowly rat. I thought that I could avoid discrimination by cultivating as a human.

"Little did I know, I faced traps and schemes at every turn. I experienced being raised and lowered, enduring countless hardships. I am solitary by nature, avoided socializing, and became a target of rejection. Even though I worked hard to cultivate and entered the Timaeus Sect, I still faced endless bullying.

"If it weren't for several great providences and the help of my Master, I wouldn't have reached the cultivation base of the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation's lower grade."

At this point, Abelard was staring at James. "I, Abelard Jherais, have enemies everywhere. Only my Master has treated me sincerely, but even he fell victim to Gladwin's frame and perished.

"This time, the reason I was chosen to enter Forladtt Land is solely because Gladwin wants to eliminate me completely. He aims to use this opportunity to seal me in Forladtt Land forever and prevent me from reincarnating."

At these words, tears flowed from Abelard's eyes. "I thought my fate would end here, but I met all of you.

"In the fourth layer of Forladtt Land, a desire for my survival arose when I learned that your Yuraeceon Genesis Bell could resist the Galeat Wind.

However, I never expected to be controlled by you. My fate was rewritten, and I could only endure and wait for the right moment.

"However, I experienced things I had never encountered before in our interactions.

'You could have easily gained the third layer boon and obtained the Nether Demonic Sword, but for the sake of a spiritual body slave, you risked your life and fell into a perilous situation, losing the Golden Body boon.

"I also saw your friends firmly believe that you would not perish, and they were waiting for US on the shore.

"That was an unprecedented friendship, an unprecedented unity, and a genuine sincerity I had never seen before.

“At that moment, I thought, what’s wrong even if I am controlled by you? A Master who is willing to risk his life for a spiritual body slave is worth pledging allegiance to, isn’t he?”

“Upon careful consideration, I realized you have never insulted or oppressed me and Rebella since you took control of US. You never treated us as slaves. You personally took the lead whenever there was danger, and we just followed. It was not like other people who treated US as cannon fodder.

“I don’t know what Rebella thinks, but at least I truly acknowledge you as my Master and remember your kindness.”

At this point, Abelard took a deep breath. “When you spoke those heartless words just now, it was definitely not your true intention. We have seen what kind of person you are during these years.

‘You could meet me in such a way, indicating you have been paying attention to US. You are afraid that if I get permission to return and assist you, I’ll descend from the Sacred Heavenly Path to the Xenith Heavenly Path.

“Master, I’ve accepted your grace. Even if I must sever my seven emotions and six desires to achieve the Heavenly Path, I will never break the soul contract. I also have faith that friends like Truett and Xitlaly would never forsake you for the pursuit of the Heavenly Path.

“If you don’t need my help, then I will quietly cultivate until the day you need me.”

Saying this, he suddenly knelt in front of James and kowtowed on the Tai Chi ground with a loud thud.

James quickly waved his hand. “Abelard...”

Thud! Another loud thud was heard as Abelard’s head hit the ground again. At this moment, he was in tears. ‘The first bow is to thank you for saving my life, Master. The second bow is to thank you for recognizing me, Master!’

Then, he kowtowed for the third time, shouting, ‘The third bow is to thank you for changing my fate, Master!’

When he lifted his head again, an inscription shot out from the center of his eyebrows, turning into a golden mouse jade carving. It fell into James’ hands.

“Master, no matter when or where, as long as you crush this jade mouse, I will come to help you, disregarding life or death!”

After saying this, he wiped away his tears and turned into a beam of light, shooting toward the energy ball.

“Abelard!” shouted James again. However, the energy ball in the void rapidly shrank until it disappeared.

Silence filled the air. On the mountain peak, Rebella, the black-robed elder, and the white-robed elder were silent. James closed his eyes slowly. He did not expect Abelard to do this before achieving the Heavenly Path.

Rebella stood beside James, looking at him with complex emotions in her eyes.

James was a natural leader, possessing the charm of a born leader. Even solitary living beings like Abelard were deeply devoted to him. Such charismatic qualities were not something those superior in the Timaeus Sect could possess.

Calculations, conspiracies, deceitful gestures, and hypocritical appearances could not compare to genuine sincerity and openness.

‘Where are you, James?’

‘We’re back, James! Where are you?’

‘Tell us your coordinates, Master!’

“I miss you, Master. Where are you?”

With the sudden transmission of these voices, James snapped out of his melancholy. He wiped his slightly moist eyes and then looked up.

‘They have returned. I need to meet them!’ Then, he solemnly placed the jade mouse given by Abelard into his soul space. “Don’t mention anything about Abelard when I meet them later.”

After saying this, he leaped into the air, heading toward the grounds of Forladtt Land. Rebella hesitated for a moment and quickly followed.

At this moment, both the black-robed and white-robed elders stood up slowly.

With hands behind his back, the white-robed elder sighed, “A thousand miles of yellow clouds and white sunsets; a northern wind blows, and geese fly in the snow.”

The black-robed elder glanced at him and coldly shouted, “Don’t worry about not having friends in your future life. Who in the world wouldn’t know you?”

‘Yeah.’ The white-robed elder sighed. “With such charm and righteous camaraderie, who in the world wouldn’t know you?”