

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6158

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6158-As soon as he said that, Mattaniah Cerghal sent another blast of gray energy in the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell's direction.

Simultaneously, the middle-aged man raised his hand and blasted his golden energy. His attack deflected the gray energy instantly.

"What are you doing, Yegor?" Mattaniah shouted furiously.

"I think you shouldn't make enemies out of these young men." Yegor smiled faintly. "Otherwise, you might come to regret your actions later."

Mattaniah laughed scornfully. "It seems you know these people quite well. You are here to help them. Am I right?"

"They don't need my help." Yegor's smile broadened.

"If you insist on fighting them, people will question the appropriateness of your actions today. Moreover, you'll probably succeed in wounding them. However, you will also end up severely injured.

"If that happens, the lustus Sect will lose their strongest protector. Would the Yaquis Sect and the Timaeus Sect let slip such a great opportunity to bring down the lustus Sect for good then?"

Mattaniah's eyes narrowed. "You're saying these people are capable of doing me harm?" "I can't say for sure." Yegor shook his head. "However, if it were me that was going up against the three of them, I probably wouldn't be able to come out of the battle completely unharmed."

Mattaniah fell silent.

Yegor was a sensible man who rarely interfered with the affairs of other groups or sects. Mattaniah could not help but wonder why Yegor went out of the way to do this today.

On the other hand, James had transformed the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell into an armor that was fitted snugly around his body. "You two should seize Quartney.

I'll meet with that mysterious old man first."

Lyla and Rebella had worried looks on their faces.

"Don't worry." James continued, "I won't necessarily lose in a battle with that man."

The ladies had a dawning realization upon hearing those words. James probably was not able to fully unleash his skills and powers during the battle since they were near him just now.

Meanwhile, James teleported and materialized before Mattaniah. He was finally able to see the elderly cultivator's real appearance.

Mattaniah was an ordinary-looking, skinny old man, yet he emanated an overwhelming amount of Qrohm.

While James was staring at Mattaniah, the latter was observing him too. Soon enough, the two of them began staring hard into each other's eyes.

Beside them, Yegor was watching the interaction between those two with great interest.

In James' and Mattaniah's minds, they had begun a battle by using their Zens.

In a matter of minutes, the two of them had millions of exchanges. James was able to hold up well as he demonstrated all of his skills and unleashed his full powers.

Eventually, James incorporated Lesia, Hemera, and Fennec into three violet – gold evil spirits. As he activated the Ultimate Golden Body, James, and his evil spirits generated a powerful blow against Mattaniah's Historial Power attack.

Mattaniah's eyes widened the next instant. He was completely taken aback.

On the contrary, James grinned. "It was a pleasure to battle you, Sir Mattaniah."

"How was it possible for you to do that just now?" Mattaniah asked.

"In a long-range battle, I won't be able to get close to you since there's a huge difference between our cultivation," James explained. "However, if I took the risk and used all my skills to hold against your Genesis Power and Historial Power, I could move close enough and injure you.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6159-“Is that the benefit of mastering the Marciais Combat Form?”

Mattaniah drew a long breath. “A young kid like you has mastered both the Historial Power and the powers of the Marciais Combat Form? How astonishing...”

James merely smiled and said nothing.

Mattaniah furrowed his brows. “So, you were holding back because you wanted to avoid harming those two ladies earlier?”

‘That’s one of the reasons,” James replied.

Mattaniah asked, “What’s the other reason then?”

“I don’t want to engage in a full-on battle before we sort things out.” James responded, ‘The lustus Sect is Xitlaly’s home, after all. I do not want to make the situation awkward for any of US.”

Mattaniah laughed heartily. “We have great talents in the younger generation too, huh? I never would have expected that I would one day be spared during a battle because of a young lady.”

“You’re being overly humble, Sir Mattaniah.” James answered firmly, “With your powers, you can easily kill me with just one hit.

“However, you seemed to have a slight misunderstanding earlier. We didn’t come here to try and bring down the lustus Sect. Instead, we’re here to discuss Xitlaly’s marriage.”

“Xitlal/s marriage?” Mattaniah looked at James curiously. “Do you want to marry our saintess?”

James smiled wryly. “It is not me who wants to marry Xitlaly.

“It is my friend, Truett Sadler, who wishes to marry her. The two of them have decided to spend their lives together when they were still in the Forladtt Land.”

Mattaniah turned his eyes to Yegor. ‘Truett Sadler? He’s talking about your son?’

“Don’t stare at me like that.” Yegor smiled and shrugged. “I only found out now.” Mattaniah shot a glare at Yegor.

He could tell that Yegor must have been aware of this beforehand. Otherwise, he would not have shown up at the lustus Sect out of the blue.

Then, Mattaniah looked back at James. “In that case, why did you all start fighting?”

James stretched out his arm and grabbed at the air. In a flash, Quartney was transported next to James. James was holding Quartney by her collar.

‘You’ll have to ask her about that.’

The frown on Mattaniah’s forehead grew deeper as he took in Quartne/s wounded and disheveled state.

As soon as she spotted Mattaniah, Quartney got down on her knees and begged desperately, “Sir Mattaniah, you must help me...” Quartney had not finished talking when Mattaniah conjured his Genesis Power to envelope her. A few seconds later, a memory energy ball materialized above Quartney.

By using his Zen, Mattaniah scanned the energy ball and found out what had happened almost instantly.

He looked up and sighed wearily. “Quartney Bhasse... You’ve completely stained the lustus Sect’s reputation and integrity. Yet, you still want to ask for my help?”

Quartney looked at Mattaniah pitifully. “Sir Mattaniah, I did all of this for the lustus Sect...”

“For the lustus Sect?” Mattaniah seemed extremely disappointed. ‘You did all this for your son and your position as the lustus Sect’s leader, right?’

‘You didn’t have the Tempest Scepter. I appointed you to be the acting leader of our sect. Yet, you weren’t satisfied with being just the acting leader. That is why you’ve done all these things, right?’

As Mattaniah had exposed her plans, Quartney hurriedly prostrated herself. “Sir Mattaniah, Xitlaly is engaged to my son. Yet, she went ahead and chose another man to be her partner. This is unacceptable!

‘This man, James Caden, was the one providing Xitlaly help. His skills and powers are of questionable origins. He even mastered you know who’s curse magic! He must be a Dark Demon!’

Quartney raised her gaze. “Sir Mattaniah, the Dark Demons are our enemies! I am simply trying to eliminate a cause of danger for our people and the Genesis Worlds by exterminating him!”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6160-A deep frown pulled Mattaniah’s brows together. He could not help but find Quartney foolish.

If it were only him and Quartney there, her explanation would have been sufficient.

However, Skynet’s Yegor had shown up at the lustus Sect as well. Yegor was clearly there to help James.

Most importantly, Yegor appeared to be unaware of the fact that his son had been poisoned with the Deadgory Bug. Otherwise, he would probably be trying to tear down the lustus Sect right away.

James was even sensible enough to let Quartney speak up first. He was probably considerate of Xitlaly’s situation as he had only tried to resolve their misunderstanding without saying much.

Everything would have been resolved if Quartney had given in and offered an apology to everyone.

Instead, she started accusing James of being a Dark Demon. Quartne/s actions would only make things worse and put the lustus Sect in an awkward position.

James snickered. “Again with the talk of the Dark Demons. Do you not have any better ideas?”

“You are one,” Quartney said bitingly, “Otherwise, how are you capable of performing you-know-who’s signature skills?”

James scoffed. “You call me a Dark Demon just because I’ve received Franciscus’ legacy. Let me ask you this. Did the lustus Sect send their members to join the tests to obtain Franciscus’ legacy before?” “You...” Quartney was rendered speechless.

James directed his gaze at Mattaniah and Yegor. “As far as I know, lustus Sect’s members and countless young cultivators from across the different Genesis Worlds have joined the tests. However, I was slightly luckier than everyone.

“You’re calling the receiver of Franciscus’ legacy a Dark Demon. Then, is the lustus Sect trying to form connections with the Dark Demons by sending your members to participate in the tests?”

Upon hearing his words, Quartney could only glare at James silently, whereas Mattaniah had an awkward expression on his face.

Yegor asked at that moment, “Madam Quartney, are you trying to imply that my son has conspired with a Dark Demon to abduct the lustus Sect’s saintess, who’s already engaged to another man?”

Those words gave Quartney quite a shock. She prostrated herself once again.

“Sir Yegor, I don’t mean to say that...”

“I came here for a visit today.” Yegor cut her off, “However, it seems we need to get to the bottom of things since this issue can greatly affect Truett’s and Skynet’s reputations.

“I will compensate the lustus Sect if my son is the one truly at fault. However... If it is proven that someone is trying to blacken Truett’s and Skynet’s names, I will not let that person get away with it.”

As he could sense that things were getting out of hand, Mattaniah yelled,

Quartney! Are you going to keep making up more excuses?! Do you have a death wish?”

Mattaniah shot a ball of Genesis Power at Quartney. However, Yegor released his powers and blocked the attack.

“Yegor...” Mattaniah muttered.

“We are their elders. We must sort this out fairly.” Yegor said firmly, “Bring Truett here, and let him explain what happened.”

If they were to let Yegor meet Truett now, the incident of how Truett was poisoned with the Deadgory Bug would be exposed. The lustus Sect would have to face Yegor’s wrath.

Even Quartney had gradually realized the severity of the situation.

She and Mattaniah stared at James since he was the only person who could help diffuse the situation.

“Young man, you should help US if you really want to help your friend get married.

“On behalf of the lustus Sect, I promise that we’ll have our saintess marry Skynet’s young master. We’ll also pay for all the wedding expenses.”

‘This old fox is really smart and calculative. However, I can’t be happy with only these conditions.’ James scoffed inwardly as he listened to Mattaniah’s voice transmissions.