Chapter 621

Louisa looked disdainful.

She knew all about James.

He was good for nothing. Furthermore, the Callahans could never come up with so much money, never mind their son-in-law.

“The presents are from me.”

James said it casually, then he looked at Zane. Zane stepped forward, saying, “That’s right. Mr. Caden prepared these presents. I can vouch for him.”

Louisa looked at Zane. He was just a bearded, unkempt man. A nobody. She laughed coldly. “You? Vouch for him? How is that helpful? Stop spouting nonsense.” Zane fell speechless. How could giving a gift turn out to be so complicated? If he knew, he would have made Luther stay. He looked at James. “James, this isn’t going to be easy. Let’s wait it out. Luther will bring the guests over soon. This shall be Cynthia’s birthday party and an act of support for your friend.” “Get out. You’re not welcome here.”

Louisa barked an order,

“And you, Zion. Get lost. From now on, we go our separate ways. The five hundred thousand dollars is a fee for me for wasting my time with you.”

“You...”

Zion fumed.

James grabbed hold of him, saying, “Hold your tongue. Let’s go.”

“But, James...”

“Just listen to me.”

“Okay.”

James smiled. “Not me. This man here invited them. He’s a really wealthy man. Butter him up and you’re set for life.”

Zane smiled. “James is joking.” Since there were so many important people, Louisa spotted them.

She exited the shop.

She saw the fleet of luxurious cars and important people.

She had only seen them on television before,

Now, they were standing in front of her, “Sir? Sirs?” Louisa was experienced and knew some important people, but now that there were so many of them, she was slightly nervous. She started asking questions, but no one cared, Just then, a middle-aged man and a young girl in a beautiful dress approached,

“Dad. Mr. Caden.”

As soon as Cynthia spotted Zane and James standing by the road, she jogged over to them, grabbing Zane’s arm with a huge smile. “Thanks, dad,”

She looked at James, saying sweetly, "James."

"Hey."

James nodded.

Luther approached "Sir, Mr. Caden."

Chapter 622 Standing at the entrance, Louisa was completely shocked. Was he not the one who delivered the presents earlier on?

Why was he speaking to James?

Just then, all thoughts fled her mind.

Zane told Luther, "When you delivered the presents earlier on, you didn't mention an important point. Go on. Clarify that the presents are from Mr. Caden to Mr. Lloyd." "Yes, sir." Luther approached Louisa. Louisa came to her senses. "Sir, please come in."

Luther waved his hand. He said, "I was here delivering the presents earlier. The presents are for Mr. Lloyd, courtesy of Mr. Caden."

"Huh?"

Louisa's jaw dropped. After a few seconds, she turned to look at Leonardo.

As Leonardo said that the presents were from him, she thanked him properly in the private room on the third floor.

Leonardo was shocked.

He was just someone who worked in construction. Even though he had some money, he could not compare to the bigwigs in front of him. Celestial, Longevity, the Xenoses, and the Watsons. All of them were in attendance.

Zion walked up to him with his head held high. He looked at the stunned Leonardo. Word by word, he said, "Tell me again. Are the presents from you?"

"Me?"

Leonardo opened his mouth, but no words came out.

released Zane and

Zane invited many people.

Even the Callahans were here.

However, they were here because of James’ invitation.

Thea was here too. She and her family had just exited the car when she saw Cynthia holding onto James intimately.

Crash!

It was like lightning had struck her. She stood rooted to the spot.

Tommy was shocked. “W-was that not James?”. Megan shoved Thea. Softly, she said, “Thea, why are you still standing around? Go on! He’s your husband. You can’t let another woman have him.”

“I. »

Thea started to say something, but she did not finish.

She thought about approaching him. However, when she thought about how she treated James, she lost her courage.

James patted Zion on the shoulder, saying, "I believe you can take care of this." "Me too."

Even though Cynthia did not know what was going on, she smiled and entered the shop on James' arm.

Chapter 623 Cynthia was on James' arm, both of them looking like two peas in a pod.

James did not like it at all.

However, Zane had given Zion lavish gifts on his behalf and invited everyone to dine at the steamboat restaurant, which helped boost Dragonair Steamboat's reputation.

From now on, they would never be short of business.

As such, he allowed Cynthia to take his arm.

Thea watched as they entered.

She had no courage to approach.

She stood far, far away, hesitating for a moment before turning away.

"Thea, what are you doing?" Gladys grabbed her.

Thea looked resigned. "Why would I enter? I'll be a joke."

"You silly girl. Have you forgotten our lessons? You're his wife! Now that your husband is with another woman, you're running scared? You have to be more confident. Walk up to Cynthia and say hi. Tell her that you'll lend James to her just for a day because it's her birthday. How do you not know this?"

"Yuna from Longevity is here too."

"So many VIPs at this small steamboat place. How many people does Louisa know?"

Everyone started to discuss it.

Louisa was standing at the entrance begging, "Zion, it's all my fault. Please give me another chance. Since we shared a bed, please forgive me. I will never look down on your friends again. You call the shots at home."

Louisa knew that Zion had connected with a really influential person.

After today, Dragonair Steamboat would be a famous steamboat restaurant with endless customers.

All of that meant money. She did not want to give that up. "Get out."

Zion did not give in.

"Louisa, you knew this was coming. You should have been nicer from the start. Let's not keep in touch." Zion left her with that, walking into the shop.

Chapter 624 Everyone saw what happened.

They knew that Zion was the owner of the restaurant after this.

"Zion."

Some of their classmates sensed the change and ran after Zion.

On the third floor of the shop.

In a magnificent private room.

There were a few people in the room.

Zane, James, and Cynthia.

“Cynthia, are you happy now?” Zane smiled as he asked. “Yes.” Cynthia nodded. “This is the most meaningful birthday ever. Thanks, dad.”

Zane felt gratified.

Thea sat down.

“Hi, Thea.”

Cynthia said sweetly. “Hello.”

Thea nodded and replied softly. “You guys have fun. I’ll take my leave as well.” Zane stood up and gave Luther a look. Luther caught on and exited the room with Zane. Cynthia looked at Thea and James. She smiled at them. “Thea, you and James are meant to be. You’re so pretty, and he’s so capable. You’re a power couple!” “Really?” Thea was distracted “Really.”

Cynthia nodded in earnest.

Thea was so beautiful that she envied her.

If she were a man, she would have fallen in love with Thea too. James looked at Cynthia gratefully. She knew just what to say. James looked at Thea. He asked, “Thea, why are you here? Are you not angry at me anymore? I told you that I was framed. The police have investigated it. I'm innocent." "I know." Thea replied, "I believe you." Thea gave perfunctory responses.

She did not care anymore.

Before this, she wanted to spend her life with James. Yet it was because of James' arrest that she knew the Black Dragon was still alive.

He even helped her nab the title of the genius doctor. She could not stop thinking about the Black Dragon.

Chapter 625 However, when she thought about Quincy and the Black Dragon kissing on the couch, Thea felt horrible.

She glanced at James next to her. She was disappointed. If her husband had a fraction of the Black Dragon's appeal, how wonderful would it be? "James, you're still quite young. Who did you learn your medical and fighting skills from?" Cynthia propped her head up on her hands, staring at James with wide eyes.

She was so attracted to James.

James was a walking god. His medical skills, his fighting... all of it was so attractive.

SS

James just smiled. All he saw was Thea.

Thea was sitting next to him. He could smell the fragrance of her perfume and even the scent of her shampoo emanating from her hair.

He had been close to her before.

Yet he felt his heart rate increase, his blood pumping faster.

Thea ignored him.

She started talking to Cynthia. Smiling, she said, "Cynthia, the Black Dragon taught him everything."

Cynthia was envious.

She saw James' expression.

Who would have thought that the Black Dragon would have a tender side to him?

What did Thea ever do to deserve the Black Dragon's love? "Cynthia." James looked at Cynthia, smiling.
"Happy birthday."

Cynthia was unbelievably happy.

"James, your wish is better than all the presents I've received." "Heh."

James smiled.

Knock knock knock.

"James."

It was Zion. James said, "Come in." Zion pushed the door open. "James, Thea, Ms. Dawn..."

Chapter 626 James waved his hands and said while pointing to the chair beside him, "Have a seat. By the way, have you resolved the issue with Louisa?" Zion walked over to sit and replied, "I've already made it clear to her. However, getting a divorce won't be easy since she refuses to do so no matter what. I'm going to have to sue for a divorce, I'll need to collect some evidence of her cheating on me. Can you help me with that,

James?"

“Sure.”

James nodded.

Since he controlled the underground intelligence network, it was easy for him to collect evidence of another person’s infidelity.

“Leave it to me. I’ll get you evidence of Louisa cheating tomorrow.”

Zion stood up and said gratefully, “Thank you, James. I don’t know how much longer I would live such a miserable life if it weren’t for you. You gave me a new life...”

With a smile, James waved his hand and said, “Zion, you’re exaggerating. We’re friends, so there’s no need to thank me. Alright, go instruct the kitchen to serve the dishes quickly. I’ve got something on later after lunch.

“Alright.”

Zion nodded and hurried off to order the kitchen to serve the dishes.

The meal was served instantly. After James finished the meal, he greeted Zane and dragged Thea out of the Dragonair Steamboat.

He brought Thea to a cinema in the urban area and bought two movie tickets.

He specifically bought couple seats.

James smiled.

“Darling, you’re so beautiful today.”

“Hmph!” Thea snorted and leaned her body away to keep a certain distance from James.

After the event, James behaved well. He achieved his purpose of watching the movie.

Soon, the movie came to an end.

The two walked out of the theater together. “Sigh. The ending wasn’t perfect. The male protagonist had sacrificed so much for the female protagonist. In the end, she still committed infidelity. She’s disgusting, and the male protagonist is a fool.”

Thea was immersed in the plot. The movie was over, but she had not come out of it yet, continuously scolding the male protagonist. James also understood the movie’s general plot and shared his opinion with her.

“Yeah. However, the movie ended in suspense. Although the male protagonist gave his eyes to the female protagonist and became blind, the last scene obviously hinted at a sequel. The two will surely end up together in the next one.” “I would surely be loyal if someone treated me like him,” Thea pouted and said.

“Is that so?”

James rubbed his nose.

Thea recalled something. She immediately stopped speaking and hurried out of the cinema.

Chapter 627 Thea felt guilty.

James had been kind and always respectful of her every decision.

Yet, she fell for another man.

It was considered infidelity.

She lowered her burning face and walked forward, not daring to glance at James.

James quickly chased after Thea and held her hand.

Perhaps due to her guilty conscience, Thea allowed James to hold her hand as he pleased and did not resist.

As soon as they walked out of the cinema, a little girl approached them with some roses. She glanced at James pleadingly and said, "Sir, would you like to buy some flowers for this beautiful lady? A beautiful lady must have fresh flowers!"

"How much are they?" James asked with a smile.

Thea nodded lightly.

The two walked into the shop.

"Welcome!"

"Woah, it's Thea!"

Thea instantly became the focus of the crowd as soon as she walked inside.

A salesman immediately approached her and said excitedly, "Nice to meet you, Thea! I'm a fan of the Black Dragon. Could you please give me the Black Dragon's number? I would love to talk to him."

As soon as the first person approached, the others also gathered around her.

Their topics were all about the Black Dragon.

"Thea, when are you going to divorce your useless husband and marry the Black Dragon?"

"Thea, please tell us about your love story with the Black Dragon."

Chapter 628 "He is Sol's hero, and you're the number one beauty of Cansington. You two are a match made in heaven. You two would look so good together."

Thea felt slightly awkward due to their words and hurriedly explained herself, "You've misunderstood. I'm just friends with the Black Dragon. I'm not planning to divorce my husband. My husband used to be the Black Dragon's subordinate, and they had a close friendship."

James, who heard this while standing beside her, was delighted. Thea's thoughts of divorcing him were gone. As long as he continued to work hard, he would capture Thea's heart sooner or later.

After Thea briefly explained, she quickly dragged James away.

Now that she was famous, she would get surrounded by a crowd wherever she went, and these people would always ask about her relationship with the Black Dragon.

They left the jewelry shop. Thea glanced at him apologetically. "Sorry, James. I actually have nothing to do with the Black Dragon. It's just that after you were detained a few days ago, he helped me acquire the title of genius doctor this year. Moreover, he already has a girlfriend, Quincy."

Although Thea was apologizing, James could see the disappointment on her face. He knew that Thea was still in love with the other James.

However, he did not take it to heart since the other James was his alter ego. Even if she was emotionally cheating, it was still with him anyway. "It's fine. Alright, no more shopping. Let's go back home." "Okay."

Thea nodded obediently.

The two returned to the Callahans' house together. Gladys and Benjamin had already returned home. As soon as they got home, Gladys greeted James warmly, serving him tea and desserts.

James was flattered by her behavior.

Then, she glanced at James and asked with a smile, "James, what happened to Even if he doesn't give you half of his assets, he would still give you tens of billions if you ask him! The Callahans are currently short on money, and everyone is scrambling around to borrow some. On top of that, I'm currently the famous genius doctor of Cansington! I'll also need money to restart the company. Without money, how are we going to talk about ideals and ambitions?"

James frowned and said grudgingly, "Tens of billions is easy for you to say. Do you think so lightly of tens of billions?" Bang! Gladys slammed the table and shouted, "James, no matter what, you better get the money from Zane! I won't accept you as my son-in-law if it's less than ten billion dollars!"

James glanced at Thea and asked, "Is that your stand too, Thea?"

"L..."

Thea hesitated.

Upon seeing Gladys' murderous glares, she took a deep breath and said, "James, the Callahans were struck by a catastrophe. Without money, it'll be impossible to rebuild Eternality. On top of that, Century shut down right after beginning operations. We really need the money to restart it."

"Will you divorce me if I don't ask Zane for money?"

James fixed his eyes on Thea.

He waited for Thea's response. He did not want their relationship to be bound by money.

Chapter 629 Thea hesitated for a moment and said, "You saved his daughter, and it is reasonable for you to ask for a reward. I don't want to use divorce to threaten you. Two people should be together if they're suitable and separate if they aren't. I think we aren't suitable for each other."

"Alright."

James took a deep breath.

Although Thea said she did not want to use divorce as a threat, it was obvious what she meant by her words.

James was disappointed in the Callahans, and more so in Thea.

The Callahans had always had such virtues and nothing they experienced could change them.

As for Thea, she initially maintained great virtues despite a rotten environment. However, she had gradually become as snobby as the Callahans.

He stood up, glanced at Thea, and declared, "Thea, this is the last time I'll help you. How much money do you want? After this, I will have completely paid off what I owed you in the past. As for our relationship, I agree with you. Those compatible should stay together, and those unsuitable should separate.

"During this period, I've worked hard for you. Despite all that I've done, I could not enter your heart. I don't even have a tiny spot in your heart at all.

"I don't think this is love."

Thea never expected James to say such things.

Thea. “I’ve transferred the ten billion to you. Check that you’ve received it.” After speaking, he hung up the phone.

Thea opened her phone to check her balance, but nothing was credited yet.

She waited several minutes. Soon, a bank notification popped up.

She was stunned to see the balance in her bank account.

“Thea, has the money arrived?”

Gladys leaned over to check the message. Seeing the balance in her bank account, Gladys was shocked.
Then, she immediately cheered, “Woohoo! It’s really ten billion dollars! Haha! We’ve made a fortune this time! We’ve made a fortune!”

Benjamin was indifferent to these things.

However, hearing her cheers, he could not help leaning over to check.

After seeing the ten billion, he was also stunned, “This... How was he so fast? James only left for a bit but transferred it so quickly. Did he really go to Zane?” “Who cares!!!” Gladys smiled broadly.

She did not care whether James went to Zane or not. She only cared about the 10 billion dollars that she received. Finally, she was considered to be truly wealthy.

Gladys had already started making plans on how to use the money

Thea refused firmly.

“This money belongs to me. Why should I let you hold onto it?” Thea knew that if she gave the 10 billion to Gladys, she would never see it again.

“What?”

Henry’s eyes widened in shock.

“Are you serious, James? You gave Thea ten billion dollars and will have nothing to do with her from now on?”

James replied helplessly, “Thea and I are not compatible. She doesn’t have me in her heart. I have completely repaid her with the ten billion dollars.” “The man she loves is the Black Dragon. Why don’t you just tell her your identity? There’s still a chance for you guys to remain together.”

James took a deep breath.

His mind was a mess.

Even he was confused by his two identities.

“Forget it. It’s already in the past now. From now on, there will no longer be a Black Dragon James in this world. He will never appear again.”

“Sigh.”

Henry sighed and said, “I don’t understand what you’re thinking anymore. Relationships are complicated. It’s better to be single and unrestrained. It feels so much more carefree. I’ve decided. He did not have the capability to kill James. The thought of using Thea to get rid of James had crossed his mind before. After so many things, the Emperor understood James valued Thea a lot, even more than his own life. He would surely go berserk if something happened to Thea.

The consequences of the Black Dragon's fury were terrifying.

It was a severe consequence for the Emperor.

There was only one way to kill James-get him back to the borders and kill him on the battlefield,

However, the borders were peaceful, and the small countries near the borders would have to start a war for James to be forced back on the battlefield.

The Emperor's fingers tapped lightly on the table.

A rhythmic sound echoed in the room.

After a while, the Emperor said, "Stay low for a while, and don't act recklessly. I'll come up with a plan."

"Understood."

The people gathered nodded.

The Callahans' house.

Thea did not expect James to really transfer 10 billion dollars to her.

It was not a hundred or two hundred million, nor a million or two million, but it was ten billion that he had transferred.

It was a huge sum for anyone. An ordinary person would not make so much money even if they worked their whole lives. Even the Callahans who had worked hard for decades only had a few hundred million dollars in total assets. Even when the Callahans were at their prime, the cash they could take out was only one or two billion dollars. Yet, James so easily gave her 10 billion dollars. Thea felt stupefied.

Thinking of what James said before, she felt like she had lost James forever. However, this was what she had hoped for. Now that she got rid of James, she had the right to pursue her happiness.

"Thea, how are you planning to spend the money?"
