

The Almighty Dragon General #Chapter 6211 - Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6211

Chapter 6211

Chapter 6211

"See! You've misunderstood my intentions again!" yelled Gladwin.

James clicked his tongue. "Why should I help you become the Timaeus Sect's leader when you keep treating me this way? Punish me or kill me if you want. I won't utter a word of complaint about it."

Upon hearing those words, Gladwin could not help but wonder if James had come up with another plan. Also, what would the Javerigh Sect have to do with their plans of making Gladwin the next Timaeus Sect's leader?

Gladwin cleared his throat and said softly, "Young man, let's stop beating around the bush and get straight to the point."

'You must apologize first.'" James snorted. "I won't put up with unfair treatment when I am already doing so much to help you! If you think about it, what benefit can I get once you get appointed to be the Timaeus Sect's new leader?"

Gladwin paused briefly.

Then, he suppressed his displeasure and beamed a smile at James. "I apologize. I was a little harsh earlier..."

James turned his face away and jutted his chin out haughtily.

Gladwin grumbled angrily, "I am sincerely sorry for my inconsiderate actions! You can forgive me now, right?"

James could sense how Gladwin was about to lose his patience. He finally responded, "You must listen to my explanation without cutting me off this time."

Gladwin gave a slight nod, albeit reluctantly.

"I claimed to be from the Timaeus Sect's side and attacked the Javerigh Sect's army. That's just a way to achieve our plan."

James sighed. "Our actual purpose is to gain the Javerigh Sect's support. We need to make them despise Xachary so that they'll change their mind and make you the Righteous Alliance's new leader."

Gladwin's eyes widened. "Is... Is that even possible?"

"That'll depend on whether you are willing to follow my instructions after this." An enigmatic smile hung novelbin on James' face.

Gladwin was intrigued by James' suggestion.

He lifted his hand and put up a soundproof formation around him and James. The Historial Dragon's Breath was still activated.

"What's the plan?" Gladwin fixed his gaze on James.

James grinned. "First, you need to make a trip to the Javerigh Sect. Tell them that it was Xachary who ordered the attack and that you were completely unaware of it.

"Say something along the lines of how Xachary felt threatened by the amount of support you received in the Righteous Alliance. Therefore, he was trying to instigate conflict between you and the others."

Gladwin furrowed his brows. "Would they believe that?"

"They won't be fully convinced." James' smile broadened. "However, once you tell them about how Xachary has dropped from his original cultivation rank and went into a closed-door meditation, they will surely believe your words."

Gladwin drew a long breath. "You have a point."

James said unhurriedly, "For the next step, after gaining the Javerigh Sect's members' trust, you should earn their support by promising them bountiful rewards.

"You should be quite good at that part. I don't need to teach you how to do it, right?"

Gladwin blushed slightly and nodded.

"The third part is the most important step." James continued flatly, "You need to make the Javerigh Sect's members feel that they are receiving much special treatment compared to the other members of the Righteous Alliance.

"You are the acting leader of the Righteous Alliance at the moment. That way, the Javerigh Sect's members will fully trust and support you."

Chapter 6212

Chapter 6212

Gladwin threw back his head and laughed. "You came up with this meticulous plan early on, huh?"

"You're right. We bear no grudge against each other." James replied, "However, Xachary tried to kill me before. Even if you didn't make those offers, I would still try to make him lose the position of the Timaeus Sect's leader." novelbin

Gladwin nodded slowly. "With that said, does this mean that we are allies now?"

"No." James shook his head. "We are simply partners in crime.

"I probably wouldn't be able to achieve the things that you could do. The same goes for the opposite.

Therefore, we need to help each other out and work toward achieving our mutual goal."

"Alright!" Gladwin let out a hearty laugh. "I feel very reassured after hearing that from you. By the way, what happened with the Behaterm Sect and the Sanctum Sect?"

James smiled slightly. He shared about the incidents relating to the Behaterm Sect elaborately.

Gladwin chuckled and nodded. "So, that makes you the owner of two Genesis Worlds now."

"I want to talk to you about that as well." James grinned. "The Timaeus Sect is a large organization, and I have no wish to get involved in your members' conflicts.

"I will help you remove Xachary. Once you attain the position as the new leader of the Timaeus Sect, our collaboration may end depending on the situation.

"However, if you don't feel generous enough to offer the two new Genesis Worlds I own protection, then I do not see the need for US to help each other anymore."

Gladwin looked at James and smiled contemptuously.

He was impressed by how James had cleverly threatened him. Moreover, James had not even mentioned his connection to Skynet and the Iustus Sect.

Gladwin's grin widened. "If I followed your advice and told the Javerigh Sect's members what you said earlier, they might blame you..."

"It's alright." James responded, "I believe you can handle the situation just fine, Mr. Gladwin."

Gladwin chuckled. "It seems we've reached an agreement today. Hopefully, we will succeed in bringing Xachary down soon."

Then, Gladwin teleported and disappeared from James' sight.

Simultaneously, the soundproof formation and the Historial Dragon's Breath were lifted.

As soon as James put the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell away, several people materialized near him.

"Gladwin's gone?" Truett asked.

Rebella said, 'That old man is too powerful. He managed to unleash enough powers to cover the entire Xyndaros Genesis World."

"He's deemed one of the top cultivators in the Ancient Genesis World." Lyla replied monotonously,

"He's different from other Quasi Daelcon Rank cultivators."

"He left without doing anything, though." Adair looked at James. "Master, what did the two of you talk about?"

James smiled enigmatically. "Those who are filled with greed care most about getting what they want."

Everyone had puzzled looks on their faces upon hearing James' words.

"Alright then." James continued, "It's time we proceed with the wedding preparations."

The others were rendered speechless by his words again.

Once the group of cultivators left the Xyndaros Genesis World, a purplish-pink light zoomed across the sky.

As the light landed on a spot, Lady Jacinth materialized there a few seconds later. "That man is pretty smart. He even fooled Gladwin. Things are getting more and more interesting."

Chapter 6213

Chapter 6213

Lady Jacinth extended her arms. Then, she began absorbing the Genesis Power and soul fragments left on the battlefield below.

Her body glowed with a brighter purplish-pink light which indicated that her powers had improved considerably.

Just then, two distinct black and white masses of gas gathered in the sky above her. Slowly, a Tai Chi diagram was formed.

"Yin governor, those two could hold a conversation just fine. Can't the two of us have a chat as well?"

Tai Chi's voice echoed through the air.

Lady Jacinth scoffed. "Get lost! Don't blame me if you end up getting a beating from me!"

Tai Chi let out a deep sigh. "You don't have to go through the Heavenly Tribulations. However, it is already impossible for you to achieve the Daelcon Rank in the collapsed Tai Chi World."

Lady Jacinth scrunched her nose.

She lifted her hand and used her powers to move all the excrement found in all the worlds in the vicinity toward the Tai Chi diagram floating above her.

In a flash, the excrement was taken in by the moving flow of the black and white gases.

"You! How dare you!" Tai Chi bellowed furiously.

"Hahaha!" Lady Jacinth laughed hysterically. "If you won't stop nagging, I'll fill all of the temples worshipping you with dung. I can still do that much even though I am not powerful enough to kill you yet."

"You're hopelessly stubborn!" Tai Chi raged, "If you insist on doing this, then I won't hesitate to retaliate!

"I can't do you much harm since you don't seem to harbor any great ambitions or major concerns.

However, there is someone that you care about.

"I will make him suffer every trial and tribulation. I'll wipe out his existence."

Lady Jacinth frowned. She raised her hand and conjured millions of purplish-pink hands reaching for the Tai Chi diagram.

Loud explosions went off as the hands struck the diagram.

"Just you wait!" Tai Chi's voice reverberated through the space as the Tai Chi diagram slowly faded and disappeared.

"Someone that I care about?" Lady Jacinth snorted. "I only care about how I am going to give you the most painful end."

At that moment, Lady Jacinth detected three threatening auras approaching quickly.

"I merely took a few pills from them, yet those three elders just won't give up..." Lady Jacinth scoffed and teleported away, leaving only a trail of purplish-pink lights behind.

A few seconds later, two women and a man materialized in the area where Lady Jacinth stood.

"That evil wench must be punished!" One of the ladies said, "She stole my Grand Historial Pill!"

The middle-aged cultivator sighed. "She absorbed all the powers found in this area and enhanced her powers again."

"It'll be tough for US to catch her now." The middle-aged lady cultivator responded, "She took all of our pills. She should be able to achieve the Daelcon Rank soon."

"No. We must find her as soon as possible." The other lady said firmly, "Otherwise, chaos will befall our Genesis Worlds soon."

She looked at her companions. "Are there any major events happening soon?"

The other beautiful lady replied, "Yes. Skynet's young master is going to marry lustus Sect's saintess soon."

"Great." The young lady nodded, "We'll attend the occasion and look for her there. She wouldn't miss out on an important event like this." novelbin

"Yegor might not like this..." the man reminded the ladies.

"We should head over nonetheless." The young lady said expressionlessly, "I believe Yegor won't side with that wench."

Then, those three cultivators teleported and vanished from the spot.

Chapter 6214

Chapter 6214

The marriage between Skynet's young master and the lustus Sect's saintess was big news for people living in the different Genesis Worlds.

Various groups and forces began devising plans to gain as many benefits as they could out of this union.

On the other hand, James had also made several arrangements.

He stationed Yancy and the Behaterm Sect's army at the Xyndaros Genesis World. Also, he had Wylie and the Sanctum Sect's members remain on the Sanctum Genesis World.

They would not face any major threats during this period of ceasefire.

However, the Xyndaros Genesis World and the Sanctum Genesis World provided a path that connected Skynet, the Iustus Sect, and the Forladdt Land.

Moreover, those two Genesis Worlds were of great importance to the Jademora Empire. Therefore,

James was more cautious in issues relating to those Genesis Worlds.

Also, Yegor and Mattaniah had entrusted James with the task of holding Truett and Xitlaly's wedding ceremony.

This was also an opportunity for James to enter Skynet and the Demon Dungeon.

James had the ladies help Xitlaly prepare for the wedding. Then, he and Truett made their way to Skynet's headquarters.

Outside Skynet's headquarters, James and Truett could see numerous cultivators from other sects and novelbin groups waiting anxiously. These people wanted to gather more information from Skynet but were not allowed entry.

"Look at the crowd." James smiled. "Your wedding is bound to be the center of attention this time."

"Who cares." Truett pursed his lips. "That's my dad's business. It has nothing to do with US and the Jademora Empire."

James was struck speechless by Truett's words.

He could already imagine Yegor swinging his whip if Yegor had heard his son.

Truett directed his gaze at James. "We should head over to..."

James cut him off as he conjured the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell over him and Truett. Then, the bell flew in the direction of the Demon Dungeon.

At the same time, a Tai Chi diagram formed from the clouds floated high up in the sky.

"That bastard is trying to return to the Yin's Void. I won't let him!" The Yang governor barked.

He cast a blast of Historial Power, which enveloped the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell almost instantly.

"Master, it's the Yang governor attacking US." Lesia transmitted her voice to James.

"The Yang governor?" James frowned. "That guy hasn't given up yet?"

"Didn't you give him a critical hit back at the Forladtt Land?" Truett asked, "He came out of that place so quickly?!"

"We'll need to defeat him first to head to our next destination." James turned his eyes to Truett. "You should stay in my soul space for now."

Truett flashed James an enigmatic smile. Then, he teleported out of the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

James shouted, 'Truett, it's too dangerous!'" Truett shot up into the sky and glared at the Tai Chi diagram. "Yang governor! You dare attack US within the grounds of Skynet's headquarters!"

The Yang governor snickered. "A middle-grade Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation cultivator like you dares speak to me in that tone. You must have a death wish."

The Yang governor blasted his Historial Power, which took the form of a Tai Chi diagram, in Truett's direction.

Boom!

Truett swung his sword and destroyed the Yang governor's attack by releasing a tremendous amount of sword energy.

"Ha! Interesting." The Yang governor teleported and reappeared before Truett. He seized Truett by the throat and lifted the man slightly.

Truett could not move a muscle as an overwhelming pressure came upon his body.

"Did you think I wouldn't dare kill you just because we are within Skynet's territory?" The Yang governor said in a monotonous voice, "As I've said, anyone who's involved with James will face an excruciating end."

Truett said in a steely voice, "Someone like you..."

Chapter 6215

Chapter 6215

"You foolish brat!" The Yang governor tightened his grip on Truett's neck.

Truett's face flushed as he tried hard to breathe. The Yang governor could exterminate him at any moment.

Just then, the Yang governor shouted, "James Caden! Aren't you the most loyal to your friends?!"

"Your best friend is being punished in your stead. Are you going to continue hiding in that goddamn bell?!"

After saying that, the Yang governor trapped Truett inside a Tai Chi diagram and pushed him aside.

Within the Tai Chi diagram, Truett screamed in agony as countless lightning bolts produced from the Heavenly Tribulation struck him.

The Yuraeceon Genesis Bell shone brightly with a gray light at that moment. The bell started spinning quickly, and it shot toward the Yang governor.

"You dare come at me like this? We're no longer in the Forladtt Land, you fool!" The Yang governor sent another blast of Historial Power.

The Yang governor's attack struck the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell and sent it flying away.

A huge crack formed on the bell. A few seconds later, the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell transformed into a two-year-old toddler whose entire body was bright red.

The toddler stood in front of James.

"Lesia!" James called aloud.

Lesia spat out a mouthful of blood. She glared at the Yang governor." Master, he broke the Law of Paths and tried to hurt a mortal being despite being the Yang governor.

"We wouldn't be punished even if we were to kill him now.

"He only has powers of the Consummation Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation at most due to his injuries. We should try and take him down!"

James teleported and reemerged next to Lesia. "For Truett... And for our honor, we must defeat him."

The Yang governor burst out laughing. "You? A cultivator who's only achieved the peak of Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Eighth Tribulation wants to defeat me? You're delusional!"

The Yang governor cast a ball of Historial Power toward the Tai Chi diagram Truett was trapped inside.

Truett writhed in pain and shouted at the top of his voice almost instantaneously. More tribulation clouds gathered above him. novelbin

James muttered in worry, "Truett..."

"You want to save him, right?" The Yang governor grinned mockingly. "Let's talk about what happened back at the Forladdt Land first."

James raged, "I'm the one you want to settle scores with. Release Truett first!"

"Sure." The Yang governor nodded. "Get on your knees and bow to me. Otherwise, I'll exterminate your friend right away."

James balled his fists.

In a flash, he sent a blast of the Amethyst Gold Power toward the Tai Chi diagram holding Truett.

As the purple gold energy struck the Tai Chi diagram, Truett screamed even louder. Yet, James' attack did not even leave a scratch on the structure.

James' eyes bulged in shock.

"Hahaha!" The Yang governor laughed contemptuously. "I'll allow you some time. You can give your best and try to break the Tai Chi Tribulation Formation trapping your friend."

"Don't listen to him, Master!" Lesia warned, "The Tai Chi Tribulation Formation can absorb almost any form of energy. You'll only hurt Truett if you cast your powers on the formation!"

James said bitingly, "Very well... we'll just have to fight him."

However, the Yang governor continued laughing. "You can fight me if you want. Unfortunately, with your friend's current powers and cultivation rank, he can only last a few more moments in that formation before being annihilated."

James said through clenched teeth, "Why you..."

"Kneel and bow down." The Yang governor bellowed, "I will keep my promise and release him afterward."

Chapter 6216

Chapter 6216

"You are absolutely despicable!" Lesia yelled furiously.

She transformed into a beam of red light and shot toward the Yang governor.

Boom!

A huge, bloody hole was made at the center of the Yang governor's body. He was caught completely off guard.

He had a look of rage and disbelief on his face. "I completely underestimated that bell spirit."

As the beam of red light came at him again, the Yang governor threw a punch in its direction.

At that very moment, James teleported and fused with the red light. He unleashed the Ultimate Golden Body and took the Yang governor's punch directly.

The force shoved James backward. His back slammed into the Tai Chi diagram trapping Truett. Then, all of them were sent flying far away.

"Hahaha!" The Yang governor stared at his opponents with scorn. "All of you are weaklings! Who cares about the Law of Paths? The strongest always win! Now, kneel!" novelbin

The Yang governor lifted his hand.

A gigantic hand appeared above James. As it slowly moved downward, an overwhelming amount of pressure came upon James, causing him to bend forward slightly.

"James, you mustn't kneel!" Truett called out loudly.

With Lesia's powers helping him, James unleashed all his powers and managed to straighten himself again.

The Yang governor barked, "Kneel!"

The pressure pushing onto James grew exponentially. He coughed up some blood as his Genesis Divine Light was crushed.

James dropped to the ground on one knee the next instant.

"Excellent!" The Yang governor's smile broadened. "Still, this is not enough.

I want you to kneel on both knees."

He channeled his powers to the huge hand and increased the pressure coming down on James considerably.

"You want me to kneel before you? Dream on." James curled his lips.

A powerful black-and-white energy emanated from James as he pushed himself up from the ground.

"Why you... Kneel!" The Yang governor fumed.

He cast a tremendous amount of Historial Power onto James.

Part of his powers was absorbed into James' Ultimate Golden Body. The rest of it pushed James onto the ground on one knee again.

"Ah!" James shouted and got up again. His legs were shaking as he tried his best to push back against the immense force coming onto him.

The Yang governor snickered, "You're a persistent guy, but that won't be enough. If I insist on making you kneel, you won't even be able to kill yourself and avoid it no matter what."

He waved his hand. Two crescent-shaped sword energies glowing with black and white lights sliced across James' knees.

James' legs gave out, and he got down on one knee again.

"Hahaha! That's more like it!" The Yang governor laughed.

Truett was washed over by a sense of despair as he watched James being tortured. He let out a loud cry at that moment.

Simultaneously, the pendant Truett was wearing shone with a blinding light.

An overwhelming amount of energy surrounded Truett's body in a matter of seconds.

As Truett extended his arms, the energy shot outward and shattered the Tai Chi diagram keeping him in.

Truett flew toward the gigantic hand floating above James at once.

Chapter 6217

Chapter 6217

The Yang governor had a look of bewilderment on his face.

"That's impossible! How is he able to unleash the Tirta Power?!"

On the other hand, Truett used the fragment of Tirta Power to push the gigantic hand aside.

James immediately straightened his back and conjured a huge, golden evil spirit.

The evil spirit rushed toward the Yang governor.

Meanwhile, James teleported toward the gigantic hand and threw a punch at it. novelbin

With Truett's powers, both of them managed to destroy that huge hand.

At the same time, James' evil spirit was already fighting the Yang governor.

Not only did the evil spirit possess the powers of a Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation cultivator at their peak, but it was also fused with Hemera and Fennec.

The evil spirit's punches even contained powers of the Historial Great Curse.

Even the Yang governor was wary of its attacks.

As soon as the gigantic hand shattered and fell apart, James and Truett shot toward the Yang governor immediately.

With the fragment of Tirta Power, Truett's powers were almost on par with James' powers.

The two of them started attacking the Yang governor at full speed.

Unfortunately, they could not deal any actual damage to the Yang governor since the latter was much more powerful than them.

"I'm done dawdling around with you guys."

The Yang governor conjured multiple huge fists before him.

Those fists shot toward James, Truett, and the evil spirit.

The three of them were sent flying hundreds of meters away as the fists slammed into them.

James and Truett even coughed up blood.

Numerous cracks appeared all over Truett's body.

The evil spirit let out a desperate cry as it shrank into a smaller size.

On the other hand, James was in a wounded and disheveled state.

If it were not for his Ultimate Golden Body, James' body might have been torn apart during the attack.

Even though the Yang governor had sustained severe injuries, James' group was still not powerful enough to take him down.

"It's time I put an end to the group of you."

The Yang governor grinned sinisterly.

"I'll be taking away your Ultimate Golden Body as well."

He raised his palm and conjured a beam of light which displayed the Tai Chi pattern.

The light beam fell from the sky and landed over James.

In an instant, James could feel his soul being gripped by a sharp pain.

He was shaking all over.

"Master!"

Lesia came out of James' body and flew toward the Yang governor in the form of a red light beam.

She pierced through the Yang governor's body once more.

The Yang governor clenched his fists tightly.

"I'm going to tear you to bits today, you foolish spirit!"

He transformed into a gigantic hand and went after Lesia.

Just then, James released an overpowering amount of black and white energies, which shattered the beam of light trapping him.

Then, he teleported toward Lesia.

As Lesia transformed into a red sword, James grabbed onto the handle and swung the sword heavily at the gigantic hand.

With a loud boom, James was thrown off meters away.

Cracks started spreading across his Ultimate Golden Body.

"James!"

Truett called out.

He conjured his sword and unleashed thousands of light swords aiming for the Yang governor.

"You can't harm me with that."

As the Yang governor gave a light wave of his hand, Truett's light swords exploded in the air.

The Yang governor grinned and reached out his hand.

Simultaneously, a shadowy hand seized James by the neck.

“You're about to meet your end, bastard.

This is what you get for insulting me back then!”

The Yang governor lifted his other hand and conjured numerous palms above James.

Then, he sent all the palms down at James.

During that split second, James was paralyzed by a great sense of despair.

He stood no chance against the Yang governor due to the huge difference in their powers.

He even wondered if he would have the chance to be reborn again this time.

James also realized he had completely underestimated the Yang governor as he was more concerned about what Tai Chi would do.

Chapter 6218

Chapter 6218

Suddenly, an overwhelming aura emanated from a certain direction just as James was prepared to face his end.

Boom! The Historical Power channeled by the Yang governor was destroyed almost instantaneously.

As he was freed from the Yang governor's powers, James quickly teleported and reappeared next to Truett.

He supported Truett by holding his arm.

On the other hand, the Yang governor staggered a little as his powers were abruptly cut off.

He barked, "Yegor Sadler! Is this a challenge to a battle?"

A man radiating a tremendous amount of Qroh materialized in the distance.

He raised his hand and released a wave of righteous aura, which took the form of a huge golden web, in the Yang governor's direction.

Loud explosions went off as the web struck the Yang governor.

A few seconds later, the Yang governor, who was severely wounded, was seen caught in the clutches of a gigantic hand.

Boom! The gigantic hand floated above the Yang governor and released overwhelming pressure on him, forcing him to kneel.

The Yang governor spat out a mouthful of blood as Yegor's attacks left him with serious injuries.

"No one is allowed to break my rules in my space.

That includes you, the Yang governor."

Yegor emanated a murderous aura as he fixed his gaze on the Yang governor. novelbin

It seemed he was prepared to exterminate the Yang governor with his next hit.

"Please spare him, Saint Yegor!"

Tai Chi materialized in the form of a shadow near Yegor at that moment.

She raised her hands.

"You can't do this to him!"

Yegor snorted.

"Well...Why can't I?"

Under Yegor's control, the gigantic hand slammed down on the Yang governor.

Numerous cracks appeared on the man's body, and he was sent flying away the next instant.

Tai Chi swiftly cast a ball of white gas.

The gas flew toward the Yang governor and enveloped his body.

Then, the ball of gas carried the Yang governor toward Tai Chi.

"Yegor, how could you..."

Tai Chi was about to scold Yegor, but she stopped immediately when she spotted the vicious look on his face.

"My master, Tirta, created this space."

Yegor said in a steely voice, "I only allow the Heavenly Tribulations to happen here.

However, I have not permitted you to enter here or to attack my people."

Tai Chi drew a long breath.

"You can subdue the Yang governor with your righteous aura, but your cultivation rank is still lower than his.

"If you do this to him now, can you imagine what will happen to Skynet's members in the Tai Chi World?"

Yegor laughed mockingly.

"You can try! You harming Skynet's members is considered an offense of the Law of Paths."

Tai Chi was rendered speechless.

"Yehria, the Tai Chi Tribulation is set to happen. Don't try to fight back against the Law of Paths."

Yegor continued, "I don't want to talk about what you've done to the humans.

However, that doesn't mean that I agree with your past actions."

"You know everything."

Tai Chi replied frigidly, "You and I were close friends in the past. Could you not overlook this for old times' sake?"

Yegor let out a sigh.

"I was the one who received the Tirta Power, yet you became Tai Chi instead. You knew better than anyone about what happened back then."

Tai Chi stuttered, "That... You..."

Yegor cut her off, "Enough.

Both of us are about to face our tribulations.

I won't be able to achieve the Daelcon Rank due to my tribulation, whereas you may lose your life during your tribulation.

"You should try your best to prepare for your tribulation. We humans are finally seeing the birth of a superior cultivator from our kind. If you couldn't even spare him, how could you ask me to overlook things for old times' sake instead?"

Tai Chi snapped at him, "I need to secure my safety.

Besides "Who's the cause of all this?"

Yegor sent her a sidelong glance.

"You had your chances to avoid this situation.

Yet, you let them all go to waste due to your greed and personal interests.

"Do you really think killing James will remove your Tai Chi Tribulation? Would the Yin governor forgive you just like that?"

Tai Chi fell silent.

"You're a smart person."

Yegor went on, "This is all I have to say. My son is about to get married, and I do not wish to start a war during a time like this. I hope I've shown you clearly where my bottom line is."

Tai Chi sighed wearily.

"Then...For old times' sake, could you help arrange a meeting for me and the Yin governor?"

As Yegor remained silent, Tai Chi quickly said, "Would you rather see all lives perish? That will also include the humans!"

After a few moments' consideration, Yegor finally responded, "We'll talk about this after my son's wedding."

Tai Chi nodded.

Then, her shadow-like form gradually faded away and disappeared.

"Would you have done those things if you knew things would turn out like this today?"

Yegor looked up at the sky and sighed.

Then, he turned his gaze toward James and Truett.

"Are you two alright?"

James and Truett exchanged a glance and smiled brightly at each other.

Both of them did not expect Yegor's powers to improve this much.

Yegor had teleported and reemerged next to the two of them.

He lifted his hands and channeled the righteous aura toward James and Truett to heal their injuries.

As the wounds on their bodies disappeared one by one, the pendant resting against Truett's chest was shining brightly as well.

"It's never a good idea to make the Yang governor your enemy."

Yegor began, "Fortunately, he won't be able to do anything for the next two entrapochs due to his injuries.

"However, once he's fully recovered, he won't be showing you guys any mercy."

James furrowed his brows.

"Sir Yegor, can the Yang governor disobey the Law of Paths?"

Chapter 6219

Chapter 6219

Yegor smiled slightly.

"The Law of Paths is a set of restrictions designed specifically for Tai Chi. The Yang governor is not bound by it."

James widened his eyes.

"I see! So, the Yang governor abides by the Law of Tai Chi?"

"That's right."

Yegor nodded.

"However, as you all saw earlier, the Yang governor attacked you two despite his position and responsibilities. Does it seem like he cares about the Law of Tai Chi?"

"That lady, Tai Chi, was truly shameless."

Truett snorted.

"She stayed hidden when the Yang governor was beating us up. When he was about to be defeated, she quickly appeared to save him. Isn't that against the Law of Paths?"

"She didn't engage in the battle after all. To be exact, she merely stepped in too late."

Yegor curled his lips.

"Moreover, the Yang governor suppressed his powers during the battle with you. Frankly, he didn't break any rules."

James and Truett were struck by a sense of powerlessness upon hearing those words.

It appeared those with power were adept at using gray areas to their advantage.

Even though one or more lives could have been lost earlier, those people could argue and push away the blame by saying that they did not do anything wrong.

James also thought about how they needed to prepare for the next battle with the Yang governor during the next two entrapochs.

He bowed slightly to Yegor.

"Thank you so much for saving us, Sir Yegor. Without your help, I might have been dead by now."

Yegor smiled and waved his hand dismissively.

"You didn't have to thank me. Since we had that conversation with the other party earlier, you could use the opportunity to do what you need to do in the Forladtt Land and prepare for what's coming soon."

James nodded.

"I agree, but you've personally asked me to handle Truett's wedding arrangements. I'm afraid I won't..."

"It's alright. You should handle what's urgent first."

Yegor gave a slight nod.

"However, you must make sure to attend his wedding. You are their matchmaker after all."

James chuckled.

"Of course! Truett and Xitlaly might give me an earful if I didn't show up to their wedding." He turned his eyes to Truett next.

"You shouldn't follow me to the Demon Dungeon anymore.

"Stay and get ready for your wedding. Xitlaly should have no problem with her preparations since she has Lyla and the others with her."

Truett tried to object.

"James..."

James patted him on the shoulder.

"You're about to get married. You need to be a good son, a good husband, and a good father before becoming an exceptional cultivator.

"I didn't have the chance to do that. I hope you can fulfill this dream of mine instead."

Before Truett could say anything more, James shot up into the air and flew in the direction of the Demon Dungeon.

Yegor let out a soft sigh. novelbin

"You are really lucky to have such a good friend like him. Many would envy you because of this."

Truett directed his gaze at Yegor.

"Dad, I just hope I can be of more help to James."

Yegor scoffed.

"Help from someone who is not competent enough is only going to be a burden. It's an act of pure ignorance."

"I...I was only trying to..."

Truett tried to explain.

"You want to talk about what happened earlier again?"

Yegor shot a glare at him.

"You almost got James killed just because you wanted to test the fragment of Tirta Power you had. You think that was helpful for James?"

Truett lowered his head in embarrassment.

Yegor was right.

If Truett had not carelessly rushed out of the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell to test the bit of Tirta Power he possessed, he and James would not have ended up in that dangerous situation.

Truett did not imagine the Yang governor would be so formidable when he was only using one-tenth of his powers.

"I won't ask you to work hard on being a good son."

Yegor said in a steely voice, "However, I hope you'll be a good husband and a loyal friend, who's strong enough to help your friends. I'll be happy with that."

Chapter 6220

Chapter 6219

Yegor smiled slightly.

"The Law of Paths is a set of restrictions designed specifically for Tai Chi. The Yang governor is not bound by it."

James widened his eyes.

"I see! So, the Yang governor abides by the Law of Tai Chi?"

"That's right."

Yegor nodded.

"However, as you all saw earlier, the Yang governor attacked you two despite his position and responsibilities. Does it seem like he cares about the Law of Tai Chi?"

"That lady, Tai Chi, was truly shameless."

Truett snorted.

"She stayed hidden when the Yang governor was beating us up. When he was about to be defeated, she quickly appeared to save him. Isn't that against the Law of Paths?"

"She didn't engage in the battle after all. To be exact, she merely stepped in too late."

Yegor curled his lips.

"Moreover, the Yang governor suppressed his powers during the battle with you. Frankly, he didn't break any rules."

James and Truett were struck by a sense of powerlessness upon hearing those words.

It appeared those with power were adept at using gray areas to their advantage. novelbin

Even though one or more lives could have been lost earlier, those people could argue and push away

the blame by saying that they did not do anything wrong.

James also thought about how they needed to prepare for the next battle with the Yang governor

during the next two entrapochs.

He bowed slightly to Yegor.

"Thank you so much for saving us, Sir Yegor. Without your help, I might have been dead by now."

Yegor smiled and waved his hand dismissively.

"You didn't have to thank me. Since we had that conversation with the other party earlier, you could use the opportunity to do what you need to do in the Forladtt Land and prepare for what's coming soon."

James nodded.

"I agree, but you've personally asked me to handle Truett's wedding arrangements. I'm afraid I won't..."

"It's alright. You should handle what's urgent first."

Yegor gave a slight nod.

"However, you must make sure to attend his wedding. You are their matchmaker after all."

James chuckled.

"Of course! Truett and Xitlaly might give me an earful if I didn't show up to their wedding." He turned his eyes to Truett next.

"You shouldn't follow me to the Demon Dungeon anymore.

"Stay and get ready for your wedding. Xitlaly should have no problem with her preparations since she has Lyla and the others with her."

Truett tried to object.

"James..."

James patted him on the shoulder.

"You're about to get married. You need to be a good son, a good husband, and a good father before becoming an exceptional cultivator.

"I didn't have the chance to do that. I hope you can fulfill this dream of mine instead."

Before Truett could say anything more, James shot up into the air and flew in the direction of the Demon Dungeon.

Yegor let out a soft sigh.

"You are really lucky to have such a good friend like him. Many would envy you because of this."

Truett directed his gaze at Yegor.

"Dad, I just hope I can be of more help to James."

Yegor scoffed.

"Help from someone who is not competent enough is only going to be a burden. It's an act of pure ignorance."

"I...I was only trying to..."

Truett tried to explain.

"You want to talk about what happened earlier again?"

Yegor shot a glare at him.

"You almost got James killed just because you wanted to test the fragment of Tirta Power you had. You think that was helpful for James?"

Truett lowered his head in embarrassment.

Yegor was right.

If Truett had not carelessly rushed out of the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell to test the bit of Tirta Power he possessed, he and James would not have ended up in that dangerous situation.

Truett did not imagine the Yang governor would be so formidable when he was only using one-tenth of his powers.

"I won't ask you to work hard on being a good son."

Yegor said in a steely voice, "However, I hope you'll be a good husband and a loyal friend, who's strong enough to help your friends. I'll be happy with that."