

THE ALMIGHTY DRAGON GENERAL

Chapter 6261

Both Yegor and Lady Herodias were momentarily stunned watching them. Then, they hurried forward to greet them. “Grand Patriarchs, why have you suddenly come?” Yegor asked with a smile.

“Yegor, we sensed a considerable number of long-lost Divine Tools appearing, so we came out of curiosity.” A red-haired elder chuckled.

Following that, another elder with white hair looked toward the road forged by the Divine Tools and remarked, “This is such a grand gesture.

I’m afraid only you two could accomplish it.” Faced with the praise from the two Grand Patriarchs, Yegor and Lady Herodias exchanged a glance, smiling sheepishly and shaking their heads simultaneously.

“Why, isn’t it you two?” asked the leading red-haired elder.

Lady Herodias raised an eyebrow.

“The disciple surpasses the master.

It seems we’ve both grown old.” At these words, the red-haired elder glanced toward the Telhervo Hall.

He caught sight of James leading the newlyweds, Truett and Xitlaly, into the hall via the Divine Tools Road. With a meaningful nod, he understood everything.

“The newlyweds have entered the hall.

Please grace us with your presence, Grand Patriarchs.” Yegor bowed respectfully to the Grand Patriarchs.

Lady Herodias eyed them and said, “I suppose there’s no need for pretense, is there, folks?” A group of Grand Patriarchs exchanged glances before bursting into laughter simultaneously.

Following Yegor and Lady Herodias, they transformed into countless rays of light and entered the Telhervo Hall. The rest of the proceedings were straightforward. Truett and Xitlaly followed the customary procedures for the new couple, culminating in their entrance to the bridal chamber.

Meanwhile, James seized the opportunity to retrieve the Divine Tools under the guise of arranging the bedding, and promptly left the scene without even giving the old folks a chance to speak.

Yegor and Lady Herodias naturally understood James’ intentions.

Instead of detaining him, they actively assisted, preventing the old foxes on-site from getting a word in. Regardless, with the wedding progressing to this point, the formalities were more or less complete. The next step was simply to feast and celebrate with guests from all over.

At this moment, James and the others gathered on the newlywed spiritual mountain of Truett.

After surveying them, James raised his hand and cast a Soundproof Barrier.

Then, his expression turned grim.

“Speak up.

What's going on?” Seeing James’ displeasure, Lyla, Rebella, Xatia, and Adair exchanged glances and lowered their heads. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

“You might play around normally,” said James sternly.

"However, this is neither the time nor the place for your antics." "Master."

Adair hastily lifted her head. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"Weddings are supposed to be lively." "Weddings are indeed lively," James retorted impatiently. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"However, not before the bride has stepped out of the carriage, only after the ceremony.

Don't you understand?" "Human customs have too many rules," Adair muttered under her breath. "We're still learning from you." "Hold on." James pointed at Adair.

"So, you're the mastermind behind this incident?" "It's not me." Adair quickly waved her hand.

"Xitlaly herself said she wouldn't leave the carriage unless you came."

The Almighty Dragon General #Chapter 6262 - Read The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6262 Online - All Page - Novel Drama

Chapter 6262

"Mm-hmm."

Xatia quickly nodded.

"I can testify. Xitlaly herself said so." "It should have been like this." Rebella looked at James.

"You're not just their brother, but also their matchmaker. How can she leave the carriage if you aren't present? What does that make us on the bride's side?"

"If we don't set the tone in this situation, how can we expect a pleasant atmosphere when we enter the groom's family?" Lyla chimed in.

James laughed upon listening to their self-righteous explanations.

"As far as I know, none of you have ever been married, or even been in a relationship. Where did you get all these mischievous ideas from?"

At his words, the several stunning women glanced at each other and lowered their heads once again, feeling wronged. They still believed they were in the right.

After all, they had their roles, which were to represent Xitlaly's family.

They naturally had to uphold her interests.

Meanwhile, James represented Truett's side, responsible for all the arrangements here. It seemed a bit domineering that he had taken a hands-off approach and blamed them. Truett suddenly barged in just as James was about to reprimand them further.

"It's all your fault."

Adair immediately pointed at Truett.

"We got scolded because of you."

"That's right!"

Xatia glared fiercely at Truett.

"Xitlaly wouldn't step out from the carriage, and you didn't even bother to come and appease her. You hid and didn't show up. Is that acceptable?"

"Little Truett, you're a married man now."

Rebella stared at Truett fiercely.

"We won't spare you if you dare to let Xitlaly suffer, even to the point of abuse." "No need for nonsense."

Lyla shot Truett at a glance.

"This isn't over. We should hit him after the wedding."

Truett wore a bitter expression as he listened to the scolding from several living beings. Then, he looked at James.

"James, they scared me so much | didn't dare to enter the bridal chamber."
"You deserve it," said James helplessly.

"You should be inside with the bride now.What are you doing out here?"

"I'm not the only one who came out.She also did."

Truett suddenly turned around, pointing outside the soundproof barrier.

The next moment, Xitlaly, dressed in bridal attire, burst in.

"Oh my goodness," exclaimed Rebella.

"Do you even understand the rules? Have you ever been a bride before?"

"This is the first time.|'m too lazy to go through all the formalities." Xitlaly sat down beside Truett nonchalantly.

"There's no outsiders here.Let's just chat, shall we?"

Everyone was left speechless.

They then began discussing why James suddenly disappeared and did not receive an invitation. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

James recounted the incident with the invitations.

After hearing this, Lyla's expression turned cold.

"So, Xachary has already arrived, but we didn't see him earlier." "He wouldn't appear in the Telhervo Hall," snorted Truett.

"| sent a respectful invitation to James.He would naturally stay in the Grand Patriarch Pavilion." Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"This folk is shameless," said Rebella coldly.

"We must settle accounts with him later."

"Not just settle accounts," said Lyla, also coldly.

"| also need to make him hand over something."

"I just saw the Dark Heavenly Path!" Adair's eyes flashed.

"She has a blood feud with Xachary. Why don't we bring her along and attack Xachary together later?" Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Chapter 6263

Everyone's expression changed as if they saw a devil while they watched Adair.

"What's wrong?"

Adair was stunned.

"Do you all find something inappropriate?"

Rebella clicked her tongue.

"You've underestimated the Dark Heavenly Path and overestimated Xachary."

"Exactly," Truett laughed.

"Xachary's Tribulation has already dropped. We can knock him down without needing an alliance with the Dark Heavenly Path." Adair rolled her eyes upon hearing this.

"So, when do we make our move?"

At these words, everyone looked at James simultaneously because only he could make this decision. Meanwhile, James was immersed in silence.

With Skynet orchestrating such a grand scene, inviting heroes from all walks of life, the original intention might have been to add luster to this wedding.

However, James wondered if they truly anticipated the hidden treachery and crisis behind it.

Setting aside the fact that the new alliance and the Righteous Alliance have long been at each other's throats, with irreconcilable differences, just the appearance of the Dark Heavenly Path here as a wife has already filled the air with hatred.

The wedding of Truett and Xitlaly had reached this point perhaps due to various forces reluctantly giving face under the pressure of Yegor and Lady Herodias.

With Truett and Xitlaly entering the bridal chamber, the wedding proceedings had concluded.

Would the various factions still exercise restraint during the ensuing grand banquet? Even Adair knew that disruptions in the bridal chamber could present an opportunity for settling personal vendettas, with enemies seizing the chance to strike openly.

What could Yegor and Lady Herodias say then? So, it was likely that the following events would not be all joy and celebration but rather a series of disasters, perhaps even a Catastrophe.

After careful consideration, James raised his head and scanned everyone.

"Xachary still has his uses. We can't move against him temporarily. Right now, I'm more concerned about the Forladtt Land." Everyone expressed astonishment simultaneously.

"Lyla, Rebella," said James coldly.

"Extend your hands."

Lyla and Rebella hesitated for a moment before reluctantly reaching out.

The next moment, James infused them with a trace of Courageous Power that could allow them to move in and out from the restrictions of the Forladtt Land.

Feeling this, Lyla and Rebella were momentarily stunned.

"I hereby appoint you as the Left and Right Grand Lords of the Jademora Empire," said James deliberately.

"Lyla is the Left, and Rebella is the Right. Hurry back to the Forladtt Land and take charge of all living beings there."

Without waiting for Lyla and Rebella to respond, James looked at Xatia and Adair.

"You both go back as the Left and Right Great Elders of the Jademora Empire, to assist Lyla and Rebella."

They were all shocked at this declaration.

They could not understand why James was insisting on sending them back at this moment, and with such heavy responsibilities. At this point, Adair raised her head in dismay.

"Master, we haven't finished attending the wedding yet."

"How else do you plan on attending?"

James glanced at her disdainfully.

"The ceremony has been completed.

Are you hoping to witness the couple's wedding night?"

With these words, they were left speechless.

"I'm asking you to return to the Forladtt Land. This is a command." James' eyes narrowed into slits.

"Since the establishment of the Jademora Empire, this is the first time I've uttered these four words. Do you intend to disobey?" Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Upon hearing this, the four living beings looked at each other in silence before hastily bowing and reluctantly taking off into the air. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"Don't think of playing tricks. I can sense whether you return to the Forladtt Land," James declared forcefully.

"If anyone dares to disobey this order, they'll be immediately expelled from the Jademora Empire, and all ties will be severed." In an instant, the expressions of the four living beings in the void changed. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

However, James spoke again before they could speak. "Celestial Sage and Earthly Sage, I'd trouble you to escort them." Two golden lights enveloped Lyla, Rebella, Xatia, and Adair, sending them away directly.

It was not until this moment that Truett and Xitlaly looked at James with astonishment.

Chapter 6264

"What's going on, James?"

"Do you have a premonition, James?"

James lifted his head and said lightly, "There's something | need to entrust to you."

He raised his hand, and the Courageous Tower, which controlled the Forladtt Land, appeared in his palm. The tower emitted black and white light.

Truett and Xitlaly were both stunned when they saw this.

"I'll temporarily entrust the Courageous Tower to you."

James handed the tower to Truett.

"| might be leaving for some time.| hope that Skynet and the lustus Sect can protect the Forladtt Land in my absence." Upon hearing this, Truett quickly stood up.

"James, we are also a part of the Jademora Empire..."

"No, you are not from now on,"

James interrupted Truett.

"You are the Young Master of Skynet.After your marriage, your father and mother should hand over Skynet's affairs to you." With that, he turned to Xitlaly.

"And you, holding the Tempest Scepter, have become the sect leader of the lustus Sect.

When you meet with Sir Mattaniah later, I'll make this request to him, and he'll surely agree."

"No!"

Truett suddenly became anxious.

"James, what's so important that you have to—"

"You always want to dig deeper,"

James interrupted him again.

"You're married now. It's time to be a man. You have to be mature and sensible."

Truett was rendered speechless.

Xitlaly sighed softly and choked up.

"James, you have your ideas and arrangements, and I won't pry, but I'll make two things clear.

"First, whether I'm the lustus Sect's saintess or the sect leader, I'm still a member of the Jademora Empire. Nobody can drive me away, including you.

"Second, Truett and I will support you no matter what you're going to do. However, we will resent you forever if you want to deprive us of the right to share life and death."

Xitlaly was clever.

James looked at her and suddenly waved his hand, and hundreds of Divine Tools flew to her. She looked surprised. "James..."

"These things are to be kept by you."

James smiled.

"Take what you need and store the rest. They will be of great use to us in the future."

At his words, Xitlaly waved her hand and collected all the hundreds of Divine Tools.

Then, she nodded heavily at James.

"Alright." James smiled.

"Most of the arrangements have been made. Now, it's time for you two to enjoy your wedding night." With that, he looked at Truett again.

"This guy is impulsive. Xitlaly, you'll have to discipline him more. If he doesn't listen, just beat him until he does."

"Rest assured." Xitlaly nodded.

"I'll beat him three times a day."

"James..." said Truett.

James suddenly soared into the air before he could finish.

At the same time, James waved his hand to envelop the entire newlywed spiritual mountain with a barrier. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

At this moment, the Celestial Sages appeared.

James politely bowed to them, "Seniors, could you please place the strongest restriction on this spiritual mountain? At least preventing the two of them from breaking out today." Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Celestial Sage and Earthly Sage glanced at each other and simultaneously acted.

Two gray restrictions instantly enveloped the newlywed spiritual mountain, emanating terrifying power. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novelnovelbin

Seeing this, James smiled and thanked them, "Thank you."

"Yegor and Lady Herodias asked us to invite you."

Celestial Sage stared at James.

"It seems you have already anticipated something."

James took a deep breath.

"This place isn't suitable for conversation. How about we go elsewhere?"

The Celestial Sages nodded simultaneously, and a Historial Power instantly enveloped James.

They disappeared into the void in an instant.

Chapter 6265

The Celestial Sages appeared with James in a mysterious restricted area at Skynet Headquarters.

"This is a restricted area, outsiders are not allowed in,"

Celestial Sage explained to James.

Earthly Sage added, "The Tirta Grand Formation is enveloping us now. Even the Grand Patriarch's Zen cannot be utilized." James nodded in understanding, then sighed lightly, "I presume you two have some expectations for the upcoming situation." At his words, the Celestial Sages exchanged a glance, both nodding simultaneously. novelbin

They had initially thought James sent away his trusted disciples to prevent them from being involved in the impending trouble. However, James' attitude toward the Truett couple confused them.

They wondered why James treated it as more than just a calamity, almost like settling affairs.

Thus, they voiced their perplexity.

After listening, James smiled faintly.

"Do you inquire at the behest of Yegor and Herodias, or is it your own curiosity?"

The Celestial Sages were momentarily stunned, then both spoke at once, "What's the difference?"

James replied calmly, "If it's your inquiry, I can only write two letters and ask you to hand them over to Mr. Yegor and Herodias. Then you'll understand everything."

At his words, the Celestial Sages frowned.

After a while, Earthly Sage sighed lightly, "You're quite thoughtful."

"Then write the two letters," Celestial Sage spoke bluntly.

James condensed two energy balls containing messages with his Zen and handed them to the Celestial Sages.

The Celestial Sages took them and nodded simultaneously.

James waved his hand, and two transcendent Divine Tools emanating ten-colored light appeared before the Celestial Sages. Seeing this, their expressions changed drastically.

"The Quintessence Cauldron?" Celestial Sage exclaimed, "

You possess such a treasure?"

"The Kyodai Tower!"

Earthly Sage also exclaimed, "This is a genuine transcendent Divine Tool. It's long been lost. Where did you find it?"

James smiled faintly at the two.

"Please accept these gifts, Seniors."

The Celestial Sages both gasped in shock. "These are for us?"

"With such treasures bestowed upon us, Surely there's a request in return?"
Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

James took a deep breath, then suddenly knelt before the Celestial Sages.
Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Seeing this, they both became anxious. "What are you doing, kid?" said one.

"You're the Chosen One, this is too much. We cannot bear it," said the other.
Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"I have three requests to ask of you." James bowed to them.

"I hope you will agree."

Chapter 6266 The Celestial Sages exchanged a glance, then spoke simultaneously, "Shoot."

James said solemnly, "The first matter is that you must guard the newlywed spiritual mountain where Truett and Xitlaly reside. They're not to step out, regardless of what happens outside."

At his words, the Celestial Sages simultaneously furrowed their brows.

Earthly Sage asked, "And the second matter?"

"Please take care of my children and Maxine Caden." James' expression turned grave.

"I hope you can ensure their safety in crucial moments."

Upon hearing this, Celestial Sage's face darkened.

"They're favored by Yegor and Lady Herodias. Anyone who dares to be disrespectful to them seeks death." "We promise you."

Earthly Sage fixed her gaze on James.

"What's the third matter?"

"The third matter," James sighed lightly.

"When necessary, I hope you can lend a hand to the Forladtt Land, protecting the living beings in the Dark World." At this, the Celestial Sages were startled.

They had not expected James' three requests to be like this, especially with none concerning his own safety. It seemed as if he already knew his fate.

Taking a deep breath, Celestial Sage stared at James.

"Kid, the value of these two gifts doesn't match the three matters you're asking for. Just speak up if you have any difficulties, and we will assist you."

"Yeah," Earthly Sage sighed lightly.

"These two treasures are sufficient to drive five Quasi Daelcon Rank powerhouses to risk their lives for you. We can't be an exception."

James smiled faintly at them, "You are the ancestors of heaven and earth. How could I dare? I hope you will agree to these three matters. I'm deeply grateful. I'll repay this kindness if I have the chance in the future."

Seeing James so determined, Celestial Sage and Earthly Sage exchanged another glance, then slowly closed their eyes. Shortly after, the two transcendent Divine Tools were retrieved by them.

Giving money and resolving calamities was their way of agreeing.

They helped James to his feet.

Then, they looked at him solemnly but hesitated to speak further.

As Grand Patriarchs, they could not press a junior to explain his reasons.

The Telhervo Hall was packed, but an eerie atmosphere pervaded, and the tension was growing increasingly intense.

Over a dozen powerhouses at the peak of the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation were locked in battle outside the main hall.

Their Genesis Powers and Sword Lights flashed, deploying Supernatural Powers, causing the world to tremble.

These super powerhouses were super sect controllers of the Righteous Alliance and the new alliance, acting under the secret orders of Gladwin and the Yaquis Holiness, ostensibly for the sake of sparring.

Neither Yegor nor Lady Herodias intervened, and the elders seated on both sides were eager to witness the prowess of their juniors.

However, the battles outside the hall grew fiercer, to the point where killing moves were employed, inflicting serious injuries upon each other, reaching a point of no return, yet no one intervened.

Just then, an elder with white hair was bombarded with a barrage of punches in the void outside the hall.

His flesh exploded in an instant, shocking all the powerhouses inside the hall.

"Sect Leader of the Aurora Sect!"

novelbin

Gladwin rose from his seat and roared, "The rebels of the new alliance, this spar should have its limits. How dare they resort to lethal force?" Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

In his words, the Grand Patriarchs and super powerhouses simultaneously furrowed their brows. The Yaquis Holiness chuckled and looked at Gladwin.

"Your Righteous Alliance can injure the Sect Leader of my Hues Sect. Why can't we injure your Sect Leader of the Aurora Sect?" Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"You old dog!"

Gladwin slammed his palm onto the table and pointed fiercely at the Yaquis Holiness. "You've gone too far. If you want a fight, let's settle it ourselves."

"Fine."

The Yaquis Holiness sneered as he stood up.

"I'll accompany you to the end."

"Please take your quarrel outside if you must."

Lady Herodias' face hardened.

"Don't disrupt the feast."

Hearing Lady Herodias' words, Gladwin and the Yaquis Holiness snorted coldly and immediately rushed out of the hall together. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Chapter 6267

Seeing this scene, a Grand Patriarch with white temples sitting beside Lady Herodias suddenly chuckled and said, "The younger generations nowadays are becoming more and more audacious. They dare to be so bold and ruthless."

"Well, you can't say it like that, Sir Stefan."

Another Grand Patriarch with red hair chuckled and said, "They each lead a sect now, how can they develop if they don't compete?"

The words of the red-haired Grand Patriarch immediately resonated with the other Grand Patriarchs present, who nodded one after another.

"The Genesis World has always been a world of survival of the fittest. With limited resources, it's natural that the strong are respected."

"We've fought our way up like this all along. Otherwise, could we have what we have now?" "The younger generation's hot-bloodedness is understandable. Let them play."

"It seems that both the Yaquis Holiness and Gladwin have comparable cultivation bases. This battle between them is quite intriguing."

"These two juniors have been at odds for several entrapochs and still haven't determined a winner!"

"We're not interested in their performance. Instead, we're interested in the Chosen One."

Just as their voices fell, Gladwin and the Yaquis Holiness outside the hall had already begun to fight.

When they made their move, it was all devastating Supernatural Powers.

Especially Gladwin's Historial Dragon's Breath.

Once unleashed, the entire Telhervo Hall outside was filled with golden light, creating a majestic and spectacular sight. The Yaquis Holiness was not to be outdone.

Amidst this golden light, he moved as lightly as a swallow, contending with various Supernatural Powers from Gladwin, not falling behind.

Just as they were fiercely engaged in battle, the Celestial Sages walked in slowly with James.

With James' appearance, all the super powerhouses and Grand Patriarchs in the hall cast strange glances at him simultaneously.

"Come here, Little James."

Lady Herodias smiled and stood up, waving at him.

Yegor also stood up and smiled.novelbin

"You're a bit late, James."

James bowed to them.

Then, he stepped onto the red carpet step by step under the gazes of the powerhouses and Grand Patriarchs. Wherever he went, all the powerhouses he knew stood up to greet him.

This included not only Yancy Quaid, the Sect Leader of the Behatarm Sect, and Wylie Harriet, the Lord of the Sanctum Genesis World, but also several elders of the lustus Sect.

The super powerhouses at the scene also stood up to greet him one after another, showing no disdain for him despite being a junior at the peak of Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Eighth Tribulation.

After all, the living beings who could sit in this hall were all big shots who had seen the world. Not to mention the fact that James wielded so many lost Divine Tools of their various sects.

Just being the Chosen One with the Ultimate Golden Body was enough to make them admire him.

It was precisely because of this Ultimate Golden Body that each of them had a hint of greed in their eyes. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Even the group of supremely cultivated Grand Patriarchs was no exception. "Sit here." Yegor smiled and said, "You're the protagonist today."

When James saw the place Yegor had vacated, it was actually between him and Lady Herodias, so he hurriedly shook his head. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"I sit over there." With that, he walked towards a dark corner.

Seeing this, all the powerhouses present frowned simultaneously, and some of them were already showing signs of anger. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

"He has no manners, showing such disrespect while relying on being the Chosen One." "Exactly, he doesn't even give face to Yegor and Lady Herodias, but runs off to be with an evildoer." "What's the relationship between him and that evildoer? Could he be captivated by her beauty?"

"He possesses the Ultimate Golden Body. We mustn't let that evildoer take advantage of him."

Chapter 6268 "If that evildoer obtains the Ultimate Golden Body, won't the Genesis World be plunged into catastrophe?" "Let's wait for the right moment to settle the score. No rush for now."

Listening to the whispered conversations of the powerhouses, the Grand Patriarchs sitting on either side of Yegor and Lady Herodias exchanged glances, their eyes revealing hidden meanings.

Meanwhile, James sat down beside Dark Thea, nodding slightly towards her.

"It seems someone still appreciates me."

Dark Thea smiled charmingly.

"Well, with so many guests coming and going today, there must be a few normal ones, right?" With that, she raised her glass of Qhairs towards James.

"Let's drink to outshine these old dogs."

Astunned silence fell over everyone.

However, James smiled calmly and raised his glass in response.

At that moment, Dark Thea suddenly grabbed his hand.

"This is how we should drink."

With that, she intertwined her hand with James', tilting her head back to finish her drink. This was a cross-cupped wine toast.

James was taken aback, then sighed inwardly.

'Thea, let's drink a cross-cupped wine toast at our brother's wedding. It's a way to celebrate our reunion.' With that thought, he too emptied his glass in one gulp.

Seeing the two of them drinking the toast as if nothing had happened, the super powerhouses and Grand Patriarchs at the scene rolled their eyes incessantly.

Some were even beginning to stand up in anger but were held back by their companions.

Yegor and Lady Herodias exchanged a glance, both revealing smiles of relief.

Others may not know their relationship, but Yegor and Lady Herodias had some idea.

Yet, seeing this pair of star-crossed lovers meeting in such a manner and on such an occasion was truly lamentable.

It seemed they had already garnered enough animosity.

Just then, the battle between Gladwin and the Yaquis Holiness escalated outside the Telhervo Hall, causing chaos and darkness.

They unleashed countless transcendent Supernatural Powers, with the Genesis Power and the subtle Historical Power intertwining, explosions reverberating, leaving the area in ruins.

If not for Skynet activating the Tirta Grand Formation, it would have been unable to withstand the residual shockwaves.

Watching the earth-shattering battle outside, James suddenly chuckled, "Who's stronger between Gladwin and the Yaquis Holiness?"

"They're just a couple of old dogs," Dark Thea sneered.

"Once | reach the Quasi Daelcon Rank, they're both dead meats."

Hearing this, James sighed helplessly, "You should leave sooner rather than later." "Leave?"

Dark Thea looked at James as if he were a monster.

"Do you think I'm afraid of them?"

"Of course not," James sighed softly.

"It's difficult to contend with so many powerhouses. Apart from me, Yegor, and Lady Herodias, everyone here is your enemy. Do you believe you can withstand their combined assault?"

Dark Thea's beautiful eyes flashed.

"Do they dare to make a move here?"

"Nothing's impossible," James murmured. novelbin

"After all, my brother's wedding has concluded, and now it's time for everyone to show their Supernatural Powers." Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Dark Thea swept her gaze around covertly.

Seeing all the super powerhouses and Grand Patriarchs staring at her intently, she could not help but feel uneasy. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

She knew James was right, but it was too late.

Now that this group of old dogs had their eyes on her, it was impossible to leave safely. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

With that in mind, she once again picked up the Qhairs nonchalantly. "Let's continue with the toast."

James was taken aback, then smiled wryly.

After clinking glasses with her, he drank the toast once again. "Evildoer, have you had enough?"

An elderly woman with white hair suddenly roared.

Immediately, more than a dozen super powerhouses in the hall stood up simultaneously.

Chapter 6269

Dark Thea and James released their grip and watched the dozen or so transcendent powerhouses, who seemed eager to try their luck.

Both of them simultaneously furrowed their brows. "What's this? Are you all bothered by us having a drink?" Dark Thea sneered.

"Madam Savannah, are you envious because there's a handsome man beside me? "If you have some romantic inclinations, you could also grab a few good-looking guys to accompany you for drinks and indulge in some revelry, even taste what it's like to be with a man."

The scene erupted into a commotion as soon as these words were spoken. James could only sigh in speechless amusement.

When Thea got mischievous, she could anger a bunch of powerhouses without even trying, because her resentment was always brimming.

"This is utterly outrageous!" roared Savannah.

"You are harlot, demoness, shameless and depraved! You wreaked havoc in the Genesis World countless times, and now you dare to come to the feast of Yegor and Lady Herodias to cause trouble. Your sins are beyond redemption. I'll make sure your soul scatters into oblivion today."

At these words, Dark Thea covered her mouth and shook with laughter.

In this laughter, the transcendent powerhouses discerned mockery, disdain, and condescension, as if this laughter was offending every one of them, so much so that even the Grand Patriarchs wore expressions of indignation.

Immediately after, Dark Thea waved her delicate hand, and a purplish-pink light shot out, instantly stripping Savannah of all her clothing.

At that moment, all the super powerhouses and Grand Patriarchs present could not help but stiffen.

Lady Herodias immediately covered Yegor's eyes.

"Heh, it's leopard print!" James exclaimed.

"You're quite adventurous."

Dark Thea burst into laughter.

"Quite interesting! You're even more wild than me. You, this uninterested old nun, are quite shameless and depraved, aren't you?" Savannah was consumed with a mix of shame and rage.

She immediately used the divine light to cover herself.

She roared in anger, "You..."

"What about me?"

Dark Thea interrupted.

"Same nonsense again. I didn't beat you to a pulp last time, and now you're back playing the saint again?"

Savannah's anger reached its peak.

Just as she was about to explode, a Grand Patriarch in green robes suddenly stood up from among the Grand Patriarchs. "Evildoer, do you really think there's no one in my Sylverstar Sect?" said Yazan.

At his words, Dark Thea exclaimed, "Sir Yazan, are you willing to sacrifice your dignity and come down personally?" "You're outrageous and shameless."

Yazan's face darkened ominously.

"A scourge like you, who brings chaos to the Genesis World, must be exterminated by all. Today, my Sylverstar Sect will rid the Genesis World of your menace."

Just as he finished speaking, Dark Thea's eyes flashed with two red beams, instantly enveloping Yazan and imprisoning him.

This sudden turn of events shocked everyone in the hall. The next moment, they heard Yazan scream amidst this eerie red light, his abundant Genesis Power rapidly leaking out.

At the same time, two fist-sized gray energy balls emerged above his head, enveloped by the red light and immediately devoured by Dark Thea. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel novelbin

Following that, the red light dissipated, and Yazan crashed to the ground, instantly transforming into a curled-up squirrel. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

This scene happened so swiftly, so much so that all the super powerhouses present had not even reacted, and it was all over. Seeing Yazan in his original form on the ground, everyone in the hall finally revealed expressions of shock and disbelief.

A Grand Patriarch, a top-tier powerhouse at the Quasi Daelcon Rank, was killed in an instant.

They wondered just how powerful this evildoer had become.

"What's the point of boasting without strength?"

Thea snorted coldly.

"Do you really think stepping into the Quasi Daelcon Rank makes you a Grand Patriarch?"

She then turned to Yegor and Lady Herodias and nodded apologetically.

"Sorry about this. I didn't mean to cause trouble, but it seems even having a drink can attract calamity. It's just unavoidable." Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Yegor and Lady Herodias exchanged a glance, both revealing a wry smile. "Outrageous!" The red-haired Grand Patriarch glared at Yegor and Lady Herodias. "You two are the hosts. novelbin

We're all esteemed guests invited by you.

Can you allow such atrocities to happen before you?" His words immediately struck a chord with the surrounding Grand Patriarchs, who began clamoring.

1 "Yegor and Lady Herodias, we will take action if you don't intervene." "Such madness cannot be tolerated!" "This evildoer is too arrogant.

This is simply intolerable!" "We usually don't bother with her, but today's situation is unbearable!" Listening to the Grand Patriarchs' declarations, Yegor and Lady Herodias exchanged another glance.

Just as they were about to speak, a resounding roar echoed from outside the Telhervo Hall.

“Evildoer, come out and return my Historial Core!” Hearing this voice, the enraged Grand Patriarchs were momentarily stunned. James whispered, “Who's this now?” “The Core God, the Tool God, and the Daemon,” Dark Thea sneered.

“These three old stubborn ones are never-ending.

Seems like if I don't fight them, they'll think I'm scared.” She stood up and looked at Yegor and Lady Herodias.

“I came here for a wedding toast and to visit your Telhervo Holy Site, but I didn't expect a bunch of old stubborn ones to want to eliminate me.

“Since they're so insistent, I won't let you two be in a difficult position. I'll fight with them today, but some things might get broken.

When that happens, I'll use their bones to compensate.” Without waiting for Yegor and Lady Herodias to respond, she turned to James.

“I'll remember your kindness.

When the fighting starts, make sure to keep your distance.

Don't expect me to protect you.” With that, she suddenly raised both hands and soared into the air.

“ Old dogs, come outside for a bone!” James felt a sense of urgency as he watched Dark Thea fly out of the Telhervo Hall. This silly girl was challenging so many super powerhouses and Grand Patriarchs on her own.

He wondered if her strength could truly be so terrifying.

At that moment, the Grand Patriarchs in the hall exchanged glances and then left their seats.

They did not leave but instead approached James.

James furrowed his brows as he picked up his wine glass.

“Is there something you all need?” A white-haired Grand Patriarch said with a smile, “James, we need your help in eradicating a scourge in the Genesis World. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

We hope you can assist us.” “I'm just a living being at the peak of Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Eighth Tribulation. How can I be of assistance?” James asked meaningfully.

“you have the lost Divine Tools of our sects,” said another middle-aged Grand Patriarch coldly.

“Lend them to us temporarily.

We'll return them to you after we've rid ourselves of this evildoer.” Seeing their eager gazes, James inwardly thought, ‘Borrowing is easy, but what about returning? Moreover, borrowing my Divine Tools to kill my wife. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

You guys really have some nerve.’ Outwardly, James smiled and shook his head.

“I'm not lending them.” As these two words fell, the faces of the Grand Patriarchs in the hall darkened simultaneously. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

Chapter 6270

Yegor and Lady Herodias exchanged a glance, both revealing a wry smile.

“Outrageous!” The red-haired Grand Patriarch glared at Yegor and Lady Herodias. “You two are the hosts.

We're all esteemed guests invited by you.

Can you allow such atrocities to happen before you?” His words immediately struck a chord with the surrounding Grand Patriarchs, who began clamoring.

1 “Yegor and Lady Herodias, we will take action if you don't intervene.” “Such madness cannot be tolerated!” “This evildoer is too arrogant.

This is simply intolerable!” “We usually don’t bother with her, but today’s situation is unbearable!” Listening to the Grand Patriarchs’ declarations, Yegor and Lady Herodias exchanged another glance.

Just as they were about to speak, a resounding roar echoed from outside the Telhervo Hall.

“Evildoer, come out and return my Historial Core!” Hearing this voice, the enraged Grand Patriarchs were momentarily stunned. James whispered, “Who’s this now?” “The Core God, the Tool God, and the Daemon,” Dark Thea sneered.

“These three old stubborn ones are never-ending.

Seems like if I don’t fight them, they’ll think I’m scared.” She stood up and looked at Yegor and Lady Herodias.

“I came here for a wedding toast and to visit your Telhervo Holy Site, but I didn’t expect a bunch of old stubborn ones to want to eliminate me.

“Since they’re so insistent, I won’t let you two be in a difficult position. I’ll fight with them today, but some things might get broken.

When that happens, I’ll use their bones to compensate.” Without waiting for Yegor and Lady Herodias to respond, she turned to James.

“I’ll remember your kindness.

When the fighting starts, make sure to keep your distance.

Don’t expect me to protect you.” With that, she suddenly raised both hands and soared into the air.

“Old dogs, come outside for a bone!” James felt a sense of urgency as he watched Dark Thea fly out of the Telhervo Hall. This silly girl was challenging so many super powerhouses and Grand Patriarchs on her own.

He wondered if her strength could truly be so terrifying.

At that moment, the Grand Patriarchs in the hall exchanged glances and then left their seats.

They did not leave but instead approached James.

James furrowed his brows as he picked up his wine glass.

“Is there something you all need?” A white-haired Grand Patriarch said with a smile, “James, we need your help in eradicating a scourge in the Genesis World. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

We hope you can assist us.” “I'm just a living being at the peak of Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Eighth Tribulation. How can I be of assistance?” James asked meaningfully.

“you have the lost Divine Tools of our sects,” said another middle-aged Grand Patriarch coldly.

“Lend them to us temporarily.

We'll return them to you after we've rid ourselves of this evildoer.” Seeing their eager gazes, James inwardly thought, ‘Borrowing is easy, but what about returning? Moreover, borrowing my Divine Tools to kill my wife. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel

You guys really have some nerve.’ Outwardly, James smiled and shook his head.

“I'm not lending them.” As these two words fell, the faces of the Grand Patriarchs in the hall darkened simultaneously. Visit to read the latest chapter of this novel