The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6365-Hador said solemnly, "I've just replayed his life after every reincarnation.

What shocked me the most was that none of his karma or tribulations were for himself.

At least ninety percent was because of you.

Do you get what that means?" Dark Thea raised her head and took a deep breath.

She never thought she could cry again.

However, her heart tightened after watching James' past experiences.

James' journey was never about seeking greater heights in cultivation.

His goal was always to find and reunite with her.

However, he followed after her and eventually got caught up in her fight against Tai Chi.

To put it bluntly, James was incredibly gifted.

If he had devoted himself to improving cultivation, he would have already reached the Daeclon Rank and surpassed Yianni.

However, he had always been trapped by love and had never thought about himself.

Dark Thea thought about her previous decision.

Regardless of whether she was reckless or eager for results, she could have done a lot of damage to him under the guise of trying to do what was best for him.

James had already been dragged into her battle.

How would severing her emotions and desires to obtain Heavenly Path Powers help her resolve things? At that moment, Dark Thea shed tears.

Despite that, she resisted the colorful forces around her.

Hador asked helplessly, "Why are you being so stubborn?" Dark Thea said, "Clayton said there's a memory inscription of my past.

If I can't comprehend the Dark Heavenly Path, it won't ever be able to be returned to my body." Hador frowned and asked, "Is that important?" Dark Thea said determinedly, "It is.

To both of us, it's more important than our lives." Hador sighed, nodded, and said, "But I must remind you that you've reached the threshold of the Dark Heavenly Path.

Your mind will become corrupted if you don't get your emotions and desires back within two entrapochs.

When that happens, nobody can save you.

"You'd be determined to destroy everything so the memory inscriptions would never return to you." Dark Thea frowned and said, "Two entrapochs? I' risk it.

I believe he'll definitely return by then." Hearing this, Hador's expression immediately changed.

He finally understood Dark Thea had made up her mind to forsake her emotions and desires.

No matter what, she wanted to comprehend the Dark Heavenly Path.

By then, even if her mind were corrupted, she would never make a move against James.

She could not care less about what other people thought of her.

Even if the entire world was her enemy, it did not bother her.

However, she did not want to have James as her enemy.

After all, she cared about him.

Naturally, he would never intervene too much.

After all, everything had cause and effect.

The two could cause more damage than just destroy the Tai Chi World if they joined forces.
