

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6391-“I’m not sure.” James slowly shook his head. “I’ll be honest, though. I can easily defeat Mr. Yrian in a battle under the condition that he doesn’t unleash his powers fully.” “What about Taotie?” Biefren stared at James intently.

A faint smile flashed across James’ face. He lifted his palm and conjured an energy ball.

Biefren looked in the direction of the energy ball.

He could see Taotie writhing in pain inside the energy ball due to the powers of the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

‘That... That’s...’ Biefren’s eyes widened. “I never thought I would one day see Taotie in such a miserable state!” “Mr. Taotie has a fiery temper.” James smiled. “It won’t do him any harm if he just takes some time to cool off.”

Biefren gazed in awe and wonder at James. “It seems we’ll soon witness the birth of another superior cultivator, who’s from the Ying World.”

He bowed slightly to James. “Congratulations to you, Chosen One. It’s no surprise my wife lost to you.”

James replied, ‘Well... You are a much more reasonable person compared to your wife. At least the two of US can hold a conversation amicably.’

Biefren chuckled and shook his head. He sighed. “Women can sometimes get a little emotional when dealing with certain issues. She’s also spoiled my foolish and naive son rotten.” “That’s an exaggeration.” James grinned. ‘Truthfully, we had this misunderstanding because I was trying to tease your son. I never thought it would lead to a conflict like this.’ “In our world, a beast’s powers define their status.” Biefren replied smilingly, “I should thank you instead for letting my wife and son off.”

Biefren gave a light wave of his hand and conjured a huge cauldron, which was put on a blazing flame.

There were no pills or elixirs in the cauldron. Instead, the cauldron held a great amount of boiling, blue liquid. The rich scent of alcohol wafted in the air.

James picked up the scent and exclaimed, “Wow! It smells so good!” ‘This is the Phoenix’s Tears.” Biefren looked to the cauldron. “Although it can’t compare to the Ying World’s Chaos Absinthe, it nonetheless provides an abundance of energy.”

James asked curiously, “How do we drink it?”

Biefren pointed in the direction of the cauldron. In an instant, a small flame separated from the fire below and floated toward the inside of the cauldron.

The flame carried some blue liquid and entered Biefren’s open mouth.

James’ smile widened. “That’s an interesting way to drink.”

Then, he pointed to the cauldron and transferred some blue liquid into his mouth using his powers.

Curiously, the seemingly boiling liquid tasted cool and sweet. James felt refreshed after having a gulp of it.

“It tastes amazing!” James’ face brightened.

“It doesn’t only taste good.” Biefren responded, ‘This liquor is one of the items required for your learning of the Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes.

“Only the spirit beasts possess the Phoenix’s Tears. I wouldn’t serve this liquor even when meeting Yrian or the Yin Ancestral God.”

James was a little surprised to hear that.

Yukha did not mention anything about the required materials to learn the Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes to him previously.

