

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6411-The man's hair, eyebrows, and beard were as white as frost. His aura seemed ethereal, and it seemed like he was an immortal being. Even James, who had cultivated the Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes, could not see through his cultivation strength.

Yukha hurriedly flew over to him and landed on his shoulder as if he were her real master.

James was slightly intimidated but still mustered up the courage and shouted, "Come back, Yukha. Otherwise, I'll find a male bird to mate with you!"

Yukha trembled and said, "Please save me, Grand Patriarch."

The elderly man replied calmly, "Since you've become his pet, you should follow orders. Although you're the flying spirit beast's primogenitor and a powerhouse with an Eight-Star Combat Power, it's not humiliating for you to be his pet. Instead, you gained a huge blessing by chance."

Yukha's heart pounded anxiously. She was counting on the Grand Patriarch to uphold justice for her and did not expect him to side with James. Her hope of escaping the fate of becoming a pet to James was instantly shattered.

In the past, she had always had a high status and had been arrogant. She was wise in both civil and military skills. She had hardly any opponents. Never would she have imagined someone like her would have ended up in James' hands.

"Chosen One." The elderly man got off the green bull and walked over to James. He bowed and clasped his hands respectfully.

James was flustered to have someone with so much seniority bow down to him. He frantically waved his hand and said, "Y-You're not the Yin Ancestral God, are you?"

The elderly man replied smilingly, "That's me! I'm the Yin Ancestral God, Hador Delms."

James gasped in shock.

Yrian had mentioned that only one person had a Nine-Star Combat Power in the Ying World.

James immediately assumed the elderly man had a Nine-Star Combat Power since his Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes could not determine his cultivation rank. He also suspected the man of being at least at the Xaeclon Rank.

‘Oh shit. If he really is at the Xaeclon Rank, then I’m toast for torturing two of his most trusted subordinates. Will I have to reincarnate again?’ James thought. He asked cautiously, “Are you here to seek revenge and punish me?” “Seek revenge?” Hador was briefly stunned by his question, then burst out laughing. He twirled his beard and asked, “What kind of crime have you committed?”

James pointed at Yukha resting on the elderly man’s shoulder, then looked at Taotie hovering in the void.

Hador instantly understood and said smilingly, “They were arrogant, thinking they were stronger than you. It’s their own fault. If anyone had to be punished, it would be them for being weak.”

James immediately felt at ease. He smiled and said, “I was just playing around with Mr. Taotie. I’m...”

“Yrian, take Taotie away.” Hador suddenly interrupted James.

Yrian cast a gaze at Yukha, then disappeared with Taotie.

Hador waved his hand, and a soundproof barrier wrapped around them. Then, he summoned two jars of Chaos Absinthe. One of the jars floated toward James.

James watched as Hador sat down and took a sip from his jar. He smiled, then grabbed the jar and sat down opposite him.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6412-Hador looked at Yukha and said, “Go back to your master.”

Yukha stayed in place, refusing to say a word. She glared at James angrily, evidently not accepting of her fate yet.

James opened his jar of Chaos Absinthe and said, "It's fine. She should treat her injuries first."

Afterward, James pointed at the jar of Chaos Absinthe. Without waiting for Yukha or Hador to speak, he controlled the wine and directed it into Yukha's mouth.

Hador said anxiously, "She can't consume the Chaos Absinthe like this..."

Before he could finish speaking, Yukha was forcefully fed a mouthful of the Chaos Absinthe. A dazzling blue light erupted from her body, and her body began to sway.

"J-James, you bastard. Are you trying to torture me? You...uh..." Yukha passed out drunk and fell from Hador's shoulder. Fortunately, James quickly caught her and teleported her into his soul space.

"Alright. It's finally quiet." James shrugged at Hador.

Hador asked surprisedly, "Did you do that on purpose?"

James raised the jar of Chaos Absinthe to his lips, took a sip, and said, "There are some things I want to discuss about her, so she shouldn't be here."

Hador burst out laughing, then said, "You're an interesting person. She's going to be unconscious for at least an entrapoch."

James said calmly, "It's fine. I'm afraid I'll stay in the Ying World for more than one entrapoch."

Hador nodded meaningfully and said, "It seems you're clear about the knot in her heart as well as the grudge she has against the Spirit Beast Clan and Biefren, right?"

James stared at him and asked, "Do you really think I'm trying to take revenge for Biefren's death?"

Hador took a deep breath and said, "Yukha is soft and gentle on the surface but quite stubborn and arrogant. In fact, she might be even worse than Taotie. For her to leave the Ying World, what happened was inevitable."

James looked at Hador and said, "Thanks for understanding, Sir. By the way, you must be at the Daeclon Rank, right?"

Hador smiled gently and answered, "I entered the Xaeclon Rank by a stroke of luck. I'm curious why you chose Yukha to bring out of the Ying World."

James asked, "Why not?"

Hador smiled and replied, "Out of the three powerhouses with an Eight-Star Combat Power, Yrian is the wisest and best at analyzing the bigger picture. He is also the Ancestral Dragon's primogenitor. He'd be a competent assistant on your journey. Meanwhile, Taotie is an aggressive fighter. He doesn't like being disciplined but is the strongest. Moreover, he is the easiest to control. He'd storm through obstacles and keep charging forward.

"Yukha, on the other hand, is calculative. She's also unpredictable and the most uncontrollable among the three."

Hador looked at James and said, "My guess was Taotie would be your first choice, followed by Yrian."

After hearing Hador's analysis, James laughed and asked, "So, I made the wrong choice?"

Hador waved his hand and said smilingly, "No, no! Of course not. You have two Quintessential Hearts, so I was curious how you chose."

James looked at him and asked, "Since you're trying to test me, can I ask a question first?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6413-Hador nodded lightly and said, "Go ahead."

James sighed, "If I'm not wrong, the Ying World is trying to help me so I can break the current balance of the outside worlds and challenge the Law of Tai Chi, right?"

Hador nodded without hesitation and replied, "Of course. However, there is a long way to go. You may just be another Franciscus."

James shrugged, saying, "I don't care. My wife's grudge with Tai Chi isn't resolvable. Even if you don't help me, we'll still go after her."

Hador agreed, "Then it's even more important that you choose an assistant with the same goal and values as you."

James said calmly, "A soldier puts on armor, picks up weapons, and storms the battlefield. A commander strategizes and ensures execution."

"There's no doubt Yrian possesses vast knowledge and is a great strategist worthy of being a commander. However, it would be best if he stayed in the Ying World to preside over the overall situation. I'd also entrust him with the affairs of the Dark World."

"Meanwhile, Taotie is very powerful and could swallow up entire worlds," James paused and sighed, "However, he's too aggressive and out of control. It'd be hard for me to subdue him."

Hador looked into James' eyes and asked, "Is that why you picked Yukha?"

James asked smilingly, "Isn't that enough reason?"

"I feel like you're not telling me the whole truth, James. Now that we're drinking here together, we should be open and honest."

James felt like Hador could see right through him. It seemed like if he did not get an honest answer, he would refuse to teach the Xeme Supreme Sutra. Perhaps he might even take back the Ying World's support.

After thinking about it thoroughly, James found his attitude quite reasonable. After all, the Ying World's hope was on his shoulders.

James smiled and said, "You're right. Our ultimate goal is to shatter Tai Chi's control over the different worlds, subvert the law of Tai Chi, and break through the restrictions that prevent us from entering the Daeclon Rank."

"Tai Chi has long controlled the various worlds and is rooted deep within them. Moreover, she's cunning and deceptive. She doesn't govern with just the law of Tai Chi or use the power of major forces. Instead, she has an entire system that compasses powerhouses throughout the different worlds."

"Faced with such a powerful system, I'd be a fool to think eliminating her will be easy."

Hador said thoughtfully, “Unless...we lure Tai Chi out of the Thirty-Three Heavens and kill her.”

James picked up his jug, sipped the Chaos Absinthe, and said smilingly, “You’re saying we go straight for the king? I also thought of it before but realized how naive it was.”

“Even if we can lure her out of the Thirty-Three Heavens, the Yang governor beside her is probably as strong as you. Also, Tai Chi must be terrifyingly strong.”

Hador nodded in response.

James said solemnly, “So if we want to achieve our goal, we must cut off her branches. We’ll eliminate her forces and slowly work our way toward her. That’s our only chance of victory.

“Hence, we must determine our primary and secondary enemies and which people we can form alliances with. By doing so, we’ll be able to pinpoint who we should eliminate first and recruit to our side. Killing her is not going to be easy. There is a lot to consider and plan.

“Back then, Franciscus had reached the peak of the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation. He also mastered the Dawnblaze Form’s second stage, the Third Marciais Combat Form and Curse Magic. He had a Seven-Star Combat Power, but look what happened to him.

“Tai Chi uses her laws and system to oppress the living beings of the Ying and Yang Worlds. Ultimately, the Ying World’s condition never improved.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6414-James spoke matter-of-factly and with brutal honesty.

Hador felt enlightened by James’ words, and he suddenly came to a realization. He had always found it how Franciscus, the genius raised by the Ying World, failed to make any changes. Franciscus’ strength could dominate the Tai Chi World. Yet, even after he shattered the Tai Chi World, the Yang World’s hidden powerhouses did not reappear. Ultimately, their plan failed.

Now, he had finally found the answer. Killing would make one famous and feared in a short time. However, fear would push them to the other side and be used by those with ulterior motives. Ultimately, one would be isolated and become the public enemy.

The strong are respected in the Greater Realms. Even so, combat strength was not the only thing that made one strong. Winning over people's hearts was also an essential factor.

Justice would always win over hearts, whereas wickedness would push people away.

After being shocked for a while, Hador's eyes filled with admiration. He said appreciatively, "So you're saying out of the three, Yukha is the most suited to take the lead?"

James nodded and said, "Yeah. There are several advantages. First, Yukha is the flying spirit beast's primogenitor. If she appears in the Genesis Worlds, she can suppress all the beasts with the same bloodline.

"Even if she can't summon all of the flying spirit beasts, she'll still be able to suppress half of the cultivation resources in the Genesis Worlds and significantly impact the living beings of the Yang World.

"Secondly, Yukha has a respectable status and has contacts with the powerhouses in the Yang World. The more I know about them, the easier it is to find them."

"Lastly, despite her arrogance, she's brave and resourceful. She knows how to assess the situation and make decisions. Her calculative nature will also be useful against the cunning forces in the Yang World."

James smiled and said, "Based on these reasons, I think she'll be the most helpful when I return to the Yang World."

Hador laughed and nodded in agreement, saying, "As expected of the Chosen One. You've thought about it carefully. However, I'm afraid you're missing something really important."

James said smilingly, "You must be worried about space, right? I have the Forladtt Land and can make necessary arrangements."

Hador looked at James in astonishment. He never expected to hear such surprising news during the conversation with James.

James tilted his head and asked, "What other concerns do you have, Sir?" Hador took a deep breath and laughed, "It's a real chance for us. It seems the Dark World's hope is finally right before me."

James raised his eyebrows and asked, "Your concern is resolved, but mine isn't."

Hador smiled mysteriously, stood up with the Chaos Absinthe in his hand, and said, "I shall solve it right away."

After speaking, he suddenly raised his hand. A force wrapped around James, and they disappeared from the spot.

James opened his eyes and found himself in an unfamiliar place.

He was surrounded by rolling mountains and bamboo. A mysterious mist permeated the air, and Spiritual Energy was abundant. It was a peaceful and comforting atmosphere.

However, James' attention was immediately drawn toward the beautiful figure sitting on one of the mountains, emitting a purple-pink light.

"Thea?" James' showed excitement, but the next moment, he was shocked.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6415-Dark Thea looked completely different from when he had last seen her. Her hair was red, and she had heavy makeup. She wore a purple-red robe and emitted an enchanting but frightening aurora.

A faint black light surrounded her body, and thirteen faint red forces connected to her.

James gasped, "What terrifying evil power!"

Hador gently reminded him, "She has acquired the Dark Heavenly Path Power. Although she has only grasped the basics, her evil power is already so potent."

James exclaimed, 'The Dark Heavenly Path Power? So I can give return the memory inscription to her?'

Hador stopped James from approaching her and said, "Be patient. She has already forsaken her emotions and desires. She refused to recover them. She has been waiting for two entrapochs. Her emotions and desires are close to complete dissipation, and her mind may be corrupted any time soon..."

James shook his head and said, it doesn't matter. As long as I return the memory inscription her, she will..."

Hador warned him, "She's stronger than you, James. The Dark Heavenly Path Power has already controlled her and might not recognize you as her husband."

James' brows furrowed. He held Thea's memory inscription in hand disappointedly. He had been dreaming of helping Thea restore her memories for the longest time. However, he had to be patient because she had not comprehended Dark Heavenly Path Power.

Now that she understood the Dark Path Power, James was eager for her to regain her memories.

James was anxious because he feared something terrible would happen if he forced it. He slowly clenched his fists and said, "What do you plan to do?"

Hador sighed, i'll try to subdue her first. However, I'm not sure if I can.

You'll have to wait for the right opportunity. There's only one chance."

James looked at him surprisedly. If even a powerhouse like Hador was uncertain of succeeding, his wife must be compelling.

While James was still in thought, Hador suddenly appeared in the void before the mountain.

The next moment, Hador waved his hand, and Marcials Power struck Dark Thea.

Unexpectedly, Dark Thea remained motionless even after Hador's potent attack. A terrifying evil power erupted from her body, quickly absorbing the attack.

Anxious, James dashed over to Hador.

Hador shouted frantically, “What are you doing here? I asked you to wait.”

Before James could speak, Dark Thea opened her eyes, and two frightening red lights shot out from his eyes. Then, she stretched out her hand and rose into the sky with a purple-pink light around her body.

Hador shouted anxiously, “Not good! Please leave immediately, James!

Her emotions have completely dissipated.”

James hurriedly called out, ‘Thea!’ He did not listen to Hador’s warning but stepped toward Dark Thea instead.
