

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6471-James shrugged nonchalantly. 'To be honest, I'm not certain either.'

However, considering I penetrated the Yang governor's golden body and rendered him powerless, I must be pretty strong, right?"

Hador was so taken aback by James's response that he nearly stumbled. He had not been expecting James' improvements to be so rapid that even he, the revered Yin Ancestral God, appeared so weak in comparison.

"Why is there no movement yet? Is she really planning to abandon her pawn, the Yang governor?" James furrowed his brows.

Hador narrowed his eyes, saying thoughtfully, "She must be weighing her options. With the Chaos Honrome Formation activated here, perhaps she's hesitant to show up."

Very well. Then, I'll save my disciple and his fiance first," James sighed. Then, he closed his eyes and began drawing the surrounding Chaos Essence from the surrounding into his golden body. It was like a river flowing into the deep sea.

Sometime later, James completely absorbed the Chaos Essence within the Ying World, and two radiant spiritual pearls materialized in his hands. One pearl gleamed with fiery red hues, while the other emanated a soothing blue aura. Both pearls exuded faint signs of life, albeit feeble.

After James devoured Yianni's remnant consciousness and soul, he acquired a Marcials Soul and inherited some of Yianni's memories and knowledge.

Therefore, he knew the two pearls in his hands were manifestations of Leuko and Stephen. One was an entity nurtured by Chaos Essence, whereas the other was by Hongrome Essence. The Chaos Hongrome Formation could only be activated when the two sacrificed themselves and merged.

Without their selfless sacrifice to activate the formation and suppress the Yang governor as well as the Three Symbols, Hador, and Yrian would not have survived until he left seclusion.

These two entities deserved great credit for their generosity and righteousness.

At that moment, a graceful silhouette suddenly appeared in the void and swiftly landed in front of James and Hador. Three thuds resounded as the woman tossed three creatures before them like worthless trash.

James and Hador were surprised by the sight.

The three creatures displayed diverse forms, each with its own peculiarities. One resembled a fiery bird, and faint flames enveloped its body. However, its wings were tattered and broken.

The second creature was a turtle, which had nine heads. Yet now, eight of them were deformed beyond recognition.

The last one bore the semblance of a tiger. Its body was drenched in blood and badly wounded, with its life force rapidly fading away.

Upon witnessing the three creatures, Hador exclaimed, "Are these the Yang governor's Three Symbols?"

Lucille affirmed with a nod.

James fixed his gaze on Lucille and asked. "Did you defeat them?"

Lucille looked at James complicatedly, lowered her head, and answered, "Clayton and I teamed up."

James chuckled, "Well done. The Three Symbols have the strength at the Xaeclon Rank, but you two forced them back into their original forms. Tai Chi is in for a serious setback this time."

After speaking, James placed the two pearls into his soul space. Then, he turned his attention to the Yang governor, who still screamed in pain.

James said deliberately, each word dripping scornfully, "See this mess? These are your weak subordinates. If you don't call out for your mother to save you, it might be the end for you."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6472-The Yang governor, whose appearance was deformed beyond recognition, opened his eyes hazily. His gaze fell upon the Three Symbols that had reverted to their original forms. His heart pounded, and a shiver ran down his spine.

Never had he imagined being in such a dire predicament. Not only was he suffering great humiliation, but his survival was also in danger.

At that moment, regret washed over him for venturing into the Yin's void. He realized he had gravely underestimated James.

James held him up and taunted, "Call for her. Let's see if she will come and fight me to save you."

The Yang governor's body trembled, and he said weakly, "My mother isn't as easily intimidated as I am, James. I acknowledge you're strong, but you can't escape the Tai Chi World and its laws." "You still want to talk tough?" James said, landing a mighty blow on the Yang governor, sending him flying into the distance.

The Yang governor plummeted, but James dashed over and swung his feet, sending him back into the air.

The cycle repeated, with the Yang governor treated like a shuttlecock.

Feeling humiliated and mocked, he cried out in agony.

Unable to bear it any longer, the Yang governor shouted, "Mother, save me!"

Unfortunately, no signs coming from the sky could be seen. The Yang governor endured James' kicks and eventually started to wail.

"No way. Is he crying right now?" Clayton appeared and swiftly descended from the void.

James swung his leg again, directing the Yang governor into the sky. Then, he turned to Clayton and inquired, "Were you hurt?" "I was prepared to get hurt, but I didn't have the chance to since you showed up in time." Clayton shrugged.

James chuckled and asked, "Where's my wife and friends?"

Clayton was taken aback, then glanced at Hador and said with a hint of embarrassment, "Of course, they're at the forefront, fighting off the invading forces led by the Yang governor to take revenge."

James nodded slightly in response.

Suddenly, a rumble of thunder came from the sky.

James looked up and saw dense grey clouds engulfed by a black-and-white mist. Suddenly, lightning crackled, and thunder boomed in the void.

The black-and-white mist continued to gather rapidly.

"Here she comes," James sneered and quickly grabbed the Yang governor, who was plummeting through the void.

Hador, Lucille, and Clayton watched solemnly as Tai Chi Gas gathered.

The Yang governor, on the other hand, burst out laughing with blood gurgling from his mouth.

"You're done for, James! My mother is here! You and the entire Ying World will pay with blood!"

James clicked his tongue. With a thought, his Curse Magic wrapped around the Yang governor, eliciting another wave of screams from him.

Annoyed, James turned to Clayton and said, "He's too noisy. Do you want to beat him up?"

Clayton twisted his wrists and replied, "I could use a little exercise. Leave him to me."

With that said, Clayton took the Yang governor from James and dragged him to the rear.

Meanwhile, James watched the black-and-white mist in the void with anticipation, wondering which of Tai Chi's clones would show up.

“You’re pretty arrogant, Chosen One.” A furious voice came from the black-and-white mist.

James smiled faintly and said, “I don’t like your tone. Get down here.”

As he suddenly reached with his hand, terrifying Marciais Power morphed out and gushed toward the black-and-white mist.

A loud rumble resounded from the black-and-white mass. Then, a spectral figure was knocked down from the sky.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6473-However, to everyone’s surprise, the figure composed of black-and-white mist swiftly spun around and rebounded instantly.

James marveled, and a smug expression crossed his face. He reached out and effortlessly retracted all the Marciais Power he had just released.

Hador reminded softly, “She’s fighting you with similar power. That’s the Yin - Yang Tai Chi. She’s at the Seventh Xaeclon Rank.” “Interesting.” James cast the Terrastride Step and appeared before the Yin- Yang Tai Chi instantly.

The Tai Chi clone’s appearance remained unclear. However, James could tell it was a woman with a rather voluptuous figure.

Confronted by James’ piercing gaze, the Ying-Yang Tai Chi took two cautious steps backward. Then, she exclaimed, “You obtained Yianni’s Marciais Soul?”

James tucked one hand behind his back and cast a sidelong glance at her, saying, “Shall we talk before the fight or after?”

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi retorted disdainfully, “Are you in such a hurry to meet your end? You’ve indeed surpassed our expectations. However, you seemed to have forgotten that the Ying and Yang Worlds are part of the Tai Chi World. I’m immortal in the Tai Chi World. How will you fight me?”

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi’s final sentence was nearly a shout.

James remained calm and asked, "I have only one question for you. Are you the one with a grudge against me from the Genesis Worlds?"

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi tightened her fists and replied, "It's me, but also not me..."

James interrupted her, "Cut the crap. Your answer will determine whether you live or die."

Tai Chi shouted furiously, "Presumptuous! Did you not hear what I just said?" James' patience wore thin as he twirled his fingers. Suddenly, he cast the Dawnblaze Form and disappeared.

Startled, the Yin-Yang Tai Chi shouted, "Come back, James! I haven't finished speaking yet...ugh!"

Her words were cut short, and she let out a muffled grunt.

James had appeared behind her and dealt a blow, sending her into the distance.

"Despicable and dishonorable methods!" The Yin-Yang Tai Chi bellowed as she regained her balance, and then she unleashed a torrent of potent Tai Chi Power.

Countless black and white Tai Chi diagrams surged toward James, each carrying destructive force capable of shattering entire worlds.

Just as the attacks were about to reach James, he executed the Terrastride Step and took eight steps forward, halting everything around him.

Then, he activated the Dawnblaze Form and stomped on the Tai Chi Powers to approach the Yin-Yang Tai Chi.

"You..." The Yin-Yang Tai Chi's expression turned pale in shock. Before she could utter another word, she saw a terrifying wave of Evil Sword Energies descending from above her.

Boom!

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi swiftly duplicated into multiple clones and evaded the Sword Energies.

“As expected of someone at the Seventh Xaeclon Rank, you’re pretty strong,” James remarked after his Sword Energies missed. Next, he raised his head to Tai Chi, who was hovering in the void, and said, “But do you think it’s already over?” Boom! Bang! Boom!

The sky was filled with continuous thunderous explosions as the lightsaber tore through the air.

James’ attacks gave the Yin-Yang Tai Chi clones no chance to evade, destroying them one after another.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6474-Seeing such terrifying speed and attack power, the Yin-Yang Tai Chi immediately rose into the air and dispersed into a black-and-white mist, attempting to flee for her life.

James transformed into his human form, shouting, “Why are you running? Get back here.”

As he spoke, he reached out and grabbed the void. A potent Marciais Power shot toward the black-and-white mist.

The Marcials Power manifested into thousands of illusory hands, reaching at the mist. Seeing them, the Yin-Yang Tai Chi panicked.

“Ha! Come in here if you dare!” The Yin-Yang Tai Chi shouted, then dodged into the mist.

The next moment, the mist surged with thunder and unleashed lightning bolts in James’ direction.

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi turned around and saw James darting toward her.

James was undeterred and faced the onslaught head-on. With the Marciais Power coursing through him, he shattered the lightning bolts one after another and advanced through the void like a formidable warrior.

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi shouted with a trembling voice, "Impressive! You're pretty brave! But now that you've come in here don't even think about getting out!"

After speaking, she thrust her palms forward and unleashed a barrage of lightning bolts at James again.

In defense, James waved his hand and urged his Marcial's Power, instantly causing several incoming lightning bolts to detonate.

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi roared and promptly split into numerous clones again. Then, they charged at James simultaneously.

Faced with their attacks, James stood his ground without evading or retreating. His movements were steady as he summoned countless giant hands to crush the incoming clones.

James defended against the attacks with astonishing speed and overwhelming power, causing the black-and-white mist to churn rapidly. Immediately afterward, the lightning bolts were also neutralized.

"Are there any other tricks you want to try? Bring them on." From the void, James' voice resounded like a demon, brimming with murderous intent.

The Yin-Yang Tai Chi was aghast. She waved her hand, and her Tai Chi Powers gathered into a terrifying tornado, instantly engulfing James.

Boom!

A loud crash reverberated through the air, and the tornado was instantly shattered. The next moment, James dashed forward and materialized before the Yin-Yang Tai Chi. Then, his hand shot out in a swift punch.

Boom!

The impact echoed loudly as the Yin-Yang Tai Chi was forcefully knocked out of the mist. While in midair, she spat out a mouthful of blood.

Just as she thought about retaliating, she sensed danger coming from behind her. In desperation, she quickly stabilized herself. She quickly turned around but was met with James' palm attack.

The Ying-Yang Tai Chi suffered grievous injuries and spat out another mouthful of blood. At the same time, her Tai Chi Power began to leak.

“Damn it!” The Ying-Yang Tai Chi bellowed furiously, then split into two entities—a man and a woman. Each brandished a pair of longswords, one black and one white. Together, they lunged at James.

A fierce close-quarters battle ensued among the trio.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6475-Hador and Lucille observed from below, stunned by the breathtaking spectacle.

Within the swirling black-and-white mist in the void, figures flickered amid a frenzy of Sword Lights accompanied by a symphony of explosions.

Wave after wave of immense power cascaded from the turbulent mist, delivering yet another devastating blow to the Ying World.

Even Hador and Lucille had to retreat to evade the destructive forces.

Lucille asked anxiously, “Can Forty-nine win? Do we need to help?”

Hador replied solemnly, “That’s a between powerhouses at the Sixth Xaeclon Rank or even higher. With our current strength, we wouldn’t even be able to get near the battlefield.”

Lucille gasped at the answer. Despite being aware of James’ extraordinary capabilities, she could not shake off her anxiousness. After all, the impression that Tai Chi was invincible had been engraved in her mind.

Given James’ current prowess, the battle would be fraught with peril, even though he was only fighting a clone of Tai Chi.

Suddenly, another deafening explosion came from the black-and-white mist.

The next second, a spectral man with blood spewing from his lips was forcefully ejected from the mist, hurling toward Hador and Lucille.

“Get him!” Hador bellowed, raising his dark, long sword as he charged forward with determination.

Lucille wielded her sword and followed suit without a moment of hesitation.

They synchronized attacks from both flanks, sandwiching the man between them. Their attacks struck simultaneously, causing him to sprawl on the ground with severe injuries.

To avoid any potential counterattacks, they charged at him again.

“How dare you!” the man growled, and then a terrifying Tai Chi Power burst out from him and knocked the two away.

In a sudden turn of events, a brilliant Golden Sword Light emerged from the mist and impaled the man. After staggering a few steps, he collapsed to the ground.

Hador and Lucille recovered from the blow and immediately witnessed the man’s Tai Chi Power leak from his body, transforming into his true form.

It revealed itself to be a massive white fish. After flapping its tail for a while, it finally gave up.

Lucille exclaimed, “Woah! Has Tai Chi been defeated?”

Hador said worriedly, “Strange. That was supposed to be the Yin-Yang Tai Chi. Why is there only a white fish? Could it be...”

Before he could finish expressing his doubt, a spectral dark figure emerged from the mist.

Without delay, James rushed after the dark figure hurtling toward the ground.

Hador exclaimed in shock, “I see now. The Yin-Yang Tai Chi isn’t just one clone. It’s two. The Yin is the black force, and the Yang is the white force. In that case, Tai Chi doesn’t just have four clones, but eight.”

Lucille’s eyes narrowed sharply upon the revelation, and said, “Are these clones really that strong?”

James swung his sword, and black Sword Energies pierced through the void, aiming toward the dark figure.

“Go to hell, James!” The black figure suddenly stopped, turned around, and roared angrily. Then, she blazed through the Sword Lights and headed straight for James.
