

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6511-James performed the Dawnblaze Form and vanished from the spot instantly.

Xitlaly's jaw dropped.

Then, she glared at Jacopo and Xainte.

"Do the two of you even know much about that man, Mr. Biefren?" Jacopo and Xainte exchanged a glance timidly.

Then, they told Xitlaly about how they met James.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

The youngsters also described to her how James brought them into the Tirta Grand Formation without using any signature skills.

Moreover, James managed to remain undetected and came out completely unscathed.

Xitlaly had a look of bewilderment on her face upon hearing those words.

Even the Yang governor, who had reached the Sixth Xaeclon Rank, could not break through the Tirta Grand Formation.

In other words, Biefren was most likely in a higher cultivation rank than the Yang governor.

Xitlaly could not tell whether this was good or bad news for Skynet.

"Aunt Xitlaly!" Xainte had a rough idea about what Xitlaly would be concerned with.

"We couldn't even gauge how powerful Mr.

Biefren is.

If he truly meant us harm, we wouldn't have been able to survive his attacks." Jacopo added, "Mr.

Biefren saved our lives.

If he wanted to kill us, he would have done it earlier." "You two are just too naive." Xitlaly rolled her eyes and sighed.

"Stay here, and don't go anywhere.

I need to check what he's trying to do." Xitlaly teleported away the next instant.

Along with the flash of a tricolored light, James materialized outside the Telhervo Holy Site.

A few seconds later, a gigantic ball of black and white gases making up a Tai Chi diagram appeared above the Telhervo Holy Site.

Black and white lights shone down from the gas onto the Telhervo Holy Site, acting as a seal.

"That's a cheap trick.

If it weren't because I had other plans, I would have taken the divine tool with me right away." James snorted.

Then, he demonstrated the Terrastride Step and took seven steps forward.

At that moment, everything in that space came to a halt.

Even the black and white masses of gas stopped moving.

As James took the eighth step, he moved into the Telhervo Holy Site smoothly and effortlessly as if the seal was not there.

Once James had made it inside, the frozen masses of black and white gases started swirling slowly in the air again.

An immense amount of sealing power emanated from the gases.

Xitlaly who had caught up to James hid in the distance and saw everything.

A look of shock and horror was plastered across her face.

Yet, the man who called himself Biefren went through the seal as if it were nothing.

Xitlaly swiftly decided to wait there until Biefren came out so that she could talk to him.

If the man had no ill intentions, Xitlaly would try to persuade him to join them.

With his help, the Solstice Alliance would have a new chance to retaliate.

“Go back.

I’ll meet you later for a chat.” Xitlaly received a voice transmission at that moment.

For a split second, she thought her heart might jump out of her chest.

Xitlaly could not help but wonder whether Biefren was a higher being.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6512-Inside the Telhervo Holy Site’s main hall, Yegor who was sitting on the floor slowly opened his eyes.

His face broke into a smile.

“What’s with that lustful smile? Are you thinking about some other lady?” Herodias said menacingly, “Do I have to keep you on a leash now?” Yegor was momentarily stunned.

Then, he rolled his eyes.

“You can be so overly suspicious.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Browser Cache now to access missing chapters.

Come on.

We should go out and welcome an old friend.” Herodias looked puzzled as she watched Yegor stand up and head for the door.

“Old friend? Which of our old friends can still get in here?” She got to her feet and followed behind Yegor.

Just as the two of them exited the main hall, they could see a ball of gray, black, and white lights shot through the air and landed a few steps away.

A middle-aged man materialized from the ball of light.

“You... Who are you? How did you get in here?!” Herodias was wary of the stranger, which was actually James’ new disguise.

On the other hand, Yegor laughed heartily and extended his arms.

Then, he strode toward James and hugged him.

Herodias was completely dumbfounded.

As far as she could recall, she and Yegor had never met this man.

“Ts it alright for us to speak here?” James pulled away from Yegor.

“Don’t worry.” Yegor continued, still smiling, “Yehria could only place the Direguard Lock to seal up this place.

However, she’s not powerful enough to spy on the conversations we have in the Telhervo Holy Site.” “That’s reassuring.” James turned around and bowed slightly to Herodias.

“Greetings, Lady Herodias.

It’s me, James Caden.” When Herodias heard the name, her expression changed from confusion to one of surprise.

Then, she grabbed James’ shoulders in excitement.

“You...

You’re James Caden, the Chosen One?!” James smiled and nodded.

“How come you look different now?” Herodias asked curiously, “Also, how come I couldn’t examine your cultivation now?” James grinned.

Yegor smiled wryly and explained, “Although you can wield the Tirta Power, you’ve only achieved the peak of Consummation Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation.

“If you could still examine James’ cultivation, would he be able to pass through the Direguard Lock so easily and meet us without getting caught? “As for his appearance, James must have received another fortune that allows him to move around without being detected by Tai Chi.” Herodias lightly slapped the center of her palm against her forehead and laughed.

“That’s right.

James is now more skilled and powerful than us, his seniors.

“The two of you saved my life and gave me another chance to fight.

Then, they gestured for James to follow them into the main hall.

The three of them sat down inside the hall.

After staring at each other for a while, all three burst out laughing.

They could still recall vividly the last time they met.

However, the difference in power and cultivation between them was very huge now.

Nevertheless, the three of them still felt the same about each other.

They were friends and comrades who could sacrifice their lives for the other person in a heartbeat.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6513-“I just came back from the Yin’s Void.

There are a few things that I’m unaware of.

For instance, how come the Celestial Sages and Sir Mattaniah are missing?

Also, where is Truett?" asked James.

Upon hearing his questions, Yegor and Herodias sighed and fell silent.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

"Even the two of you have no idea where they are?" James asked.

"It's probably part of Tai Chi's plan." Yegor responded, "She's trying to prepare for when you return from the Yin's Void." James furrowed his brows.

"So, she abducted the Genesis World's last few grand patriarchs, including the Celestial Sages...

"She's trying to control them and help them achieve the Xaeclon Rank so that she can use them to subdue me?" Yegor nodded.

Herodias added, "Your wife is most likely one of Tai Chi's targets too.

You guys might have to go up against a group of Xaeclon Rank cultivators soon." James had a thoughtful expression.

"Did my wife come to see you?" Herodias grinned broadly.

"She came to the rescue when the Yang governor tried to break the Tirta Grand Formation at Skynet.

"Fortunately, she managed to ward off the Yang governor by unleashing her full powers.

Your wife also sent Noel, Winnie, and Maxine to the Forladtt Land." James quickly asked, "Did she return to the Forladtt Land as well?" Yegor let out a sigh.

"We have no idea since she hasn't come by afterward." James gave a slight nod.

"What about Truett? Is he dead or alive?" Yegor raised his palm and produced a colorful, mysterious-looking lamp.

As the lamp floated toward James, he could see a weak flame flickering inside.

It seemed as though the flame might go out at any moment.

James looked up.

“This means that Truett is still alive?” Yegor had a solemn look on his face.

“We just don’t know where he is.” “Leave that to me.” James heaved a deep breath.

“Before that, I have gifts for you.” James held both palms up.

In a flash, an energy shining with gray, black, and white lights radiated from James’ body.

The energy penetrated the walls of the main hall and traveled everywhere inside the Telhervo Holy Site.

All the treasures and precious materials found in that space, even the transcendent divine tools and the spirit tools, were carried toward James by the energy.

Yegor and Herodias were shocked as they watched all those items float around James.

They did not expect that James’ powers had been elevated to this extent.

Two huge orbs of black light were formed in the air.

The dark light spread out and filled up the entire hall.

Herodias and Yegor gasped almost simultaneously.

Two shiny Golden Bodies appeared in the exact spots where the two black light orbs were earlier.

Yegor’s eyes widened.

“That’s...

“She prevented you guys from forming the Golden Body, and thus you couldn’t move into the Xaeclon Rank.

Therefore, I’ve made these two Golden Bodies for you.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6514-For amoment, Yegor and Herodias were at a loss for words.

They stared up at the Golden Bodies designed specifically for them.

Their bodies trembled slightly.

At the couple’s level of cultivation, only a handful of treasures or rare items would be able to pique their interest or get them excited.

The Golden Body was one of those precious treasures.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you.Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

It was also the final key Herodias and Yegor needed to enter the Xaeclon Rank.

It was what all cultivators dreamed of having but might never get the chance to possess it.

However, Yegor’s and Herodias’ eyes dulled a brief moment later.

They let out a deep sigh.

“What’s the matter?” James frowned.

“Do you not want to achieve the Daeclon Rank?” “Of course we do.” Yegor smiled wryly.

“However, we won’t ever be able to do that due to the karma and tribulations tied to our fate.

“It’s pointless even if you provide us with the Golden Body.” Herodias sighed again.

“We have no choice but to turn down your offer, James.

You should give the Golden Bodies to others who would need them instead.” After listening to their concerns, James smiled brightly.

“It’s just because of karma and tribulations, right? We can just get rid of them, then.” Upon hearing his words, Yegor and Herodias lifted their heads and stared at James with rounded eyes.

“If you trust me, just sit there and wait for a bit.” James got to his feet.

“I’ll remove the karma and tribulations for both of you.” Yegor and Herodias met each others’ eyes.

Then, they straightened their backs and closed their eyes.

It was a sign of them having complete faith in James.

James performed the Terrastride Step.

He took eight steps around the couple.

Suddenly, an immense amount of black energy extended from him and traveled out to every edge of the Telhervo Holy Site.

All living beings inside the Telhervo Holy Site stopped moving as the space was completely engulfed in darkness.

Meanwhile, James could observe the numerous energy threads extending out of both Yegor’s and Herodias’ bodies.

He curled his lips.

“The Terrastride Step can be very useful in this sense.

Now, it’s time to use the Dawnblaze Form and Chaos Yin- Yang Eyes.” James produced multiple shadow clones by using the Dawnblaze Form.

Then, he and his clones activated the Chaos Yin-Yang Eyes and began scanning the energy threads.

James conjured the Judgment Scythe and the Nether Demonic Sword the next instant.

He zoomed through the air at a high speed.

James began cutting off Yegor's and Herodias' karma or tribulations he deemed removable.

The couple seemed to be in pain as James severed the energy threads.

At some point, the pain was so unbearable that Yegor and Herodias started screaming.

Only extremely powerful cultivators had what it took to remove one's karma and tribulations.

The person would have to spend a lot of energy cutting the threads swiftly and precisely.

They would also experience agonizing pain during the process.

Only those with incredible perseverance could carry out the task.

It was the price one must pay for changing another person's destiny.

To be safe, James placed the severed karma and tribulations together in groups.

Soon enough, numerous huge energy balls could be seen levitating above the three of them.

At some point, James summoned Taotie to have him devour those energy balls.

He was the only one who could put the content of those energy balls to good use.

Taotie did not disappoint.

After swallowing those energy balls, Taotie started glowing with a bright light.

It appeared he would soon attain the Nine-Star Combat Power.

"So, these energy balls are useful to you?" James transmitted his voice to Taotie.

All of these karma and tribulations could greatly affect Yegor's and Herodias' fates.

Some of them could be removed while some must remain attached.

James could unintentionally cause serious problems if he were careless about this.

James was under a lot of stress.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6515-A few moments later, James transmitted his voice to Lesia.

"There are only around two hundred karma and tribulations left.

However, it is also the most critical moment for this process.

"Put them in a dreamlike state using the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

I will need time for this part." Lesia responded in acknowledgment.

Important notice: Dear readers, Please bookmark our new site: to continue reading the Novels. Thank you. Recommend: Clean Your Brower Cache now to access missing chapters.

Then, she sent the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell out of James' body.

In the blink of an eye, the bell multiplied rapidly to form ten thousand bells.

Once they were all formed, the bells chimed simultaneously above Yegor and Herodias.

A mysterious energy fell upon the couple, sending them into a dreamlike state almost instantaneously.

Yegor and Herodias were noticeably calmer.

"It worked!" James said gleefully, "Try to keep them like that for as long as possible." With the bells ringing continuously, James focused his attention on removing the remaining karma and tribulations.

To his surprise, James soon discovered three powerful restrictions that were concealed as tribulations attached to Herodias.

Those restrictions suppressed Herodias' powers.

She could not even unleash up to thirty percent of her full powers.

"Gotcha!" James raised his arms and swung both swords at those three restrictions.

With a loud clang, James' swords stopped next to the restrictions.

Not a scratch was made on those three restrictions.

James could feel his hands go a bit numb due to the impact.

"They are resilient." James knitted his brows.

Yukha's voice rang in his mind just then.

"Use the Honlarne Sword.

It can cut through anything that exists in the world." James conjured the Honlarne Sword and swung it at the three restrictions forcefully this time.

A blue light flashed before his eyes.

Boom! The three restrictions were sliced off.

Simultaneously, Herodias woke up from the dreamlike state due to immense pain.

An overwhelming amount of gray energy radiated from her body.

James was sent flying out of the hall right away by that energy.

"That's how powerful the Tirta Power can be!" James exclaimed.

On the other hand, Herodias slowly opened her eyes.

The karma and tribulations floating about retracted back into her body.

"I see! I get it now!" Herodias' voice trembled.

“It was all Yehria’s doing! No wonder we couldn’t overpower her Tai Chi Power with the Tirta Power.

She placed these restrictions on us a long time ago!” She looked in James’ direction.

“Thank you so much, James.

You helped me resolve an issue that I hadn’t been able to find the answer to for millions of entrapochs.” “Give me amoment, Ms.

Herodias.” James responded, “Mr.

Yegor probably carries the same restrictions just like you have.

Let me remove them first.” Herodias gave a slight nod and shut her eyes.

She put her palms together and focused on her breathing.

Meanwhile, James teleported and re-emerged before Yegor.

Yegor’s eyes flew open almost immediately.

Two bright gray light beams shot out from his eyes.

Simultaneously, Yegor emanated a powerful gray energy.

As Yegor extended his arms, his karma and tribulations fused into his body again.

After a brief pause, Yegor threw his head back and burst out laughing.

“Have you gone mad, Yegor?” Herodias looked at him with disgust.