

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6606—Without hesitation, Rubella turned around and shouted, “Celestial Majors, Celestial Generals!” As her voice fell, more than a dozen figures immediately appeared in front of her, kneeling on one knee.

“Fortify all the important checkpoints of the Hudde Passage, and get the different legions to enter level one combat readiness.

Also, dispatch scouts to gather information on all aspects of the Demon Region and the Origin World.

If there is movement of large armies, report back immediately.

If the enemy suddenly attacks, there’s no need to report, just counterattack,” Rebella commanded with an unquestionable tone.

The Five Celestial Majors and the Eight Celestial Generals acknowledged their orders simultaneously, then dispersed in different directions.

Only then did Rebella shake the fiery red cloak behind her and turn to Xatia, saying, “Let’s go.” The two of them instantly disappeared from the spot in a flash.

On the first level of the Forladtt Land, Yancy, the former leader of the Behaterm Sect, was inspecting their defenses.

Since being brought under James’ control, Yancy underwent a dramatic transformation.

Once perceived as someone incompetent, he now stood as the most capable marshal within the Jademora Empire.

After hearing the bell’s chimes, he immediately flew toward the Forladtt Land’s second level.

On the way, he bumped into Hershya, Qairo, and Xezal.

Just as they were about to go continue their travel, they were interrupted by a Sword Light rushing toward them from a distance.

Maxine emerged from the Sword Light and stood before everyone.

She asked anxiously, "What's going on, Commander Yancy?" Yancy sighed and replied, "I'm not sure either.

Lyla had always been cautious in using the Divine Bell.

If rung three times, it's urgent.

Yet, it's been raining continuously for a whole.

Our empire must be facing a major crisis." Maxine furrowed her brows tightly in silence.

Qairo looked at Maxine and said, "I know your relationship with Lyla is strained, but the empire's survival is more important now.

You shouldn't be swayed by emotions." Hershya chipped in, saying, "Although Lyla isn't from the Dark World, James had personally selected her as the Forladtt Land's grand lord.

We can't..." Maxine interrupted, saying, "Alright.

No need to say more.

I just feel things aren't fair for Rebella.

I disagree with Lyla's arbitrary ways.

Even so, I know my boundaries." Everyone sighed in relief at her words.

Maxine represented the voices of many creatures in the Dark World.

She was very dissatisfied with some of the actions of their Left Grand Lord.

However, she held back since the Jademora Empire was likely facing a major crisis.

At a crucial time like this, they needed to avoid internal conflict and work together.

After a brief exchange of words, they hurried toward the Forladtt Land's third level.

Unfortunately, they had yet to achieve the results they wished.

Upon hearing the bell chimes, they quickly withdrew from the battlefield.

Noel asked, "Do we need to go?" "The Divine Bell's chimes are summons.

We're also members of the Jademora Empire.

Even though a mysterious powerhouse has arrived, we still must respond.

It's a matter of loyalty." "Aunt Lyla is in a tough position.

So many people aren't satisfied with her.

The Divine Bell's chimes continued throughout the Forladtt Land.

At that moment, it seemed as if the entire empire was prepared for combat.f

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6608-Meanwhile, the group that came from the Dark Realm, headed by Maxine, supported Rebella.

The Jademora Empire seemed calm on the surface, but a storm was brewing from within it.

It was a dynamite that could explode at any time.

At that moment, it seemed like their conflict was about to finally explode.

Once the Jademora Empire fell into internal strife, the Tai Chi's hounds would take advantage of it and it would be a recipe for disaster.

Anxious, Xatia was about to intervene.

However, she finally saw Lyla, Winnie, and Noel, ascending the hall's highest platform.

As soon as Lyla appeared, the two factions put a halt to their fight and the hall fell into silence.

Lyla stood at the highest platform and looked at everyone coldly.

She had heard their quarrels just moments ago.

Faced with her silence, the Jademora Empire's core members felt shivers down their spines.

Those who were sensible silently returned to the crowd.

The group of elders from the two sects that supported Lyla snorted coldly and retreated to the left side of the hall.

At that moment, Rebella and Xatia approached the platform and asked, "Why did you ring the Divine Bell, Left Grand Lord? Is our empire in danger?" While speaking, Rebella ascended the stairs and stopped beside Lyla.

Lyla said emotionlessly, "I have something to announce.

I'd like to resign from my position in the Jademora Empire." The crowd was immediately sent into an uproar.

Regardless of whether they sided with Lyla or not, they were taken aback by the sudden news.

"what? What did you just say?" Rebella was even more shocked by Lyla's sudden decision.

Lyla repeated solemnly, "I announced my resignation from my position in the Jademora Empire..." Rebella roared, "Are you insane? They were just expressing some dissatisfaction.

Why are you being salty about it and making such a big fuss?" Xatia quickly intervened, saying, "You shouldn't act so irresponsibly, Left Grand Lord.

Our empire has both internal and external troubles.

Moreover, we're isolated and helpless..." Lyla interrupted, saying calmly, "We're no longer isolated and helpless.

Haven't you all dreamed about leaving the Forladtt Land and engaging in battle?

"Now that I've resigned, I won't hinder you from doing as you please." Everyone's eyes widened in disbelief.

They never expected their Left Grand lord, who had always been strong, domineering, and decisive on the battlefield, to suddenly choose to resign.

Yancy stepped forward immediately and said, "You can't just leave us, Ms.

Lyla! The Jademora Empire will collapse." The other elders supporting Lyla also expressed their stance.

"Ms.

Lyla, we know your good intentions.

They don't understand you, but we'll stand with you." "Our respect for you is only second to our emperor.

Our emperor is our supreme leader and faith.

You're suspicious about me.

"I'm not a Dark Being and didn't participate in the struggle to seize the Forladdt Land.

I'm not related to the emperor either.

I'm just someone from the Timaeus SEct that had surrendered to him and am not worthy to rule.

"Moreover, I forced everyone to stay in the Forladdt Land and stopped you from fighting Tai Chi's hounds.

The elders who supported Lyla, on the other hand, glared at the opposing faction.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6609-Lyla put her hands behind her back and said, "I didn't really intend to explain anything since there was no need to.

However, it seems it's necessary right now.

It's not that I want to, but some people need to hear it." Everyone raised their heads, looking at Lyla with complicated expressions.

She continued, "All of you participated in the battle to conquer the Xyndaros Genesis World and Sanctum Genesis World.

In that battle, many of us were severely injured.

Xitlaly was also badly injured.

The Solstice Alliance had about six hundred casualties of members at the peak of the Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation.

If not for Truett's desperate attempts to protect us, we would've been completely wiped out.

We would not have lived to see today.

"Yet, we have no idea whether he is still alive.

Moreover, we lost our only passage to the Iusus Sect, Skynet, and the Dark World." Everyone lowered their head at the reminder.

They had personally experienced the brutality of that battle.

It was a courageous battle that came with a lot of bloodshed.

Even so, it ended with their tragic defeat.

"Before that battle, Truett, Yancy, Xitlaly, and I had made calculations.

Even if Yaquis and Gladwin were to join forces, the Solstice Alliance had a seventy percent chance of winning.

After all, the New Alliance and Righteous Alliance would have been significantly weakened after the Genesis Worlds' catastrophe." Lyla paused and scanned everyone in the hall.

Then, she continued, "But we were defeated miserably even though it was only the New Alliance and about thirty percent of the Righteous Alliance, with only one opponent at the Quasi Daeclon Rank.

Why do you think we lost? "Is it because we couldn't stand against Yaquis? Or was it because of Hetsema's ambush?" Lyla waved her hand angrily and shouted, "It's neither! I could've stood took on Yaquis.

As for the other opponents, our Solstice Alliance had the absolute upper hand.

Rebella stared at Lyla and asked, "Then why?" Winnie looked at Rebella and answered, "It's because a powerhouse at the Xaeclon Rank had secretly participated in that battle, Aunt Rebella." Noel nodded and hurriedly chimed in, "That's right.

Otherwise, we would not have lost so miserably." Everyone present was in an uproar, unable to believe a powerhouse at the Xaeclon Rank really existed.

Maxine snorted, "What a joke.

Have you ever seen a powerhouse at the Xaeclon Rank before?" Winnie locked eyes with Maxine and answered firmly, "I have." Noel also affirmed, "Me too.

It's a god-like existence." Maxine rolled her eyes and reprimanded, "You two brats.

He risked his life to earn us the opportunity to escape.

If there were to be powerhouses in the Genesis Worlds, they might not have a chance to fight back even after leaving the Forladtt Land.

It was no wonder Lyla had repeatedly denied their request to leave the Forladtt Land to fight and even punished them.

Faced with their accusations and suspicions, she never budged.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6610-Over time, she gained the reputation as someone who was oppressive and had no care for James' life or death, wanting to seize the Jademora Empire for herself." Now, they realized she had done everything for their safety.

Even Rebella would not stand a chance against a powerhouse at the Xaeclon Rank.

The hall fell into complete silence.

Lyla sighed, and said, "I've already said what I needed to.

As for how you think about me or doubt me, it doesn't matter.

I quit, and can finally take a break!" After speaking, Lyla waved her hand and shouted, "Noel, Winnie.

Let's go.

We should concentrate on cultivating." Lyla led the two siblings down the platform and walked away under everyone's startled gazes.

"Why?! Why didn't you tell us earlier? Why wait till now?" Rebella shouted with a despairful expression.

"Because just like you, I have a dream and firmly believe in our emperor.

I know he'll come back.

If I were to say this in advance and shake our morale, it'll be basically sentencing our empire to death," answered Lyla.

Rebella screamed as she watched Lyla walk away, and suddenly collapsed to the ground.

"Don't go! I was wrong!" Everyone instantly snapped out of the shock and fell to their knees.

"Don't leave, Ms.

Lyla.

We were wrong!" Hearing their cries, Lyla stopped at the entrance.

"I'm the one that deserves to die the most! You can punish me! I misunderstood you and caused you to suffer so much injustice! I'm willing to die to repent for my actions!" Maxine sobbed.

"You don't need to!" Lyla shook her head, trying not to let her tears fall.

At that moment, she felt relieved from her burden and the accusations.

It was not because she finally revealed the truth, but because James had finally returned.

Now, she could finally take a break and make plans for herself.

“Ms.

At that moment, a dashing man in a black robe ascended the highest platform.

He stood behind Rebella with the Courageous Tower in his hand.

He was like a lone wolf, showing no emotions.

He looked at the sight before him, which was unusually quiet
