

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6626-The suppression of his skeleton will be entrusted to your Tirta Power.” James looked at Lady Herodias, his gaze filled with entreaty.

James understood very well that only the Tirta Power could truly suppress the Demonic Body. After all, the powers of Tirta and Silver were still suppressing the various spirits of Morgott. Since they were going to destroy this rebellious son, they could not allow him the slightest chance to turn the tables. This was James’ intention, not some contrived attempt to win hearts.

Lady Herodias understood without the need for words as she glanced at James.

She collected Hetsema’s bones with a wave of her hand.

“Why are you all still kneeling?” James looked around at everyone. “This was my fault. It has nothing to do with any of you. Consider it settled now.” “You once said brothers share life and death.” Truett raised his head to look at James.

“Now, I want to add something. We share honor and disgrace.” “Share life and death, share honor and disgrace!” Yancy suddenly shouted and raised his hand.

With his lead, everyone present raised their hands and shouted together.

Looking at them, James sighed lightly and nodded. ‘What more could I ask for with such brothers?’ Meanwhile, Xabat stood in the corner, filled with mixed emotions. He had witnessed a grand act of sacrificing kin for righteousness. Initially, he had thought it was all just a show, a way to win people over, until witnessing Hetsema’s actual demise. These events left him deeply shocked.

He could not help but think of the Yang governor, who, as the godson of Tai Chi, had committed countless atrocities, acting arrogantly and tyrannically. In the eyes of the Yang governor, all the powerhouses were his slaves apart from Tai Chi. He would casually command them, berate and abuse them lightly, or even absorb their cultivation at will, and sometimes arbitrarily kill them. Countless Dawn Female Deities were harmed by him, yet Tai Chi never once reprimanded him.

However, there was a world of difference between Tai Chi and James. No wonder, James dared to oppose Tai Chi even though his strength was inadequate. Perhaps there were truly unspeakable reasons behind it. This was the first time Xabat began to doubt his own faith and his Master, which startled him.

After dealing with Hetsema, James ascended the high steps of the main hall and turned around.

“Everyone, whatever grievances you have among yourselves, you now all fall under the Solstice Alliance. Within this framework, you may compete but not quarrel. You may vie but must uphold the greater good.

“Today, I’ve gathered you all here not only to address these complicated grievances but also to let you see each other face to face. From now on, we’re all in the same camp. Whether you like each other or hold grudges, at least we’re facing a common enemy.

“Anyone who dares to cause discord or internal strife will face the consequences, as you all know.” “I pledge allegiance to Lord James until death!”

Taran was the first to stand up and shout.

Following suit, everyone except Yegor and Lady Herodias knelt, loudly pledging allegiance to James until death.

“We’re not here to play games,” James said each word deliberately.” Today, I haven’t gathered you here to negotiate but to assign tasks. Whether it’s the Jademora Empire, the lustus Sect, Skynet, or the subsequent Four Great Sects, everyone has their own task assignments.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6627-When they heard James, everyone lifted their heads high and stood tall.

‘The Solstice Alliance is our temporary common banner,’ James said word by word. “It encompasses not only the Jademora Empire of the Forladdt Land, Skynet, and the lustus Sect, but also the current Tempestara, the Jercente Sect, the Bellerian Dynasty, and the Yggdrasil Sect.

‘To unify and command the five major sects of the empire, the position of Leader is crucial. Naturally, it must be held by someone with prestige, strength, and determination to bring everyone together and advance or retreat together.’

At these words, everyone showed hopeful smiles simultaneously. When it came to prestige, strength, and determination, no one among them could surpass James. Even Yegor and Lady Herodias had to defer to him to some extent.

However, what surprised everyone was that James looked towards Truett.

“What does this mean?” Truett immediately sensed something amiss.” James, please don’t trick me. When it comes to prestige, strength, and determination, it absolutely can only be you.” ‘Then who will deal with Tai Chi?’ James asked with a smile, “Who will handle Tai Chi’s lackeys from the Genesis World?”

At this, Truett suddenly choked.

‘Take it, Truett.’ Lady Herodias nodded and smiled at Truett. ‘This is James’ expectation of you.’ “Yeah,” Yegor sighed. ‘The position of Leader not only has the power of life and death but also carries heavy responsibilities. It’s the cornerstone of our subversion of the Law of Tai Chi, dealing with Yehria is of utmost importance.’

Truett was thunderstruck. He understood James’ intention in arranging this, but he had not expected that his parents would also be in accord with James. He wondered if they discussed it beforehand.

“Why aren’t you saluting the Leader?” James surveyed the crowd.

After a moment’s hesitation, the several powerhouses of the Four Great Sects were the first to kneel before Truett.

“We salute the Leader.”

The unanimity of this declaration startled Truett. “You guys, this isn’t right, this...!” “Truett, I won’t kneel either,” Lucille said with a smile. “We’ve known each other for too long.”

Xitlaly added, "Don't mention that he becomes the Leader. Even if he becomes Tai Chi one day, we still won't kneel."

Truett was left speechless.

"You two aren't getting away either." James pointed to Lucille and Xitlaly. "With the Leader in place, the Law Enforcement Guardian of the Solstice Alliance naturally falls to you, Lucille." "Me, as the Law Enforcement Guardian?" Lucille asked grumpily, "What about Lyla?"

James chuckled, "She has other arrangements." "Alright." Lucille nodded reluctantly. "As long as I can kill Xachary and Gladwin, anything's fine." "Xitlaly, you'll still preside over Skynet," James said.

"What?" Xitlaly exclaimed. "James, didn't we agree..." "Your tribulation isn't sufficient," James interrupted her. Then, he said with a smile, "Otherwise, how will you handle Truett when the time comes, even with a Golden Body?"

He winked at Xitlaly as he said this.

After a moment of bewilderment, Xitlaly understood and immediately kneeled before James. "I obey your orders." "Look at your wife, Truett. She's a true heroine among women. Look at yourself, what a disappointment!" James said.

Truett looked at Xitlaly speechlessly, then muttered under his breath before reluctantly accepting the command.

"The Four Great Sects remain unchanged." James looked to the powerhouses of the Four Great Sects. "Pay attention to the cultivation of the Marcials Combat Form while enhancing your cultivation base. The secrets of the Marcials Combat Form will be distributed by the Leader as needed."

At these words, Lamuel, Xantoni, and Tace were all extremely excited. As a rising star, under James' strong push, he had effectively gained control of the Jercente Sect, Tempestara, and Makara from the Bellerian Dynasty. Wayra and Princess Lumia were both thrilled beyond words.