

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6631-The atmosphere became more lively and joyous after James joined members of the Solstice Alliance at their banquet.

However, things were different for those at the Pyramid Battlefield located on the fourth level of Forladtt Land.

By performing the first step of the Terrastride Step, Noel and Winnie managed to inflict critical damage on all the spirits there and gained the upper hand.

They stood beside Lyla. Both of them had conflicted looks on their faces.

is it done?" Lyla suddenly asked.

The siblings exchanged a glance and responded almost simultaneously."Mhm."

Lyla was slightly surprised when she released her Zen.

She never thought Noel and Winnie would achieve that much improvement after receiving some simple advice from James.

The spirits found here had no consciousness. However, all of them possessed powers equivalent to that of Quasi Daelcon Rank cultivators.

There was also an excessive amount of spirits earlier. Even Lyla might not be able to complete this request brought up by James.

Nevertheless, Noel and Winnie did it.

Furthermore, they completed the task much sooner than Lyla had expected. It made her reconsider the two choices James had offered.

Lyla could choose to fuse with a Golden Body and enter the Xaeclon Rank.

Then, James would bring her along to explore the Forladtt Land's fifth level in search of great treasures and opportunities.

Lyla also had a second choice of relocating to the Ying World in Yin's Void. She would need to train and achieve the Seven-Star Combat Power before fusing with her Golden Body.

"Aunt Lyla, are you really not going to manage the Jademora Empire anymore?"

Noel stared at her face intently.

Winnie added, "You've spent all your time and effort to get the Jademora Empire to where it is today. Can you bear to leave it..."

Lyla opened her eyes and stood up at that moment. "Do the two of you want to come with me?"

The siblings were shocked upon hearing that question.

"Aunt Lyla, you want to leave the Forladtt Land?"

"Aunt Lyla, you need to calm down first."

"I'm very calm." Lyla drew a long breath. "Just tell me if you want to come with me or not."

Winnie and Noel met each others' eyes briefly. Then, they asked, "Where are we going?"

"The Dark World." Lyla continued, "You two should know that place better than I do."

Winnie said frantically, "You can't go there, Aunt Lyla. Your powers will be suppressed to the level of the Yuraeceon Xaelm Rank's First Tribulation if you enter the Dark World. If that happens..."

"That was before." Lyla's gaze fell on Winnie. "It won't happen now."

Noel widened his eyes. "Did the Dark World undergo some changes?"

"I want a simple answer. Why do you two have so many questions?" Lyla was about to lose her temper. "Are you coming or not?"

Winnie and Noel took a deep breath and bowed their heads. "Of course we are."

Lyla immediately conjured two beams of golden light. She took the siblings along and teleported away without any hint of hesitation.

Meanwhile, James detected Lyla's departure the moment it happened. The gathering with his friends had ended just a while ago.

James sighed, "Finally, she made the choice."

"Who?" Herodias asked.

"It's Lyla, right?" Yegor lifted his gaze. "She left." "This is for the best." James smiled. "I feel more reassured since she took the kids with her."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6632-James directed his gaze at Herodias and Yegor. "Before we go, don't you need to drop by home and make necessary arrangements in advance?"

"There's not much for US to do back there." Yegor grinned. "Most importantly, have you gotten everything ready at the Genesis World?"

it's all set." James smiled mischievously. "As for Morgott's spirit, we'll let him move freely in the Genesis World for now. He's our surprise for Yehria."

All this while, James had Lesia monitor the movements of Morgott's spirit, which had gotten control over Xachary. Things progressed just as James and Lesia had predicted so far.

Morgott's spirit made use of Xachary's identity and joined the New Timaeus Sect. He needed to conduct closed-door meditation for a long time due to his severe injuries and reduced level of power.

Soon afterward, James brought Yegor and Herodias to the Forladtt Land's fourth level through teleportation.

"Mr. Yegor, remember the gift I've told you about?" James asked.

Yegor laughed. "Of course! Where is it?"

James flipped his hands over. A bright light flashed across the fourth level of the tall pyramid before them almost instantly.

After that, a spirit looking exactly like Yegor flew out of that level.

At the same time, a tremendous amount of red righteous aura radiated from Yegor's body. The aura seemed to be triggered by the spirit which had just appeared.

"Yegor, isn't that your past self?" Herodias exclaimed.

"You're right!" Yegor's smile broadened. "I'll be able to learn a lot about the past if I fuse with it."

He turned his eyes to James. "I assume that's for me?"

James beamed and gestured for him to go ahead.

Yegor shot into the air and headed for his past self.

His past self did not seem intimidated in the slightest. He remained in the same spot and raised his hands.

Yegor's past self generated immense amounts of Genesis Power and formed countless palms in the air. All those palms shot toward Yegor simultaneously.

"Ho! He's trying to fight back." Yegor swiftly slipped out of an opening and arrived before his past self. He channeled the righteous aura and traces of Tirta Power to wrap around his past self. Then, Yegor stepped forward and fused with his past self.

In a flash, the space around them was filled with lights of seven colors.

Loud explosions reverberated through the area. Even the pyramid was shaking slightly due to the sudden change.

Both James and Herodias were shocked and confused.

They did not expect these occurrences during a fusion with a past self possessing the peak of Yuraeceon Daelm Rank's Ninth Tribulation's powers.

Just then, Yegor, who was surrounded by his righteous aura and Tirta Power, let out a loud cry.

"Oh no! He's in danger." Herodias was about to rush to Yegor's help, but James caught hold of her arm.

Herodias quickly explained, “I need to help him...”

“You can’t.” James shook his head. “That’s the cry of his soul caused by the fusion of his past life’s memories.”

Herodias lifted her brows. “That means he’s succeeded?”

James looked in Yegor’s direction again. An enigmatic smile hung on his face.

Curiously enough, Yegor had calmly gotten into a seated position. His body slowly rotated in the air.

After a while, Herodias muttered, “Will he remember everything now that he’s gained the memories of his past life?”

James replied, “Uh... I think so.”

“James! How could you do this? Are you trying to ruin our marital relationship?!”

Herodias suddenly flared up.

James was shocked out of his wits. “Ms. Herodias, what do you mean?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6633-“He’ll remember everything, including his exes from his past life!” Herodias complained, “I don’t like your gift, so Yegor can’t like it either!”

James was struck speechless. He was amused by how eccentric Herodias could be at times.

While he was briefly distracted, Herodias cast a blast of Tirta Power at Yegor.

With a loud boom, the blast of Tirta Power was deflected by a cloud of purple gas that appeared around Yegor.

On the other hand, Yegor seemed completely unaffected.

Boom!

James and Herodias moved away just in time to avoid the deflected Tirta Power.

“What... What just happened?” Herodias was caught off guard.

it seems like Mr. Yegor has entered the Ninth Xaeclon Rank.” James explained, “I can’t tell what kind of powers his past self has, though.”

“That’s impossible.” Herodias frowned slightly. ‘That’s just a spirit with powers at the peak of Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation.

‘There’s no way it’ll boost him to the Ninth Xaeclon Rank.”

James was equally puzzled. However, he could not think of any possible cause.

A few moments later, Yegor’s fusion with his past self was finally completed.

Crimson lights flashed across his eyes briefly. Then, he lowered himself and stopped before James and Herodias.

It was obvious Yegor had achieved the Ninth Xaeclon Rank by looking at his Qrohm.

“Yegor...” Herodias’ eyes widened. “What did you see in your past memories?”

“You need to stop being so overly suspicious.” Yegor sighed wearily. “I didn’t date around that much in my past life. Also, you being jealous of other women when we’ve been together for so long is honestly quite embarrassing...”

Herodias’ cheeks flushed pink. She fell silent with an awkward expression on her face.

‘Thank you, James.” Yegor bowed his head.

“You’ve given me something extremely useful. The Wirremus Pearl I had in my past life was surprisingly still around.”

‘The Wirremus Pearl?” James furrowed his brows.

‘The Wirremus Pearl contains massive amounts of Historial Power.’ Yegor continued, ‘It was one of the treasures owned by the sect I belonged to in my past life.’

‘I wanted to achieve the peak of Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation before joining the battle happening back then.’

‘However, I was summoned back to our base by my master, and I couldn’t say no to that.’

James nodded and asked, ‘Could you recall any information about the Forladtt Land’s fifth level from your past memories?’

Yegor gazed at the pyramid. ‘It is the legendary Great Historial Land. It’s an even more mysterious place than Zymurgy.’

‘The Great Historial Land?’ James arched his brow. ‘Is it the place of origin for the Historial Power?’

Yegor burst out laughing. ‘What are you talking about? Whether it is the Historial Power or Marciais Power, they are all created by living beings. The Historial I am talking about is the source of all powers and nature’s origin according to myths and legends.’

‘They say that three vital energies are produced from the Historial. The top vital energy is called Soma. The middle vital energy is termed Yitro, and the bottom vital energy is named Xurxo.’

‘These vital energies make the existence of other things we are familiar with possible, such as Tai Chi, the Yin and Yang, and all things around US.’

James’ brows lifted. ‘Then, which categories do the Historial Power and Marciais Power fall into?’

Yegor smiled wryly. ‘This was the exact reason why people back then argued and even started a worldwide war over it.’

‘Still, none of the creators of the Historial Power or the Marciais Power dared to claim that their powers were of the top vital energy. Instead, they both asserted the powers as middle vital energies.’

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6634-James had been listening intently. “So, the battle between cultivators of the Marciais Power and the Historial Power broke out here on the Forladtt Land’s fourth level back then.

“They wanted to showcase their skills and powers to cultivators in the Great Historial Land so that the latter could decide which of the powers is the middle vital energy?”

“No.” Yegor chuckled. “As far as I am aware, people from both sides have tried to send ten or so superior cultivators to learn and train in the Great Historial Land.

“However, those men initiated a war when each group tried to monopolize the entrance to the Great Historial Land for themselves.”

James was rendered speechless by how absurd the reason was for those men to initiate war back then.

Just then, James recalled something and asked, “Mr. Yegor, I heard a mysterious energy had fallen upon this place and sealed all the cultivators at war.

“That was how the war was stopped. Is that true?”

“Yes.” Yegor nodded. “It was an overwhelmingly powerful purplish-black energy.

As soon as the energy spread across the space, all cultivators who joined the war were sealed, including me.”

“What happened afterward?” James asked curiously.

“I didn’t know what happened afterward since even my Zen was trapped in my body due to the seal.”

Yegor sighed softly. “I spent years trying to overcome the seal. However, it was fruitless.

in the end, I chose to explode my soul and be reborn again with a fragment of my soul.”

“Therefore, you’re a broken soul.” Herodias grinned at him.

Yegor chuckled. “If I hadn’t been reborn again with just a fragment of my soul, I probably wouldn’t have agreed to marry into your family. I had exceptional skills and talents in my previous life after all.”

Herodias pinched at Yegor’s ear after hearing those words. “What do you mean by that? Was it a bad thing to marry me?”

“No! Of course not!” Yegor waved his hands. “I am truly honored to be married to you.”

James laughed and shook his head as he watched the couple bicker.

“Let go. We need to discuss important matters now,” Yegor grumbled.

Herodias clicked her tongue and loosened her grip.

Then, Yegor turned his eyes to James. “How far in the battlefield have you reached?”

“The fourth floor,” James replied.

“The fourth floor...” Yegor inhaled deeply. “Then, the fifth floor should be for the peak of Consummation Yuraeceon Daelm Rank’s Ninth Tribulation. The Xaeclon Rank should be on the sixth floor.”

James was surprised. “You have Xaeclon Rank cultivators back in your era?”

“Of course.” Yegor jutted his chin out proudly.

“The sect I joined in my last life had fifteen Seventh Xaeclon Rank cultivators, six Eighth Xaeclon Rank cultivators, and three Ninth Xaeclon Rank cultivators as their members.”

James’ eyes widened. “Do you have any Daeclon Rank cultivators back then?”

“I don’t recall hearing about them.” Yegor shook his head. “Perhaps there were Daeclon Rank cultivators. However, I hadn’t gotten high enough in my cultivation rank to meet one.”

If there were Daeclon Rank cultivators back then, the pyramid would most likely have a seventh floor. However, the only way to confirm this was to get to the top of the pyramid.

James began, "Let's go."

Yegor and Herodias exchanged a glance. Then, they followed closely behind James as they headed for the top of the pyramid.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6635-James' initial plan was to get to the very top of the pyramid and arrive at the entrance leading to the fifth level of the Forladdt Land.

However, James stopped abruptly just as he was trying to exit the sixth floor of the Pyramid Battlefield.

He could sense a mysterious, overwhelming restriction suppressing him. James could not manage to overcome the restriction even though he had the Ultimate Golden Body and powers of the Fifth Xaeclon Rank.

Yegor and Herodias quickly noticed that James had fallen behind. They returned to his side.

"What's the matter?" Herodias asked.

"I suppose it's because my cultivation is not enough." James remained in the same spot. "I guess not everyone can make it to the entrance of the Great Historial Land."

Yegor and Herodias understood the situation almost immediately. The couple had achieved the Ninth Xaeclon Rank, but James was only on the Fifth Xaeclon Rank.

Yegor knitted his brows. "Is there no other way for US to help you get through here?"

"There is a way." James said flatly, "I can move past any restriction or formation by performing the Terrastride step.

"I can even get to the Great Historial Land if I want to. However, I'm not going to do that."

“Why?” Herodias was confused. “Don’t you want to get to the Forladtt Land’s fifth level as soon as possible?” “I do, but I don’t think I should rush things like that.”

James continued, “I should stop here and work on improving my cultivation for now.

“Besides, even if I get to the entrance of the Great Historial Land by using the quick way, there’s no guarantee that I am allowed to access it.

“Also, there might be dire consequences if I were to force my way into the Great Historial Land.”

After listening to James’ explanation, Yegor and Herodias looked at each other and smiled warmly.

Normally, people would choose to take shortcuts to achieve their goals regardless of the risk. However, James was cautious and cool-headed. When it came to a person’s intellect and maturity, James was much better than most cultivators in that regard.

“You’ve changed.” Yegor’s smile broadened. “You’re calmer and more mature now.”

James smiled bitterly. “You probably think that I’m weak-minded.”

“No. You are simply being cautious.” Yegor replied, “At our level of cultivation, it takes constant, arduous effort to improve and level up.

“Yet, we might easily meet our end if we don’t act cautiously enough.” “I’m not afraid of dying.” James sighed, “However, it would be a shame if I were to die recklessly.”

Herodias grinned. “Alright, then! Let’s explore the sixth floor of this pyramid now.”

Yegor laughed. “I was curious if we would run into any familiar faces on this level anyway.”

“There may be surprises waiting for US here,” James said.

Then, he shot toward the huge ball of light, where the pyramid’s sixth floor was located.

Yegor and Herodias swiftly followed behind him.

The three of them soon found that the pyramid's sixth floor was very different from the fourth floor which had a dull and gloomy atmosphere.

Instead, the sixth floor seemed like an undisturbed paradise with its vast landscape and beautiful greenery.

James was surprised as he released his Zen to check the surroundings. His Zen could not even reach places a light-year away due to the powers of various seals and restrictions.

He turned his eyes to Yegor and Herodias. "How far can your Zens reach in this place?"

Yegor frowned slightly. "There are many huge star clusters in this world.

"Each cluster seems to be owned by different entities who have placed mysterious restrictions around their respective cluster."

"I sensed the same thing too." Herodias went on, "I extended my Zen into one of the star clusters, and someone seemed to have noticed that. They are coming our way now."

An immense amount of Qrohm came rushing in their direction as soon as Herodias finished saying that.

Yegor and Herodias were about to generate an attack when James blasted his powers at the mass of Qrohm.

Boom!

A purplish-gold light zoomed away from the mysterious Qrohm and stopped in the distance. A human-like figure materialized from the light.

The person shot toward James and began attacking him at an incredibly high speed.