

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6708

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6708-The woman's voice sounded contemptuous.

James ignored her and shouted to his children, "Stop playing around. It's time to go."

After being stunned, the children transformed into purple light beams and returned to James' side.

James nodded meaningfully at Yegor and Herodias, then supported Thea. As a precaution, the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell hovered above them as they rushed into the distance.

The mysterious woman was taken aback by their actions. After making out the situation, her brows furrowed. She had not expected the Chosen One to refuse her courtesy. "How dare he ignore Lord Zenda."

The Four Essence Masters suddenly transformed into four fiery red shadows, quickly blocking James and his companions' path.

James' group immediately went on guard but showed no fear.

The True Essence Masters shouted, "Although you're the Chosen One, you're still a mortal. How dare you put on airs in front of our Lord Zenda. You must have a death wish..."

Just as they were about to take action, the children sitting on James' shoulders suddenly transformed into two rays of purple light and burst forth.

With four crisp sounds, the True Essence Masters were slapped in the face, left utterly dumbfounded.

The two children stepped on the four True Essence Masters, quickly extinguishing their blazing flames.

Suddenly, hundreds of energy balls burst out from them. Accompanied by violent explosions, countless rare treasures, weapons, materials, elixirs, and manuals were scattered across the sky.

The two children dashed over, rejoicing as if they had entered a playground consisting of their favorite toys. They picked out a few items and playfully tossed them around.

Everyone present watched in complete shock.

One of the True Essence Masters stood in disarray and mumbled, “W-What’s going on? We’re powerhouses at the Xurxo Daeclon Rank, so how could two mere children defeat us?”

His companions stood up with difficulty, their faces filled with anger. Just as they were about to retaliate against the children, Zenda immediately reprimanded them sternly, “Stop it.

They’re Hongrome Children, existences you cannot afford to offend.”

The True Essence Masters instantly froze. The gravity of the consequences should they have acted dawned upon them.

At that moment, Lesia contacts James telepathically.

Lesia asked playfully, “Wasn’t that entertaining, Master?” Still shocked by the swift turn of events, James hurriedly asked, “Did you instruct them to do it?”

Lesia smiled mischievously and responded, “I didn’t do anything. I simply told them those bad guys were carrying some interesting stuff. Then, they dashed out immediately.”

James was speechless, slightly puzzled by the situation. Sherman had claimed they were only invincible because of their pure hearts and lack of desire. Once they harbor a motive or are controlled by others, they will lose everything.

However, Lesia had affected their decision to attack the True Essence Masters.

Although she did not control them, she got them to perform an attack with a few enticing words.

Suddenly, an angry female voice came from behind James’ group.

“How dare you control the Hongrome Children. You’ve crossed the line, Chosen One.”

Suddenly, a colorful Divine Line swept over with powerful momentum.

James did not even have to look to know that Lord Zenda had taken action. He instantly turned around and swung at her. His attack consisted of Historial Power, Marciais Power, Hongrome Essence, and Chaos Essence. The forces instantly combined into a terrifying dragon and faced the Divine Light.

Boom!

With a thunderous crash echoing through the sky, the two forces met with a fierce explosion, resulting in powerful shock waves permeating the surroundings.

At that instant, Herodias and Yegor simultaneously tapped into their Tirta Power and righteous aura, creating a massive purple-gold energy barrier to shield James and Thea.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

A succession of intense explosions followed, and the purple-gold barrier was shattered.

Lord Zenda was in no better situation. Caught up in the shock waves, she was forced to retreat into the distance. Her white robe fluttered, and she clutched her Guqin in shock.

“What kind of power is this?”

James straightened up and said calmly, “We walk different paths and aren’t like-minded people. I’m not the Chosen One, nor do I wish for my kids to be Hongrome Children.

Although I wish to avoid conflict, I’m not scared of it.”

“Even though you’re at the Yitro Daeclon Rank and we’re only at the Ninth Xaeclon Rank, we might not necessarily lose to you. If you push us to our limits, both parties will end up injured. Please reconsider.”

James’ words carried a clear warning and also conveyed his displeasure with Zenda’s disdainful attitude.

After taking a deep breath, Zenda set aside her Guqin and clasped her hands at James. “I’m sorry. Please forgive my rudeness.”

Seeing the change in attitude, James felt a stir within him. Evidently, one’s strength directly influenced one’s power and status.

Lord Zanda’s transformation vividly illustrated the respect commanded by power.

Even so, James remained humble. He possessed a few trump cards hidden from his opponent, including the fact he had merged with Morgott’s Spirit, who could deliver a devastating blow to even a formidable opponent at the Xurxo Daeclon Rank. Perhaps he could even take on Zenda, who was at the Yitro Daeclon Rank’s peak.

Moreover, James had Lesia’s support, along with the help of his two children, which bolstered his odds of success. However, he preferred to avoid deploying these measures unless absolutely necessary.

Just then, a dozen dense purple orbs of light appeared in the sky, swiftly gathering toward them.

Zenda grew visibly alarmed and immediately warned, "They're coming for you and your children. If you don't come with me, falling into their hands could spell your doom."

James gave a dismissive sneer. Then, with the wave of a hand, he ushered Herodias, Yegor, Thea, and his children into the safety of the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

"Zenda, right? I'll remember you. Don't worry. I'll seek you out." After speaking, James immediately hid in the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell as well.

The Yuraeceon Genesis Bell began to spin rapidly, emitting a blinding light as it hurtled into the distance.

Witnessing this, Zenda paused momentarily. Shortly after, her expression turned to one of annoyance. "No, I've been deceived. These lowly beings are truly cunning."

After coming to a realization, she quickly chased after the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

Not long after, the sky was shrouded in a cascade of purple light as over a dozen figures, consisting of men and women cloaked in the same luminous hues, materialized.

A white-haired old man narrowed his eyes as he scanned the area. Then, he stated, "They've escaped."

A woman wearing a blue robe asked, "How fast can a mere lowly mortal travel in the Great Historial Land?"

The old man responded coldly, "Lord Zenda was here. She must have taken the Chosen One with her."

A short, stout middle-aged man hurriedly said, "After them! If the Chosen One falls into Lord Zenda and the Zazen Temple, the other temples will be at a great disadvantage."

An elderly woman sighed, remarking, "We're such fools. We already knew the Chosen One would come, so why did we not station some of our own at the entrance?"

The old man looked in the direction where the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell and Zenda had left. Then, he ordered, "Chase them. The Chosen One is crucial to our world's balance. We can't let the other temples take him."

After speaking, the group transformed into purple light beams and pursued James.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6710-Meanwhile, James' group inside the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell was incredibly shaken. While traveling, they swayed side to side. Due to the bell's evolution, its travel speed had already surpassed the limits of the Ninth Xaeclon Rank.

Moreover, they had no idea where they were headed.

"Master, a large group of powerhouses are chasing after us. Utilize your powers to stabilize yourself. I need to speed up."

James immediately sat in a lotus position and instructed, "Sit down and urge your powers."

Yegor, Herodias, and Thea, swaying within the bell, hurriedly did as they were told.

Shortly after, the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell accelerated and was like a spaceship exceeding the speed of light as it darted through the void.

The group of powerhouses following the bell sped up, but the distance between them grew.

Feeling the urgency of the situation, they quickly unleashed their Supernatural Powers. A terrifying purple forge surged toward the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

However, Zenda immediately shattered their attacks.

The white-haired old man growled, "Damn it! Zenda is helping them. Everyone, full force!"

Following his command, the group of powerhouses exerted their strength simultaneously. A sizeable purple beam shot at the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

Faced with such bombardment, Zenda panickedly dodged left and right.

Boom!

A thunderous explosion resounded as the giant purple beam struck the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell. Unexpectedly, it was unscathed and borrowed the impact to plunge into the blood-red mist ahead.

Zenda exclaimed, "The Forbidden Bloodshade!"

Seeing the blood-red mist, the group of powerhouses quickly stopped. They hovered in mid-air and stared in shock.

“The Forbidden Bloodshade. The Chosen One has entered the Forbidden Bloodshade. It’s over,” the elderly woman said with widened eyes.

Everyone stared in shock at the scene before them. They were fully aware of the Forbidden Bloodshade and feared advancing any further.

At that moment, the white-haired old man approached Zenda. Then, he said with gritted teeth, “This happened because you were protecting him. Now, all of us are doomed. We might even have to struggle through a terrible catastrophe.

The Zazen Temple must take responsibility for this.”

Zenda turned to him and said, “If you hadn’t been so relentless, they wouldn’t have accelerated and accidentally entered the Forbidden Bloodshade.”

The white-haired old man snarled, “You’re blaming us? We would’ve already had him if it weren’t for your interference.”

Zenda stood with her hands behind her back, raised her head, and took a deep breath. She thought to herself, ‘You would’ve had him? I initially had the same thought. Even though he is the Chosen One, he is a lowly mortal. I thought he would submit as long as I could offer him enough benefits or suppress him with threats.

‘Unfortunately, he isn’t like the others. He isn’t scared of being overpowered or interested in any benefits. Moreover, he even scorned the identity of the Chosen One.’
