

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6721-James could not react to Emperor Yarden's swift movements.

After Emperor Yarden took the soul pearls, he swiftly unleashed subsequent bloody red light rays, sanctifying their glow.

Emperor Yarden reprimanded, "Are you trying to destroy such great treasures?"

You possess both Hongrome Essence and Chaos Essence. Naturally, you should fuse these two first. Then, use the newly formed power to merge the soul pearls. It'll achieve the best results.

"Your approach just now was reckless. You could attain a stronger power but almost wasted it."

James asked, "Are you saying the Hongrome Essence and Chaos Essence can also be fused?"

Emperor Yarden responded solemnly, "There is nothing that can't be integrated."

It's the principle of cultivation, the ability to create something out of nothing and turn imagination into reality.

"It seems you've yet to master any true fusion techniques, so I'll introduce you to the Bloodshade Fusion Art."

After speaking, he lifted his hand, and a fiery red light struck James. A flood of detailed information filled James' mind, providing him with a new fusion technique.

"The Supreme Path is divided into fifty, the heavens into forty-nine. They can be separated but also fused. All can be returned to nature, and all from nature can form into one," James recited the information in his mind and clasped his palms.

Then, he summoned the Hongrome Essence above his palm and the Chaos Essence below. As he flipped his hands back and forth, the two essences emitted a bright glow and absorbed the surrounding Chaos and Historial Essence.

With his eyes closed James focused on the fusion process. At that moment, his body was surrounded by blood-red light, and streams of essence poured into the cave.

James remained motionless as if a statue.

The Hongrome Essence was tinged with purple, while the Chaos Essence carried a gray hue. As these two essences gradually blend, a fusion of purple and gray emerges, gradually deriving into red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, and violet.

Emperor Yarden exclaimed, "What fantastic fortune! The merging of these two had indeed spawned Wuia Essence.

The cave surrounding James was suddenly filled with vibrant, auspicious clouds streaked with lightning and thunder. Mythical beasts roared ferociously, their sounds reverberating across the heavens and the earth.

Soon after, the Great Historial Land and even the entire Forladtt Land began to tremble intensely. A vast and mysterious seven-colored power started to sweep across the Forladtt Land, gathering all Chaos Essence and Hongrome Essence.

At that moment, Zenda and the others, positioned outside the Forbidden Bloodshade, were caught off-guard by another violent shake.

Panic quickly set in after noticing countless streams of Hongrome Essence and Chaos Essence rushing toward the Forbidden Bloodshade.

'These are Hongrome and Chaos Essence! It's already hard for US to collect them, but now they're being drawn into the Forbidden Bloodshade? What is he doing?"

Toviyyah, his eyes widening in sudden realization, shouted, "This is bad! Has the Chaos Essence and Hongrome Essence from our temples also been drawn out?"

His words triggered a wave of panic among the assembled powerhouses, prompting shouts and calls to return home to check on their reserves.

Unable to bear the escalating panic, Zenda shouted impatiently, "Shut up!"

Her voice cut through the chaos, instantly silencing everyone present.

She said coldly, "Can't you see? The essence of the entire Great Historial Land is converging here. Do you think our temples would be an exception? Even if you rush back now, do you think you'll be able to stop it?"

Hearing Zenda's words, everyone exchanged uneasy expressions.

"The Ten Holy Temples' reign is likely nearing an end. I urge everyone to remain calm, welcome the Chosen One, and then willingly acknowledge our faults.

Otherwise, we may lose all opportunity to make amends," Zenda remarked emotionally.

Her words sparked turmoil amongst the powerhouses. They were not inclined to submit so easily. Rather, they aimed to gain control over the Chosen One, hoping to strengthen their own temple's leverage.

Watching the assembled powers scheming quietly, Zenda sighed in resignation.

Seeing that they were not persuadable, she refrained from wasting her effort.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6722-Meanwhile, Herodias, hiding within the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell, grumbled," Are these two trying to destroy this place? The tremors are only growing worse. Is this ever going to end?"

Thea chuckled, "Usually, such a big commotion means a significant opportunity has arisen. We should be happy."

Herodias grunted, "Of course, your husband is destined for great fortune, but mine might not be that lucky."

Thea laughed uncontrollably, then said, "You're underestimating Mr. Yegor too much. With Tirta Power as his foundation, he forged his righteous aura. He is a man of immense talent. Perhaps he might have the chance to have his righteous aura appraised."

Herodias' eyes lit up at Thea's words. Just as she was about to respond, a spectral soul emerged from the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell and interrupted the moment.

"It's time for US to talk, Herodias."

Herodias was visibly shocked by the voice.

Thea exclaimed, "It's Morgott."

Morgott smiled eerily and said, "Don't panic. I don't mean any harm. I just want to chat."

Herodias responded vigilantly, "I have nothing to say to you. As long as you're obedient, there's nothing to discuss."

"I really should explain to you what happened back then," Morgott spoke, then transformed into a light beam and darted toward Herodias.

"Ms. Herodias" Thea immediately jumped to her feet and shouted, but the two were already nowhere to be seen.

Thea called out urgently, "Come out! Pets of James Caden, I summon you!"

Soon, Hemera and Fennec materialized.

Seeing Thea's anxious expression, Hemera spoke with a hint of frustration, "Lesia went to assist the master. Without her here to suppress Morgott, he grew bold enough to do as he pleased."

Fennec sighed, "There's nothing we can do, Ms. Thea. Nobody but Lesia is capable of suppressing him."

Thea took a deep breath and said, "Please take care of my children. I need to go out..."

Hemera quickly stepped forward, blocked Thea's path, and said, "You're being reckless. If you leave now, you won't return. Master gave US an order to prevent you from leaving this bell."

Hemera transformed into multicolored flames as he spoke, enveloping the entire Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

At the same time, Fennec acted swiftly, blocking all possible exits for Thea.

“Look after them,” Thea shouted, transforming into countless purple-pink light beams and piercing through the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell.

Hemera said anxiously, “It’s over! Even Ms. Thea left. If anything happens, Lesia and Master won’t forgive US.”

Fennec sighed. “How could we have stopped her?” Hemera could not answer him.

As soon as Morgott and Herodias emerged outside the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell, ominous clouds and lightning bombarded them instantly.

Morgott grabbed tightly onto Herodias and traveled through the Forbidden Bloodshade.

Soon after, Thea emerged from the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell and faced the same hazardous conditions. Had she not recovered 70% to 80% of her strength, she might have perished.

After surviving the first wave, she remained vigilant. As the intensity of the clouds grew stronger, she quickly chased after Herodias and Morgott.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6723-On the other hand, James was still merging the Chaos and Hongrome Essence.

Suddenly, he sensed the disturbances from the Yuraeceon Genesis Bell and immediately panicked. The two energy balls in his hands quivered intensely in response to his unstable emotions.

Sensing the abnormalities, Emperor Yarden quickly rushed behind him. He extended his arms and began transferring energy into his body to stabilize the volatile energy.

After a few moments, the energy balls in James’ palms burst with sevenscolored lights. The light gradually spread throughout the cave, eventually permeating every area of the Forbidden Bloodshade.

Boom!

Bang!

Another tremendous burst of lightning and thunder erupted, sending countless electricity bolts cascading toward James.

The seven-colored energy balls in James' hands grew increasingly radiant. After emitting a sudden flash, they returned to a state of tranquility.

James took a deep breath and slowly opened his eyes. Two vibrant rays of light shot forth from his gaze, swiftly shattering the two boulders before him.

The force of this action was so potent that it caused the entire cave to tremble again, and even Emperor Yarden was forcibly knocked away. He crashed into a wall with a loud thud and coughed up blood. Even so, he laughed amusedly.

It's done, the Wuia Essence! I never imagined I would witness the creation of the Wuia Essence with my own eyes. Even if I were to perish now, I would have no regrets.

Hearing Emperor Yarden's laughs, James raised his hands in astonishment and observed the seven-colored divine light in his palms. They flowered through his meridians, emitting terrifying powers.

Emperor Yarden reminded, "Now that you have Wuia Essence, you can merge anything! It's incredible! You're standing at the pinnacle of the Great Historial Land!"

Startled by the claims, James turned to Emperor Yarden and saw him still coughing up blood. "Are you okay, sir?"

"It's okay," Emperor Yarden replied as he picked himself up. Then, he chuckled, "You don't need to worry about the troubles in your heart. After all, there are some things beyond your help."

James quickly moved forward to assist Emperor Yarden. However, as his hands made contact, Emperor Yarden began to tremble violently.

Emperor Yarden exclaimed urgently, "Let go of me! I'm just a remnant soul and can't withstand these powers!"

James quickly released Emperor Yarden. He stepped back and watched the remnant soul fall to the ground with a thud.

“Is the Wuia Essence really that powerful?” James marveled, watching the seven-colored energy pulsate through his meridians in awe.

Emperor Yaden picked himself up and said, “You cultivated Quasar Lightning before. The Wuia Essence is much more powerful. It has an intense, electric current that combines the wind, fire, thunder, lightning, metal, wood, water, and earth.”

James’ eyes lit up. ‘Is it really that strong? It would be great to use it on Yehria and watch her suffer.’ Emperor Yarden said smilingly, “Okay, that’s enough. Hurry up and fuse the soul pearls. I don’t think Tirta’s daughter and the Yin governor can hold up much longer. We can’t let the Ten Holy Temples acquire Morgott’s Spirit, or it would be a disaster.”

James nodded solemnly and sat down again.

Emperor Yarden tossed the soul pearls toward him, which James caught swiftly.

Following the instructions of the Bloodshade Fusion Art taught by Emperor Yarden, James began to rapidly fuse the Marciais and Historial Powers embedded within the pearls.

In the Forbidden Bloodshade, atop a secluded mountain, Morgott and Herodias faced each other with the tension of foes.

Just then, Thea, who had been in pursuit, materialized beside Herodias. Her eyes, alight with urgency, fixed intently on the Morgott.

Thea growled, “What are you doing, Morgott?!! Don’t you know we’re at risk of perishing in the Forbidden Bloodshade?”

Morgott scoffed disdainfully, “Those fools from the Ten Holy Temples? I would’ve been quite worried if we had not ventured into the Forbidden Bloodshade. But now, ha.”

He suddenly spread his arms, and his spectral body gradually became physical.

His original imposing appearance had also returned.

Thea and Herodias looked extremely shocked.

Morgott had recovered his physical body, which marked the beginning of a catastrophe for the various worlds.

Amid the cold waves of laughter, Morgott looked at Herodias and Thea with a strange expression and said, "Now that I'm here, do you still think I'd be afraid of that rubbish?"

Herodias retorted, "You..."

Morgott interrupted, saying, "Don't talk. Listen to me. I know we'll never be on the same side, and you wish I am obliterated without a chance to reincarnate."

Herodias was about to speak but was stopped by Thea.

Staring at Morgott, Thea said arrogantly, "What do you want?"

Morgott said smilingly, "I want to chat. If it goes well, we'll live in peace. If it doesn't, I'll have no choice but to deal with you two." After speaking, he turned around with his hands behind his back.

"I know that James has already grown significantly. Even so, I'm not willing to give up the chance to work with him. After all, I do really admire and respect him.

"Hence, I have no choice but to use his weakness, which is the two of you."

Morgott turned around and smiled arrogantly.

Thea frowned and asked, "You did it on purpose? You were wary because of my children. So you kidnapped Herodias, knowing full well I would chase after her at all costs?"

Morgott chuckled, "Exactly, Yin governor. Wait, I should call you the Dark Heavenly Path instead. After all, you're only half of the Yin governor now.

"Let's make a deal. You help persuade James to work with me, and I'll get your other half back. You'll be able to resume your position as the Yin governor. How does that sound?"

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6724-As the Morgott flashed an evil grin, Herodias instinctively shielded in front of Thea.

Herodias warned, “Don’t listen to him, Thea. He’s a liar, a deceiving demon. He promised my mother he would cease the slaughter of Zymurgy’s supreme beings. However, he did not keep his word. Ultimately, the former Tai Chi and Law of Paths died under his hands. He’s a—”

Before Herodias could finish her accusation, Morgott abruptly extended his hand, and a terrifying purple-red light burst forth, merging into a massive, ghostly hand. Herodias was choked by the neck and lifted into the air.

“You!” Thea was furious.

Morgott warned in an icy tone, “Thea, I suggest you remain still. Otherwise, I’ll kill her. And you should know, being slain by hands means no chance of ever being reincarnated.”

Thea’s hands clenched into a fist. “Did you secretly enter the Daeclon Rank?”

Morgott responded with a sinister chuckle, “I have to thank your husband for that! If he hadn’t brought me to the Great Historial Land’s Forbidden Bloodshade and triggered the influx of Chaos and Hongrome Essence, I would’ve never been able to cultivate a Level Six Demonic Body.”

As he spoke, Morgott slowly raised his hand, his expression ominous. “My Demonic Body has been nourished by Chaos and Hongrome Essence. Its power is unmatched. Though I only possess half of my original strength, I’m invincible against those under the Soma Daeclon Rank.”

Thea, absorbing the full weight of his words, was visibly shaken.

Realizing the full extent of Morgott’s deceit, Thea understood that he had exploited James’s ability to summon Chaos Essence and Hongrome Essence.

All this while, he had been stealing a portion for his empowerment.

Thea asked coldly, “Since you are so powerful, you should go to Zymurgy to exact your revenge. So why do you need to work with my husband?”

With a sly grin, Morgott replied, “I admire him. He is loyal and honorable. He’s destined to inherit Emperor Yardenor’s cultivation knowledge. Together, we’d easily overpower those trivial forces in Zymurgy. Even those old fools under the Supreme Path would falter against us.

“Don’t worry. I see him as a friend. I’ll treat him well once I seize control of the Supreme Path.”

Thea, however, remained unconvinced.

Morgott, a demon known for his ruthless pursuit of power, would stop at nothing to achieve his ends. Meanwhile, Thea, having recently given birth and not fully recovered her strength, found herself at a disadvantage, unable to assist James directly. Therefore, she could only bide her time until James showed up.

After developing a strategy, Thea asked calmly, “What about me?”

Morgott replied, “I already told you I’d help you regain your other half and recover your position as the Yin governor.”

Thea countered arrogantly, “But my other half is under Tai Chi’s control. With your strength, can you kill her?”

This question served as both a challenge and a form of psychological warfare, placing Morgott in a difficult position and exposing potential vulnerabilities in his claims of alliance and strength.

Morgott fell into an awkward silence.

Thea shook her head and said, “Your plan is unrealistic. How about you hear me out?”

Morgott asked, surprised, “Do you have a plan?”

Thea smiled calmly and replied, “I don’t, but my husband does. As long as he is willing, he can help merge your other remnant souls. You’d regain your full strength.”

Morgott questioned, “You’re suggesting to wait for James to leave seclusion?”

Thea smiled calmly in response.

Morgott’s face darkened. “You’re trying to deceive me? Do you think I’m stupid?”

Once he leaves seclusion, I won’t be able to escape.”

Thea snorted. “Your enemies are those in Zymurgy, and so are ours.”

Morgott waved his hand and said, “No, your enemy is Tai Chi. Once she’s dead, you two will forget about me. You’re a very cunning woman, even worse than me. I can’t believe you tried to bluff me.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6725-Thea sighed. “I originally thought you were a great hero. I didn’t think you’d—” Morgott interrupted abruptly, saying impatiently, “Shut up! Shut up! I’m not worthy of your praise.

You’re my friend’s wife, so I’m going easy on you. But that doesn’t mean you can use these tricks on me.” Sensing Morgott’s annoyance, Thea laughed, “Then what must I do to make you believe me?” Morgott snorted and unleashed hundreds of purple-red light rays at Thea, enveloping her body in a menacing glow.

The next second, he smiled wickedly, a hint of triumph in his voice: “I only believe in myself. What I know is controlling you means controlling James.

Huh?” Before he could finish his words, the purple-red light around Thea faded away.

Morgott’s eyes widened, and he stammered, “This...this...you? You’re immune to restrictions and curses?

Even my Demonic Soul isn’t effective?” After a brief shock, Thea feigned a collapse to the ground with a dramatic thud.

He clutched her head and cried, “Ahh! I’ve been cursed! You’re so ruthless, Morgott! Despicable and shameless.” Morgott, visibly angered, shouted, “Enough! I remember now. You mastered the Dark Heavenly Path Power, immune to restrictions and curses. Stop the act.” Thea lifted her head and blinked her large eyes, acting innocent and bewildered by the accusation.

Morgott groaned, “You’re a terrible woman, full of schemes. Master was right. Beautiful women can’t be trusted.

“You’re terrifying, even worse than Yehria. I can’t stay here any longer, or else I’d go crazy.” Morgott bared his teeth and snorted. Then, he leaped into the air, appeared behind Herodias, and took her hostage.

Thea raised her head and shouted anxiously, “What are you doing, Morgott?” Morgott shouted, “You’re James’ wife. I can’t possibly take my friend’s wife as hostage. That’d tarnish my reputation. So, I’ll take her instead.” Thea shouted, “It’s useless to hold her hostage. You can’t blackmail James with her.” Morgott snorted. “It doesn’t matter. She’s Tirta’s daughter and will be helpful to me.

“Meanwhile, don’t you want your other half? I’ll find it for you. James would work with me as long as I have it.” Thea remained silent, her mind racing. To her surprise, despite Morgott’s impulsive nature, he could be cunning and tactical, knowing when to use reverse psychology.

Morgott looked down and said, “Because you’re James’ wife, I’ve been relatively easy on you.

However, you’ve been constantly trying to bluff me. I must teach you a lesson.”

As Morgott finished speaking, he suddenly slammed his palm down, releasing a purple-red illusory palm print that exploded near Thea, causing the ground to tremble violently.

Amidst the smoke and dust, Thea quickly soared into the sky, only to see Morgott laughing maniacally as he fled with Herodias held hostage.

Thea cursed, “You demon! If you dare harm her, my husband will never work with you!”

Morgott heard Thea’s warning but chose to ignore it.

Thea contemplated her next move. At that moment, a dozen figures with formidable auras suddenly appeared, encircling her almost instantly.

Thea smiled bitterly after realizing the gravity of her situation. “The Daeclon Rank? So this is his revenge?”

Accepting her grim resolve, Thea did not attempt to resist. Instead, she stood calmly in the void.

Immediately afterward, dozens of powerhouses at the Daeclon Rank simultaneously approached to restrain her.