

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6732

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6732-What made Yegor even more surprised was that Yarden wasn't angry. Instead, he stroked his beard and laughed.

With his face twitching, Yegor hurriedly knelt at Yarden. "My friend is frank. He speaks without thinking. Please—"

"Sure." Yarden interrupted Yegor. He pointed at James. "You have the Bloodshade Token. You have only knelt. You didn't bow at me. You didn't change how you addressed me either. Shouldn't you do that first?"

Without any hesitation, James bowed to Yarden. "I, James, pay respect to you, Teacher." Then, he straightened his back and bowed twice.

After that, Yarden straightened his back and laughed.

Suddenly, he pushed out his palms. Countless Holy Powers in red headed toward James. They surrounded the latter and pulled him into the void.

Upon seeing the shocking scene, Yegor immediately backed away. He went to Lesia. "Why is James suddenly raging? What did you say to him?"

With her arms crossed in front of her chest, Lesia raised her head. "With the inheritance of Emperor Yarden and the reverse of the Great Historial Land, the Forladtt Land is the only land that can become the blessed land of all worlds in the Daeclon Rank, aside from Zymurgy."

Yegor was shocked to hear that. "What's the difference between being the Great Historial Land's Lord and the Forladtt Land's Lord?"

"There isn't any difference," answered Lesia.

"This isn't right," Yegor exclaimed, "James has the Courageous Tower. He's already the Forladtt Land's Lord—"

"The Forladtt Land has never existed." Lesia cut off Yegor. "Only the Great Historial Land exists."

Yegor was speechless.

Currently, James was surrounded by red gas under the continuous red power of Yarden. He was spinning around so quickly that he couldn't be seen, like a red cicada pupa that could turn into a butterfly at any time and fly away.

Meanwhile, Yarden's body was gradually becoming transparent. He wanted to give all his power.

The real inheritance wasn't guidance through words. It wasn't the training of the Supernatural Power. Instead, he gave everything he had at the cost of his life.

It proved that Yarden liked James more than the ten disciples he taught. While James was obtaining the inheritance, something funny happened in the Nirvana Palace on the third layer of the Forladdt Land.

Morgott and the Solstice Alliance's Leader, Truett, was fighting against each other for a jar of Chaos Absinthe. They were like children. One was grabbing the other's hair, while the other pinched the other's ear. They were stuck to each other. Even when they fell to the ground, no one was willing to let go.

In the entire hall, no one dared to move. It didn't matter if it were the powerhouses from the Jademora Empire, Skynet, or the Iustus Sect, no one dared to breathe.

After Morgott descended from the Great Historial Land with Herodias, he pulled Rebella, the Left Grand Lord of the Forladdt Land, and took over the area.

Then, he proclaimed himself the emperor of the Jademora Empire and forced everyone to acknowledge it.

The reason he gave was simple. He was James' friend. In the Jademora Empire, he was under James but above tens of thousands of people.

Initially, no one respected Rebella when she was the head. But Morgott broke out of the Sky Bridge. With just one move, he severely injured all the sects' powerhouses in the Genesis World and kidnapped them.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6733-As for the Solstice Alliance, more than half of the living beings from the Genesis World had been taken away. They were all kept in the Sky Bridge.

Today was their celebratory banquet. No one expected such a hilarious scene to happen.

“Truett, we’re friends. I’m the hero this time. This jar of Chaos Absinthe should be mine.” Morgott pulled Truett’s hair and shouted, “After finishing this wine, I need to go to Zymurgy to find the other half of the Light Heavenly Path for Thea.”

Truett twisted Morgott’s ear. Their bodies were close to one another. “Although we’re friends, James gave me this jar of Chaos Absinthe. No one can touch it.”

Morgott asked, “Can’t I use your mother in exchange for this?”

Upon hearing that, Truett was taken aback. “Where’s my mom?”

Morgott responded, “Let go of me first.”

Truett was shocked. The moment he let go, the Chaos Absinthe in his hand was taken away by Morgott.

Thinking that he had been tricked, he wanted to fight Morgott when he was kicked away by the latter.

“Hahahaha.” Turning around and getting up, Morgott hugged the Chaos Absinthe and laughed. “Truett, you’ve lost. This wine belongs to me.”

“Where’s my mom?” Truett stood up and shouted, “Hand her over.”

“Why are you in such a hurry?” Morgott said angrily, “Your mom still needs to go to Zymurgy with me. She’s Tirta’s daughter. I need her help.”

“Don’t worry. You and I are friends with James. So, we’re friends too. I won’t let my friend’s mother suffer.”

Truett became anxious. “You...”

Suddenly, Morgott hugged the Chaos Absinthe and pointed at the living beings present. "All of you, listen to me. Help my friend guard this place. If something happens, I will devour him."

At that, all the living beings shuddered. They lowered their heads in fear.

Everyone knew how powerful Morgott was. He defeated both Gladwin and Yaqis in one move. Even someone crazy like Xachary didn't dare to make a move. He escaped from Zymurgy right away, let alone them.

Then, Morgott threw a dazzling longsword at Truett.

"This is your mom's Tirta Sword. Use it first. When I have wiped out Zymurgy, I will bring back gifts for you guys."

After that, his body flashed. He turned into a terrifying amethyst-red light and shot out of the hall.

"Morgott, fuck you." Truett grabbed the Tirta Sword and turned around. He shouted, "If my mom is injured, I will slash you into halves."

It was a pity that he couldn't receive any response from Morgott.

At this time, Rebella, Xatia and Xitlaly surrounded Truett.

"Morgott is too evil. Thankfully, he and Master are on good terms." Rebella sighed and said, "Otherwise, we wouldn't even know how we died."

"I'm most worried about this." At this moment, Yukha stood forward and sighed.

"If he wipes out Zymurgy under the name of Master, he will bring a great calamity to Master. We will be implicated."

When everyone heard Yukha's words, their expressions changed.

They had been together for so long, so they knew the situation in Zymurgy.

Morgott was feared by the supreme beings in Zymurgy. Once the group of powerhouses found out that Morgott was on the same side as James, James would be badly affected.

Initially, they only had one opponent which was Yehria. But now, their opponent might be the entire Zymurgy.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6734-In the Forbidden Bloodshade of the Great Historial Land, as the speed of Yarden giving James the inheritance increased, his body also became more transparent.

It wasn't until the last trace of red power entered the red gas around James that Yarden withdrew his hands and adjusted his breathing.

From being in high spirits and having a powerful aura, he became old and weak.

His hair turned white. It was as if he would die with just one punch.

Lesia stood to the side. When she saw this scene, she hurried forward to hold Yarden.

"I'm fine." Yarden laughed and said, "I feel relaxed now that I have gotten rid of my power. I have gone back to nature."

"You don't have much time." Lesia sighed and said, "From now on, Emperor Yarden will become the true Oblivion God."

"It's enough." Yarden smiled kindly and said, "I just hope that my sect can develop a great path and spread the Bloodshade Theory to all living beings and benefit the worlds."

Then, he raised his head and looked at Lesia. "Am I asking for too much?"

"No." Lesia shook his head. "I brought him here to meet you to let you finish your last wish and give him a providence that can change his fate."

Yarden laughed and pointed at Lesia. "You always look at the big picture.

Putting aside your master, even our intelligence isn't as great as yours."

Lesia was silent.

"But I need to remind you of this," Yarden said, "He's unrestrained. His happiness, anger, sorrow, and joy depend on his temperament. This is the most valuable and enviable thing about him. But for you, you need to be vigilant.

“If you rely on your wisdom and plan and make arrangements for him, once he wakes up, it might work against you.”

Lesia took a deep breath. Then, she nodded. “I know what I’m doing.”

“You don’t need to.” Yarden sighed and said, “Since you have acknowledged him as your master and agreed to be his second body, you should be one with him. You shouldn’t hide anything from him. Especially from now on. You shouldn’t make decisions for him. Let him make the decisions. You should only give suggestions.”

After hearing that, Lesia slowly closed her eyes.

Seeing that Lesia didn’t express her expression, Yarden became anxious. “The second body will always be the second body. If you become master of your master as a second body, who will be the main and who will be the second?

“Besides, he’s intelligent, determined, benevolent and righteous. He entrusted the Great Historial Land. As his status becomes higher and he becomes stronger, you must be even more careful.

“He has relied on himself to reach this point and doesn’t have much respect for the gods. Now that he has taken a trip to the Great Historial Land, he despises Zymurgy and the divine beings of the Great Historial Land even more.

“But if he wants to truly benefit all living beings in the worlds, he can’t do it without the support of the gods. You are always by his side and have gone through life and death with him. The relationship between you two is extraordinary. The reconciliation between them depends on you!”

Upon hearing that, Lesia sighed. “He respects the real divine beings. He despises the fake divine beings. I’m on the same side as him for this.”

“What will happen next depends on how you follow him.” Then, Yarden smiled and said, “He’s the last disciple of my sect. I should leave something for him before I leave as a remembrance.”

After that, he slowly dissipated. In the end, he disappeared entirely.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6735-Then, two dazzling towers were left behind on the spot Yarden sat in moments ago. It shone divinely.

“It’s the Wisdom Tower and Perceiver Tower.” Immediately, Lesia held the two towers. She was shocked.

Right then, Yegor hurriedly walked over from the distance. He looked at the spot where Yarden disappeared, then slowly knelt on the ground and bowed thrice.

“Thank you for your guidance. I’ll be forever grateful.”

“What did he guide you?” Lesia suddenly asked.

Feeling grateful, Yegor said, “Cleansing the Tirta Power He showed me the path to the Daeclon Mahayana Rank, so I bowed thrice to represent my respect for him.”

Without asking anything else, Lesia nodded. “You have a conscience. You deserve the providence.”

Then, thunder roared in the red gas in the void. In the next second, the red gas dispersed following the loud sound. The color of blood filled the sky.

After that, from the red light, a handsome man with red hair walked out.

He was surrounded by Decachrome Holy Light. Outside the red light, two huge cyclones formed.

At that instant, there was a terrifying pressure. Instantly, Lesia and Yegor could sense the pressure. They hurriedly stepped backward and used all their power to resist it.

“Is this the legendary Daeclon Mahayana Rank?” With a trembling voice, Yegor asked.

“He can no longer be measured using cultivation ranks.” Lesia sighed and said, “He isn’t an average living being. It’s impossible for him to follow the Law of Paths.”

James slowly landed on the ground. At this time, James, who had red hair, engulfed by decachrome light and red light, opened his eyes. Two rays of frightening Hongrome Divine Light shot out from his eyes.

Following two loud sounds, wherever the Hongrome Divine Light passed, the cave collapsed and turned into ruins.

Slowly raising his hands, James said coldly, "Teacher has fallen. I will clean the Bloodshade Sect."

Seeing that James had withdrawn the light and Holy Light around him, Lesia and Yegor approached him.

"Your teacher left you these." Lesia handed over the two towers to James.

"With these two towers and the Courageous Tower, you will be the true Great Historial Land's Lord. You will be on the same level as Yehria."

James was taken aback. With a stern expression, he took the two towers.

Before he could take a closer look, the two towers erupted into a dazzling decachrome light. In the blink of an eye, the towers became one with his body.

He frowned as he shook his body. "Since they are gifts from Teacher, it's time to clean the Great Historial Land."

Then, he waved his hand. The Decachrome Holy Light held Lesia and Yegor.

The three disappeared.