

The Almighty Dragon General

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6896-James grasped the Wuia Wine and raised it toward Youcef, saying, "Cheers!" "Wait..." Youcef attempted to intervene, but James had already taken several large gulps in quick succession.

The next moment, James became cloaked in a Wama Divine Light. The crackling of lightning and the rumble of thunder immediately followed, dimming the surrounding sky.

Youcef rose in astonishment and said, "I warned you against recklessness, yet you chose not to listen. Must you rob me of another worthy opponent?"

James, encircled by the vibrant divine light and the tumult of lightning, was unresponsive. The calamity swirling around him intensified and knocked Youcef away.

However, James stood resolute amidst the swirling chaos of lightning and myriad tribulations. He held the Wuia Wine in one hand while employing countless mysterious powers from the other to merge the fragmented Genesis Worlds.

After a moment, the divine light surrounding James gradually faded away, along with the lightning and thunder.

As the surroundings returned to calm, Youcef was astonished to discover that James had utilized the mysterious power to seamlessly reunify the fragmented Genesis Worlds.

Now before him unfolded a complete Tai Chi diagram composed of vibrant, colorful energy. The fragmented Tai Chi World had been restored.

Yet, the restored Tai Chi World differed from its previous appearance, which was stark black and white. Alongside the Yin and Yang Energies, it now harbored an array of mysterious gases in various hues.

James cast the Innate Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl into the air, and a surge of Innate energy flooded in, causing the pearl to emit a brilliant and dazzling light.

Youcef's eyes widened in disbelief.

The next moment, the radiant brilliance of the Innate Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl enveloped the entirety of Tai Chi World. Suddenly, life surged anew, and every being within the world was simultaneously bathed in the divine lights. All of them began to praise and worship reverently.

Youcef gazed in disbelief at the scene unfolding before him. "Is he insane? He just used such precious energy to merge the worlds of lowly beings?"

Having integrated the Tai Chi World, James wiped his hands and turned to face the bewildered Youcef. "Youcef, I owe you one. Without the Wuia Wine, I doubt I could have unified the Tai Chi World so quickly. I probably would've died of exhaustion."

Youcef drew a sharp breath and said, "But is it truly worth it?"

James questioned, "Is that even a question?"

Youcef frowned and replied, "You know we'll have a life-and-death confrontation soon. You could've utilized this Wuia Essence to enhance your cultivation, potentially reaching the Soma Daeclon Rank's peak and improving your odds of victory."

"Yet instead, you choose to waste it on merging the fractured Tai Chi World for these mundane creatures. Are you insane?"

James offered a faint smile before settling himself down. He answered, "Didn't you want to discuss cultivation? Well, I just showed my cultivation way to you."

Youcef asked tremblingly, "That was your cultivation way?"

James affirmed, "Yes. While you view all beings as lowly and insignificant, in my perception, I am them, and they are me. It's called working together for a common cause and achieving salvation for all beings."

Youcef was stunned after hearing James' words as if his soul had been struck hard.

He had always believed that he possessed the most benevolent attitude toward all living beings among Zymurgy, considering himself open-minded and possessing tolerance for them. But now, compared to James, he felt so much inferior.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6897-Observing the Tai Chi World from above, Youcef was astonished as his Zen perceived the creatures engaged in worship. Overtime, as the creatures from various realms devoutly paid homage, a shimmering array of colorful light emerged from their heads and gathered in the void.

Youcef's eyes widened in disbelief, and he exclaimed, "Spiritual Providence..."

How can this be?"

Shortly after, he witnessed the collective Spiritual Providence slowly ascending into the void, enveloping James within it as he sat serenely in a crossed-leg position, emanating an ethereal aura.

The Spiritual Providence around James suddenly diffused rapidly in all directions, filling the void of the entire Tai Chi World, including the Great Historial

Land and Tirta Exotic Space. They generated a transparent and potent energy barrier in the void.

The energy wall separated the Tai Chi World, Great Historial Land, and Tirta Exotic Space from Zymurgy.

Witnessing these events, Youcef said tremblingly, “Zymurgy and the Greater Realms are independent of each other from now onward. That means Zymurgy has relinquished its control over the Greater Realms.

As he gazed upon James, who remained seated in the radiant Spiritual Providence, several prominent words gradually materialized above his head.

‘The Supreme Benevolence and Virtuous Emperor of the Mortals’

Youcef’s eyes widened, and he said, “The natural outcome of the collective Spiritual Providence has made him an emperor?”

“In essence, he will now reign supreme in the Greater Realms. How is this possible? How?”

“Even when the Xyloria Tai Chi ruled, such potent Spiritual Providence has never been seen before. Moreover, he isn’t even the current Tai Chi. Yehria is still alive, so how did he...”

“Do you still want to challenge me, Youcef?” James’ voice came from the void, imbued with authority.

Youcef trembled at the utterance of these words, gazing up at James in the void as if beholding a deity in the flesh.

By possessing the Spiritual Providence from creatures across the Greater Realms, he was invincible within the Tai Chi World. On top of that, he had integrated the Three Treasures.

Supposedly, they fought in Zymurgy, Youcef was confident about being a match against James. However, in the Greater Realms, James was omnipotent.

Youcef slowly clenched his fists and said, "Of course. Even though you have the Spiritual Providence of these mortals, I still will fight you."

James nodded solemnly, "Alright. Let the fight begin."

Youcef furrowed his brow, swiftly bringing his palms together. Suddenly, his body ignited with a brilliant, dazzling divine light, surrounded by myriad vast universes spinning rapidly, significantly enhancing his combat strength.

Then, he extended his hand and unleashed a formidable divine light straight toward James.

Boom!

A loud explosion ensued as the divine light collided with the spiritual Providence and erupted into a blinding burst of energy.

Emerging from the blast with incredible speed, Youcef darted toward James.

James, however, met his advance head-on, engaging in a fierce exchange of blows in the void. Their clash of fists and kicks echoed through space.

Simultaneously, within the Tai Chi World, Wama Divine Light streaked across the sky, intertwining with the Spiritual Providence in a powerful collision.

After countless rounds of combat, James and Youcef found themselves evenly matched, each unable to gain the upper hand.

Youcef displayed exceptional cultivation strength, formidable combat skills, and great experience in battle.

Meanwhile, James utilized the Spiritual Providence to compensate for the disparity in cultivation and harnessed the formidable strength of the Three Treasures to fight Youcef.

Boom!

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6898-Another deafening blast ensued, hurling James and Youcef away with a jarring shockwave.

Youcef's said coldly, 'You have the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword. Why not wield it? Are you underestimating me?'

“That won’t be necessary. Just watch,” James replied condescendingly. Then, the spiritual Providence churned, and numerous divine swords burst out from his body, spreading throughout the void.

Observing this, Youcef thrust forward with both hands, forming a dense Sword Formation to meet James’ divine swords.

Another explosion rattled the surroundings, yet Youcef was chuckling amidst the chaos.

“The Spiritual Providence of mortal beings? Invincibility in the Greater Realms?

Guess not!”

However, just as he prepared to attack fiercely, he was startled to discover a divine sword pressed against his throat.

‘You...’ Youcef’s laughter faded into shock.

James said calmly, “It’s over. You’re indeed strong. However, I reign supreme in the Greater Realms.”

Facing the sword pressed at his throat, a trace of bitterness flickered across Youcef’s handsome face. Then, he closed his eyes resignedly.

“Who would’ve thought that a mere jar of Wuia Wine could make you an emperor unmatched in the Greater Realms?

“Oh well. I guess this is my fate. Go ahead, James. In terms of cultivation knowledge, I pale in comparison to you. I embrace my end without regrets.”

James inquired, “Are you truly without regrets?”

Youcef’s eyes snapped open. His calm countenance became strained and silent.

James said calmly, “It’s honorable for you to extend courtesy before combat.

Unexpectedly, you’ve brought me quite a blessing.

“In return, I’ll spare you. When the time comes, I’ll lead the Greater Realms’ living beings up to Zymurgy, and we’ll engage in a fair combat. I’ll keep my word.”

As James finished speaking, the divine sword pressing against Youcef’s throat suddenly withdrew, emitting a buzzing sound.

Youcef trembled at the turn of events. This marked his second defeat since embarking on his cultivation journey. It was a complete defeat and was a great humiliation.

He gazed at James, surrounded by Spiritual Providence. “In defeat, fairness holds no meaning. Just end it.”

“No,” James countered, shaking his head. “I simply want to have a thrilling opponent to fight in the future.”

Youcef’s handsome features twitched. “Just wait. I will endure this humiliation. In the Forty-Ninth Heaven, we shall fight again. Then, fate will decide our outcome.”

After speaking, he turned to depart. However, James stopped him and said, “Remember, Youcef. Grace isn’t exclusive to Zymurgy’s supreme being. We, mortals, also possess grace. In fact, our grace might surpass yours.”

Youcef quivered, nodding solemnly in acknowledgment. ‘You’re an interesting opponent, James. Until we meet again.’

With that said, Youcef transformed into a divine light and ascended into the sky.

Lesia’s voice immediately resounded. “You’ve gained a powerful enemy.”

James responded calmly, “I welcome it.”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6899-James waved his hand, and a dazzling and colorful Tai Chi diagram formed in the void before him. It was composed of countless Genesis Worlds of varying colors. Within them were numerous Genesis Regions, which also contained different universes with many planets, galaxies, and black holes.

With a thought from James, the Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl emitted a brilliant black and-white light, intertwining with the Spiritual Providence of all living beings to connect all areas.

Yin and Yang Energies formed into two paths. The Yang Path was for beings that had cultivated human forms. The Yin Path was catered to other life forms. A third path emerged and was paved by the Spiritual Providence of all living beings, enabling even the weaker mortals to improve their cultivation rapidly.

“Tai Chi formed Yin and Yang, which then created the universe. All beings are equal in their ventures on the cultivation path.

“The Yin and Yang connect the different realms. The living beings’ Spiritual Providence has returned all to a true state. The laws of nature are indeterminate, and tribulation clouds accompany karma.” James gestured toward the Tai Chi diagram. The Spiritual Providence surged forth, and Karma Tribulation Clouds emerged within the Tai Chi World.

Lesia inquired curiously, “You won’t use a Heavenly Path to govern the Greater Realms? Instead, will it be covered by Karma Tribulation Clouds? You’re truly a pioneer, Master.”

James gazed at the Tai Chi diagram and responded calmly, “Ultimately, the Heavenly Path will be controlled by sentient beings. It holds a lofty position, yet it won’t be perfect even if one sever ties with the emotions, desires, and consciousness.”

Thea interjected, “Are you underestimating Heavenly Paths? Did you forget what your wife is?” James smiled and unleashed Thea.

Thea glared at him and said solemnly, ‘You’ve grown stronger now and are looking down on your wife?’

James chuckled, “Never. Honestly speaking, if you never gained consciousness, we’d best lost and would never have come so far.”

Thea said proudly, “Of course. My husband is above the Tai Chi and merged Greater Realms now, bringing salvation to mortal beings.”

James nodded lightly. “That’s valid. But what if it wasn’t me but Morgott, Yehria, or Emperor Qadeer?”

Thea was left momentarily stunned by James’ words.

James looked at Thea and said, “Who’s responsible for how the Greater Realms turned out? According to Morgott, it’s because of the Wuia.”

Thea remained silent.

James pressed further, “But is that really true? The Five Path Emperors originated from him, right? Emperor Qadeer is his esteemed disciple, is he not?”

Look how things have turned out.

“Using cultivation as a guise, they manipulate the Spiritual Providence of the Greater Realms’ living beings for their own personal gain. We’re treated as slaves and are subject to disdain. Our lives are treated as nothing, and we’d be killed if we were to retaliate.

“It seems that in their eyes, they are supreme and rule over the Greater Realms.”

Thea and Lesia fell silent as James’ words left no room for retortion.

James stated, "Any deity with consciousness cannot achieve perfection, completely free of mistakes. Even I can't be perfect. Once they make a mistake, it'll become a nightmare for the Greater Realms and the living beings.

'Therefore, I don't want to have rigid rules. Instead, everyone will be judged by their actions. Their actions will determine their fates.

"Each being follows its own path! Paths diverge but need not conflict. Nobody has to impose rules upon others, nor forcefully restrict them."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 6900-James explained, "What they will have to overcome isn't the tribulation we impose onto them, but the accumulation of their karma. They are in control over their fate."

Lesia was unable to stay put inside James' spatial storage. She swiftly emerged and stood with her hands behind her hand, her face full of sentiment.

"Don't speak of fate while walking a cultivation path, nor should you take shortcuts.

"Success and failure, sorrow and joy, withering and flourishing, all are destined by cause and effect.

"The cultivation path itself is not inherently pure. Why fear the temptations of desires and emotions?"

"Embrace goodness, reject evil thoughts and actions. Never forget your original intention down your long journey."

As Lesia intoned these words, Thea, positioned beside James, suddenly had a vague "Path" manifest above her head.

Thea tightly shut her eyes and slowly assumed a cross-legged posture in the void. A veil of purple-red light enveloped her body. Gradually, the pervading malevolent energy ebbed away and was replaced with tranquility and serenity.

The living beings in the Tai Chi World, including in the Foladtt Land, Great Historical Land, and Tirta Exotic Space, mirrored her actions. They sat cross legged and concentrated. Similarly, the word "path" materialized above their heads and absorbed their evil thoughts.

James took a deep breath after witnessing the fantastic scene. He never had anticipated that the words he had just uttered would evolve into a sermon resonating among all living beings in the Greater Realms, inciting them to embark on an immediate journey of enlightenment.

Lesia reminded, 'They will need a new space, Master.'

James lifted his hand and summoned forth the Wohrdaemon Tower. It instantaneously expanded within the void, emanating a radiant array of colors.

Following this, he raised both hands, channeling Wuia Power into the tower.

The Wuia Power sculpted worlds within the tower according to James' Zen.

Then, the powers that had entered the tower separated into Marcias and Historial Power.

The next moment, the Greater Realms' enlightened living beings transformed into light beams and entered the Wohrdaemon Tower.

James finally realized the prophecy-Above the Genesis Power is where you find the Marciais Combat Form.

Lesia smiled at the spectral and said, "At last, the Marciais and Historial Power have a world of their own. Henceforth, Genesis Power belongs to the Tai Chi World. Within the Wohrdaemon Tower, there will be the stronger Historial and Marciais Power.

James remained silent. His focus was channeled energy into activating the Wohrdaemon Tower with his Innate Energy, guiding the power to the center.

Then, he took out the towers that controlled the Great Historial Land and Forladtt Land. Then, he activated Emperor Yarden's golden body and placed it atop the Wohrdaemon Tower's top.

The Tai Chi World, the Wohrdaemon Tower, the Forladtt Land, and the Great Historial Land formed a tiered hierarchy of lower, middle, and upper levels.

Lesia's expression transformed into astonishment as she beheld this scene.

James said calmly, "You're only partially correct. Although the Historial and Marciais Power indeed surpass Genesis Power, the Wohrdaemon Tower, Forladtt Land, and Great Historial Land belong to the Tai Chi World. They'd serve as passages for living beings to ascend higher in their cultivation paths.

Lesia widened her eyes and asked, 'Then what will the cultivation rank be like?'
