

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7261 - 7270

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7261-James was certain Yehria had other intentions. Unfortunately, he could not eliminate her yet because his wife had yet to merge with her other half.

At that moment, the Eclipse Pearl in James' hand erupted with dazzling light once more, thrashing about violently.

Seeing this, Yehria hurriedly interjected, "Yang represents the Heavens, Yin represents the Earth. Using Virtuous Aura can only temporarily suppress the Eclipse Pearl. To control it, you will need someone with an Ultimate Yin body type to swallow it and cultivate it with you through..." Her words trailed off as James gave her a hostile look.

The other women blushed and lowered their heads.

"Swallow it." James handed the Eclipse Pearl to Light Thea.

Light Thea asked confusedly, "Me?" James asked irritatedly, "You're my wife's other half. Would you rather I give it to someone else with ulterior motives?" Light Thea cast a glance at the embarrassed Yehria, then quickly swallowed the Eclipse Pearl.

Suddenly, a brilliant light erupted from her body. She ascended into the sky, her screams echoing throughout the area. Her arms and legs flailed as a potent force permeated the vicinity.

Soon enough, the violent force reached James and the others. Besides James, everyone else tried to evade. However, despite their efforts, they were still injured.

Seeing them struggling, James summoned Virtuous Aura to protect Yukha, Marci, and Xabat.

Yehria cautiously maneuvered behind James after narrowly dodging several attacks.

James pulled her out abruptly and said, "Go and practice with my wife." Startled, Yehria grumbled, "She can't control the Eclipse Pearl right now. Are you trying to send me to my death?" James squinted and asked, "Didn't you also treat my wife like this when you ruled the realms below the Thirty-Third Heaven?"

Yehria trembled at his words, realizing James sought revenge. Though he could not trigger the Taichi Tribulation and could not kill her, he wanted to humiliate and torture her to pay for her past deeds. As she witnessed the intense light and turbid air clash in the void, fear gripped.

In a moment of desperation, she grabbed James' arm and pleaded, "Please, James. I'll do whatever you want. Don't." However, James gave her a cold glance and pushed her.

Yehria screamed in horror as she was engulfed by the swirling force.

Light Thea charged toward the turbid force like an apex predator.

Soon, miserable wails resounded throughout the area.

James, however, stood calmly with his hands behind his back, completely unfazed by the sight.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7262-After a tense moment, Yukha and Xabat cautiously approached James, uncertain of how to broach the topic.

James suddenly asked, "You've gained insight, haven't you?" Yukha and Xabat exchanged glances and both knelt simultaneously.

James said emotionally, "The Daeclon Mahayana we once aspired to achieve seems so insignificant now. The arrogant Tai Chi of the Haleth Realm that was once revered by many isn't that invincible either." With that said, James turned around, reached out to help the two women to their feet, and then shifted his gaze to Marci.

Facing her, he hesitated between calling her Marci or Quincy. Perhaps Quincy was merely Marci's Soremsia that had descended to the Greater Realms.

Suddenly, Marci declared, "I don't want to! I admit defeat and surrender the position of the Supreme Path. I will not stand in your way. Please, I can't endure such humiliation." Her words were followed by uncontrollable sobbing as she collapsed into the void, appearing utterly pitiful.

James, Yukha, and Xabat were startled by her unexpected behavior.

At that moment, from the turbid air in the void, a tragic scream echoed. Yehria was expelled from the tumultuous winds and crashed into James.

Reacting swiftly, James caught Yehria. With a grimace, he examined her bloodied, disfigured state.

Witnessing Yehria's condition, it was clear how much Light Thea's power had surged after ingesting the Eclipse Pearl.

"You're a lunatic, James! You're insane..." Yehria cursed, then collapsed with a thud. The next moment, she transformed into a colorful koi that emitted a radiant glow.

Everyone was in disbelief at the sight.

The once mighty acquired Tai Chi, who had ruled the realms below the Thirty Third

Heaven, had been reduced to this pitiful state.

“Actions come with consequences,” James remarked calmly, then teleported Yehria away.

Now that Yehria had been subdued, whether or not they triggered the Tai Chi Tribulation would not be important.

James raised his head and looked at the blinding light radiating from the turbid force in the void worriedly.

After consuming the Eclipse Pearly Light Thea’s strength had increased by leaps and bounds. Even without the Three Treasures, her strength rivaled her other half.

At that moment, a pressing issue remained. James pondered, ‘Should Thea merge her two halves? Would she still be the same person?’ Fusing the wcrio Demon-Slayer Sword had given James a lesson.

The Waitara Path excelled in calculations and had laid out many plans He even thought of o embedding his soul within the Wuia Demon-Slayer Sword.

James was worried there would be an unexpected turn of events if the two halves of Thea were to merge. Moreover, the person responsible for splitting her in the first place was Xanthakos’ Soremsia, Franpiscus.

As the thought crossed his mind, he wondered what kind of clues about the Waitara Path he could obtain from his wife.

“Will we stay here forever, Master?” Yukha suddenly interrupted his thoughts.

James snapped back to reality and replied, “Of course not. We must intercept Xanthakos.” Upon hearing this, Yukha, Xabat, and Marci were all taken aback.

At that moment, a figure emerged from the turbid air mass in the void and landed gracefully before James.

Now vastly empowered, Light Thea’s complexion glowed with radiance, her beauty and aura surpassing those of the other women present.

Light Thea murmured apologetically, “I...I think I might have hit someone just now.” James said smilingly, “You did, and exacted revenge.” Light Thea was visibly taken aback by his words.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7263-Xabat, who was standing aside, chipped in, “You turned Yehria back into a fish.” Light Thea stuttered, “I...” Before she could finish speaking, James reached out and grasped the void.

Instantly, the Delmuna's void cracked open, and a vast surge of Virtuous Aura burst forth, creating a large opening that led into another space.

The women present were stunned by this sight.

Light Thea exclaimed excitedly, "That's Tohmuna! We finally found it!" She turned to James with anticipation and said eagerly, "There's a Mystic Pearl in Tohmuna. Once obtained, we'll have complete control over the Gate of Mystery. Escaping this place would be effortless."

Yukha and Xabat could not help but show joy on their faces upon hearing this news. However, Marci did not dare to express her emotions.

Meanwhile, James maintained his calm demeanor.

Finding the Tohmuna was significant, but relatively speaking, capturing Delmuna was the more crucial step. Now that they had control over Delmuna, seizing the Tohmuna would not be difficult.

His primary concern was gaining a clear understanding of the outside world—specifically, how far Xanthakos had progressed in his plan.

Without the information, rushing to capture the Gate of Mystery might only serve to alert Xanthakos. With his cunning mind and resourcefulness, it would only put themselves in danger.

Noticing James' solemn expression, Light Thea asked, "What's troubling you?" Yukha and Xabat also turned their attention to him.

James took a deep breath and said, "My other half has nearly completed all his tasks in the Forty-Ninth Heaven. Now we need to figure out Xanthakos' progress in seizing the Wuia Palace and intercept him before he acquires the Path Designation Bead." The women immediately exchanged glances.

Light Thea quickly interjected, "I now control Delmuna. Escaping through the Gate of Mystery should be feasible. How about I go..." "There's no need to rush." James waved his hand and dismissed the idea. Then, he asked, "Is there a Way- to open pathway between the Gate of Mystery, the Gate of Virtue, and the Gate of Anonymous without alerting Xanthakos?"

"In doing so, I can meet with my other half and we can gather a sizable group of powerhouses." Yukha frowned and asked, "Are you worried that your main self of Path won't be able to stop Xanthakos?" James turned around, put his hands behind his back, and said, "That's only one consideration. Xanthakos is taking a huge risk this time, just as we are. The difference is he has an escape plan if he fails. We, on the other hand, will meet our doom."

“With our lives at stake, I must proceed with caution.” Yukha immediately turned to Light Thea. “Now that you’ve absorbed the Eclipse Pearl, can you exert complete control over Delmuna?” Light Thea slowly raised her hand, and a vast turbid energy filled the entire Delmuna, causing a door to open in all directions, emitting a dazzling light.

Yukha suddenly exclaimed, “I have an idea, Master!” James’s eyes lit up. “Do elaborate.” Light Thea and Xabat also looked expectantly at Yukha, while Marci, who had been trembling in fear, also perked up.

Yukha took a deep breath before speaking decisively, “You open the Gate of virtue here, and your othep half can open the Gate of Anonymous outside.

There shouldn’t be an issue connecting the two gates, especially since you’re in control “Your other half can use the Gate of Anonymous to enter the Gate of Virtue, then from there, he can use the Gate of Virtue to come to US. Wouldn’t that achieve your goal?” James’s face brightened as he understood the plan.

Light Thea shook her head cautiously, “We shouldn’t be so reckless. If we really want to give it a go, I should test it and try to reach your other half.” Marci interjected, “I agree. However, she shouldn’t go alone. She has to leave and investigate Xanthakos’ intentions. You should leave it to US.” The suggestion startled everyone present.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7264-Light Thea looked at James and asked, “What do you think?” Everyone looked at James with expectant eyes.

James understood they were eager to leave. Having achieved the Daeclon Mahayana, their long-held dream, they wanted to venture out and test out their strength. At the same time, he also knew they might have other motives.

Seeing their looks of anticipation, James asked smilingly, “Do you all want to go?” Yukha, Xabat, and Marci nodded simultaneously, whereas Light Thea seemed a bit hesitant.

James ordered solemnly, Tm worried about Thea leaving the Gate of Mystery.

Marci and Xabat shall test it out for US.”

Yukha exclaimed, “Master...” “Obey the order,” James cut her off, his tone leaving no room for argument.

Yukha sighed, her beautiful face showing resignation.

After that, James turned to Light Thea and gave her instructions.

“Remember, Xanthakos is no ordinary person. If you are discovered or exposed, return to the Delmuna immediately.” Light Thea looked at James with a meaningful glance and said, "Yukha is trustworthy, but Xabat, and Marci..." James interrupted and said smilingly, "If they want to, we should give them a chance. Focus on your task, and don't worry." Light Thea said nothing more. She transformed into a beam of light along with Yukha and left Delmuna.

James glanced at Xabat and Marci, raised his hand, and opened the Gate of Virtue. The sacred, dazzling light swallowed Xabat and Marci in an instant.

The next moment, Marci and Xabat entered an unfamiliar world.

Majestic mountains and rivers painted a stunning landscape, under a bright and boundless sky. A abundant Virtuous Aura permeated the air, intoxicating enough to affect deities. However, Marci and Xabat were indifferent to the scenery. They quickly moved through the Virtuous Aura, eagerly searching for an exit.

As they grew tense and vigilant, two dazzling gates opened before them, releasing an infinite and vast Anonymous Gas.

Marci exclaimed, "It's the Gate of Anonymous! It really does connect to the Gate of Anonymous." She transformed into a beam of light and entered the Gate of Anonymous at the fastest speed. At the same time Xabat, after a moment of caution, followed after her. After passing through the gate, the two found themselves faced with yet another strange environment. They paused, surprised and wary, hovering in the void.

Xabat briefly scanned the surroundings and asked, "Where's James?" Marci shook her head, scanning the surroundings.

Xabat said thoughtfully, "This should be the Gate of Anonymous. The Anonymous Gas here is so potent. It has to be one of James' gates." Marci still didn't speak but sat down cross-legged on the ground, slowly closing her beautiful eyes.

Xabat looked at her in surprise and asked, "What are you doing? We're here to find a way to..." Before she could finish, Waltraud Power gathered in the void and a man that looked exactly like James but with red hair appeared in sight.

Seeing him Xabat exclaimed, "We found him! Since we can pass through the Gate of Virtue to arrive in the Gate of Anonymous, then James' two halves can meet."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7265-In contrast to Xabat's excitement, this red-haired James was indifferent, and his handsome face was filled with malevolent intent.

Realizing that things were strange, Xabat took a few steps back nervously and asked, "Who are you?" The red-haired James laughed, "You really don't recognize me?" Xabat raised her head and asked, "Are...are you not James?" "James? He sure does have a great charm and influence throughout the Greater Realms. He has quite a lot of relationships, doesn't he?" "It's a pity you're not the Chosen One. otherwise, I would have considered sparing you.” As soon as these words came out, Xabat immediately summoned a light shield around her.

“Who are you? This is James’ Gate of Anonymous. You can’t just...” Before she could finish speaking, the red-haired James reached out and grabbed the void, instantly shattering the light shield.

Xabat quickly transformed into a light beam and fled from the spot.

After failing to capture her, the red-haired James laughed, “Haha! You have some skills. Unfortunately, you’re still an ant in my eyes. I’ll devour you later.” After speaking, he looked at Marci, who was sitting cross-legged in the void.

“She’s indeed one of the Chosen Ones. Though it’s a girl, I can make do with her body.” “Do you think everything will be fine after imprisoning me and forcing Goyo to flee? I’m afraid you can’t even fathom how many gifts I’ve left for you.” After speaking, he transformed into Waltraud Power and engulfed Marci, who was sitting in the void.

Moments later an eerie laughter resounded, the Gate of Anonymous’s space trembled and shook rabidly. Everything around it began to shift and change positions, with time and space intertwining, and the vast Anonymous Gas flying wildly. The Waltraud Power that swallowed up Marci also gradually spread and expanded, as if to completely seize the entire Gate of Anonymous.

After a long time, just before the Waltraud Power was about to completely occupy the entire Gate of Anonymous, a horrifying scream erupted, “Argh! No, who are you?!!

You’re not one of the Chosen Ones!”

“Release me! How dare you perform such blasphemy! You deserve to die!” Amidst the waves of terrifying roars, a dazzling light suddenly burst out from the Waltraud Power that permeated the entire Gate of Anonymous.

This light expanded rapidly until it turned into a purple-gold phantom, forming a sharp contrast with the Waltraud Power around it.

“You weren’t wrong! I am one of the Chosen Ones, but not the one you hoped for!” The red-haired James emerged from the Waltraud Power and clashed with the phantom.

Boom!

With a loud bang, the two figures collided and separated immediately.

At this moment, in the Gate of Anonymous, the aura of Waltraud Power and the purple-gold aura were stuck in a stalemate.

“J... James? How is this possible? I clearly sensed it was the other Chosen One!

How is this possible?” “Oh, you’re trying to find her?” James smiled, then waved his hand to summon a projection.

Within the projection, Marci could be seen moving around in a different space, frantically searching for something.

The red-haired James roared, “How did you find out so fast? What gave it away?”

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7266-James seemed calm and composed, chuckling at the sight.

“Waitara Path’s soul spirit, let’s watch a good show first to see whether the Alcide being, the Chosen One, whom you have appointed, is so loyal to you.” Waitara Path’s soul spirit suddenly widened his eyes and saw that in the huge projection, Marci suddenly stopped moving and looked forward in a vigilant posture.

Then, another James appeared in the picture, identical to Waitara Path’s soul spirit.

Seeing this, Waitara Path’s soul spirit suddenly became anxious. He asked, “How? How do you have two bodies? That’s impossible.” “But you’ve witnessed it with your own two eyes,” James shrugged and said,

“Now, be quiet. You’re an audience, so pay close attention.” The Waitara Path’s soul spirit was rendered speechless.

Within the projection, Marci took a few steps back and adopted a defensive posture when faced with the red-haired James, who had rushed toward her.

“How dare you not kneel before me, Chosen One.” Marci asked in surprise, “You’re...you’re not James?” The red-haired James slowly raised his hand, and Waltraud Power slowly engulfed her.

Marci showed a look of joy and shock. “Are you the Waitara Path’s soul spirit?” “Yes, I merely borrowed James’ appearance. You should recognize me, right?” Marci gasped and said, “I received a mysterious telepathy saying that you were trapped within the Gate of Anonymous and needed me to save you. Could it be...” The red-haired James nodded and said, “Yes. I sent it to you.” Marci’s beautiful eyes widened in , shock. “ So it was true. The Waitara Path’s Soremsia can really be reincarnated. That means the Leere Tribulation is also real.”

The red-haired James asked, “What’s your opinion?” Marci was stunned at first, then immediately knelt in the air and bowed to the red haired James “ It’s an honor to serve you. I will do anything for you even put my life on the line The nervous Waitara Path’s soul spirit laughed upon seeing the turn of events.

“Is this what you want me to see, James? The Chosen Ones that I’ve chosen are much more loyal and reliable than you.

“Even after you impersonate me and my Waltraud Power to test her, the results will always be the same...huh...” Before he finished speaking Marci who had been kneeling devoutly suddenly showed a strange smile. Then, she quickly shot out millions of colorful lights at a terrifying speed, surrounding the red-haired James. The next moment, Marci’s triumphant smile resounded from the projection.

It’s the Waitara Path’s soul spirit! Legend has it that whoever devours his soul spirit will acquire half of his strength! I didn’t expect it to be real!

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7267-As Waitara Path’s soul spirit looked at the millions of colorful lights in the projection and listened to Marci’s wild laughter, his smug demeanor quickly vanished. His cheeks twitched in embarrassment, which soon turned into rage.

“Traitors, rebels, all of you!” he roared, smashing the huge projection created by James with his fist, causing the entire Gate of Anonymous to tremble.

In contrast to Waitara Path’s soul spirit’s anger, James shrugged innocently and said, “This is unbearable to watch. Marci didn’t even hesitate. She deserves to be punished.”

The Waitara Path’s soul spirit growled, “Don’t gloat, James! If it were you, they would do the same to you.”

Just as he finished speaking, a Sword Light pierced through his body and landed beside James, transforming into a beautiful woman.

The Waitara Path’s soul spirit looked at his pierced body and then at the woman in disbelief. “You...”

James patted the woman’s head and said, “Let me introduce her. This used to be one of Yehria’s disciples, Xabat Dacosta.”

The Waitara Path’s soul spirit looked at Xabat with anger. “You’re a disciple of Yehria...”

Xabat replied arrogantly, “That’s in the past. I now serve under the Mortal Emperor.”

“You...” The Waitara Path’s soul spirit was at a loss for words.

James asked smilingly, “You must be thinking Xabat and I planned this and sabotaged the Chosen One, right? Sorry to disappoint you, but that’s not what happened.”

The Waitara Path’s soul spirit’s lips twitched. “Is she really that loyal to you?”

James shook his head and answered, "It's more like we're like-minded friends who will die for each other. We don't have a hierarchy, just a pure connection."

Xabat added proudly, "That's right. We're faithful friends to each other. Alcide beings must know nothing about friendship."

Waitara Path's soul spirit trembled and suddenly spat out a mouthful of blood.

James said calmly, "You created the Haleth Realm, and deserve to be worshiped. However, because of your tight control over everything, you gradually lost respect."

The Waitara Path's soul spirit wiped the blood from his mouth and asked angrily, "Are you doing this to humiliate me again?"

James shrugged and answered, "You think too highly of yourself. We're just here to explore, humiliate you a little bit, and catch some traitors."

"If I can't even identify foes, how can I rectify the Haleth Realm? I'm about to fight your ambitious subordinate. If I don't deal with the problems around me, how can I focus on the decisive battle?"

A light door suddenly opened next to him, and then another James walked through and tossed a bloody body to the Waitara Path's soul spirit's feet.

Then, the two James merged into one.

Waitara Path's soul spirit watched in disbelief. "You..."

James said smilingly, "I brought the Chosen One that you were looking for."

She's right here, so go ahead and merge with her body. Then, we'll have a battle. I want to see how formidable half of the Waitara Path's strength is."

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7268-The Waitara Path's soul spirit did not expect James to act so brazenly. It was an arrogant and bold challenge to the authority of the Waitara Path, believing that his two halves combined could challenge half of Waitara Path's strength.

The Waitara Path's soul spirit raised his head, eyes bloodshot. "Aren't you being too arrogant, James?"

James responded coldly, "Are you being a coward? I gave you a chance, but you proved useless."

Infuriated, Waitara Path's soul spirit grabbed the bloody body at his feet." Fine, if you're so confident, let's also make some agreements."

James stared at him, indifferent.

Waitara Path's soul spirit elaborated, "First, I need time to merge. You can't attack me right away."

James' handsome face showed disdain.

The Waitara Path's soul spirit added, "Secondly, for fairness, the battlefield will be at your Gate of Anonymous. If you can withstand one hundred thousand of my attacks, you win."

"Third, if you are defeated within one hundred thousand moves, you can't self-destruct, escape, or refuse to become my slave."

James squinted and asked, "Anything else?"

The Waitara Path's soul spirit laughed, "That's all. Let's have the battle in three entrapochs. You should work to grow stronger within this period to avoid a humiliating loss."

James shrugged at the Waitara Path's soul spirit and asked, "Then what if you lose?"

The Waitara Path's soul spirit answered furiously, "Me, losing? You must be insane."

James demanded, "I only have one request. If I win, I want to enter the Wuia Palace."

The Waitara Path's soul spirit frowned, his expression growing increasingly furious. Even his whole body began to tremble out of anger.

James shook his hand and a soul contract appeared before the Waitara Path's soul spirit.

The Waitara Path's soul spirit roared, "Do you think I'm like Xanthakos?"

James shrugged, looking indifferent to his question.

The Waitara Path's soul spirit hissed, "You've no respect for me! I've never been so humiliated before!"

James interrupted, "Stop spouting nonsense. Are you going to sign it or not?"

The Waitara Path's soul spirit gritted his teeth and signed the contract.

The contract immediately flashed with a bright light, then was consumed by flames.

James was worried the soul contract would not be effective on the Waitara Path's soul spirit. Surprisingly, it worked. The Forty-Nine Daoisms not only applied to divine and mortal beings but even the Waitara Path's soul spirit could be bound by it.

James pointed at the Waitara Path's soul spirit and said, "I'll come looking for you in three entrapochs."

After speaking, James and Xabat left the Gate of Anonymous. The next moment, they reappeared in the Goyoan Temple's ruins and immediately saw several divine beings cultivating within the formation he had set up.

Xabat gasped and covered her mouth in surprise. She quickly inquired, "Are they all emperors?" James, hands behind his back, nodded with a smile.

Xabat then asked, "Why are you so confident you can defeat the Waitara Path?"

James replied, "To be precise, it'll only be half of his strength. I must take this risk and survive it no matter what."

Xabat took a deep breath. Her status and cultivation were too low to grasp the thoughts of a transcendent entity like James. But she felt fortunate that passing this test would earn James' trust, making her future cultivation journey easier.

Suddenly, James instructed, "Could you help me get Taichu to see me, Xabat?"

'Taichu? Did he just say Taichu?' Xabat turned to James in complete disbelief.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7269-James took out a soul sigil, placed it in Xabat's hand, and said, "Look for the most beautiful woman in a white robe. Take the sigil and go."

Xabat was dumbfounded but obeyed James without hesitation.

Taichu was one of the Five Primal Evolutions. Hence, Xabat felt unqualified to even speak to her and was puzzled why James would send her.

Approaching the formation forged by Anonymous Gas, Xabat took a deep breath and knelt slowly before Taichu. Then, she greeted politely, "I'm Xabat. It's a great honor to be in your presence, Your Holiness. The Mortal Emperor sent me to get you."

Taichu, who was deeply focused on cultivation, slowly opened her eyes. With a gentle expression, she remarked, "A Xyloria Spirit Body. That's very rare."

Xabat respectfully presented the soul sigil given by James.

"Let me see your face."

Nervously, Xabat raised her head.

Taichu examined her intently, seemingly trying to see through her. After a while, she asked, "Is your original form a Scarlet Fox?"

Xabat nodded nervously.

Taichu immediately understood James' intentions. She waved her hand and guided Xabat into the formation. Then, she stood up and instructed, "Stay here to cultivate. Do not leave without permission."

Before Xabat could respond, Taichu snatched the soul sigil from her hand.

Then, enveloping Xabat in a black-and-white light, Taichu created a large black and-white gas ball above her head.

After completing the series of actions, Taichu vanished from sight.

Xabat sat down on Taichu's futon, completely overwhelmed by the potent Anonymous Gas around her. She was from the lower realms and was at a loss amidst the profound formation.

Seeing two Path Emperors, Emperor Yevgen, and the Divine Marius, made her feel out of place. She could sense that these powerhouses were so much stronger than her.

Cosimeon suddenly remarked, smiling, "You're very lucky!"

Yiulia agreed, "Yes, indeed! You're to be given a soul sigil to be recommended as a direct disciple of Taichu." Xabat's eyes widened in shock as she exclaimed, "A direct disciple of Taichu?"

"I...I have no idea what's happening."

Hankin twirled his beard and said, "You should be grateful. Your current status is on par with Path Emperors like US."

"Path Emperors?" Xabat gasped, quickly rising to her feet.

Cosimeon smiled gently and said, "I'm Emperor Cosimeon." "Emperor Zdravko," Yiulia introduced and nodded in acknowledgment of Xabat.

Hankin smiled and said, "I'm Hankin! I used to watch over our realm's virtue!

Now I serve the Mortal Emperor!"

Xabat hurriedly bowed to each of them in turn.

Seeing her actions, they chuckled softly.

Harper suddenly interjected sternly, "You should be bowing to US, not them. If we hadn't spared your life, you wouldn't be here right now."

Xabat exclaimed, "Ms. Harper, Mr. Yianni, Mr. Morgott, you're all here!"

The powerful figures exchanged glances and smiled in unison.

Xabat promptly bowed respectfully to each of them. Unknowingly, she had become the most junior and lowest-ranked in this assembly, compelled to bow and show reverence.

Yet, Xabat had little inkling that the opportunity James had granted her was so great that cultivating for a million entrapochs still could not compare to what she would gain in such a short time.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7270-In the rough terrain beyond the Goyoan Temple's ruins, James stood at the cliff on a towering mountain summit. He quietly surveyed the vast expanse of the Goyo Daonus Realm World, resembling a solitary wolf lost in thought.

Suddenly, a flicker of black and white light behind him signaled the arrival of Taichu. She stood gracefully and waited for him to speak.

Without turning, James said, "I owe you one." Taichu replied calmly, "No, I'm indebted to you. A Xyloria Spirit Body is really rare. We're fortunate to have such an impressive successor." James joked, "Well, I guess you should be thankful to me."

Taichu stared at James and said, "I assume there is something you seek from me in exchange. Let's not beat around the bush. What is it you want?"

James turned around, locked eyes with her, and said firmly, "I want to integrate the Three Spirits. I hope you can aid me in the endeavor."

Taichu was taken aback by James' request, fully understanding the meaning behind it.

Seeing her silence, James sighed and said, "I understand my request may be audacious, but time is of the essence."

Taichu asked, "What about Taiyi?"

James stretched out his hand and revealed the Taiyi Pearl. Then, he waved his hand and another three pearls materialized in the order of the smallest to biggest, first was the Xyloria Tai Chi Pearl, the Xyloria Tirta Pearl, and lastly, the Xyloria Taihshi Pearl.

Taichu drew a deep breath after seeing the four pearls orbiting around James. I lack the generosity of Taiyi or the carefreeness of Taishi. Compared to Taisu and Taichi, I am not even worth a mention.

“I was but a mass of energy that took on human form, then later developed emotions. If you wish to acquire my greatest treasure, you must offer an equally fitting exchange.”

James bowed and said respectfully, “Please tell me what I must do.” Taichu placed her hands behind her back and paced slowly in front of James.

“First, I need you to answer a few questions.”

James straightened up, preparing himself for her inquiries.

“Is it still necessary for the Yin governor’s two halves to merge?”

James replied honestly, “I’m not sure yet.”

Taichu stared at James and said, “Without the Yin governor, the Waitara Path’s Soremsia will not appear. In the future, if you had to choose between the Yin governor and your friends, whom would you choose?”

James’ expression changed drastically. He asked tentatively, “Does that mean my wife, the Yin governor...”

Taichu cut him off and said firmly, “Your wife is the Dark Heavenly Path, not the Yin governor.”

James gasped, Taichu’s words striking him like a bolt of lightning. It was a thought he refused to think about.

Taichu said calmly, “You’re not yet prepared to answer. But your hesitation proves that you will stand by Thea’s side even if her existence could affect the bigger picture.”

After a prolonged silence, James said softly, “I do not believe my wife is the Waitara Path’s Soremsia. It can’t be.” Taichu reassured him, “Nobody claimed that she is the Waitara Path’s Soremsia. However, she is capable of influencing his Soremsia. Although she is the last Alcide being that was created, she is not bound by the Haleth Realm.

Do you understand?”

James frowned at her words. Lesia had informed him that the Yin governor was ordered by the Nothingness God’s head, Frona, to descend to the Haleth Realm. After being killed and reincarnated 81 times, her resolve remained unshaken. Her mission had always been to locate the Waitara Path’s Soremsia.

Taichu approached and stated, 'Though you're exceptionally powerful, you're still uncertain of what you want. Do you want to embrace corruption, or stay firm on the path of righteous Daoism?'

James countered, "Who is to decide what is right and wrong?"

Taichu said solemnly, 'The Waitara Path is the Haleth Realm's ruler. Going against him is evil, and aligning with him is upholding Daoism.'

James scoffed, "In that case, perhaps I should embrace corruption and oppose his Daoism."

"You're free to do so," Taichu nodded and asked, "But what about your friends?"

James was at a loss for words.

Taichu lectured, "Alone, you may opt to go astray for strength. But what about those who follow you? Do they share your inclination? Do they even have a choice? Your indecisiveness is why they are so lost.

"You can push Xabat to me, but what will you do for the others following your lead?"

Faced with Taichu's probing questions, James clenched his fists, closed his eyes, and fell into thought.

Taichu possessed an unparalleled ability to discern the depths of one's heart.

The emergence of Waitara Path's soul spirit had left James unsettled, his thoughts in disarray.

He questioned the trustworthiness of his companions, the loyalty of his friends, and even Lesia, his steadfast ally who accompanied him through countless trials.

Days shrouded in anxiety and apprehension were far from his desires.

Even if he succeeded in integrating the Five Treasures, seized control of the Wuia Palace, and obtained the Path Designation Bead, what then?

Ultimately, he would still have to face the Leere Tribulation and the return of the Waitara Path's Soremsia.

Nevertheless, fear was not in his nature. He had made meticulous preparations for such an eventuality. But could he truly face former comrades in arms, perhaps even engage them in combat? Could he alone contend against the multitudes of divine beings and creatures?

