

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7337

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7337-Inside the mysterious cave, Dillon appeared in a flash of blue light.

He was holding Yukha.

Spitting out a mouthful of blood, Dillon let go of Yukha.

He clutched his chest and slid down the stone wall.

“The Caeloros Gods of Nothingness are really powerful.

It seems that the peaceful days are coming to an end.” “It is you!” At this moment, Yukha exclaimed and rushed toward James.

Upon seeing that, Dillon shouted, “Don’t go there! The pestle will kill you.

I don’t like burnt meat.” It was a pity that he was too late.

When Yukha rushed over with excitement, she was knocked out by James’ Historical Pestle that was spinning.

Yukha hit the thick stone wall and fell to the ground.

She spat out a mouthful of blood.

Dillon, who was sitting to the side, immediately said with sympathy, “It hurts, doesn’t it?” Yukha endured the pain from her injuries and got up.

“Master...” “Don’t go there.” Dillon grabbed Yukha.

“You’re too weak.

You can’t get close to him.” “What happened to him?” Yukha asked anxiously.

“Why is he trapped by a pestle?” Then, she glared at Dillon.

“Is it because of you...” With a loud sound, Dillon caught Yukha’s hand.

Then, he glared at her.

“you’re only a pet.

Why are you so loyal to him?” “If your master dies, you will be free.” “Nonsense.” Yukha tried to break free as she yelled, “My master is the best in the entire Haleth Realm.

Unless he terminates the agreement and doesn't want me, I won't leave his side until I die." "Alright then.

I'll kill you and roast you.

Then, you'll become my meal." Dillon reached out to grab Yukha and strangled her.

Yukha couldn't breathe.

She seemed to have accepted death.

"PH give you another chance." Dillon glared at Yukha.

"Abandon your master and follow me from now on.

I'll ensure that within a few entrapochs, you will dominate all worlds.

You will be stronger than your master." Without hesitation, Yukha roared, "Dream on.

Kill me if you dare!" "Hey, you have quite the temper." Dillon grabbed Yukha's throat and pushed her to the ground.

"Alright.

I'll take a step back and curse your master.

He's a coward, trash, and bastard.

He's trapped by a pestle.

He's the most useless living being in the Haleth Realm." As Yukha Was suppressed and her cheeks 'Were deformed due to the pressure on the ground, she breathed heavily and said, "My master is a hero. I He's the strongest powerhouse.

He's Emperor Caden, who's respected by all living beings.

He's the only Chosen One among all living beings.

He's noble and righteous..." Yukha described James as much possible in one breath making dillon frown Then, Dillon interrupted, "Alright, stop talking.

You're praising your master as if he's me." After that, he let go of Yukha.

The latter ran toward James again.

"Master, I'm here.

We'll die and live together!" Upon hearing that, Dillon closed his eyes.

"I never expected that such a hypocrite would have such a loyal and persevering servant. Then, he spat out a blue light that engulfed Yukha as she headed toward James.

Immediately, the Historical Pestle surrounding James erupted with terrifying light again. This time, it didn't blow Yukha away. Instead, it allowed her to enter the formation and appear before James with the protection of the blue light.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7338-Master, I've finally met you." Yukha hugged James, tears of joy streaming down her face.

Though James remained silent, Yukha continued to pour out her heart and recount what had happened.

Dillon listened attentively, nodding in understanding.

"So, his name is James.

He values relationships and justice highly.

He's a righteous man.

No wonder we connected so well when we first met." At that moment, a faint amethyst-gold light emanated from James' body.

It intertwined with a bit of blue light from Yukha's body and quickly escaped the formation created by the Historical Pestle, appearing next to Dillon.

In a flash, a beautiful figure materialized—Lesia.

Dillon was taken aback, staring at Lesia in surprise.

"What are you?" "How dare you," Lesia said sternly.

"Don't you recognize the Lord of Daoism?" Dillon frowned.

"You?" Lesia turned to face him.

"Have you become an idiot after being beaten by Waitara?" Dillon's face twitched.

"Watch your words.

I have a bad temper.

Even if you're beautiful, I'll grill you and eat you." Lesia clicked her tongue, feeling helpless.

Now, without Frona and no longer possessing the aura of Caeloros Supreme, she was no longer the Soremsia of Caeloros Supreme.

She had her own independent Soremsia.

Thus, it was challenging for Dillon, who was on the same level as Waitara, to recognize her as his master.

After contemplating this, Lesia asked, "Do you want a drink?" Dillon was momentarily stunned, his eyes lighting up immediately.

"For each jar, you'll answer one question." Lesia waved her hand, and dozens of jars of Chaos Absinthe appeared.

Excitedly, Dillon reached out to grab a jar, but a strange Nothingness Aura stopped him.

"Huh?" Dillon frowned.

"How can the wine have a Nothingness Aura? Am I hallucinating?" "Answer my question first," Lesia instructed.

"How did you rescue Yukha? Where's the other woman?" Dillon frowned.

"You asked two questions." Lesia rolled her eyes.

"Fine.

Two questions." Clearing his throat, Dillon recounted everything that happened during his fight with Xanthakos.

Lesia frowned upon hearing his story.

"Xanthakos is quick.

He's already here." "My wine," Dillon reminded urgently.

Irritated, Lesia waved her hand, and two jars of Chaos Absinthe appeared in Dillon's hands.

"The second question," Lesia continued.

“Was there only one opponent or more?” “One.” Dillon impatiently opened a jar of chaos Absinthe and began drinking.

Lesia fell into deep thought.

Logically, Xanthakos should have had Quintus and Quentyn with him.

Dillon should have faced three opponents.

Why was there only one? Could it be that Quintus and Quentyn were exposed and killed by Xanthakos?

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7339-“Where’s my wine?” Dillon yelled.

“Didn’t we agree that if I answered one question, I’d get a jar of wine?” Lesia snapped back to her senses.

She waved her hand, causing all the jars of Chaos Absinthe to fly toward Dillon, burying him under them.

“I’ll give it all to you.

Now, you must answer all my questions!” Trapped among the jars, Dillon revealed a pair of dark eyes.

“With your strength, it shouldn’t be a problem to catch Xanthakos,” Lesia said.

“Why did you leave him and run away with Yukha?” “Why do you think I didn’t want to eat him?” Dillon retorted, as he made the jars disappear.

“When I was about to catch him, I sensed three terrifying auras approaching.

If I didn’t stop, I might’ve lost my life.” “Three terrifying auras?” Lesia frowned.

“You’re equivalent to Waitara.

Could it be that...” “They’re the Caeloros Gods,” Dillon said irritably.

“Even your master can’t handle them, right?” Lesia’s expression changed.

They had arrived earlier than she expected.

This trip to Wuia Palace was going to be a real life-and-death battle.

This war might not only affect the Haleth Realm but also the Xanadu Realm.

At that moment, a rumbling sound came from the direction of James in the void.

Lesia and Dillon looked up.

They saw the Historial Pestle that had enveloped James burst into dazzling light.

Countless violent powers were absorbed by James, causing his hair to spike and his face to distort.

His body began to deform too.

“It’s the Second Limitless Body, the Light Integration!” Lesia exclaimed.

Dillon was dumbfounded.

“Is he going to become another Caeloros God?” Under their gazes, James absorbed the power of the Historial Pestle.

The black-white-amethyst-gold light that initially shone over his body was gradually replaced by balls of black-white- amethyst- gold gas.

Using the light to turn into energy and using the energy to protect himself, James had officially entered the ranks of the Xanadu Divine Beings.

In the next second, as James stretched out his arms, the entire cave was enveloped in black-white-amethyst-gold Vital Energy.

The scene changed rapidly.

The overwhelming blue light, the blazing fire, the ice and snow, and even the amethyst – gold pavilion were replaced by a magnificent palace filled with divine light.

Dillon looked around in shock and disbelief.

“Has he broken through the Thousand Tribulation Prison?” Lesia looked around, elated.

“Master, is this the main dojo of Wuia Palace?” “No, James voice sounded from the distance Lesia and Dillon turned around to see James sitting on a golden bed.

James waved his right hand, and the surroundings began to move and change shape.

Countless rocks, mountains, and rivers that had never been seen before appeared one after another.

“This is the power of the Historial Pestle,” Lesia said.

“Master, you can control the central twenty halls of wuia palace now James slowly got up and raised his right hand.

“Not only that, the Historial Pestle has been integrated into my right hand.

My strength has increased, and I’ve also reached the Second Limitess Body the light intrgration Upon hearing that, Lesia clapped her hands excitedly and ran toward James with joy.

Unexpectedly, an amethyst – gold light flashed across James’ body.

Yukha hugged his arm and would not let go.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7340-“Let go,” Lesia pointed at Yukha viciously.

“Otherwise, I will let Dillon grill you and eat you.” Yukha snorted and hugged James’ arm tighter.

Lesia was furious, but she held back from attacking Yukha because James waved his hand.

Looking at Dillon, who was drinking wine, James suddenly said, “ Sir Dillon, you owe me a favor.” Dillon was taken aback.

Then, he said irritably, “You’re James, and he’s Xanthakos.

You two are mortal enemies.

He even holds your wife captive, half of the Yin governor.

I’ve finished answering!” James was at a loss for words.

Then, Lesia moved to James’ side and whispered a few words.

After that, James raised his head.

“Everything will come eventually.

Perhaps this is what Xanthakos relies on to take risks.” He then narrowed his eyes.

“Yukha chatted with me just now.

Now, I’m only worried about whether the three Caeloros Gods will get there first and take the treasures, including the Path Designation Bead, before running away.” “No!” Lesia said firmly.

“They’re coming for us.

They won’t leave unless they get back the Caeloros Supreme Scepter.” Upon hearing that, James showed a meaningful expression.

He seemed to have guessed Xanthakos’ scheme.

He colluded with the three Caeloros Gods, but each of them had their own motives.

Xanthakos wanted to use the power of the three Caeloros Gods to seize the Wuia Temple and the Path Designation Bead.

In this way, he could control the entire Haleth Realm.

Meanwhile, the three Caeloros Gods were here to find Frona and take the Caeloros Supreme Scepter.

They wanted to replace Frona and control the Path Gate.

Xanthakos didn’t expect his scheme to be disrupted by Quintus, leaving him isolated.

However, when the three Caeloros Gods entered Wuia Temple, they came for James.

They seemed to have understood everything.

In other words, in Wuia Temple, there were three forces.

James and his friends were one force.

The three Caeloros Gods and Quintus were another force.

Lastly, Xanthakos, who had Light Thea, was the third force.

Another mysterious force might be arriving soon.

Once they met, no matter which force it was, they would face a life- and-death battle.

Then, there would be an even bigger battle.

At this time, James knew that strengthening himself was key.

Nevertheless, the strength of his friends needed to be improved as well.

Otherwise, it would be difficult to survive in the battle.

More importantly, there was a divine being in front of him who was on par with him.

He must win him over to strengthen his force's overall strength.

Then, James looked at Dillon.

"Sir Dillon, how's the wine?" "It's great!" Dillon said frankly.

Then, he raised his head.

"James, what do you mean by this?" "I want you to return the favor." James stared at him.

"Now." After a moment of thought Dillon laughed and said I don't want to be your subordinate There are three Caeloros Gods.

Even though I'm powerful, what can I gain from it?" what if you can take revenge James asked with a smile.