

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7402

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7402-Clang! A sudden thud echoed as Morgott rushed forward and landed a heavy punch on James, knocking him into the void. Immediately, he grabbed James by the collar and landed another punch, causing blood to seep from James' mouth as he was pushed away.

“Mr. Morgott, what are you doing?” Quintus suddenly stood up and shouted angrily, “Are you crazy?”

Watching James stagger to his feet from the void, Morgott clenched his fists, eyes blazing with fury. “I may be crazy, but I'm not as foolish as him!”

He pointed angrily at James. “These punches are for Taiyi and Emperor Tapia.

They are for your indecision, your mercy, which almost ruined everything and harmed your friends!”

“What?” Quintus was shocked. “Taiyi and Emperor Tapia have perished?”

Facing Morgott's angry rebuke, James slowly wiped the blood from his mouth and approached him step by step. “Yes, I knew they were no match for Xanthakos. I shouldn't have left them behind.”

“Is that so?” Morgott furiously grabbed James' collar again, his eyes bloodshot as he roared, “If they had fallen in a direct confrontation with Xanthakos, it would have been their supreme honor. Even if we were defeated by Xanthakos, we would be happy with your revenge, without any resentment.”

James frowned upon hearing this. “What do you mean?”

Morgott, enraged and about to punch James again, was interrupted when Quintus hurriedly spoke up. “Your Majesty, the four of us originally trapped Xanthakos together. However, Emperor Zdravko suddenly broke in. She was actually on Xanthakos' side.

“If she hadn't attacked us, Xanthakos wouldn't have escaped our confinement so quickly, if at all!”

Hearing this, James was struck as if by lightning, extreme shock showing on his handsome face. He had thought Emperor Zdravko, who was also Lyla, would make the most rational choice after being exposed, but she did not.

“You've always prided yourself on being clever!” Morgott shouted in grief and indignation. “How could you not see through the person closest to you?”

“Fine, it’s one thing if you were deceived, but you knew before we arrived that Emperor Zdravko had sided with Xanthakos. Why didn’t you kither on the spot instead of leaving her to cause endless trouble?”

Faced with Morgott, James closed his eyes in guilt and lowered his head slowly.

The matter of Lyla was complicated and troubling for him. He believed her betrayal was out of necessity and coercion, but he never imagined it would be a major factor in the deaths of Taiyi and Emperor Tapia.

Taking a deep breath, Morgott slowly released James. He turned away with his hands behind his back. “There are only two people truly admired in Haleth Realm. You count as one, and Taiyi and Emperor Tapia each count as half.

“If you can’t make up for those two halves, we shouldn’t see each other again.

You do your thing, and I’ll do mine. When you’ve made up for it, we’ll meet again in Jawdat Region!” Hearing this, Quintus was shocked. “Mr. Morgott, you’re leaving now?”

Morgott ignored him and pointed at James. “Hand Harper over to me!”

James sighed and waved his hand, summoning Harper, wrapped in om black, white, purple and golden light.

Morgott absorbed her into his space before she could understand what was happening.

At this point, Morgott sighed, According to our guess, Xanthakos has three lives. Cook one, so he has n at least two left.

As for Waitara Path’s soul spirit, his current power should be comparable to Xanthakos. The newly absorbed power of the Caeloro’s God of Garuda should give you a worthy opponent.

Be careful. He can appear unexpectedly anywhere, as this is his domain.”

With that, Morgott transformed into a purple-gold spear shadow and disappeared into the void.

Seeing this, Quintus sighed, realizing it was too late to change anything. He turned to look at James helplessly.