

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7621

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7621-“Whether it works or not hinges on this move.” James’ heart clenched as he watched Zella’s fate intertwine within the Zirconia Path Scroll. Beside him, Thea was extremely anxious, her eyes glued to Hetsema’s painful contortions and agonized screams. Although not Hetsema’s biological mother, she couldn’t bear witnessing his misery. Whether it was because he was James’ son or simply a being from the Greater Realms, it was excruciating to see him suffer.

James was preoccupied with Zella and couldn’t lend a hand. After a moment’s indecision, Thea flipped her hand. As her Hongrome Aura was about to be released, Hetsema, amidst his twisted roars, suddenly shot terrifying red beams from his eyes.

In an instant, Hetsema broke free from the Hongrome Aura’s restraints and charged forward with a primal roar, akin to a rampaging beast.

“Careful, James!” With a startled cry, Thea immediately flew out, striking her palm toward Hetsema.

Boom!

With a resounding explosion, Hetsema was sent flying by a divine burst of Hongrome Aura. However, after regaining his stance, he acted as if nothing had happened. Instead, he twisted his neck with evident delight, a bizarre smile replacing his previous ferocity and pain.

“Who would have thought that half the Yin governor could cultivate a Hongrome Body? Hongrome Aura is indeed far superior to Spiritual Providence.” Hetsema licked his lips, his gaze fixed meaningfully on Thea.

“Didn’t you claim to be my mother? In that case, you should fulfill my wishes and display great motherly love!”

Thea, hovering mid-air, furrowed her brows. “You’re not Hetsema! You’re just an empty shell!”

Hetsema laughed sinisterly. “No, I am certainly Hetsema. As long as you’re willing to help me, I’ll make you proud, Mom! Haha!”

Thea squinted at him. ‘That’s no longer Hetsema. He changed the moment he broke free from my Hongrome Aura’s restraints.’ “Come on, Mom. Help your son!” Hetsema grinned viciously, suddenly unleashing numerous eerie and terrifying black lights toward Thea.

With a grim expression, Thea raised her hands and released vast Hongrome Aura, which manifested as Sword Lights she then sent forth. Surprisingly, when her Sword

Lights collided with the incoming black lights, they were devoured segment by segment without making a sound. 'How is this possible? Even after cultivating the Hongrome Body and killing the Waitara Path's soul spirit not only is he immune to my Hongrome Aura, but he can devour and suppress it at will. Could he already be more powerful than the Waitara Path's soul spirit? Thea thought. Seeing the eerie black lights approaching rapidly, Thea immediately performed a grand teleportation. The eerie black lights whizzed through the space where she had just been, accompanied by a fierce, bloody gale.

Shocked, Thea couldn't fathom how Hetsema had turned so terrifying in an instant.

"Don't run, Mom. You can't escape," Hetsema sneered sinisterly, transforming into a strange black light and charging at Thea again.

Faced with the menacing black light, el Thea's face turned cold. With a flip of her palms, the Three Treasures Formation appeared before her. As the strange black light entered the formation, Thea immediately activated it. Unexpectedly, the formation only rotated a few times before it collapsed with aloud crash under the assault of the black lights. Thea instantly suffered a backlash, coughing up a mouthful of blood.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7622-The strange black light swiftly advanced toward Thea. In desperation, she thrust her palm forward, colliding with the massive black light with a resounding boom.

There was no explosion or retreat-only the eerie black light absorbing Thea's Hongrome Aura. An unsettling laughter filled the air.

Feeling her Hongrome Aura being drained, Thea tried to withdraw her hand. However, it was as if her power was being sucked into a black hole, making it impossible to pull back.

Never having encountered such a bizarre situation, Thea instantly recognized the danger and shouted, "Save me, James!"

Having just completed Zella's destiny file, James looked up and was immediately enraged. He instantly transformed into an amethyst-gold Sword Light and shot into the air.

The eerie black light that was absorbing Thea's Hongrome Aura suddenly transformed into Hetsema once more. He appeared behind Thea, and just as he was about to clutch her throat, James abruptly appeared and forcefully pulled him away from her.

Crack!

With a sudden, muffled sound, Hetsema, in his frenzy, broke his arm and flew into the sky. Seizing the opportunity, James spun around and swiftly carried Thea away.

Boom!

With another loud explosion, the eerie black light sweeping through the void erupted in the spot where James and Thea had just been. Steadying himself, James held Thea with one arm and raised Hetsema's severed arm with the other. His heart was boiling with fury.

Thea hurriedly reminded him, "That's not Hetsema, James! It's the Waitara Path's past form occupying his body."

James snorted and discarded the severed arm. "He is strong but doesn't qualify as the Waitara Path's past form. He's just a higher-level substitute compared to a puppet."

Thea was shocked. "But he could absorb my Hongrome Aura."

James replied, "It's not him absorbing your Hongrome Aura, but the Waitara Path controlling him to do so."

Thea was extremely shocked by this revelation. It was unfathomable that he could absorb her powers while possessing another body.

James spoke calmly, "You don't need to be surprised. You're the only Hongrome Body in the Haleth Realm with Hongrome Aura. On top of that, you're an Alcide being, the source of all gods. Compared to Spiritual Providence, your powers are more concentrated. The Waitara Path covets your powers." Understanding dawned on Thea. At that moment, countless black lights rapidly converged in the void, accompanied by a fierce wind and flashing black lightning.

As they watched the black lights, the creature formed into a monstrous being dressed in a black robe, its face rapidly changing, becoming hideous and terrifying.

"James! Emperor Caden! Mortal Emperor! The new lord of the Haleth net Realm. No matter how many titles you've been bestowed or how exalted you've become, it doesn't change that you're my father. All my suffering today is thanks to you, my father. Don't you feel even a shred of guilt?" Hearing this chilling roar, James, holding Thea, slowly narrowed his eyes.

Thea gasped, "He really is unkillable. Don't let him cloud your mind."

Saying this, she held James's hand and channeled a continuous stream of Hongrome Aura into his hands.

She was afraid that James would be corrupted by his Inner Demon again. Facing a powerful enemy like the Waitara Path's soul spirit, she was not confident she could save her husband.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7623-Hetsema, having absorbed all the powers from the past realm, now had a face that continuously morphed, embodying the full spectrum of emotions- joy, anger, sorrow, love, hate, and desire. He was no longer the ambitious but powerless Hetsema of old. He had become a genuine undying fiend.

“Say something, James! You’re scaring me.” Thea clung tightly to James’ hand, her anxiety peaking.

In the next moment, James raised his hand, and a divine amethyst-gold Sword Light shot out.

Boom!

Hetsema was instantly blown to pieces by the Sword Light. However, immediately afterward, the fragments and countless black energies gathered to form two Hetsemas.

One cried and roared with rage while the other laughed sinisterly, exuding terror. Then, between the two Hetsemas, dozens of radiant, multicolored lights suddenly appeared, manifesting into numerous familiar yet indistinct figures.

James and Thea sensed the danger.

The enraged Hetsema grabbed one of the figures, revealing Xainte’s appearance.

Hetsema held Xainte by her hair. Her expression was defiant, but some mysterious force immobilized her.

“Xainte!” Thea lost control at the sight.

James pulled her back, his brow tightly furrowed. “Don’t go. It’s a trap.”

Hetsema roared, “Is this how you treat your son, Dad? Since you disregard our bond, don’t blame me for being ruthless. Look, it’s one of your most beloved children, Xainte. She’s one of Jademora Empire’s Thirteen War Kings, right? Surprise! She fell into my hands!”

Thea shouted furiously, “You’re a beast, Hetsema! That’s your sister!”

Hetsema sneered, “Sister, you say? Among them, I was always the outcast, never respected, never considered a brother.”

He then pointed condescendingly at James and Thea. “Watch closely Since my father is heartless toward me and tried to kill me, you can’t blame me for retaliating in kind.” Suddenly, he took out a sharp dagger and held it against Xainte’s throat.

“No, you can’t!” Thea was in despair. Though she knew it was an illusion, she couldn’t endure the emotional and mental torment.

Meanwhile, James remained cold and composed, tightly holding Thea as he watched the scene unfold.

Hetsema shouted, “Listen carefully, James. Each time you kill me, I’ll kill one of your children. If that’s not enough, your loyal friends will also accompany them in death. I guarantee you’ll enjoy the show.” With a swift motion, Hetsema’s dagger slit Xainte’s throat.

Thea’s mentality was utterly shattered as Xainte’s body fell from the void after being released.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7624-“No, Xainte, no...” Thea struggled frantically, but James held her tightly, not allowing her to break free. “James, my dear father, shall we continue?” the sinister Hetsema suddenly asked, his tone chilling.

James remained unmoved, his face devoid of discernible emotion. At that moment, he seemed to disregard everything before him.

“Aren’t you the revered Emperor Caden of the Greater Realms?” Hetsema laughed maniacally. “Haven’t you become the lord of Haleth Realm?”

“You managed to trap all the beings of the past realm in a broken cauldron, so why not take out another one and trap us, along with your dear friends, children, and old acquaintances?”

The second Hetsema laughed ferociously. “He doesn’t dare to! He’s afraid! He knows he can’t kill us. Even if he traps us in another space, we can still kill all his cherished friends and family.”

Their laughter echoed through the past realm, filled with triumph and satisfaction as if they had finally found a way to torment James and were savoring the unprecedented joy of their revenge. But no matter how they mocked, ridiculed, or provoked, James held tightly onto Thea and remained calm.

Meanwhile, Zella, enveloped by James’s Supreme Path Source, suddenly moved her delicate hand amid the Hetsemas’ triumphant laughter. The next moment, she opened her eyes wide and emitted two beams of divine light. Then, she swiftly rose into the air, her hands moving rapidly.

In a flash, countless sacred amethyst-gold lights spread from her hands in all directions, quickly weaving into a vast, radiating a holy brilliance that commanded reverence.

The two Hetsemas, still basking in their sense of victory, felt the space around them tremble. When they snapped back to reality, they saw an immense of divine light closing in on them.

“What... what is that?”

“A useless, nothing special.”

The giant violet-gold tightened around them as they spoke, shooting out two blinding beams of light.

In the blink of an eye, the two Hetsemas were enveloped by the amethyst-gold light, each entangled in a shrinking.

“What is this nonsense? You’d use something so lame?”

“I can’t move! No, this is impossible! James didn’t even... Ah!”

As the tightened around them the two Hetsemas’ expressions of triumph and shock turned to agony, and they fell from the void, screaming in pain. Meanwhile, Zella, floating in the void, continued chanting an unknown incantation, causing the o Hetsemas to tighter further. the two Hetsema W Thea, who had been struggling, watched in astonishment as James finally released his hold on her. “Beasts, I’ll kill you!”

After a stunned silence, Thea bet suddenly dashed forward, wielding the Taishi Sword, aiming to strike down the two Hetsemas.

wcontent “Don’t kill them, or everything will be for naught,” Zella shouted from the void.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7625-In her fury, Thea halted the sword just an inch from Hetsema’s throat.

Zella, hovering in the void, watched anxiously.

After a moment of silence, Thea turned her head to look at James. He wasn’t stopping her, making her wonder if he cared for his son’s life at all. James slowly walked through the void. “If you’ve already calmed down, then withdraw your weapon. If not, you can kill them all.”

Hearing his words, Zella was in disbelief.

Thea, however, snorted and withdrew the Taishi Sword, turning away with a face full of anger.

Ignoring her, James raised his hand, and his path source flashed. The two Hetsemas quickly merged into one, violently struggling within the amethyst-gold.

“You rebellious son,” James stared at him intently.

Hetsema snarled with anger. “Rebellious son? When have you ever considered me your son? You’ve only ever cared about Jacopo, Winnie, Noel, and even Xainte, who doesn’t carry your surname. But me? No matter what I did, it was always wrong in your eyes. You’ve never given me fatherly love. How dare you lecture me as a father now?”

James thought to himself, ‘Have I never given him any love? Among my children, I believe I treated Hetsema the best. When I noticed Hetsema’s peculiarities, I sought out the Martial Emperor as his mentor. When migrating the beings of the Dark Realm, Hetsema accompanied his siblings to the Genesis Worlds and was never discriminated against.

‘The other kids never rejected or bullied Hetsema. They were merely worried about his actions and disappointed that he didn’t live up to his potential. All these Inner Demons came from Hetsema himself his inferiority, arrogance, cowardice, and ambition were his downfall.’ Hetsema roared at James, “Kill me! If you have the guts, kill me yourself. You sealed me once before. Here’s your chance to play the hypocrite and show the world your so-called righteousness.”

Seeing Hetsema roar and bare his ne teeth like a wild beast out of control, James’s face showed a trace of helplessness. His son’s resentment and hatred were too deep, and eliminating his Inner Demon was not enough to save him. To prevent him from wreaking havoc in the future, there was only one solution. After long contemplation, James suddenly placed two fingers on Hetsema’s forehead. Thea and Zella widened their eyes, their hearts in their throats.

The next moment, countless Soul Energy Balls glowing with black light emerged from Hetsema’s head. James unleashed numerous Sword Lights that shattered them one by one, causing Hetsema to tremble violently and scream in agony.

When the last Soul Energy Ball was destroyed, the once-struggling Hetsema collapsed like mud, still trapped in the.

Thea and Zella watched in shock, unable to believe what they had just seen.

James had not killed Hetsema. Instead, he had erased all of Hetsema’s past memories with his Supernatural Powers. Hetsema became the first experiment in the River of Time to have his entire past wiped away.

While everyone held cherished memories, Hetsema’s past was filled with despicable actions, wild ambitions, greed, and selfishness. Perhaps it was the best resolution for him.

Snapping out of shock, Thea suddenly asked, “You can erase his past, but he eliminated our daughter Xainte’s past. What about her?”

James did not respond immediately. Instead, he waved his hand, retrieving all the familiar figures trapped in the distance, including Xainte's past form that had been killed.

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 7626-The current situation stemmed from Thea's mercy towards Hetsema, which had led them into the malicious trap of the Waitara Path's past form. However, James understood Thea's complicated stance regarding Hetsema and felt he had no right to blame her.

At that moment, Zella approached and said, "I've absorbed all the memories and information you transmitted."

James turned to her and said, "I need your wisdom and unique abilities. Do you have a better solution?"

Zella sighed softly. "He has already captured all of the past forms of living beings in the River of Time and will use them against you."

James nodded lightly.

Zella looked at him with a serious expression. "Unless you can become as ruthless as he is and disregard the lives of all beings in the Greater Realms, I don't see many options."

James shook his head. Things would not be so troublesome if he didn't care about their lives.

After a long pause, Zella said, "There is another way. You can use the Forty-Nine Daoism and go straight to the root."

James raised an eyebrow, immediately grasping her suggestion. Though he was the Haleth Realm's Lord, the Greater Realms and River of Time were still part of the Waitara Path's Daoism. Hence, he was omnipotent and could do as he pleased. He could set up countless obstacles, aiming to cause James to break down mentally and morally, leading to his ultimate victory.

Similar situations to those they had just faced would continue if James continued to be led by the nose. His original goal was to preserve the past of the Greater Realms' living beings as much as possible, but ultimately, the Waitara Path would exhaust him and trap him within the River of Time.

Onlookers often see more clearly than those involved, and seemed true in their situation. Zella's strategy of directly addressing the fundamental problem was indeed the best approach. He had to discard all secondary matters and directly confront the past form. Doing so was the only way to save the past of the Greater Realms' beings.

Understanding this, James turned to Thea. “You and Quattro stay here. I’ll leave the Gates of Mystery, Creation, and Wuia with you. Collect as many past forms as you can. Zella and I will continue to delve deeper.”

With that, he waved his hand, and the Path Cauldrons of the three spatial gates appeared.

Thea was stunned. Before she could speak, James pulled Quattro out of his storage space and infused him with a trace of path source, elevating him to a Path Emperor.

“Protect my wife. Now is the time for you to contribute.” James patted Quattro on the shoulder, then headed straight into the past realm with Zella.

Thea opened her mouth to speak but held back as she watched them leave.

Quattro asked, surprised, “Did James just leave us behind?”

Thea took a deep breath. “He’s trying to protect us. Let’s follow his instructions and start collecting the past forms of the Greater Realms’ beings. We need to play our part and lessen his burden.” With that, she coordinated with the three Path Cauldrons, then soared into the void and began to use her Hongrome Aura to gather the numerous past forms.

However, Quattro was left dumbfounded. His piggy eyes were confused, unable to figure out the situation.