Chapter 855

When she heard that James had been captured, Thea's heart sank in her chest. She turned to Thomas, pleading with him for his help.

Thomas sat on the sofa and rubbed his chin. He was deep in contemplation.

After a while, he looked up again at Thea.

Thea felt a shiver go down her spine as she was stared at by Thomas.

Wearing a distrustful expression, Thea asked, "Wh-What are you looking at me for?"

Thomas smiled slyly.

"I have a plan."

"Huh? What plan?"

"Give me a minute, please."

Thomas got up and left the room.

Thea sat down on the sofa and waited patiently.

After half an hour, Thomas returned with a human mask in his hand.

"Come here, please."

Thea walked over to Thomas and looked at him apprehensively.

Thomas swiftly attached the human mask to Thea's face.

Thea's appearance suddenly changed drastically.
