Chapter 891

James took the plane and left the Capital

Soon, he arrived at the Cansington military region.

The Blithe King had come to welcome him.

When James got out of the car, the Blithe King walked toward him and hugged him

He laughed heartily and said, "James, this time, you've helped out the country's scourge

Although the Blithe King was stationed in Cansington and did not have to worry about the chaos in the Capital, being in this position would still get him involved in their affairs. Hence, he was well aware of what went down and that James had used the

Blade of Justice to kill the Emperor

He also knew that James was in danger

Fortunately, James came back alive.

"I'm glad you're back." The Blithe King stretched out his hand and hammered James' chest with a smile

"We've known each other for so long but haven't drunk together Before you last went to the Southern Plains, I said I'd wait for you to return alive and have a good drink "

"Let's talk about it again when we have the chance"

James waved his hand and asked, "By the way, how's Tiara?"

"She's recovered well and can be discharged from the hospital. However, she refused, saying she'll wait for you in the military hospital"

"Thank you for taking care of her " James expressed his gratitude

"Come on. We go way back. Why do you keep being so polite?"

James suddenly remembered something and said, "Oh, right Send me the details of the soldiers that died in the underground cavern and the names of their family members"

Back then, dozens of soldiers from the Blithe Army were killed while helping him find the second volume of the medical book.

James still felt very guilty about it and made a promise at their graves to protect their family.

Even if he could not protect them from everything, he wanted to at least ensure them a life without worry. At least they would not have to run around worrying about food, getting up early, and getting home late to pay off their car loans and mortgages.

"Alright," The Blithe King agreed.

Although the soldier's families have been compensated, he knew that James would never feel at ease without doing something for them.

"I'll ask Daniel to send the details to you later." "Has General Highsmith recovered from his injuries?" "Yeah. He's doing good."

"Alright, thanks. I'll go check on Tiara first."

"I'll get someone to send you there." The Blithe King made a phone call, and a car approached them shortly. James did not say anything more and got into the car. The military vehicle took James and Maxine to the hospital.

Soon, they arrived outside the military hospital.

James walked to Tiara's ward, and before he entered, he could hear the laughter of a few women coming from inside.

He knocked on the door.

"Coming," A voice sounded, followed by footsteps. Soon, the door opened.

Standing on the other side was a woman wearing a red dress. She was beautiful with a slender figure.

It was Quincy.

Seeing James, she was taken aback for a moment but quickly collected herself and exclaimed excitedly,"

James, you're back!

Come in quickly!"

James walked into the ward.

He found that besides Tiara, there was another woman inside the ward.

It was Thea.

He was shocked. 'Why is Thea here?

"James," Thea called out sweetly for James upon seeing him,

Tiara also greeted him, "James."

Noticing Maxine, Thea frowned and asked, "Why are you here with James, Maxine?"

Hearing this, both James and Maxine were shocked.

Maxine looked at Thea and said, "You must be Thea.

I've been in the Capital and am from the Cadens, but I've never shown myself publicly. How do you, someone from Cansington, know about me?"

"Yeah. How do you know about Maxine?" asked James. □□□
