

The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 943

Maxine meticulously compiled and went through everything on the way back to the city.

She only intended to voice her concerns, not to cause a rift between James and Thomas.

James' heart was already turbulent and hearing Maxine's speculations only served to stir those feelings of unease more strongly.

"I believe in my grandpa just like you believe in Tobias. Let's end this conversation here. I'll think about it after we return."

Even though he still had his doubts, he chose to continue believing in his grandfather.

Thea stared daggers at Maxine and said haughtily, "Are you done now? You can leave if you've said enough. We're going to do what couples do now. Don't tell me you'd like to be part of the audience?"

Maxine pressed her lips together, refrained from saying anything more, and got up to leave.

After she left, Thea immediately clung to James. "Honey, you don't believe what she said, right?"

James gently shook his head. It was an extremely hard pill to swallow.

He trusted his grandfather more than Maxine.
