The Almighty Dragon General Chapter 970

Hearing that Quincy would return soon, James let out a sigh of relief.
Then, he replied with a smile.
"Thank you, Thea."
"Honey, you have to promise me that you won't look at any other women besides me," Thea said bitterly.
She felt threatened by Quincy.
Quincy was not only pretty but also had a good eye for business.
Most importantly, she was skilled at utilizing her charm.
Thea was scared that she'd tempt James and lose him to Quincy if she was not careful.
James cooed reassuringly, "Nonsense.I only need Quincy back to manage Messiah.It's impossible between the two of us.If I was set on being with her, I would have agreed to do so a long time ago.Ther truly isn't anything between the both of us."
Although Thea found it hard to believe that James and Quincy were completely innocent, she still felt relieved that James bothered to explain because it meant he was worried about her feelings.
She believed that as long as she worked at it, James would come to love her eventually.

casually on the
out a cigarette and threw another one cocked his eyebrows, "James, what's so urgent that you had to call me back in such you mean? You mean I can't just call you over here his cigarette and asked to figure out, bro.Anyway, just tell me what you need from me.I heard about the things happening in Cansington.Centennial Corporation must've changed owners.They've suddenly expanded extremely rapidly.Something they did straight to twinkled in Assasin King, you've got stop beating around the bush, James looked want a cultivation
"Of course."

up, and he grinned
finally going to give him and posed him another
earned you a huge fortune and you
"Yeap."
hide and went straight to