

My wife is an Aloof Beauty Novel Alternative

My Wife is a beautiful Officer

Chapter 21: Chapter 21: Hiding A Woman

Early in the morning, FX International Group was in a busy state. Not long after he entered the office, he heard a gentle knock on the door.

"Come in.

"Boss, good morning! This is your schedule for today." Anna gave the well-arranged work schedule to him.

"Is there anything special?" Edward read it for a while. It was his daily work.

"Yes, the CEO of Ouyang Foreign Trade has an appointment with you, but we have no business relationship with them." This company was very strange. Why did they suddenly want to meet with their boss? "Since we don't have a business relationship, then refuse them." He did not want to waste his time on such useless things.

"Alright, I'll do it." Anna was always calm, and it was hard to find too much emotion on her face.

"Do it now!" He browsed the schedule again, and suddenly remembered that Ouyang Foreign Trade was the company of Daisy's father. They had never seen each other for so many years. Why did both of them come to him recently?

"Wait, Anna. When is the appointment with them?" Okay! Since he was his nominal father-in-law, whatever his purpose was, he must have a meet with him.

"7 p.m. at Mochan Restaurant." Anna looked at him doubtfully. Her boss was strange today. But she did not ask the reason. "I see. Tell them I'll be there on time." What does Leo Ouyang want to do? Would he come to blame his attitude "I see. Tell them I'll be there on time." What does Leo Ouyang want to do? Would he come to blame his attitude towards his daughter? They had been married for so many years. Why did he come at this moment? Or was it the recent foreign economic crisis that had affected his foreign trade. Maybe his sudden visit should have something to do with it. He would never waste his mind on anything he could not guess. So he picked up the documents in front of him. All the answers would be revealed tonight. It was better to do more work than to wrestle with the issue.

Duke's car was as cool as himself. The shiny black body of the car was even more awe-inspiring in the sunlight. Justin wondered how could he be a good friend with Edward. Did they feel weird when they played together?

"Uncle Duke, could you send me to Daddy's company? I'll go back home with him later." He needed to check whether he was with a beauty or not.

"Should we make a phone call first?"

"Should we make a phone call first? I'm afraid your father won't be there." Duke turned around and looked at him. His father liked this little boy very much. They had so many topics to talk about. He was very jealous of him. "No, I can wait for him in the office if he is not there." It would not be a raid if they called him firstly.

"Okay! As you wish." He turned to another direction after saying that.

"Uncle Duke, are there many people who owe you money?" Justin asked with his head tilted slightly and wondered why Duke always kept a poker face.

"Of course not! Why do you ask?" Duke glanced, sideways, at him and kept driving with concentration.

"If not, why do you always keep a poker face? It seems that someone owes you a lot of money." The world of adults was so strange.

Duke stepped on the brake and the car hopped lightly when he heard what Justin said. Justin bent forward suddenly. Fortunately, Duke reached out with one hand and pulled him in time. Otherwise, he would be blamed by Edward if Justin got hurt. "Uncle Duke, you gonna murder me! Just for my question? I didn't ask it on purpose. You want to kill me for this? I was so scared." Justin patted his chest, and complained to Duke. Duke was embarrassed. 'It should be me who was first scared by your remarks.' His words shocked him. So he suddenly applied the brakes. Even murder charges had been put on him now. This little boy was really difficult to deal with! Kids were horrible now! It was no wonder that Edward had become a lot quiet now, since there was a "wolf child" at home! "Sorry. I'll watch out and be careful next time." Duke would love to correct his mistakes. He was proud of this character.

They arrived at FX International Group soon. When he was about to get off the car, he got an urgent call from the company. He looked at Justin with embarrassment and then looked at his watch. "Uncle Duke, if you have something urgent, you can go first. I can go upstairs by myself, and besides, it's not my first time here, so you don't have to worry about me." Justin was a master of observation. Although he was young, he knew a lot.

"Really? I can call your father and ask him to come down and pick you up." Duke worried about him, but business in the company was really urgent.

"No, Uncle Duke. Bye-bye, I will go upstairs now." Justin got out of the car and ran into FX International Group.

Duke drove off after seeing Justin went into the building. Then he called Edward.

Hello. Duke, what's up?

"Are you in the office? I sent Justin to your company. But I have something urgent to deal with. He went upstairs by himself. Let someone pick him up."

"Well, I am here. I'll let someone pick him up." Ignoring the crowd of executives waiting for him to speak, Edward waved at Aaron.

With a puzzled face, Aaron leaned to him and listened to his whisper, then left the meeting room. What the hell was going on? Rain was puzzled. He looked at Edward and wanted to get some hint, but Edward didn't look at him at all. "Go on," Edward ordered. His curiosity was decreased by Edward's attitude and he got really angry, but couldn't say a word during the meeting.

When Aaron just walked out of the meeting room, he saw little Justin went out of the elevator jumping. He couldn't help smiling. Justin was so clever! His boss needn't worry about him. Justin didn't need other's help! He could take good care of himself!

"Uncle Aaron, where's my daddy?" He trotted all the way into Aaron's arms.

"He was in a meeting. It may be a while before it ends. Will you go in and wait or would you rather wait in my office?" Aaron pinched his pink face lovingly.

"Don't you need to participate in the meeting?"

"I should have to, but since you are here, I don't need to now." Rare benefit!

"Then uncle Aaron, I'll go to your office!" At least it would be better than being alone. He smiled sweetly, which was so different from his cool expression before. The environment can really alter a person's mood.

"Don't you think about it again?" He still remembered the last computer incident. He wouldn't flame him again, would he?

Uncle Aaron look at that nervous look on your face. Are you hiding someone in your office? Justin look at him with a sly expression.

"Who says i am hiding a woman in my office? Aaron defended himself immediately.

I didn't say you had hidden a woman. You said it yourself!" Gosh" Sometimes it was really fun to tease Aaron.

Aaron wanted to slap himself. How could he be so stupid! Haha... Aaron, you are really funny, and you are typical fool. You can't take advantage of the two evils in the meeting room. Now you are even teased by a child. Don't you feel ashamed of yourself?

Chapter 22: Chapter 22: Justin Has A Fever

As soon as the meeting was over, Rain came towards Edward and started to gossip. He was in a casual suit today and he wore a pink and purple stud earring, which matched the color scheme of his suit and made him more eye-catching. Now he was looking flatteringly at Edward. He really looked like the bottom one with that charming face.

"What did you ask Aaron to do, Mr. Mu?" He asked and ogled at Edward.

Edward glanced at him disdainfully with his fine lips compacted. He picked up the documents and left. Edward wondered when Rain became such a lackey. He even tried to ogle at him, but unluckily he was Edward, who was so charming himself that he would not be possibly seduced by anyone else.

"My dear elder brother, Boss, Mr. Mu, Beautiful Mu, could you please just tell me?" He followed him all the way out without any fear. Suddenly he felt a sharp pain in the nose. It turned out that he hit his nose hard on Edward's back, when Edward stopped unexpectedly.

"Damn you, Rain!"

Edward turned his head abruptly and glared coldly at him.

Rain shrunk his neck. 'Damn it! Have I offended him? I should stop talking immediately. He was born beautiful. Why doesn't he let others talk about it? If he were a gay, he should be the bottom one. I just cannot imagine what he will be like when he is under somebody else.

' "You'd better stop thinking the dirty thoughts now." Edward's gloomy voice suddenly sounded near his ear, Rain retreated a few steps out of fear. Was this guy a ghost? When did he come so close? Was he trying to tempt him? His sexual orientation was normal and he had no interest in him at all.

"Do you want me to make your messy thoughts come true?" Edward's voice became colder. It made Rain want to escape at once. The guy knew exactly what he was thinking. When did Edward learn mind reading?

"I'm not thinking of anything. You have thought too much yourself, boss." Uttering these words, Rain gave up gossiping and ran away at once. Hey! He was just like Belinda who dared to challenge Edward but could not bear the consequences. Both of them were good at running away.

Rain's wretched expression had already betrayed him. How could he deceive Edward?

Rain trotted away, but he did not go to his own office. Instead, he went straight to Aaron's. He could not find the answer from Edward. Wasn't it easier for him to get the answer from Aaron?

Aaron was so innocent. He was always the one to be bullied. The office door burst open while Aaron was drinking coffee. He was frightened by the loud sound and the coffee had split all over him. He glared at the man who had just come in. He was so angry that he wanted to kill Rain. The door was used to be knocked on instead of being hit. It seemed that Aaron had forgotten what good manners were.

"Rain, you'd better give me a good reason which will save your life. If not, you'd better disappear from my office at once." It was rare to see a gentleman like Aaron become so furious. As he wiped up the coffee stains on his clothes, he glared at the man who was to blame.

Seeing how hapless Aaron was, Rain must have laughed out as before. But now he wanted to cry instead. Why was his luck so bad today? He first pissed off his boss and then offended Aaron. Aaron was so angry that he Seeing how hapless Aaron was, Rain must have laughed out as before. But now he wanted to cry instead. Why was his luck so bad today? He first pissed off his boss and then offended Aaron. Aaron was so angry that he wouldn't tell him the answer. Could it be true that the evils we bring on ourselves are the hardest to bear?

"Hey! Aaron, I didn't know that you were drinking coffee, did I? Besides, Why did you pour your coffee on yourself? If you want to take a shower, you should first walk into the bathroom and then take off your clothes." Before he could finish his words, a folder was flying towards him and he dodged out of the way at once.

"Oh, God! Are you serious? Do you want to kill me?" Rain pretended that he was scared and he patted on his own chest. He challenged Aaron again without any fear. Aaron's face became darker and his eyes became colder.

"Rain, do you want to roll out by yourself or not? I don't mind carrying you out." The wet clothes stuck to his body, made him feel very uncomfortable. He really wanted to go into the bathroom and take a shower. However, that guy kept on talking with a lame apology.

"I'll walk out instead of rolling out. I don't know how to roll out. If you can set me an example, maybe I will think it twice." It was not a good start, he should have stopped for the moment. When Aaron was calm, he would come back again. He was sure that he would get the answer he wanted. So before the next folder was thrown to him, Rain quickly dodged out of the door. Then he heard the sound of something falling on the ground. 'Damn it. He was really mad.'

Edward walked into his office. He looked around and did not find that little guy. He frowned and thought that he may be with Aaron. He walked up to his desk and sat down. When he found that little guy sleeping on the sofa, he smiled. He must have been waiting for a long time. It took him a relatively long time to have the meeting today.

He picked up his coat and walked quietly up to his son. He looked at his son dotingly and covered him gently with his coat. He smoothed away a wisp of hair from the little guy's forehead and found that his hair was a little longer. It had been almost three months since he came here. It was time to have his hair cut.

He caressed his little pink face. Noticing the unusual red on his face, he put his hand on Justin's forehead at once. Damn it. It was so hot. It seemed that he had gotten a fever. No wonder his face was so red.

Edward was in a great panic. He had never experienced anything like this before. The little guy had always been in a good health since he came here. Edward was frightened by his illness. He held Justin in his arms and rushed out.

"Anna, Anna, call Luke and ask him to get the car ready." Edward's voice was full of tension. His shouting also attracted the attention of Rain who had just escaped from Aaron's office. He walked up to him quickly and "Anna, Anna, call Luke and ask him to get the car ready." Edward's voice was full of tension. His shouting also attracted the attention of Rain who had just escaped from Aaron's office. He walked up to him quickly and asked what had happened. But when he saw the little guy in Edward's arms, he was stunned.

"Rain, go down and get the car ready. Justin has a fever." Edward was a little distracted. The little guy in his arms was so scorching hot that he felt that he was almost burned. So when he saw Rain, he asked him to get his car ready at once.

"OK! I'll be right there." With these words, Rain ran downstairs at once. Although he was very gossipy and he wanted to know who that little guy was, he could tell that it was not the right time to ask.

Rain hadn't parked his car into the underground parking lot today, so when Edward and Justin came downstairs, he had already started the car waiting for them at the doorway. He drove as fast as he could and glanced at Edward in the rearview mirror from time to time. Seldom did he see his boss in such a nervous state. It seemed that this little guy was of great importance to his boss. He didn't have the chance to see Justin's face clearly, so he didn't know how much Justin resembled Edward.

They soon arrived at the hospital. After having a series of tests and the antipyretic injection, Justin was put on a drip soon. Edward's face, which had been in a state of tension, finally relaxed a little.

Edward asked for a VIP room. As soon as the doctor left, the room suddenly became very quiet. Rain went to go through the formalities. And now all could Edward hear was his own fast and irregular heartbeat.

Edward walked to the bed and sat near his son. He gently held Justin's hand which was not put on a drip. He didn't know what other fathers felt when their children were ill. He was scared. Yes, scared. Edward had never felt this scared, even when he was facing an assassination attempt. But now he was scared only because his son got a fever.

He bent down and kissed the little boy gently on his forehead. The little boy's forehead was still a little hot and he hadn't thoroughly recovered from the fever yet.

"Mr. Mu, the formalities have been completed." Rain walked in and spoke softly. In the meantime, he stared at Justin's little face hesitantly.

"Ask whatever you want to." Edward knew that Rain had been curious for a long time.

"Mr. Mu, whose child is this? Rain looked at Edward and then Justin. He felt that he almost got the answer.

"He is my son, Justin Mu." With these words, he turned to look at Rain.

"What? Your son? Why didn't I know?" Although he guessed the answer when he saw Justin's face, he was still stunned on hearing Edward's words.

. "It's not late for you to know now."

Why did everyone react violently when they knew that he had a son?

"But, when did you have a son at this age? Where is his mother? Who is she?" Rain began to gossip again. He was just as gossipy as Duke.

"My wife." Edward gave him the same answer as he had given Duke, which stunned Rain too.

"Boss, I'm already very surprised that you have a son. How could you have a wife? Are you kidding me? When did you get married?" Everything was in a mess. It seemed that a lot of changes had taken place during his business trip.

"Six years ago." His words became more and more concise. No wonder that Rain knew nothing about it. He hadn't graduated from school when Edward was married.

Chapter 23: Chapter 23: You Are A Miracle

"No way! You got married six years ago. Why didn't I ever meet your wife?" It turned out that one of the best bachelors was not single already at an earlier time. Beauties who came for him like moths to a flame were worthless! However, it was not their fault for being ignorant. People close to him like Rain only knew it today.

"I have just met her twice. It's normal for you not to meet her." It was unsure if he could recognize her on the street.

"Er! Man, you are a miracle. You two only met each other twice but have a big boy already." It seemed that he would not be surprised again if Edward told him more astonishing stories after a series of blows. Edward gave him a stare when Aaron hurriedly walked in. His face was covered with thin sweat.

"Mr. Mu, what's wrong with Justin?" He rushed over when he heard from Anna that Justin was ill.

"Nothing serious, just a fever caused by the cold." It might be that the temperature of the air conditioner was a bit low and he was not covered with a quilt. And that's why he caught a cold.

"Sorry, he said he was back to your office so I didn't stop him. It's my fault for forgetting to take a look at him." Aaron was very annoyed. Why didn't he think about it? Things went worse now.

"It's not your fault. I have an appointment tonight. You two stay here and help me look at my little boy! I will come back as soon as I finish it." Edward had planned to ask Anna to appoint another time with Leo because Justin was still with fever and he worried about him. But Leo was his nominal father-in-law and it was not "It's not your fault. I have an appointment tonight. You two stay here and help me look at my little boy! I will come back as soon as I finish it." Edward had planned to ask Anna to appoint another time with Leo because Justin was still with fever and he worried about him. But Leo was his nominal father-in-law and it was not good to postpone it. So he asked them to take care of Justin. He was also curious about what Leo Ouyang was going to talk with him about.

"You may rest assured we will look after him." Aaron was still feeling guilty now! He felt that it was his fault to make Justin suffer.

"Mommy, it hurts! Mommy..." A small voice softly cried, grabbing the attention of everybody. They looked at the small figure on the bed and Edward held his delicate hand again.

"Justin, daddy is here. Where does it hurt, Justin?" Edward said in an anxious voice.

"Mommy, I miss you. Mommy, my head hurts." Justin muttered these words deliriously, making Edward panic.

"Rain, call the doctor. Hurry up!" What kind of hospital was this! .Why didn't Justin get better after the injection! Alas! Edward, it was not a miracle cure! It wouldn't take effect immediately.

Rain quickly pulled the doctor over. It was not difficult to see how worried Rain was from the doctor's messy clothes.

"Doctor. Why does he still feel hurt? Is there any other problem not checked out?" Edward's voice was shaking. How he wish he could take the pain for him!

The doctor quickly checked Justin and soon got the result. "Mr. Mu, your boy has no other problems. The pain is caused by high fever. I'll ask the nurse to send two ice packs over. Put the ice packs on his head and it will make him feel better." The doctor said cautiously because the man in front of him commanded a powerful presence.

"Why didn't you just say it just now if this was a good method?" Rain spit out in a cold voice, his eyes smouldering with anger. The doctor was so scared that he wanted to run away. How he wish he was not on duty today! "Go get it!" Edward was more gentle compared to him.

"Okay! I'll do it right away." Speaking of it, he quickly turned away, afraid that he would be killed by the eyes of the beautiful guy the next second. If Rain knew the doctor's thoughts, the doctor would never get out of the room, because he hated to hear people say he was beautiful.

The ice packs were quickly sent over. The nurse told them how to use it, blushing. She sneaked at the men who looked distinguished in front of her from time to time, and two of them were so beautiful.

"Mommy, mommy." The sudden coldness of the ice pack on his forehead made Justin frown slightly, and his unconscious words spilled out again from his red lips caused by fever.

"Edward, Justin has been calling his mommy all the time. Why don't you ask her to come over?" Seeing Justin, Rain couldn't help but feel the same. He used to miss his mother every time he was sick, but she never appeared at all, so he hoped that Justin can see his mommy.

"His mommy isn't in S City," Edward said flatly. According to the text message last night, that woman would be back in a few days!

"What! Where is she? Abroad?" Rain was surprised.

"I don't know where she is either!" He really had no idea. He had asked Justin, but he said that he didn't know cuz Mommy never told him about her work. Sometimes her work needed to be kept confidential.

"What? No way! You don't know where your wife is, how can you be a husband?" Rain really didn't understand this couple. They had just met twice in their six-year marriage, but they had such a big boy. And now he didn't know where the other person was.

"Should I know?" Edward never bothered to think about those who he didn't care. This time, because of his son, his curiosity about that woman was a little beyond his consideration.

"Er! Shouldn't you know?" Rain was confused.

"Aren't you too curious?" Edward was on the edge of anger. How could he hold on to this topic? Compared with Aaron who was quiet, Rain was too noisy.

Actually, Aaron also wanted to know the reason. He was carefully listening to their conversation. He was a little disappointed when his boss stopped talking about his wife.

Seeing Edward like this, Rain knew he didn't want to continue this topic, therefore he stopped speaking, but looking at Edward with a sad expression.

Edward took away the ice pack on Justin's forehead and touched it with his hand. He gently breathed a sigh of relief. Finally, it was not so hot. Maybe the medicine also worked! At this moment, Justin's eyelashes quivered, and then his eyes opened slightly. Seeing this, Edward smiled, with his deep eyes full of tenderness.

"My boy, how do you feel now? Do you still have a headache?" He touched Justin's forehead with his hand again. The fever was relieved.

"Daddy, what happened to me? Why am I here? And why do I ache all over?" Justin's voice was soft and hoarse.

"You have a fever and you are in the hospital. You freaked me out, my son." He hoped that his little boy would never get sick and always be healthy.

"Sorry daddy. I didn't mean to scare you. I used to have a fever, and mommy would give me medicine. It's alright." Justin said in a soft voice. He was too sensible for a child at his age.

Hearing his words, Edward spaced out a little. If Justin used to have a fever, how did that woman get through this? Was she as scared as he was?

"Hi! Boy, you are awake finally." Rain, not willing to be neglected, stepped up, but in return, Justin gave him a small sigh.

"Alas! I must be dazed with fever. Why do I see a ladyboy?" Saying that, he winked his eyes with uncertainty.

Aaron burst out laughing. He felt joyful now. His mouth was wide open. Everyone could tell how happy he was. 'Rain Xia, now do you believe that you look like a ladyboy?' he thought.

Rain stunned. He opened his mouth but didn't say anything. Even Edward also twitched his mouth slightly. He looked at Justin lovingly. Justin was right. Rain did look like a ladyboy.

"Justin, my cute boy! How did I offend you that you diss me like this?" Rain felt like weeping but had no tears. Why did he always hurt!

"Sorry. I don't like ladyboys so it's not only for you." Although Justin was still weak, he would like to tease him when it came to the topic of his interest.

Edward was speechless. He was included too according to Justin's words. Why was he aimed at? Rain felt happy this time because he was not the only ladyboy! Edward was one of them too!

"Justin, you are so cute." He kissed Justin on the cheek. Rain deserved a good spanking! Justin looked at his daddy with a grimace, hoping that he could help him wipe the saliva of this ladyboy left on his face. But Edward pretended not to see it. He knew Justin was afraid of being kissed by others. To put it blankly, he was a neat freak, ha!

Who made you tease me! I wont help you this time.

Edward you were an adult, no need to fuss with him. Besides he was your child! Didn't you feel ashamed?