

My Wife is a beautiful Officer Chapter 615 - Chapter 615: The Cellphone (part tree)

Chapter 615: Chapter 615: The Cellphone (part tree)

He had never expected that woman to set password for the laptop as she had said. Being realistic, she did what she said, which was exactly why Edward loved her so much. But he had no idea of where she was, or whether she was still alive or not.

You are right about that, but I'll help you with something sooner or later. When everybody adds fuel, the flames rise high," murmured Rain in a low voice. He didn't dare to make a loud sound, because he had no clue about what Edward was up to.

"If you want to help me, please go and bring Tom here. I need him with me right now." Edward looked away from him, and tapped the keys on the keyboard quickly. In less than a minute, the password was cracked. Justin's laptop was now open for access. He knew Daisy had only set a password to test Justin or else she wouldn't have used such simple and predictable numbers as the password.

No need to do that. He's already on the way here." Rain touched his nose and thought that if Tom wasn't performing a surgical operation when he called, he would have been here already, and then Edward wouldn't have to ask him to bring him here.

Edward was certain that there would be all kinds of applications on Justin's computer. However, when he saw too many icons on the screen, he felt a bit of anxiety. He felt that Justin had really made up his mind to test his daddy's computer skills.

Edward's confidence in locating Justin and Daisy was reinforced by the fact that Justin had installed so many applications on his computer. One of them might help him. He knew Justin carried his phone everywhere and he naturally had a GPS chip in his phone.

As expected, Edward found the right application. He hoped that Justin's phone was still on and Justin could successfully be located through the application.

He opened the application, and within a few moments, he found the shining red dot that indicated the present location of Justin. He couldn't help but bite his lips in excitement. Edward tried hard to not cry and kept a check on his emotion. At this time, Jonathan rushed upstairs.

"Edward, I have got some good news. The Mayfly has found some clues about Daisy and Justin's whereabouts. We're going to locate them. But we must go immediately," he said excitedly. Jonathan had thought that his subordinates weren't capable enough to find his family members. Apparently, he was wrong. In fact, they had never let Jonathan down.

"Really? We better hit the road right now. Justin's computer indicates their location. I bet he still has his phone with him." Edward's confidence escalated by his father's words. He was scared that Justin might lose his phone and if that happened, even if they tracked down the phone, they wouldn't be able to find Daisy and Justin. Luckily, the good news his father brought boosted his confidence further. Now, he was certain that with the combined efforts of him and his father, he could reach his wife and son. Without any hesitation, he grabbed Justin's laptop, and ran out of the room. He was closely followed by his best friends.

Daisy clenched her teeth and refused to drink the water from the cup in Jessica's hand. She knew that this water was drugged. At this moment, she was ready to fight with anyone to protect Justin and retain her honor. She knew, if she was drugged, she wouldn't be able to accept what would happen next.

"Daisy, don't fight back. It hurts. Now, drink. I promise, you will feel much better after you drink this." Jessica pinched Daisy's lower jaw and forced her to open the mouth. Unexpectedly, Daisy fought back hard, and she pushed Jessica's hand away with her head. Daisy looked Jessica in the eyes ferociously. She would have killed Jessica if she hadn't been tied today.

"I'll never let you have your way with me," answered Daisy. Although Daisy's hands were tied behind her back, she wasn't ready to give in. Her coldness and pride didn't flinch even one bit.

"It's not your call. You're not the boss here." Jessica now already liked the idea of slapping Daisy on the face whenever she felt angry. So, she did that again to her. Daisy would have avoided the attack easily if she hadn't been tied like that. Jessica liked seeing Daisy helpless like that.

"Bitch, you'll be punished. You have my word. If you let me live, I will torture you, and make you scream painfully, like a pig in the slaughter house, shouted Justin. Justin knew how painful his mother must have felt from the slap. However, he also knew that his mother was a brave soldier. She could endure all sorts of pains psychologically and physically solely to protect her honor and dignity. She was not only an honorable human being but also a qualified soldier.

"Bastard, you can neither save your mom, nor save yourself today. I'll make you a pig first, said Mary sarcastically. Mary had lost her consciousness and kindness since ages ago. So, she didn't mind being tough and cruel to anyone who she thought was her enemy. She was ready to hurt a little child who was doing nothing but protecting his mother. Mary came over to Justin and knocked him down. Everyone in the room could see Justin's head hitting the floor with a sickening thud.

Chapter 616: Chapter 616: Stab Herself (part one)

"Justin, are you all right? Does it hurt?" Daisy was panicking. She immediately rushed to Justin but was restrained by the two rascals watching her. Her eyes were fuming with anger. She gave Mary a fierce look and said, "I assure you that I'll make you pay for hurting my son."

"Huh! You still think you can escape from here and come after me for revenge later?" Mary looked at Daisy evasively. Though Daisy was held tight by the two men, she still didn't dare to look directly into her fierce and terrifying eyes.

"Mommy, I'm fine." Justin gritted his teeth and got up. He was a soldier's son. So, enduring pain came naturally to him. Justin knew if his hands hadn't been tied up, Mary wouldn't have been able to knock him down so easily.

"Open her mouth and force that water down her throat immediately." Jessica was taken aback for a moment, but she immediately regained her composure and shifted her eyes from Mary to her target Daisy.

As soon as Jessica instructed the men, they got to work. Seeing this, Wolf, who had been watching all this silently from one corner of the room, became ecstatic. He was initially a little hesitant as he knew that Daisy was a Colonel but Daisy's beauty invoked the lustful desire in him. He was so immensely attracted by Daisy's beautiful face and hot figure that he completely overlooked what Hero had warned him about before he left here. His mind was occupied by the lewd thoughts of savoring a female colonel. He had tasted numerous women before, but never a female soldier. Wolf was drooling over Daisy with great anticipation of what was going to soon follow.

"Um.. Um..." Daisy was a strong and intimidating woman. Her spirit to fight back was relentless. But with too many people holding her back and her hands being tightly tied up, Daisy did get a little weak. The men forced open her mouth and poured the water in. Although she firmly clenched her teeth, Jessica won in the end.

"What did you put into my mother's mouth?" Justin was really frightened now. He really wished that his father could appear from somewhere and fight all these bad men, just like the hero in every fairy tale.

"Do you want to know? Sorry we can't tell you. This is not something that a child should know. So, you better shut up." Jessica giggled with a cunning smile.

Daisy closed her eyes. Was this the end of her day? She surely knew what they had forced her to drink. If she hadn't been able to recognize this drink, she would never have been able to qualify as a Colonel.

Daisy now knew what their plan really was. They wanted to drug her and get someone to * her. If that happened, irrespective of Edward's reaction, she wouldn't ever be able to forgive herself. They were so wicked to come up with such an evil plan. "So what! Jessica, do you think, by doing all this, you can take my place in Edward's life?"

Daisy smiled in misery. The fleeting happiness she had striven for so hard was drifting away. So many people were coveting it. The little hope that she had of escaping from here was now gone. She had to fight so many people and her body was massively drugged.

"Take your place? That place is always mine. You stole it from me and it is time for me to have it back." Jessica reached out her hand to smoothen her hair. She narrowed her eyes and looked at Daisy from the corner of her eyes.

"Fine, whatever. I'm too naive. How did I even think that I could have a normal and reasonable talk with a monster like you?" Daisy said while constantly rubbing her hands behind her back. She keenly observed the place, without any trace of fear in her eyes. She knew, she still had a little chance to change her fate.

"Bitch, who are you calling monster?" Jessica always ensured to present her best self to the people. Anyone who didn't know her from before assumed that at least she ought to be endowed with good manners and elegance which were usually cultivated in a rich and illustrious family, even if she was not that gentle and soft. However, when they saw the manner in which Jessica dragged Daisy and pulled her long hair, everyone in the room was appalled.

"It doesn't matter who I called monster. Because now I am already in your hands. You can do whatever you want as I am incapable of doing anything to protest or protect myself." Daisy's tone was pessimistic, but her heart was struggling for survival. At the same time, she got a little excited when she loosened the rope a bit. As long as her hands and feet were freed, she wouldn't give anybody a chance to take advantage of her or her body.

"You know your place very well. I know you are very clever, but it's a pity that it is all useless now." Jessica touched her belly and thought, 'Baby, wait, we are not abandoned. We are going to have a family soon. Your daddy will come back to us and we'll be happy together in our sweet home.'

"Daisy, in fact you should thank me today. If it were not for me, you wouldn't have the chance to spend a wonderful night with so many handsome men." Jessica winked at Daisy, showing a sly smile.

"Don't think that everyone is like you. People like you have zero self-respect. If I were you, I would be ashamed of myself." Daisy felt her body gradually becoming hot. She quickened her pace to untie the rope. Daisy wasn't sure about the exact dosage of the drug they had put in the drink. So, she didn't know, how bad it was going to be.

"Huh! You can continue pretending to be pure and aloof. Let's all just wait and see. I am certain you'll be wilder than the actresses in those pornographic films." Jessica sneered and shook her hair arrogantly. "Let's go, we'll go outside and watch the show. And bring that bastard with you."

"No, I won't go with you. I will stand beside my Mom. I won't let you do anything to hurt my Mom." Justin struggled, trying to break free from the man who seized him firmly in his arms. But it wasn't easy to fight back.

"Naughty boy, although we really hate you very much but to tell you the truth, this obscene scene is really not suitable for you to watch. So you'd better leave with us. It will be a sin if it cast a shadow over your young fragile heart." Jessica laughed. She held her head high and walked out, ignoring Justin. She knew someone would bring him out.

Justin was only a child. No matter how hard he tried to protect his mother, he was forced to leave the place in the end. Soon, his voice trailed off in distance, leaving only Daisy and several sleazy men in that place. "Colonel Ouyang, don't be afraid. I always believe that woman should be loved and cared for. I will be very gentle with you." Seeing that Mary and Jessica finally left, Wolf itched to flirt with Daisy. He didn't dare to say anything before. It was not because he was scared of Jessica but because he knew she was a very cunning woman. Had he done anything beforehand, she would have used him as a scapegoat in front of Hero. He certainly didn't want to irritate Hero.

"If you don't want to die, I suggest that you let me go. I believe, I don't have to tell you who I am. I am certain that you already know me. You'd better think carefully about the consequences before doing anything to me." Daisy ground her teeth. Damn, the drug was now having an impact on her body. It was so strong that despite the will to fight back she was also experiencing a wave of hot amorous feelings.

"Haha! If I have to die for having sex with a beauty like Colonel Ouyang, I will be more than happy. I will have no regret."

Wolf greedily stared at Daisy's breast. They were waving up and down with her breath. He couldn't help but blow out a loud whistle to appreciate her beauty. Now, his dirty hands unscrupulously reach out to her beautiful face.

Rascal, don't you dare touch me with your dirty hands. Daisy turned her head and dodged his touch. She became more nervous as she hadn't untied the rope yet.

Chapter 617: Chapter 617: Stab Herself (part two)

"Ah! What a beautiful face! I really feel bad that Jessica ruined it like this." Wolf didn't mind any insult that came for him from Daisy's mouth. He believed that every beautiful woman had a unique personality. And Daisy was not just any other woman, she was a female colonel. He reached out his hand to gently wipe off the fresh blood stain on her face. After that, he wickedly sucked the blood off his hand.

"You all get out! Just get out of here!" Daisy took a deep breath. She was trying hard to suppress the ongoing fever that was coming out from inside her body. Unfortunately, what came out from her mouth was only a faint and soft sound. Her feeble voice sounded sexy and charming. It sounded as if she was flirting.

"Haha! Colonel Ouyang, I forgot to tell you that I really admire such an aloof beauty like you. It will be exciting to play with you and this thought just makes me want you more and more." Wolf said as he came closer to Daisy. Daisy escaped with a dodge.

"Get out, or I will shoot you in your head." Daisy bit her luscious lip and thrust the rope open, thereby freeing her hands successfully. Simultaneously, she rolled to the other side.

"Huh! A good move. Buddies, let's work together. We must control her." Daisy's moves made Wolf crazy. He scratched her clothes and happened to rip them off. Her white skin above the breasts and the lace bra were now showing up.

"I'll kill you." Overlooking the risk of getting injured, Daisy threw herself onto the ground and swiftly picked up the knife left by Jessica there. She quickly cut off the rope on her feet and pointed the knife at the scoundrels. At the same time, she covered her bare chest with her other hand.

"Colonel Ouyang, don't you feel empty and uncomfortable now? How about letting me fill in your empty and lonely heart?" Wolf gradually approached Daisy. He was certain that the stamina of a massively drugged woman wouldn't last very long.

On the other hand, a huge group of men led by Edward were approaching this place. The closer he was to the place, the faster his heart was beating. He was hoping and praying that both Daisy and Justin were safe and sound.

"Mr. Mu, why is the place so desolate? Is this a trap?" Luke frowned with concern.

"It's okay. We have the people from The Mayfly to back us." This was also one of the reasons why he didn't notify the police when he got the cellphone signal of Justin's phone. He didn't want to divulge Jonathan's secret identity.

Yes, you're right, there is nothing The Mayfly can't handle. However, this time, there is a possibility that Dad's identity will be revealed inside The Mayfly." Luke sighed. Although there had always been people from The Mayfly secretly protecting the leader, the real identity of Jonathan wasn't known to many in the organization. Even the top executives of the organization didn't know his true identity.

Chapter 618: Chapter 618: The Rescue (part one)

"Do you think it possible? Don't forget, the people around him are the most powerful figures of The Mayfly. It's next to impossible that they will let his real identity come out so easily." But he had never seen their faces. He wondered what martial arts skills did they possess that they could hide their identities so well, as if they had the invisibility skill described in the Kung fu novels.

"So who do you think has cooperated with Mary to kidnap Mrs. Mu and Justin? She is not that clever to make such a seamless plan. The cameras in the coffee house and the surrounding areas don't work. It is a meticulous plan, and it's hard to believe that Mary could plot this all by herself,"

Luke said, still focusing on driving the car to his fastest speed. He didn't dare to loosen his grasp on the accelerator pedal since only bad news had been coming their way since morning. He understood the seriousness of the situation and didn't want to let Edward down.

"There is only one end for the people behind all this. I'll make sure that their fate will be worse than death." Edward narrowed his sharp eyes. He couldn't dare to imagine what his wife and son might be going through right now. He stared firmly at the computer screen, wishing he could fly to them right away. The address that The Mayfly gave to him was the same as indicated in the computer. This made him very sure that he was on the right track. Unfortunately, Daisy's situation was not good at all. Although she used the escapology she had learnt to successfully free her from the ropes, she still failed to overcome the effect of the drug. The drug was devouring her soul. It worked sharply into her bones, depriving her of her remaining sense. She wriggled her body coquettishly, only wanting to seek comfort from men.

"Beauty, are you going to continue with the struggle? Come to my arms! I will make you feel ecstatic!" Wolf smiled lustfully, sticking out his tongue to lick his lips. He constantly made such an obscene gesture to lure Daisy.

"You are dreaming, I will not let you touch me. I'd rather die than be humiliated by you." Grinding her teeth and closing her eyes, Daisy lifted the knife and stabbed it right into her thigh. The fresh red blood came flowing out from the blade of the knife. Without any pause, she quickly plucked the knife out decisively. The piercing pain seemed unbearable to handle and the blood quickly spread over her culotte. But the pain made her sober.

She had to stab herself like this to ensure that the pain from the stabbing would suppress the impact of drug on her body. But she also clearly knew that the strong effect of the drug would get the better of her once the pain disappeared. Daisy didn't have the time to bemoan her fate or to pause and think. She quickly strode forward and punched Wolf hard with her fist. Further, she backed it up with a roundhouse kick at his abdomen, regardless of the injury on her ankle.

"Huh! This bitch is really very explosive. Dudes, let's all come together! I don't believe she won't submit!" The impact of Daisy's kick, made it hard for Wolf to move. He lay flat on the ground and fiercely ordered his fellows to take over.

But Daisy would never give them any chance to approach her. She was skillful in using the knife, moreover, she was surprisingly agile. Within a second, with a clinking sound, one of the scoundrels' hand was paralyzed by her knife as she bent on her knees.

Seeing such a fearless woman, all the scoundrels were dumbfounded. Daisy seized the chance and quickly bent down to do a drift on the ground. She swept fiercely over their shanks with the knife. In an instant, with the ashes rising up, several scoundrels fell down to the ground.

Seeing the situation go out of his hands, Wolf was startled. He pulled out a knife from his waist and joined the fight.

Daisy shook her dazed head, and looked unyieldingly at the group of scoundrels approaching her. She ground her teeth and made up her mind to stab herself again. This time, she stabbed on the shoulder. She had to win this fierce battle. The drug would not only cause illusions, but also erode her senses. All the people trembled at her firmness. Moreover, they were surprised that such a vulnerable woman could stab herself like that. Even the strongest of the men would think twice when it came to stabbing themselves but Daisy did it without a frown. Surprisingly, she stabbed herself not once but twice. They marveled at her toughness but they had to defeat her. So, now all of them came at her desperately.

As Daisy had sensed, there was definitely a wharf and also an old rail track nearby, probably used for freight. Now, even Edward was close to the location. He was not more than a few minutes' ride away from Daisy. Edward kept praying for Daisy's safety.

Luke, speed up. We are very near to the destination." Edward's eyes brightened because of excitement. He stared firmly at the flashing spot on the computer screen and didn't dare to shift his eyes away, as if fearing it might disappear.

"Mr. Mu, I have already floored the petal," Luke pursed his lips and said. There had been another car in front of them all this while. It was heading to the same direction as Luke and Edward. He wondered whether the people in the car their friends or foes.

Chapter 619: Chapter 619: The Rescue (part two)

She was only a few steps away from him. However, it seemed to him that it would take his entire life to get to her. Men do not cry easily unless they are deeply hurt. The moment Edward touched Daisy's bloodstained body, his heart missed a beat and his eyes blurred with tears.

Edward..." She curled up and tried to hug herself at the sight of him. Was he really here? Or was it just an illusion? Was it only the remembrance of her man moments before her death?

"It's me, Daisy." Holding back his grief, he murmured to her with his lips quivering. In the meantime, he quickly took off his coat and wrapped it around her as gently as possible. He tried not to touch her wounds.

So it is really you. You have really come for me..." Clinging on to his coat, Daisy simply gazed at him. Her lips were dry and chapped because of dehydration.

"Sorry, I am late!" Then with profound gentleness, he held her tight in his arms. A drop of tear fell quietly from the corner of his eyes and rested onto her neck. She could feel the chill of his sadness when his tear touched her skin.

"I'm fine, really. Because I knew you would definitely come and save me." She dared not meet his gaze or move a muscle. Daisy would rather let him wrap his arms around her waist, and feel his tenderness.

"Thank you for your trust, my dear. But I'm sorry that I failed you today," said Edward in a deep and shaky voice, which was full of regret and bitterness.

"Don't cry for me, Edward. Not now, not in front of so many people. They may laugh if they see you like this." She bashfully looked around, and breathed a sigh of relief when she saw that others were still involved in a fight.

"I don't care. They can just laugh if they want," sniffed Edward indifferently. But he suddenly noticed that in the very air he breathed in, there was a smell of blood. He snapped out of his remorse and lifted up the coat to check her over. When he saw the bleeding wound on her shoulder, he felt breathless and grief stricken. His face darkened. He turned around and coldly looked at those gangsters, who were now crushed to the ground.

"Now, tell me who is responsible for my wife's injuries?" asked Edward in a cold voice while he rose up slowly. Patronizing them, he now looked like a remote, transcendent and inviolable king, who could show off his power and position with merely a few words. There was contempt in his eyes. He looked down at those monsters lying on the ground as some drying worms rather than humans.

"Oh, dear Daisy, I bet you enjoyed your erotic moment a lot! Don't worry, everyone can share your rapture, and see how licentious and shameless you are later through the video." Just then, Jessica came in, forced by Luke. She was closely followed by Mary. Then, Justin appeared, being held by Jonathan.

"Of course, it was indeed wonderful. Would you like to give it a try, Jessica?" The moment Daisy saw her face, she tried hard to resist the urge of tearing her apart. Hatred was written all over her cold yet beautiful face while she was glaring at her with anger.

"Mommy, are you alright?" cried Justin. He struggled to get rid of Jonathan, only to find that he was tightly locked by him.

"Stop it, Justin. Your mother wouldn't want you to see her like this," said Jonathan. He made a sweep around the room with extreme coldness in his eyes. It seemed as if he would kill anything that met his gaze. And when his eyes fell upon Jessica and Mary, his lips curled into a sneer with a thoughtful look.

"I'm fine, but I'm afraid that someone else might be in trouble now," smirked Daisy as she tried to stand up on her feet. But she was too weak to brace herself, and her knees gave up immediately. Fortunately, Edward quickly held her and pulled her into his arms.

"What are you up to, Daisy?" snapped Jessica. Daisy who was supported by Edward slowly approached her. Jessica stepped back in terror.

"What do you think? Well, I remember you are quite bothered by your pretty face, aren't you? So I think I may help you destroy it," said Daisy in a sarcastic tone.

"No, you can't do this to me!" Jessica was panic stricken. She was internally embarrassed so she didn't bother to watch the scene on the monitor. Moreover, she had no idea when her cousin would be back, so she had been waiting and keeping a lookout anxiously in another room. But it was way beyond her expectation that instead of her cousin, another group of people would break into this place. Jessica was scared out of her wits when Luke and his people rushed in like that all of a sudden.

"Why? You don't like it? But how come you never thought of the consequences before putting me through all this?" Daisy whispered in her ears while pointing a dagger at her face. She purposely put it as close to Jessica's face as possible to scare her.

"Edward, help me! You would never let her hurt me, would you?" With frightened, imploring eyes, Jessica looked at Edward's grim face.

"That's true. It seems that you really know me well." Edward let out a wicked smile and gave a look full of meanings which only left people around him guessing.

"I knew it. I know you still love me. It's all this woman's fault! She has been trying to steal you from me!" Raising her head high, Jessica glowered at Daisy gloatingly.

"I won't let her hurt you, and that's for sure. But it doesn't mean that I won't do it for her. You are such a malicious woman. I can't let her contaminate her hands with your blood." As soon as he finished his words, Edward grabbed Daisy's dagger and before everyone knew it, he sliced Jessica's face open without any hesitation. Now everyone could hear a piercing shriek.

Mary freaked out by the scene and her legs started shaking involuntarily. She really wanted to take to her heels, fearing that she would be Edward's next target. But because her hands were tied behind her back by the two men who looked like bodyguards, she couldn't move at all.

"NO! I don't believe it. You cannot treat me like this!" exclaimed Jessica. Edward gave his response by cutting a second gash on her face. By now, all her complacency was gone. She was shocked. Jessica stared at this ruthless man standing in front of her with astonishment. She was filled with desperation and pain after her pride and confidence was badly snapped by him. But compared to Daisy's suffering, she still faced nothing.