

My Wife is a beautiful Officer Chapter 620 - Chapter 620: The Rescue (part three)

Chapter 620: Chapter 620: The Rescue (part three)

Daisy watched all this coldly. If this had happened in the past, she would have definitely stopped Edward from hurting a pregnant woman, but not today. She came to realize that mercy to the enemies means cruelty to herself. And she knew Jessica deserved no mercy. Her heart was full of bitter hatred and there was no room for regret or compassion for people like Jessica. She had to pay for all her sins today.

"Don't be so confident about yourself. Blind confidence will do you no good. You want to have fun? Let me grant you your wishes now." Edward was never a nice and merciful man. He might appear soft and gentle, but if there was an enemy who had to be tackled, Edward showed no mercy. He was literally like a sleeping lion, ready to launch an attack if people crossed a line.

"As for the rest of you, get up if you are not dead already," demanded Edward sternly while his eyes running down those gangsters. He wasn't in a hurry to deal with them since they were already knocked out. They didn't have any energy left in them to attack or run away. Before he did anything, he wanted to take his time to find out exactly which one of them humiliated his wife. As soon as he did, he would chop those hands off and feed them to a fish!

"What do you want? Don't forget that I'm pregnant!" Jessica was clever enough to read through what was on Edward's mind. So she watched his each and every move with a tingle of horror.

So you actually know that you are expecting a baby? Do you really think you still deserve to be called a mother given all of this vicious behavior? But there is no need to get tensed. Be assured, I'm not as twisted as you. So I will only make a list of all the things that you have done to my wife, and avenge her suffering bit by bit on you, nothing more and nothing less. So you know exactly what to expect."

Edward said with one arm around Daisy's waist, and the other hand holding the dagger. Jessica took a deep breath when he softly swept its pointed edge on her face. Her fear was beyond all limits now.

"Wait a minute! Let me avenge myself first," Justin suddenly cried out. He again struggled to free himself from Jonathan's arms. Instead of holding him tighter, Jonathan bent down and put him gently on the ground this time. His heart ached when he saw those wounds on his grandson's little body. That woman's evilness was truly beyond his imagination. He couldn't believe that she could be so cruel to a child.

"Remember what I told you, old woman? What a big mistake it was for you to let me get out alive. Now you will have to pay the price." A trace of slyness could be seen in Justin's eyes. Since Jonathan said that Daisy didn't want him to see her miserable condition, he would pretend not to see it. But this didn't mean he would ignore these two malicious and sinful women all together. He must teach them a lesson in his way.

"Buzz off, you nasty little child! What are you up to?" Mary was terrified. She could see something malicious in Justin's sly grin, but she couldn't figure out what he was going to do. His words sent shivers down her spine.

"Don't worry, I won't touch your face. However, I still think that you need a makeover. This will make it easier for you to confess to the Buddha and turn over a new leaf of your life," said Justin while walking unhurriedly towards his backpack. With his teeth clenched to endure the pain, he bent down and picked the bag up before coming back slowly to Mary. Edward watched him carefully. He knew he had failed him, too. He would have gone up and taken this little guy into his arms, had he not been holding Daisy.

No. Stay away from me! This won't happen in the future, I swear! Daisy, do something, for Brian's sake. Don't you even consider his feelings?" Having no idea what Justin would do to her, Mary gave up her dignity and begged for mercy.

"Why? Playing the family card now? But as I see it, you showed zero regard for Brian's feelings when you were hitting my son. If that is the case, why should I do it for you now?" Daisy snorted. She didn't stop Justin from fighting back, not because she would allow him to learn to be wicked and merciless at such a young age, but because she clearly knew that he needed to vent out his rage. Daisy thought, he would at most make fun of Mary, and would never do any cruel thing. So she just stood in her place and watched him closely.

"Uncle, could you do me a favor and lift me up?" He glanced around the room with his big, round eyes resting on those masked men standing behind his grandfather. Justin looked at them up and down curiously and thought they were really cool.

When being asked, the men immediately looked in Jonathan's direction. It was not until Jonathan nodded his head that one of them squatted down and lifted Justin up. Clearly, they would only follow Jonathan's order.

"I suggest that you stand still, old lady! Otherwise, I can't gurantee that I won't cut your scalp accidentally." Seeing Justin take a sharp little blade out of his backpack, everyone knew what Justin was up to. Now, they all understood what he meant when he said he would make it easier for Mary to confess to the Buddha. He was going to shave off her head. Although Justin did it mostly for fun, it could be a nightmare for a woman who cared so much about her appearance.

How dare you! Mary now realised what Justin was about to do with her. She tried to squirm out of the grip regardless of how embarrassing it looked like. Anyway, she would rather die than turn into a nun.

Chapter 621: Chapter 621: The Only Woman I Respect (part one)

Justin pursed his lips, and began to shave off Mary's hair mercilessly. Within a few minutes, Mary had turned bald. Justin threw the blade to the ground and clapped his hands in disgust.

"Well, old woman. You're not that bad, so it is just a small punishment. You better pray for everything you're about to face now." Compared to Jessica's cruelty, Mary wasn't that bad, so Justin had no intention of getting back at her in a serious manner. Only children would think this way. As for Jessica, Justin's father would never spare her, so he didn't bother to do anything to her.

"It is not a time to celebrate. I am going to kill you." Without looking in the mirror, Mary knew how ugly she must be looking with a bald head, so she shouted angrily.

"You think you can do that?" Justin shrugged off her threat and looked at her coldly. He was happy to see Mary look like this. Justin's face was a little red and swollen, which made it difficult for him to even smile properly and made him look a little bit funny.

Edward frowned. Moments back, he was so far from Justin that he couldn't even see his face but now when he looked at his face closely, he felt guilty. Justin's face was covered with bruises. Seeing this, the look in Edward's eyes became crueller and fiercer.

"Come here, all of you," Edward said coldly with a raging anger in his eyes. He coldly looked at the sleazy gangsters, "Aren't you trying to have fun? Today, I will let these two women accompany you to have some fun. Let's make everything clear at first. None of you is allowed to leave without my permission, or I will feed your bodies to crocodiles."

"Edward, are you threatening me? You can't do this to me. You can't!" Jessica shook her head in panic. Although she knew Edward was not a soft hearted person, she expected him to forgive her for the sake of the past.

"I can't do that to you? Then why did you do that to my wife and son? Jessica, when did you become so naive?" Edward said sarcastically. In all honesty, Edward never expected Jessica to be behind all this. Sadly, he had forgotten how vicious this woman was.

"So you don't care that I'm carrying a baby? That's your baby!" Jessica said tremblingly. Even though Edward didn't give her a warm look all this while, she was fascinated by Edward's perfect handsome face.

"Jessica, why don't you give up? Now, I have to tell you the truth and make you give up completely." Edward sighed helplessly. It all seemed to be his fault now. Had he told Jessica he wouldn't let her get pregnant, she wouldn't have had any illusions about it. Moreover, nobody would have to bear so many troubles because of this.

"Listen here, Jessica. Do you know why I didn't wear a condom every time when I had sex with you? I had a contraceptive operation shortly after my marriage, and I haven't got it repaired as of now. I remember I even showed you that report. The baby you're carrying has nothing to do with me. Have I made myself clear? I can't get any woman pregnant right now."

Edward said the truth word by word. He was fed up of Jessica's conceit. Even when he showed her the evidence, she was wishfully immersed in her own lies. Edward wondered whether she was naive or just subconsciously refusing to accept the truth.

"This is impossible! You're lying! Edward, are you just making excuses? Do you not want to take care of me and my baby? Are you going to abandon me like this? Who can certify that the report is true?"

Jessica shook her head desperately. Although she knew the truth long ago, she was not willing to accept it at all. All she did was to comfort herself and lie to herself. She did not expect Edward to tell her the truth in front of so many people. She knew he really couldn't stand her and wouldn't let her bring anymore troubles in his life. It was worse for Jessica to accept this fact than to just die.

"I swear on my doctor's license that it is true." Tom walked in slowly, followed by Rain and Duke.

"No, you're all lying to me. I don't believe you! I don't believe anyone of you!" Jessica freed herself from Luke's control, picked up the stool next to her, and smashed it at Daisy. 'It is all Daisy's fault! It wouldn't happen if Daisy didn't exist,' Jessica thought.

Edward turned around and took Daisy in his arms without thinking about it. The stool fell directly on Edward's back and broke on him with a loud thud. It was only then that everyone came to their senses with what just happened. It was Daisy who moved the most swiftly, though she was dizzy. She immediately reached out for the object that Jessica threw at her again. Daisy was already very weak. After this resistance, Daisy had used her last strength and slowly fell down.

"Honey, don't scare me." Edward held Daisy's frail body in time, and cried in horror: "Tom, come over! Tell me what's wrong with Daisy?"

"Get Daisy in the ambulance first, Edward. I'll check her injuries." Tom's ambulance had custom-designed car body and inside equipment. It was technologically advanced and totally different from the ambulances in regular hospitals.

Edward picked Daisy up, as instructed by Tom, and rushed out of the door. He had no time to think of anything else.

"Mom, Mom..." Justin didn't cry when Jessica slapped him, nor did he feel scared when Mary pushed him to the ground. But when he saw his mother suddenly fall down like that, he burst into tears. He was scared, just like everyone else.

"Don't worry. Your mommy is just too tired. She'll be fine." It was the first time Jonathan had comforted anyone other than Cynthia, so his tone sounded a little stiff.

Grandpa, is it true?" Justin asked Jonathan childishly with tears in his eyes.

"Yes! I give you my word. Your uncle Tom will take care of her. Don't you believe him?" Jonathan frowned at his bodyguards and instructed them to leave. If Jonathan's guess was right, it would not take too long for everyone else to come here.

Jonathan's bodyguards disappeared in the face of the crowd. No one saw how they disappeared, just as no one saw how they appeared. The horror of such a thing frightened everyone, and they all secretly got nervous. It was only then that Wolf and his buddies realized they were fighting the wrong guys.

It turns out that these two ugly woman are all behind all this nuisance. Are you crazy to turn into nuns now? You, you even shaved your head before becoming a nun? What a pity! Yo be a honest, women like you are not qualified to be nuns at all. Give up the idea of becoming a nun and do some good to the society. Don't stain the sacred temple.

Rain was definitely a venomous man. He already hated thesetwo women, and after seeing Daisy bruised like that, he hated them even more.

Luke, did Edward tell you how to deal with this group of people? Unlike Rain, Duke was a serious person. He wanted to reach the conclusion fast and quick.

Chapter 622: Chapter 622: The Only Woman I Respect (part two I

"Yes. Let them have some fun." Luke's mouth twitched and he repeated Edward's words shyly. Luke knew that Jessica was pregnant so he didn't want to hurt her ealier. But she broke free of Luke's grip and let Daisy and Edward get hurt. Luke regretted that he hadn't held Jessica tightly.

"So, it's time to have fun! What are you waiting for?" Duke was a hard man, he didn't show any tenderness in handling matters like this. No wonder people called him a man with a poker face.

Duke, you fucking faggot, how did you think that you can take the place of Edward and decide all this?" Duke didn't know what to say to Jessica. Why did she act so arrogantly even when she knew she was in trouble? Was she not afraid to die?

"How? Let me tell you. You hurt the only woman I genuinely respect in this world. Are you happy with my answer now?"

Duke smiled coldly. One could easily see the coldness in his eyes and expressions that went well with his aloof personality.

"Haha! Did I hear that right? You are cheating on your own brother." Jessica shook her hands when she was caught. She became crazy and nervous. 'Is Daisy really that charming? Why are so many men nice to her?', Jessica thought.

"Jessica, you are such a disgusting woman. We're not like you! You should not regard your ignorance as a virtue. Our respect for Daisy comes deep from our heart. A woman like you cannot understand what I am talking about." Rain gave Jessica a disdainful look, and sneered. One look at Rain, and people around could tell how much Rain hated Jessica. Jonathan wanted to punish those people himself, but after watching Duke's reaction, he smiled, held Justin in his arms, and left without saying anything. Jonathan knew that Duke and Rain would never spare these thugs. Although Edward knew how bad Daisy's wounds would be when he saw Daisy, he was still frightened by Daisy's wounds when he saw Tom skillfully treating Daisy's wounds. He couldn't overlook the fact that Daisy might have endured so much pain to fight these gangsters all by herself. What must have been in her mind all this while? Did she think, she would die today? Edward stopped his negative thinking.

"Daisy was massively drugged. The deepest wound on her body was not stabbed by others, but by herself. Daisy must have wanted to use the pain to get rid of the effect of the drug on her body." As Tom spoke, he gave Daisy an anaesthetic and started to sew her wounds. Tom's assistant, who was also with him, quickly gave Daisy an infusion.

"And now? Is the effect of the drug gone?" Edward clenched his fist. The blue veins on his forehead seemed to bulge out because of his anger. It was not enough for those two women to be tortured solely by that group of men. They should be punished more severely. "It is mostly gone away because of excessive loss of blood and sweat. However, I'll still add a little more potion to the drip later. All wounds are easy to deal with except the one on the face. It can be difficult to heal it without leaving a scar."

Tom frowned and wondered how cruel a person would be to scratch such a beautiful face.

"Difficult?" Edward didn't care if Daisy had a permanent scar on her face. He only cared about Daisy and not her looks. But he also knew that Daisy was a proud woman. She would not be able to accept a scar on her face.

"What? You care about that?" Tom looked at Edward. He knew that Edward was not the type of guy to care about the looks of a woman.

"What are you talking about? I am afraid she wouldn't be able to accept it." Edward glared back at Tom. Why would Tom think like that? Did Tom really think he was such a shallow man?

Don't worry! As long as I am here, I will cure her. I am not doing this for you, but for Daisy. You know, she's the only woman I have respected like this in my life." Tom had been frowning all the time. It seemed that Daisy's injury really worried him.

"Thank you." Edward put Daisy's hand on his cheek with tears in his eyes. Daisy had a rough life. She always lived a precarious life be it before or after meeting him. She suffered a lot of psychological and physical injuries. These injuries didn't break her down, but only made her stronger.

"Are you insane or are the pigs flying? Why would you say that to me?" Tom didn't believe Edward would ever thank him. And then, he realized that Edward wasn't paying any attention to his words at all. Tom curled his mouth in embarrassment and carefully treated Daisy's cuts.

Jessica didn't realize how much trouble she was in until she faced the wretched men in front of her. "You stay away from me. I'm pregnant. You can't be so cruel to me. My cousin will be back soon. If he sees you bullying me like that, he won't let you go away so easily. Don't forget what business he's in!" After hearing Jessica, these thugs hesitated. Seeing their hesitation, Mary took the opportunity to talk to the gang.

Mary was indeed a promiscuous girl, but she didn't want to be gang-raped by a group of people. "She is right. Wolf, you won't hurt your friend, will you? We are friends."

"You really think we're beasts?" Didn't you hear what they said just now? If we don't do that, we can't get out of here alive. Come on, you beauties. It will make you feel less miserable. Plus, you were drugged by them just now. Can you really hold back?"

Wolf approached them step by step. He went for Jessica, who he had liked since a while ago. Although Jessica's beauty was destructed by a knife wound on her face, she still looked charming in Wolf's eyes.

"NO! Damn it! Duke, let me go!" Jessica staggered to the door. She was panicking. She didn't want to be raped by these gangsters.

You really drugged her with the philtre?" Duke stared at the video, and then gave Rain a cold look.

"What? You really think I am a pervert? Why would I carry that thing with myself? I was just bluffing them. I will never use such a nasty thing to anyone. Rain cross his legs with an evil smile on his face.

Who knows. Forget it. Watch them. I'd like to go out and see how Daisy is doing. Duke glanced at the video again. Then he got up and walked out.

Are you kidding? I can't stand this erotic scene. Luke, you're here to watch them. I'll go out and see Daisy too. Rain looked at Luke, the only man here, with crafty brightness in his eyes.

I am not interested in such things. As for you, don't you always want this? As soon as Luke finished his words, he ran out of the room. He didn't want to be left alone in that room. Luke had several important things to do. He had to take care of something even more important after hearing Jessica's words.

Chapter 623: Chapter 623: Help Me (part one)

"Damn it, everyone is gone. Fine, I should go too! Why should I be here watching them? No, it is emotionally scaring. And I don't give a shit about what happens to them. it's none of my business." Rain muttered to himself. He looked at the screen, then got up and walked out of the monitor room.

Maybe Fortune favored Jessica and Mary! They were saved by the special troops who came later. The special troops thought they were victims. That came across as a relief for Duke and Rain. Although Duke and Rain didn't like Jessica, they didn't have the heart to watch a pregnant woman get raped. That was too sick. Come on, they were not beasts.

Duke, you are here, too." Kevin Gu didn't expect to meet his brother-in-law here so he was quite surprised when he saw Duke.

"Yeah, this is not your military area. It's a public place. If you can come here, so can I." Duke didn't know why he was so mad at Kevin but he got angry as soon as he saw Kevin. He could not help it. That really didn't sound like something a gentlemen like Duke could do.

"No, no, no. That's not what I meant. I'm a bad talker. Sorry, Duke. Is Colonel Ouyang all right?" Among those who were here, Duke was the only person who Kevin knew well. So Kevin had no choice except to talk to Duke to know how things were going.

"How would I know? I have all the same information that you have. The doors of ambulance are shut. Can't you see?" Duke rolled his eyes and sulked. As a matter of fact, he was jealous of his little sister's partiality to Kevin. Leena Leng was his only sister. He really cherished Leena and Leena used to put Duke first. But everything changed after Leena met Kevin. Kevin married Leena without asking his permission. This was why Duke hated Kevin so much.

"Excuse me, Major General, I have to tell you something." Luke Luo rescued Kevin from the embarrassment. Obviously, Luke was unaware of the awkwardness between Kevin and Duke. He didn't care either.

"What's the matter?" Kevin followed Luke and they walked to the other side. Kevin glanced at the special ambulance inadvertently.

"I overheard Jessica saying that there were more people involved in the kidnapping of Mrs. Mu and Justin. But they aren't here. They might be tougher than the rest of the men. I heard, they will be back any minute."

Luke was a deeply sensitive person. He did not put his mind on torturing Jessica and Mary. Rather, he listened to them carefully and finally caught the hint of every word they said.

"What? Is it true?" Kevin seemed very interested now. He too wasn't ready to accept that Daisy could be kidnapped easily by these gangbangers. There was definitely something wrong. So he thought there must be a stronger BOSS behind all of this.

"We can go and confirm it with Justin." Luke took one look at Justin. Jonathan was carrying him in his arms. To tell the truth, Luke didn't expect Jonathan to care about anyone except his wife. So, he was very surprised to see his actions recently.

"Okay, I will confirm it with him. If it is true, we must take action before they come back," said Kevin. Then he walked towards Justin.

"Uncle Kevin, what took you so long?" Justin was so sharp-eyed that he saw Kevin long before Kevin came up to him. He slipped down from the knees of Jonathan and ran to Kevin right away.

"I'm sorry! Is our little hero Okay?" Kevin and Justin used to be very close while they were in the army base. Their deep connection still existed though they seldom saw each other after Justin began living with Edward.

"I'm fine, but my mommy is hurt really bad." Justin twitched his mouth. He wanted to cry when he thought about his mommy. Daisy was still in a coma.

"Don't worry. Your mommy will be okay. You should have hope in the medical skills of Uncle Tom!" Kevin consoled Justin in a low voice while he nodded at Jonathan. He was also worried about Daisy. But he chose to believe in the medical skills of Tom Qin. Everyone here knew that Tom Qin was a brilliant doctor.

"Well! Uncle Kevin, are you going to arrest all the criminals?" Justin only cared about punishing Jessica and Mary. They were too awful. They must pay for the sins they committed.

"This is the duty of the police. The only thing that I could do is to cooperate with them." Kevin frowned as he thought of the fact that nobody had informed Mr. Yi yet. Then, he thought that the police were really inefficient. They should be expert at handling kidnapping cases. However, everyone was here now, except the real experts. They certainly needed more training to improve their professional competence!

"Yeah, Uncle Kevin, do you know Hero? He said that he was the real boss of the arms dealers." Justin suddenly remembered Hero. He did nothing bad to him and his mommy, so he couldn't tell whether he disliked Hero or not.

"What? Do you mean that Hawk is only a scapegoat?" Kevin started to freak out. If Hero was the real boss behind Hawk, he must be one of their biggest rivals, so where was he all this while? He ought to be super slick and crafty.

"Yes, it did sound like he was the boss behind Hawk. They were making some kind of deal. He went out earlier. But he will be back soon." Justin had a really dour expression on his face. Given Hero's obsession with his mommy, he guessed that man would come back even without fearing for his life. But he didn't tell Kevin about that man's craziness for his mommy.

"Okay, I have to make a plan and get well prepared right away then." Kevin didn't know that the people involved in the kidnapping of Daisy also included the real boss behind Hawk. What's important was that Hero was the chief of arms dealers. That meant he must have several heavy weapons with him. So it ought to be a fierce fight against him.

Kevin wasn't a Major General for nothing. He immediately tightened up the security secretly and put main forces on the ambulance in which Daisy was being treated. He wasn't ready to let down his guard till Daisy was rescued from here and regained consciousness.

But as fate would have it, the situation took a massive turn. Just as Kevin finished all arrangements, something uncalled for happened. He immediately felt things slipping from his hands.

"Major General, something bad has happened. The two women we rescued are gone." One special soldier got close to Kevin and whispered in his ear.

"How could this happen when they were in the house and under surveillance." Kevin frowned again. He couldn't understand how such a strange thing happened.

Yes, we kept them under strict surveillance. But they said they wanted to go to the bathroom. So we let them go and waited outside. We waited for a long while but nobody came out. When we went inside, we saw that nobody was there. There was another exit in the bathroom and we had no clue about it. They must have run away from the exit in the bathroom. You know the yard layout is so complicated. This is why, we couldn't find them easily. But we are certain that they are hiding somewhere in this house."

The special soldier didn't dare to look in Kevin's eyes. Kevin thought that it was possible for them to run away because the soldier guarding them was a new recruit and had no experience in guarding.

"All right. They are still in the yard, so we will find them out sooner or later. Just set it aside for now. Let's focus on Hero. Watch it, Hero is a piece of work. Pull yourself together." So, here they were. They had no other choice but to divert their attention to the more important things. However, things became more complicated just because of their ignorance in watching over Jessica and Mary.

"Yes, Major General." It seemed that Kevin didn't blame him. The special soldier felt relieved. He quickly walked away from Kevin before Kevin changed his mind and took out his anger at him.

Kevin raised his head and looked up at the house. He realized that it was not a simple house. The place occupied a vast area and several small backyards were attached to the main building. They wouldn't see the backyards when they were in the foreyard. He understood that while he was arranging the security a few minutes ago.

Chapter 624: Chapter 624: Help Me (part two)

Kevin sighed deeply. 'Even if I count Luke and his men in, we are still understaffed. The police are still on their way. Oh, God bless us. Please don't let Jessica and Mary meet Hero.' Kevin had put his major security at work on the ambulance in which Daisy was being treated. He was thus, left with no extra men to track down Jessica and Mary. Furthermore, it wouldn't be appropriate to conduct an inch-by-inch search. They were under a fear of ambush and had no idea from where the gangsters might appear all of a sudden. Luckily, they parked their cars in places that were hard to find.

Just as Justin expected, Hero did come back. Though he was aware of some anomalies, he had to come back for Daisy. So, instead of breaking in directly, he sneaked undetected into the house. He was shocked when he saw Jessica and Mary there. He was glad he saw them first. Thank goodness! He could hold the two women as hostages to make his rivals compromise with him. "Cousin Hero, please, take me away." Jessica grabbed Hero's hands forcibly as soon as she met him. She literally abandoned her pride now.

"Relax, Jessica! I came here to pick you up. But who did this to you two? What happened?" Hero wanted to fully understand the situation. He was wondering if he had any chance of winning the upcoming fight.

"Nobody but that bitch Daisy. Someday I will bring her down myself." People like Jessica were rare. She immediately forgot all her pain when she saw the little hope of escaping. Though she was still in danger, she got a little carried away. Now, she wanted to take revenge on Daisy along with Hero.

"Do you really think you still have a chance to hurt Colonel?" Kevin Gu said grimly, pointing his gun at Hero who was standing next to Jessica. Bad luck, Jessica and Mary met Hero.

But, I have a chance." Hero moved so quickly. He immediately grabbed Jessica in front of him. Jessica was nothing but a pawn for him. It would be a shame if he didn't use her now.

"I thought you are her cousin, right? Why are you so cruel to her?" Kevin couldn't believe Hero could hold Jessica in front of him to take a bullet for him. Now, Kevin was hesitant. He didn't know if he should shoot or not. Yes, Jessica was a bad woman. But Kevin was a Major General, a soldier. He couldn't shoot at Hero if it meant risking the life of another person.

"I can betray my own blood brother to save my life. She is only my cousin. She means nothing to me." Hero sneered, putting his gun on Jessica. At the same time, his men moved and held Mary as hostage.

"Oh, Cousin Hero, are you kidding?" Jessica couldn't believe the fact that she was held hostage by Hero. When his gun pointed at her, she shook with fear. When Edward caught her, she was scared but with Hero pointing his gun at her she was in extreme fright.

"Please help me!. Please, don't kill me, I will never.... run away..." Mary begged for mercy. She was not any better than Jessica. She trembled with fear. She felt great regret for running away. If she didn't listen to Jessica's suggestion, she wouldn't be held hostage like that.

"Okay, you win. Let them go. Do you think, it is right for a hero to hold two women as hostages?" Kevin kept pointing his gun at Hero. He was surprised when he saw so many men following Hero. Surprisingly, they all looked tough.

"Not everyone is alike. As for me, I can do everything to stay alive." Hero seemed unconcerned about any possible snipers. He had pre-planned everything before coming in the house. Even if the worst of the worst happened, both the sides would lose. Since there was an army of men following him, he had every chance to win. If he was accompanied by the guys who kidnapped Daisy, he would have been dead by now.

How can you be so confident that I won't shoot you?" This was the only truth that Kevin wanted to know. Yes, he arranged snipers in the dark, but he dared not command the snipers to shoot.

"I don't have to tell you anything. Obviously you know who I am. So why should I be afraid? I guess you are clever enough to figure out who I am, right?" Hero confronted Kevin arrogantly. He didn't know Kevin was here before he came into the house. Kevin was one of the biggest names in the army base of the S city. Hero needed to be very careful while facing Major General Kevin.

"Yeah, you must have made all the arrangements. That's why you dared to come in even when you knew it was unsafe for you to be here. I am really interested in knowing what brings you back." It was very strange that Hero risked his life to come back here. There must be something or somebody important here.

"Colonel Ouyang, I want to take her away today." Hero was not like one of those vulgar gang bosses. He behaved and spoke in a refined and civil manner. Hero had several hidden talents.

"You want to take her away? Aha, who are you? I wonder how are you so confident?" Edward Mu mocked at Hero as he gracefully came close to Hero. His handsome face looked much more regal in the sunshine. He glanced at Hero contemptuously with his charming sharp eyes and then looked down on him. He pretended to behave with utmost grace and ease. It was strange to see him talking like this to an unscrupulous arms dealer.

"And who are you?" Hero was indifferent about the financial news. The only thing he was concerned about was the government affairs as it had a strong impact on his business. So Hero knew nothing about Edward who was the business mogul of the S city.

"Funny, you don't know who I am but you said you want to take my wife away." Edward's mouth twisted in a contemptuous sneer. This left Hero in a more difficult situation. Hero was stunned.

"What? You are the CEO of the FX International Group, Edward Mu." Hero thought Daisy's husband was only a common businessman who was just a son of a rich, powerful family. But he realized how wrong he was when he saw Edward with his own eyes. Edward was strong and smart. This man was a real king in spirit. Although he admitted to the excellence of Edward, he didn't change his mind to take Daisy away. He knew this was his only chance to have Daisy.

"Yes, you are right. So are you still confident enough to take my wife away?" Moments back, Edward was in the ambulance with Daisy. But after Tom finished treating Daisy's wounds, Edward left Daisy to talk to his sweet son. He heard from Justin about Hero. Justin told him Hero was crazy for Daisy. He bristled with anger, so he came here to see the wretch who dared to kidnap his wife.

"Do you really think you can stop me?" Hero laughed loudly and arrogantly. He didn't want to be defeated by Edward in vigor.

"It doesn't bother me, really. Because Daisy would never go with you." With both his hands inserted in the pocket, Edward raised his eyebrows while he stared at Hero. To tell the truth, Hero was a wonderful guy. Edward admired him for the fact that Hero risked everything for the woman he loved. This made him feel, that they were a bit alike.

"Edward, please help me. I don't want to die...." Jessica begged and stared at Edward pitifully. Even though Edward ignored her, she didn't give up, hoping that Edward would save her for old times' sake. In her mind, Edward loved her before. Edward could not be so cruel to the woman he loved. But obviously she was totally wrong. Edward never really loved her.