

In a Love Nest with the Aloof CEO Chapter 521 - 523

Super Beautiful Girl texted: I saw Skylar and her boyfriend. His face isn't clear in the photo, but he's super, super handsome.

Ari replied: Wow, it is Skylar. No wonder she wanted to find out how to give birth to a son.

What did her boyfriend come to our drugstore to buy? Don't tell me it's condoms?

Super Beautiful Girl then replied: A condom's not enough. He bought a pregnancy test kit.

She's so popular lately, but she's already pregnant? But if I had such a boyfriend, I would too.

Melody Davis texted: Oh my god, our drugstore's going to be famous.

The girls continued chatting extensively in the WhatsApp group.

Afterward, someone then posted a screenshot of the chat onto Twitter.

The sudden news caught everyone off guard.

Back at her home, Skylar handed the pregnancy test kit with only one bar on it to Tobias.

The negative result gave her some relief. "Everything's fine. You can relax now."

Confused, he glanced at it and asked, "What do you mean? Since you're not pregnant, why are you late?"

She sighed. "Maybe I'm just too stressed now. I was suddenly put into this position and had suddenly gained so many fans. There have been so many drastic changes to my life. Such a sudden glory certainly needs time for me to digest."

However, he still did not understand what stress had to do with her period. He was not someone who understood everything, much less someone who would study up on women's matters.

Skylar pondered about her situation, planning to drink some herbal tea so that her period would come sooner. If it still did not, she would start to wonder if she had an endocrine disorder. She was confused, for she was not married, did not have children, and had not reached menopause age either. If I do have menopause at such a young age, what would I do in the future?

Furthermore, if she went to the doctors, they would prescribe her some hormone drugs. She was more afraid of that, for she was worried that she would gain weight after eating them.

Weight gained as a result of eating hormonal drugs was not easy to reduce, after all.

She had only just got down to 100 pounds and certainly did not want to gain back the weight.

The more she contemplated the situation, the deeper her frown got.

Distracted, she would not have noticed that her phone had been ringing for quite some time if Tobias had not handed it to her.

It was Kate. Skylar felt somewhat flustered since she was calling so late.

If it was nothing important, Kate would usually text her instead.

As soon as she picked up the phone, Kate rambled on angrily in agitation.

“What’s going on with you, Skylar? I’ve said so many times that you’ve got to be more careful now. You said you were single, but you got exposed soon after. You’re really too willful.

How are you going to clean this mess up now? Can Tobias give you a name or some shares?

He can’t give you anything.”

She could feel Kate’s extreme anger through the phone.

Skylar herself did not know what was going on for Kate to question her so angrily late at night, even mentioning her and Tobias.

Thus, she replied, "I was already very careful. Did someone take a photo and post it online?"

All I did was have a meal with Tobias."

Afterward, Kate asked her to see the Twitter post herself and said that since Skylar could not think of anything, someone else would help her recall it.

Skylar then hurriedly hung up the phone and opened the Twitter app.

She was first on the trending list.

Biting her lip hard, she stood in place as her head became blank.

The hashtag read: #Skylar's secret boyfriend revealed, buying a pregnancy test late at night, suspected upcoming good news.

She clicked on the top post, which had a screenshot of a WhatsApp chat.

There was also a picture of her in the car, with a blurry shot of Tobias' face.

On the other hand, her face was clear in the picture.

She immediately regretted her miscalculation. She had thought that she was safe in the car, but it turned out that many eyes were constantly on her from everywhere.

In a Love Nest with the Aloof CEO Chapter

522

Ironically, her most recent post was her clarifying that she had no boyfriend.

It was a slap to her face.

Noticing that something was up with Skylar, Tobias took her phone. The screen was still on the photo that had been secretly taken.

Skylar's face was visibly gradually becoming pale.

She said, "I'm so dead. Everyone probably knows by now that I'm a liar.

Why did this suddenly happen? What should I do now?"

In comparison, he replied calmly, "There's nothing much to it. Let me know what you think.

I'm fine with cooperating with whatever you want."

She then clasped her phone tightly, her actions betraying the extreme discomfort she felt in her heart.

“Cooperate with me to acknowledge this relationship? I can’t do that right now. It’ll bring too much trouble. If your identity is exposed, they’ll say that I did dirty things to marry rich...”

Also, my previous public image will collapse. I haven’t even stabilized my position in the entertainment industry yet.” Since she knew what she wanted then, she was firm when she spoke.

Tobias was upset by her blatant despise of him. He had made it clear that even if she publicly admitted that they were dating, he would cooperate with her. It was the first time he ever took the initiative to do that for a woman. However, she did not even think twice before rejecting him. Am I that unwelcomed to her?

When met with such matters, Skylar seemed to have lost her resolve. She was not in the company then, so she did not have anyone to help her monitor the public’s opinion.

Thus, she could only scroll through the comments by herself. She knew that Kate was probably with the public relations team at that moment, working overtime to discuss countermeasures.

They probably had not thought of a good countermeasure yet. If they had, Kate would have let her known by then so that she could follow instructions and cooperate.

The user Can’t Wake Up commented: It’s good as long as you’re happy. Blessings.

Another user, Skylar’s Sweet Concubine, commented: My hopes are crushed.

Shiyeeih commented: Hahaha, the embarrassment came too suddenly. Peach-flavored Jellies wrote: Just a liar who doesn’t even dare to admit she’s dating. What a fake.

Number Two wrote: My friend knows one of Skylar's previous classmates. She says Skylar's fierce and tough in private. Her new man is a kept man who drives her car and stays in her villa.

After glancing through the comments, Skylar eventually laughed at the one calling Tobias a kept man.

She said, "The cost of spreading rumors nowadays is really low. As long as you say you have a friend or a classmate, you can create your own story."

Tobias sat on the sofa and cupped his chin as he stared at her with a deep look in his eyes.

"I agree that it's low, but we also have to see who's the person they're spreading rumors about. Usually, for small news, those will be automatically blocked and won't be exposed.

I've already gotten the Twitter system to block a few keywords about you. Do you think that this has become such a huge issue only because of a few screenshots?"

If he had not reminded her, Skylar would really not have contemplated who was the one behind everything.

She sat down, frowning. "There's no news from my manager. I've been stuck on Twitter's trending list for quite a while. I'm worried that if this continues dragging on, it'll turn into an even greater problem. They're all waiting for me to explain now."

Thinking that she was making a fuss, he asked, "Did they photograph us kissing? Or us hugging? There's none of that, so what's there to be afraid of? You can say that it's a friend.

Isn't it pretty normal for a friend to accompany you to the drugstore?"

Skylar was getting increasingly anxious. But that's a pregnancy test kit.

He continued helplessly, "Who on earth said you had to be so honest?"

Besides, it wasn't even photographed, so technically you can just say anything."

In a Love Nest with the Aloof CEO Chapter

523

Although she felt touched and relieved by his words, she could sense that there was something amiss.

For some reason, he looked unhappy.

Soon after, he carried her into the bedroom and placed her on the bed.

He then seemed to vent his anger by biting the softest part of her body.

Skylar yelped in pain, but it was as if he did not hear it. Instead, he simply unbuckled his belt with one hand.

After managing to struggle free, she asked him what he wanted to do.

He replied that he wanted to do something a couple would do. Since he had to remain hidden in public, he should at least be able to do as he wishes at home.

She did not reply that night, and the matter continued to brew on the internet. After all, she was waiting for instructions from the public relations team.

Meanwhile, Kate worked through the night with the PR team to discuss on ways to come up with a perfect explanation.

As long as the matter was not handled well, Skylar would be labeled as a liar forever.

Furthermore, her phone was about to be blown up by the media, who were seeking to verify who the mysterious man was.

Was it like what the internet said that he was Skylar's boyfriend from before she debuted?

The one who kept spending her money and relying on her, basically being a kept man?

Amelia arrived at Royal Entertainment early in the morning the next day.

Her hair was pulled into a neat ponytail, and she was wearing a brown suit that complimented her figure.

As soon as Kate saw her, she pinched the bridge of her nose and asked, "Why are you here?"

Don't you have a shoot today?"

Instead, Amelia took out a paper bag and replied, "Kate, you definitely didn't rest well. I especially got up early to buy this quiche for you. Skylar's also a little too irresponsible. The company's favoring her so much, but she's still so reckless. She caused the problem, but so many people are cleaning up after her. I didn't sleep well last night because I was feeling sorry for you, that you had to worry so much for us." Also angry, Kate said, "What else can I do? What has happened has happened. At least you'll save me from worry and not cause such a scandal. Skylar's young after all and can't stay calm. She can't bear any burdens. She just got popular but had gotten herself into such a web of mess. It's disregarding our good intentions and actions."

Amelia then smiled modestly and replied, "Don't say that. How can I compare to Skylar? Things have been going so smoothly for her since she debuted. She's already been named a young talent. I just don't know how much of an impact this issue will have on her. Will Pretty Detective be affected by this?" Kate glanced at her with a meaningful look. "I don't think so. The director pointed her out to go for the audition." In a worried tone, Amelia replied, "But Skylar doesn't really have experience, after all. These types of shows are usually released during the new year. Hence, I don't know if something like this will happen again during the filming period, up until the day it's released. I don't mean anything else, though. I'm just a little worried. After all, I'm also from Royal Entertainment and have to go through this with the company." At that moment, Kate's mind was a mess. Amelia's words did make some sense. Although Skylar was popular then, there were still many unpredictable parts in her life.

No company would like such a disobedient artiste.

The contract wrote that the artiste could not announce their relationship without approval.

Due to such a domineering clause, the company had broken up countless couples. Some had even been dating since they were in school but were forced to break up once they were signed to the company.

Among those artistes, there were not many whose relationships could withstand reality.

Acting like a couple to gain popularity, however, was different from dating.

Yet, no one dared to break Skylar up from her boyfriend. After all, even Royal Entertainment belonged to him.