

Alpha's Blind Luna Online Free

Chapter 95

"Is that the paperwork that you wanted me herefor?" I finally asked Bryan after we disengagedfrom our hug and I poured some iced tea.

"Sadly, no. There is something that came upfrom the High Council and I thought we shouldgo over it together." Bryan made a face.

"Goddess, are they trying to push for Alpha Kingagain?"

"In a way."

I grimaced. "They just need to let up." Bryan nodded.

I took a drink of the iced tea and smiled. "Thanksfor making the tea, Denise."

"Why do you think she made it?"

I raised my eyebrow at him. "Because it's good." Denise giggled. "You're welcome, Alpha."

The rest of the day was not nearly as eventful. Bryan and I poured over the paperwork on the desk. It was already turning dark and my eyeswere getting strained looking at all the pages westill had left.

"Go home, Bryan. I'm not in the mood to getanything else done tonight. Take Denise out anduse my card.》

Bryan stretched and stood up. "Come with us."

I shook my head. "Nah. I have my meal all ready. Hector said he will be gone till late so I canfinally have a moment."

"If you say so." Bryan was looking at meincredulously.

He was worried I was becoming a workhorsehermit again. He wasn't wrong but he eventuallyleft the office. I stretched and looked out thewindow. His car pulled out and I watched as itdrove down the road, a quiet emptiness settling in. Bryan had bigger things to worry about nowthan a beaten down Alpha. Making my way downto the kitchen, I pulled out tonight's preppedmeal

Hector kept up Auri's meal prep and wasn't halfbad at cooking. He would always say portioncontrol was the most important thing and if Iwas serious about getting back to where I was,especially without the boost from the Alpha Kinggenes, I needed to take it seriously.Lazily,Iheated it up in the microwave and sat down atthe kitchen counter. Pulling out my phone,Iscrolled through my email I was halfway through my meal when a numberpopped up I didn't know. My brow furrowed butIanswered it on speaker

"Hello?"

It's good to hear your voice.

My fork dropped as I started at the phone."Auri?" Disbelief tumbling out of me

She laughed though.'Who else?'

I put my hands on either side of my head,leaningmy elbows on the counter.I took a deep breath asCato howled enthusiastically.

Logan?'

"Sorry, I just...I honestly...didn't know.I didn'tknow if you were still....here."

She was quiet for a moment.'I thought Morganwas talking to you?'

"I haven't heard from him in two months or so."

That bastard. I'll have to have a chat with him.'She cursed.

I smiled."It's good to hear your voice as well.You sound good. Are you okay?" My mind justrambled.

"I'm good. Morgan found me. We nearly decimated a small town at first but we talked itout." Auri paused."After punching and yelling itout." She laughed."He told me you had called him. That the two of you were trying to work outSaving me."

Ilaced my fingers together and covered my eyes,leaning my head forward."I didn't know whatelse to do. I couldn't just sit here. Morgan wouldhave more information than I could ever have oreven have access to.)

'It was sweet. I was mad but I knew, just like Bryan, it was coming from a loving place.'

"Bryan's having a pup. He just told me today. Wants me to be the godfather."

She paused for a moment. 'You mean his tiny limp..1

I barked out a laugh. "That's what I said!" Aurora laughed as well. Goddess, her voiced sounded good. It sounded strong. 'We did it. Got through all of them. The Bloodhunter coven is no more. We submitted the paperwork to the High Council. You might see a deposit in the pack's account in the next couple days.

"What about you?" I was scared to ask. I was so happy to hear her but what was the cost? "Are you...?" My words couldn't come out, I feared the answer

I'm okay, Logan. Morgan found it. Found a way for me. It wasn't a fun experience by any stretch of the imagination but he had a team of doctors and witches. They managed to fix what was killing me. Mind you, not without removing a good bit of my insides.' She snorted. 'I eat basically the same amount as before and I have to give myself shots twice a day to ensure I'm getting what I need nutrient-wise. Other than that though, I'm alive and well to live my life.'

I coughed out a sob. My hand covered my mouth as I let my heart break and rebuild. She was okay. She was alive. Living. She wasn't dying anymore. Morgan had done it.

Logan, I'm okay now.' She was trying to comfort me.

I nodded, knowing full well she couldn't see me but it didn't matter. She was safe and she was alive. "The Nova?"

Morgan had to painfully remove it from my system before they could fix anything. That was a few weeks after I left. It was rough but it's all gone. Everything destroyed along with the coven

I let silence fall between us. It was too good to be 'Logan?' "I'm waiting for the 'but' somewhere."

Auri chuckled. 'I'm sorry to disappoint. I don't have one for you. Between you and Morgan, you saved me. I'm headed back to New York in an hour. My flight leaves from Stockholm.'

"You'll be back in the states?" (Mmhmm.)

I sat straight up. "Let me come to you. Bryan and Hector can watch the pack for a few days. I'll fly out and meet you."

'Logan.' Her voice was quiet.

"Unless, you don't want...." I realized that I jumped before thinking.

'No!' Auri's voice squeaked out. 'Sorry! I didn't mean for it to sound like that!'

I smiled as I heard her scramble for words.

'I just didn't want you to leave if you're busy.' "It's not a problem."

'We can stay at my place then. It's been mostly cleared out.. I think I heard her chew on the last few words, thinking.'

"We?" I couldn't assume. I couldn't get my hopes up. The moon goddess had been too cruel to us. We never had it that easy.

Of course. You and me.' There was a long pause. (I love you, Logan. I've always loved you. Through it all, I always managed to still fight my way back to you. Even if you didn't want or need me. I'd like... 'another pause.' ... I want to try again.'

"Auri." I whined, my heart in my throat.

We can't go back. We can't just try and start again. I know that but... I don't want to keep living without you by my side. After being with you at the house, these past weeks have felt empty without you.' Her words trailed off after getting quieter and quieter.

"I love you too. Goddess, I love you so much that I couldn't even pretend to hope. I want nothing more than to hold you."

For the first time, I heard the background, a flight being called over the loudspeaker. She was already at the airport. She was coming home

"Where do I meet you?"

She mulled over my question for minute."Howabout at the park by the ocean? There is one closeto my place. I'll send you the pinned location ofexactly where. At 2pm on Tuesday.

It was Sunday night, checking on my phone."Alright.2pm Tuesday."

A few moments pasted.'I'll feel you later,Logan.'I bite back a smile."I'll see you,Auri."

The call disappeared from my phone and I staredat it for a while until finally, I couldn't hold it inlyelled in relief.In excitement and in celebration. Maybe we had a chance this time.The fact that she was willing to try and that sheloved me still, excited me beyond belief.I calledHector and Bryan, connecting them to the samecall.①

Alpha?'

What's up?"

"I'm leaving for New York tomorrow. I'll be gonefor a few days atleast."

What the hell is in New York?"Bryan asked.

"A second chance. Or maybe a fourth chance?Idon't know. I've lost count."

Auri.' Hector breathed

'Seriously?! Is she okay? What did she say? Didshe say if she coming back?

I smiled at Bryan's barrage of questions."She'sflying in from overseas. I'm going to meet her."

Will she come back?'Hector asked, still verymuch quieter than Bryan.

"I'll cross that bridge when I can hold her in myarms again. When I can confirm that she really isokav."

"Well, go get her Alpha. We will hold down thefort.'Bryan's voice came through the line.

"Bring home our Luna.'Denise added.I nodded, my hands shaking."I'll try."