

Contract With Alpha Logan by Misha K

Chapter 31

Kylie POV

I stared at the maid as if she had grown two heads. Or was she joking? “What?” I asked, wondering if I imagined her saying things. My voice was louder than I intended it to be.

She winced and repeated, “Miss Zoe Mueller is here to see you. She is waiting for you in the main hall.”

Dread knotted in my stomach as surprise flickered in me. I didn’t expect Zoe to come to see me a day before the ball. I was sure that she would come with Graham. “Has Alpha Graham come with her?”

“No, Luna Kylie,” she said, now a little nervous. “She is here with four gammas.”

Her arrival was odd. I could sense it, but my mind went back to what happened last night when I was with Alpha Logan and suddenly it occurred to me she had come to see what was happening between me and him. Now I feared she would learn about my intentions. If she came to know, she would report to Graham and my plans would fail fast.

Swallowing my fear down my throat, I said, “Please ask her to wait. I’ll be there soon.”

The maid bowed to me and left. I sent a message to Katy about it and copied the same to Shir and Fenris. I knew that Alpha Logan must already know about her visit. Whenever a guest entered a pack's territory, the Alpha of the pack was informed immediately.

After taking a long bath in which I pondered over how to tackle her, I came out and took time to dress. I knew that this was going to irritate her, but then, if I went too quickly, she would think that I feared her. When I reached downstairs, I saw that Katy, Shir and Fenris were already sitting with her. She was absolutely quiet while Shir and Fenris were talking, Katy was flipping pages of a fashion magazine furiously.

As soon as Zoe saw me, she got up with a broad smile. "Luna Kylie," she chirped. "I was sent by Alpha Graham a day earlier to check on how you were doing?" She glanced upstairs. "I thought you were living in the guest room. Isn't that floor only for the family members?"

I raised my eyebrow. "So that was what you wanted to check on? Where I was living? Shouldn't you check that for yourself? And the last I checked, you were living with my husband," I snapped.

She cringed. "Luna Kylie, you are too harsh. I have come here despite my pregnancy just to see you and yet you are so mean," she said that loudly for others to hear.

I rolled my eyes because by now I was used to her antics. "Why?" I asked. From the corner of my vision, I could see Katy suppressing a smile as Fenris and Shir tensed up.

"Why?" Zoe said, confused. "I'm sorry I didn't get your question."

I crossed my arms across my chest. "Why did you come? It wasn't needed. I am the Luna and coming here to tell me you wanted to check up on me means you are insulting me. And who are you to insult me?"

Tears welled in her eyes immediately. “Luna Kylie, I am so sorry, but I never wanted to upset you. Alpha Graham wanted me to come here today, and that’s why I preponed my visit. I know I took you by surprise.” She glanced upstairs as if accusing me she caught me cheating, but I knew she had no evidence of it. “But it’s not right to stay on the same floor as Alpha Logan.

“How dare you take my name with that tongue of yours?” Alpha Logan’s loud growl sounded in the hall, making everyone shake in fear.

Zoe turned sharply to look at him. “Alpha Logan!” she cowered I was just- I mean-”

“Shut up!” he snapped, glaring at her. My eyes landed on him and I saw his fangs slipping out. I have no idea, but tingles spread on my skin after seeing them. Beta Ace was standing right next to him, staring at Zoe with narrowed eyes. Hearing his loud growl, Gamma Andrew also came running down, along with a few warriors.

“Gamma Shir, on whose authority have you allowed her to enter my main hall? Is she your Luna? Do you allow anyone to enter your Alpha’s house without prior permissions?”

Shir gulped. He had never seen Alpha Logan so angry. “Alpha Logan, apologies. Actually, Alpha Graham sent her on his behalf.” Zoe started shaking uncontrollably.

“Just like he would send any other member of his pack, right?”

“Right, Shir replied.

“Gamma Andrew!” Alpha Logan said. “Escort the guest to a living quarter outside the house.”

My jaw dropped because a living quarter outside meant Zoe would live along with the omegas who served the household. Zoe paled. She started bawling.

“Alpha Logan, I am pregnant. How can you ask me to live with the servants? Is that how you treat your guests?”

He narrowed his eyes at her. “Even servants get pregnant! Now leave.”

Gamma Andrew was beside her in a flash of a second. He escorted her out, but Zoe threw a hateful glare at me before leaving. I saw her taking her phone out of the purse and I knew she was going to call Graham and report the situation. Fenris also went after her.

The moment she left, Alpha Logan came to me. “Are you okay?” he asked, his voice turning gentle.

“I am fine,” I replied with a smile. “But you’ve created a bigger mess.”

Katy laughed. “I’ll take care of her if you like.”

I shook my head. “No, I will take care of her. She has come here to spy on me. Isn’t it obvious?”

Alpha Logan cocked his eyebrow and asked. “What are you planning, Kylie?”

I winked and gave him a mischievous smile. “Wait and watch. Can you give me a car today?”

“I can give you my kingdom.”

“Oh, please!” Katy snapped. “Get a room, you two.”

“We already got one,” Alpha Logan replied, giving me a crooked smile, and I blushed.

“Fuck me!” she said, exasperated, and left. And surprisingly, Ace followed her, murmuring something about kingdoms and wolves.

When Katy left, Alpha Logan said, “I don’t trust Zoe around you. So I am going to send a few warriors also for you.” With a few warriors, I didn’t know that Alpha Logan would send eight warriors. Just double the amount that was there to guard Zoe. They were all waiting in two jeeps for me, along with Zoe’s guards.

I had gone to Zoe’s room to ask her to join me for the Golden Gate project. She looked at me with wide eyes. “Are you going for that?” she asked.

“Yes,” I shrugged, “You wanted to see how I am doing. There’s no better way of seeing me in action. Come on. After all, she had to report back to Alpha Graham, and I knew that if I didn’t keep her with me, she was going to cook up weird stories.

The fact that I had so many witnesses added to my advantage.

“Will Alpha Logan join us?” she asked, trying to keep my pace behind me as we headed to the driveway.

“No.”

When we reached the project site, Zoe’s expressions were priceless. “Are we going to walk around this place?” she asked, horrified, looking at the vast expanse of a dry field with a few tumbleweeds rolling around.

“Yep!” I smiled.

It was a small victory but was overshadowed by what happened at dinner in the evening.
