

Contract With Alpha Logan by Misha K

Chapter 71

Kylie POV

Logan had asked his pack members to accommodate the Nightbloom pack members in their tents for a day, until we decided where they were going to stay, eventually. I wanted to meet all my pack members after the war, but I wanted them to settle down and also come up with a decision before I met them.

Since we were all too tired to decide the same day, we rested in our rooms. However, we all met the next day.

In the conference room of the hotel, Alpha Logan made me sit on his right and I sat there proudly. "Shall I tell them my decision?" I murmured to him.

"This is your victory, love," he whispered. "And whatever you decide, I'll go with it."

I looked at all who were in front of me—Shir, the council members of the Brownfur pack, Ace, my family members, Alpha Jared of the Norse pack, and some senior members of the Nightbloom pack.

The weight of the decisions I had to make, knowing they would have long-term effects on them, was truly overwhelming.

Taking a deep breath in, I said, "Thank you all for being with me. This is one of the most important days that will go down in the history of times, and so I want to make it right for everyone. I will come straight to the point." I paused to scan the people in the room. They looked eagerly at me, except for the wolves of the Brownfur pack. “The Nord pack has defeated the Brownfur pack with the help of the Norse pack, and Alpha Liam is our captive. Starting today, the Brownfur pack and the Nightbloom pack will be combined.”

Murmurs surfaced immediately and I could see protest in the eyes of the Brownfur pack members. My wolf bristled because being an Alpha wolf, she didn’t like people challenging her. So, I raised my voice and said,

“There will be no discussion about this decision. The Brownfur pack will be merged with the Nightbloom pack! I could’ve ousted all of you and dismissed you as rogues,” I growled. “But I hate to see a flourishing community like yours to be rogues!” My words hit the mark, and they all became silent. “The Nightbloom pack members will live in this pack’s territory, but we will be expanding this territory to accommodate them. I am not asking you to share your homes with them, but I am asking you to be with them in this challenging time!”

For the first time in my life, my pack members smiled at me with pride on their faces. One of them thumped the table in front of me to support my decision, and all others joined him.

Suddenly, Logan interjected, “I will sanction forty million dollars to build new homes for the Nightbloom pack members!”

More thumping followed as my chest swelled with pride. I mouthed, ‘I love you, ‘ to him, and he grinned.

The Brownfur pack members cooled down because this kind of investment meant new jobs.

Taking a rough breath in, I continued, “Since I will stay with my husband and my mate, I appoint Shir as the Alpha-in-command for the moment.”

“What?” Shir’s mouth dropped. “B–But you are the Alpha of this pack!” he rasped. Not only he, everyone else was taken by surprise.

I intertwined my fingers with Logan's and held our hands up. "I just got married guys! It's important for me to spend some quality time with my husband and mate. Give me some time, please," I whined.

A few chuckles followed, and then the whole room burst into laughter, including my husband. Wondering what was so funny, I blinked at them with confusion. I had just got married and haven't been able to spend time with him at all. I looked at grandfather Hanks and he too was laughing. In fact, he was laughing so hard that he was wiping tears from his eyes. I blushed heavily. Alpha Logan pulled me from my chair and made me sit in his lap.

"Whaaat?" I exclaimed.

He shook his head as he continued to laugh. "Nothing, sweetheart. You made the right decision!"

My lips curled up. "Then why are you all laughing?"

"Because you are so adorable. Goddess, how could I get so lucky?" he said and kissed my temple.

My chest filled with warmth. I elbowed him lightly in the banter. "I have one more announcement to make."

"Sure," he said warmly.

I turned my face to the people and said, "Since the Beta Nico is dead, Fenris will be your new Beta."

Fenris's mouth dropped to the floor. "I-I?"

I nodded firmly. "Yes, you. And both you and Shir are going to take the responsibility from today. Our plan is to visit the Moon Goddess temple and perform the ceremony tonight."

Both Shir and Fenris got up from their chairs, their expressions full of gratitude. Shir said, "Alpha Kylie, we both are going to do our best to lead your pack until you want us."

Goddess. Alpha Kylie sounded so... good. I smiled at them. "Thank you. Also, it is time that you tell everyone that you both are mates."

A moment of stunned silence later, murmurs rippled in the room. I silenced them all by saying, "After you both have taken the oath for the pack, I will make sure that you are married officially by the Shaman in the temple."

Fenris blushed as Shir looked at him with tenderness. "Thank you so much, Alpha Kylie," Shir said.

One of the pack members of the Brownfur pack raised his hand. "What will be the new name of our pack?"

That was a question I was dreading because I didn't want to hurt the feelings of any of the pack members.

Thankfully, this time; Grandfather Hanks intervened. "According to the laws, since it was the Nord pack that defeated the Brownfur pack, the Brownfur pack members will be now a part of the Nord pack. The name Brownfur will no longer exist, and everyone will be called members of the Nord pack. He looked at us. The Nightbloom pack participated in the war by boycotting the Lunar pack, making them equally involved. It is up to the Nord pack and the Nighbloom pack to decide upon the name." Elder Hanks smiled and added, "The decision of naming the new pack is up to your Alpha and Luna."

Excitement surged through me. I bit my lower lip as I glanced nervously at Logan. With another kiss on my temple, he declared, "We shall name the new pack the Nightbloom pack!"

Cheers erupted in the room as my pack members hugged and congratulated each other. I blinked away the tears from my eyes. "Thank you," I whispered to Logan.

"How could I steal your thunder, Kylie?" he said, making me fall in love with him more than ever. He respected my feelings so much that I was getting afraid of it.

With a deep breath, I turned to him completely, my arms instinctively wrapping around his neck. "I'm proud of you," I said through a choked throat and slammed my lips on his. He sighed and opened his mouth for me. His hands slid beneath my shirt, cupping my boob. We both kissed each other passionately without realizing that the room had gone silent.

"Get a room, both of you!" Katy's sharp voice broke our reverie.

I blushed as Logan growled at her.

The meeting was adjourned. I went to the rest of my pack members to talk to them and express my appreciation for their support.