

Chapter 49

"Sir, what should we do?" A man walked inside the cabin, and the alpha behind the chair looked at the letter before crumbling it and gritting his teeth.

He had gotten a notice from the council that the Black Scar Pack had accused them of threatening their Luna, and he had countered with the demand for evidence that Simon wasn't able to provide, but what now? It was a direct threat from Alpha Simon himself. Everyone in this country knows that the Black Scar pack never initiates a threat directly. They always go through the council.

In the past, the Black Scar pack had threatened only three packs personally, and the alpha of those packs had to rub their noses on his feet to save their pack and lives. www.loveofwar.com

"How did they find out that the rogue activity was our plan? I thought you said no one would be able to find it," The alpha looked at his beta, who bowed his head.

"I am sorry, alpha. We underestimated them. They were able to find and connect the links in less than three days," The beta said, and the alpha clenched his fists.

He had promised his daughter he would handle this Athena by hook or by crook, but by the likes of how strong she has become from a mere Gama, and has such a strong backup, he doesn't think he would be able to do anything anymore. Though they countered the warning from Council, it would be foolish to think the council won't keep an eye on their activities now. Even the council members knew what had been going around these packs.

It won't be long before they connect the dots too, and if they found them guilty and found out all the illegal things they have done and used so far, his leadership would be taken away despite his alpha blood.

"We are laying low for now. Is there any news?" The alpha asked before closing his eyes, and his beta nodded.

"According to our guards spying on the packs, that rogue girl and Alpha Simon will visit the White Moon pack," the beta said, and the alpha raised his brows before opening his eyes.

"Occasion?"

"Unclear,"

"Okay. Keep a close look at them. If my daughter calls again to speak to me, tell her I am busy with training recruits. I am in no mood of hearing her whining over Athena's arrival. It's high time I think about protecting this pack first," the alpha said, and the beta nodded.

If you had cared about it from the beginning, things haven't come this far, the beta thought before going to meet Luna and inform her of the latest news about the alpha and his illegitimate daughter.

Athena looked at the path that they had once run away from to save them some face with a sigh. It's impeccable how time flies and changes your situation completely. Once the hated and rejected Gama rogue was now wanted and loved by the most dangerous alpha in the country.

"What are you thinking about?" Simon held her hands before putting up the partition between the driver and themselves, and Athena shook her head. "We are almost there," Athena said.

They have been traveling for more than six hours nonstop.

"Don't you want to know why I wanted to come here?" Athena asked the question that had been troubling her.

"I trust you, my love. If you want to come here personally and show this Alpha and Luna their places, I am always there to support you. Simon smiled.

"It's my mom's death anniversary in an hour, and I wanted to see her grave. I have been thinking about it since I saw them in my dream, but I was waiting for the Council's reply. Today is the perfect day to do both," Athena said, and Simon, who had no idea about it, finally understood why Jake looked at her sympathy when she mentioned coming to the White Moon pack.

"Everything will be fine," Simon kissed her temple before placing her head on his shoulder as he caressed her hair softly, making her close her eyes. Meanwhile, Cole switched off the lights in his room, ready to sleep when Brandon stirred up his mind link.

"What is it, Brandon? We just met half an hour ago. What else is left to discuss? Can we not do it tomorrow? I haven't slept a wink for almost 30 hours now." Cole pinched the bridge of his nose as his gaze fell on Bianca, sleeping soundly.

"Sir, I know you are tired, and I wouldn't have disturbed you if this wasn't so important for the pack and -

"Can you come straight to the point?" Cole snapped and took a glass of water.

"Athena is here," Brandon said, and the glass slipped from Cole's hand, shattering to tiny pieces, and Bianca woke up in shock.

"What the-" Bianca looked at Cole, standing there with dazed eyes, which meant he was mind-linking someone.

But what could be so important and shocking that the glass slipped from his hand, and he didn't even flinch at the glass shards that pierced his skin? She stood from her place before bending and taking out the glass piece from his leg, making him flinch and look down before he concentrated back on what Brandon said.

"Can you repeat?"

"Athena is almost here. Our guards noticed her at some distance while patrolling the forests. She is with another powerful man. Probably an alpha," Brandon said.

He must be Simon. Cole thought before he looked at the clock.

It was almost midnight. What is the meaning of coming here at this time? If Athena had come here running away from Simon, it would've been a different case, but Simon is with her. What do they want? What are they planning?

Cole turned around before halting mid-step.

Looking back at the digital clock on the nightstand, he noticed the date, and realization dawned upon him.

How could he forget about such an important day in her life?

"Welcome them and let them stay at our guest house. Tell them I will www.loveofwar.com address them in the morning if they ask about me," Cole ended the mind link before placing his hand on Bianca's shoulders.

"You don't need to do that. I will ask a maid to come and clean this. Go back to sleep." The soft smile on Cole's face shocked Bianca.

It's been so long since she last saw Cole smiling like this while looking at her.

So it was indeed true.

Love and Care with good food are the things that can win a man's heart. Bianca smiled to herself, thinking about what to cook tomorrow, unaware of the fact that her love was happy because her archenemy was entering the pack.

I can't go in front of Athena looking like this. If I went now, she might think how desperate I am to meet her. Let's get a good sleep to look presentable. Cole told himself before closing his eyes, and Bianca, who thought he came to sleep with her because she cooked for him today, slept with a blissful smile.

Meanwhile, Simon's car stopped in front of the hotel near the White Moon pack.

"As much as we hate them, it doesn't sound right to go there in the middle of the night. Is that okay with you? I know you want to be close to your mother and -

"You are very thoughtful. I am proud of you," Athena smiled, and Simon sighed in relief.

"Let's go," Simon booked a room for himself before asking his subordinates, who accompanied them to book rooms for themselves.

"Have a good night. You guys worked hard," Simon said before walking inside the room.

After quickly freshening up, he was about to call Fabian to know how Jake's team was working when he found Athena sitting in the corner near the window with a sad expression.

"Athena, come sleep," Simon said, and as he had guessed, she was lost in her thoughts.

She must be thinking about her parents or how this pack filled her life with so many negative memories," Simon thought. Dialing Fabian's number, he quickly took the updates of what was happening in the pack and if the alphas or anyone contacted them.

"Okay. If possible, tell them to work in shifts. It would be more efficient. Yes, let's hope that. I will try," Simon ended the call before walking to Athena with a big smile on his face to improve her mood.

"Come here," he pulled her to himself before playing soft music.

"Simon? What are you -

"Let's dance," Simon placed her hand on his chest before holding her hand and moving along the beats.

"What has gotten into you?" Athena smiled at his childish behavior, and Simon grinned.

"What? Don't tell me you are shy about dancing with me. This is not the first time we are dancing. Do you not want to dance? If that's the case, should we try something else? Something that might include subtracting your clothes and adding my-"

Athena placed her hand on his mouth before he could finish speaking.

"Shut up," Athena hid her face in his chest, knowing all too well he was just trying to make her smile.

"I love you, Athena," Simon cupped her cheeks before pecking them softly. "Let's sleep. We have a busy day tomorrow," Simon tugged on her sleeve before taking off her top, rendering her in a bra and cotton jeans. www.moveofwar.com

"Why are you still wearing these? Get comfortable," Simon looked at her sternly, and Athena looked at him mischievously.

"Yeah? Make me comfortable," Athena stood on her toes before biting Simon's earlobe.

"Athena, Simon growled in warning, and she took a step back before she took off her jeans in front of him, Simon's gaze traveling her body in a hungry desire.

"Let's sleep," Athena smirked before she walked to the bed, and Simon released a growl again before he jumped on the bed, making Athena www.moveofwar.com bounce on the bed with a squeal.

"Simon, everyone will hear you," Athena widened her eyes as if she was embarrassed when Simon could clearly see she was enjoying this. "You just wait and watch, baby. Once I claim you completely, I will see if you have the heart to stay as playful or not," Simon rubbed his nose under her chin, and Athena took a deep breath, her chest heaving up and down against Simon, who groaned before sighing.

"You will be the death of me," Simon laid on the side, and Athena didn't like how far he was.

"Hug me, my love," Athena used the nickname he uses on her, and Simon, who had closed his eyes to ease the frustration in his body, opened them in shock.

"Say that again,"

"My love," Athena smiled, and Simon's heart skipped a beat before he pulled her close.

"Stupid girl," he smiled to himself, hugging her close to himself.

The next day-

"Why haven't they arrived? Brandon informed me that he saw her on the borders and -

"They are staying in a hotel near the borders of the pack," Lucas answered, and Cole sighed.

"Sir, they are here. I have let them inside. However, rather than coming here, they have gone to the graveyard," Brandon walked inside the cabin, and Cole stood from his chair.

"They are here? Why didn't you call me when they arrived? It's okay. I know it's an important day for her, and it's better she takes out some of her anger and sadness before coming here," Cole paced back and forth before deciding he would go there too.

Meanwhile, Bianca, sleeping soundly in her room, heard the news of Athena's and Simon's arrival from the maid who brought her breakfast, and all the sleep vanished from her eyes.