

Chapter 65

It was fun for Celine. She was roaming in the pack, tearing rogues like they were some old clothes not needed in this world.

"Come at me," Celine snarled at the group of 40 rogues, and as soon as one of them stepped forward, she launched herself at them, shredding, dismembering without mercy.

Running towards the south part, she looked at the people struggling with the rogues, and she took a deep breath before ambling towards the borders.

"A white wolf? Who is she?" Jason asked no one in particular, and Drake, who heard from Andrew that Athena was the only one around them with a pure white wolf, looked at the wolf in shock before he stepped away, giving her way to walk however she wanted.

It wasn't news to the members of the Blue Stone pack that Athena wasn't to be turned into her wolf form while there was a situation like this because it won't ever mean good news to anyone.

Andrew had mentioned Athena has marvelous control over her wolf, but if she changes and strolls towards you with a devious look, the best thing to do is step away from her because the chances are, she doesn't even know what she might do.

At that time, you won't be a pack member to her. You would be just a positive or negative person.

Andrew had told them everything as soon as he heard from Simon because he didn't want anyone to put themselves in danger by thinking she was the same childish woman they could tame.

"W-what the hell?" One of the rogues stumbled back when the white wolf towered over them.

Her white color was merely an assumption by the rogues. Her fur was dripping blood and was looking red.

"Guys, step back," Drake said to Jason and others, who scrunched their brows, not saying anything and doing as Drake told them.

"Attacking the pack? You guys are full of negativity. How much my claws want to dig deep into your skin and tear you apart, mmm," Celine cracked the bones in her neck before she pounced on the group of rogues, snarling and growling as she dismembered them one by one with great pleasure.

Drake turned away to save himself from this horrifying scene. He could feel everyone's heartbeat picking pace because of how Athena was being right now.

Half of them weren't even sure who this white wolf was. All they knew was that she was attacking the rogues like a bulldozer machine breaking houses in an instant.

"Don't I look at her. Most wolves don't like being stared at," Drake @ wW.m0v1w0r.m.com mumbled, and they noticed how the wolf killed the rogues in a few minutes.

The disfigured bodies piling on the ground looked horrendous, and the stench of blood was heavy in the air. They felt like gagging at how awful it smelled.

Everyone noticed how the wolf left a few rogues who looked like they would pee their pants any second.

"We won't do anything. Please forgive us. This is our first time. We will leave," The rogues begged for mercy, and the wolf turned away.

Mercy was granted to them.

Drake's heart almost leaped to his mouth when he saw the wolf coming towards him.

He flinched and closed his eyes momentarily, knowing all too well, if he ran, she would love the chase. That was the primal instinct of predators like them.

Celine lifted her paw and patted Drake's head, making his heart beat at a pace he never thought was possible.

"Good," Celine said before she looked at others and turned around to leave to go to another border now.

She was ensuring she had the maximum fun by killing as many rogues as she could before Athena snapped out of her betrayal phase. Athena was sitting in her headspace, completely dazed. It was as if the outer world didn't matter to her anymore. She was numb.

Her eyes were closed, and Celine was doing good in blocking the mind barrier so that no noise reached Athena and disturbed her peace, or should she say, stop her fun?

Reaching the east part, Celine looked around, unsatisfied with the number of rogues present in this part of the pack. Is that because behind this border was a lake, and it made it harder for the rogues to infiltrate from this side? Celine nodded at herself, and Fabian and Cooper looked at the white wolf in pure amazement.

They were the leaders on the east part, and they didn't need to be told twice who this wolf was.

For her fur to be dripping with this much blood, it didn't take a genius to know what she had been doing for some time.

"Athena," Cooper's words softened, and he looked at the girl in pity.

From the moment he laid his eyes on this girl and heard from Andrew who she was and how much she meant to him, Cooper had only wanted this girl for his alpha. He still believes that Andrew would care for this free-spirited girl better than this Black Scar pack who doesn't deserve her. And to see she was being like this in a pack of fighters, his theory strengthened even more. His heart ached for this girl, paired wrongly with an alpha who couldn't give her the world.

Even Andrew can't give the world to her, but his pack would at least accept Athena wholeheartedly, unlike the Black Scar pack, who questions her nature time after time.

Celine's ears perked when she heard Athena's name being spoken so softly. This was the first someone mentioned her like this since she changed, and she looked at Cooper before strolling towards him.

She raised her paw and placed it on Cooper's head affectionately.

"I will protect you," Celine said, and Cooper didn't know whether to laugh or cry at her choice of words.

"This should be our sentence, Athena," Cooper thought, closing his eyes and nodding.

She noticed the bruises and cuts on Cooper's hands and body and touching them with her paws, making sure she didn't scratch him further, and Cooper sighed at her care.

Celine smiled at such a positive person for Athena before she looked at @W.n0v1w0r.m.com the rogues and walked to them slowly.

"Have you been giving my people a hard time?" Celine asked, and before Fabian and Cooper could blink, she started shredding people, biting them, dismembering their bodies with her mouth, and they looked at her mouth agape.

Now they know why her fur is this shade of red.

Celine closed her eyes to sharpen her senses when the rogues started jumping on her. One of them bit her back, and Cooper widened his eyes. "Athena!" Cooper immediately turned into his wolf form and tore the wolf, making Celine turn to the guy with a nod.

Fabian kept standing there, not sure how to react to the situation anymore.

This was the second time he was seeing Andrew's beta acting like this with Athena. Does he love her? Fabian thought before shaking his head. This wasn't the time to think about these things. This was the time to fight with these rogues.

In less than ten minutes, the rogues were killed, and Cooper raised his paw for Celine to high-five happily. @W.n0v1w0r.m.com

Realizing what he was doing, Cooper was about to put his paw down when Celine placed her paw on his, looking at Cooper and blinking, making his heart melt at the girl.

Athena might look dangerous to everyone, but the people who have understood her nature and observed her would know she looks like she needs love and assurance from people around her rather than them judging her powers and nature.

"You look beautiful today. You know that?" Cooper whispered before walking to her, and Celine nodded and turned before walking towards the other side of the packs.

This wasn't good. She shouldn't be around people like Cooper, who would bring out the good in her and awaken Athena. If Athena became conscious of what Celine was doing, she wouldn't waste a second in forcing her control over the body. Celine shook her head before she ran in the North direction.

As far as she knows, the west side is the most prone to the rogues, so Simon and Andrew must be there. She should prevent herself from encountering them.

Meanwhile, Simon winced in pain when Scarlett sliced his arm again. It was already becoming hard fighting her because he didn't want to hurt her, and now the wolfsbane on her sword was hurting him.

"Why are you not attacking, Simon? Is this how you are going to protect your pack? If I knew we were fighting a losing battle, I would've never sided with you. At least think about Athena. What about her? If you get hurt and die today, what would happen to her? If you didn't love her, then why did you claim her? There were more than a hundred people, who would kill to be called hers," Samuel's words made Simon's pupils dilate.

How can he forget about her? Samuel was right. If he doesn't counterattack Scarlett, from the look in her eyes, she will kill him today, and then what about Athena? Who will she go to? She would become a widow, right after being claimed by the alpha?

Athena has suffered so much in life. How can he make her go through the same pain of losing someone again? Simon looked up at Scarlett, and Scarlett could feel that her brother was not like before. Samuel's words changed the vibes he was oozing, and now he looked like he would do anything for his woman.

This also reminds him they had heard Athena's growl half an hour ago. What the hell happened? He had felt her hurt and what happened in the dungeons, but he couldn't see anything further because her barrier was up, and no one was updating him.

"If anyone sees Athena or a white wolf, I want you to update me about her whereabouts. Do you hear me?" Simon said through the mind link, and he had expected them to just say okay.

He was still hoping that Athena didn't change into her wolf, but he was wrong.

"A white wolf? Or a red wolf who is dripping blood and tearing up rogues?" Fabian's voice was the first one to echo through the mind link. "The same white wolf who dismembered 100 rogues in five minutes and drank their blood like it was the tastiest thing? The one who saved us from getting more hurt?" Jason's words were next.

Hearing his people's words from different borders, Simon paused, distracted, and Scarlett raised her hand to finally kill Simon with one hit to his neck, wanting to take advantage of his distraction.

However, as soon as she brought her sword down, she was knocked away so harshly that she landed a hundred meters away, hitting the tree.

"How dare you!" Celine's eyes turned golden again as she looked at the girl in front of her in pure hatred.

From all the rogues she tore up, this girl had the most negative energy.

She would love tearing her apart.

Simon, who saw Celine in this state, widened his eyes when his gaze met with Celine's killer ones for a second.

Seeing Celine rushing to his sister to finish her off, Simon quickly changed into Onyx to protect Scarlett.

"No!" Onyx growled at Celine, standing in front of Scarlett with his eyes closed, and Scarlett looked at the white wolf in pure amazement.

"Who is she?" She murmured, and Onyx looked at the sister with hatred. Even when she did so much to him and his pack, it was all because of Simon that he was standing against his mate to protect this woman.

"You are standing against me?" Celine asked, her eyes turning back to amber.

"To protect this girl? Just like your whole pack, you are thinking of betraying me?" Celine's words made Onyx widen his eyes.

It was obvious Celine was misunderstanding his intentions, and if she channeled the same thing to Athena, things would get even messier than they already were.

Onyx immediately changed into his human form, and Simon stood in front of Scarlett with a protective gaze.

"Don't misunderstand me, Celine. I love Athena the most in this entire world and would lay my life for her. However, this girl here is my sister, Celine. Don't kill her," Simon said, and Scarlett's heart softened a bit when she saw her brother trying to protect her when she tried to kill him so many times.

"The same sister who wanted to hurt Athena and kill her multiple times. Seeing how you are siding with that girl even after what she did to my human, says everything that you can't," Celine scoffed before she released a sigh.

"Let me do you a favor, Simon. And after that, you have nothing to do with Athena. I love you and your wolf, but my human counterpart's happiness is the only thing that matters to me. I am a warrior, and I know how to channel my anger into my growth," Celine said before she touching the crystal pendant on her neck.

"Celine, what are you talking about? Everyone knows that there is no one I love more than Athena. What do you mean I won't have anything to do with her? How will I live without Athena?" Simon tried to reason, and Celine scoffed.

"Your love is not enough. To live in this pack around you, my human will have to suffer the things she doesn't deserve. None of you deserved her in the first place," Celine growled.

"In the holy name of the moon goddess, I wish and desire for the summoning of the witch Yaretz! Please help Athena and bestow your mercy on her," Celine prayed, and Simon and Scarlett widened their eyes as they stepped back in shock.
