

Chapter 90

Simon's entire body was on fire because of how painful it was.

"No. Please help me, Moon Goddess. Please help me save my love. I know Athena is hurt because of the false scenario presented to her, but you know that after I fell in love with her, I never saw any other girl let alone want to touch any other girl than her. Athena is and will always be my first and last love. If my love towards her has been pure, please help me save her, Simon clenched his eyes to clear his vision.

He and Cyrus have been fighting for more than thirty minutes, running all over the corridors, but even after that, not once Simon reached anywhere near Athena or sensed her. It was as if her scent had drifted away.

Simon hit the ground beside him in helplessness.

"This won't do. No one will come to help me. Athena is my love. Protecting her is my responsibility. I will have to think of something else. I can't die pathetically like this without even seeing her; Simon groaned before his eyes fell on something to use against Cyrus.

Simon knew the thing might not even scath Cyrus, but he wanted to have one last attempt of hurting this person who hurt his love and stole her powers.

"You can die peacefully, Simon. I will take care of what you are leaving behind.

Whether it would be your pack or your woman, I will handle them all,"Cyrus chuckled before he turned around, and his eyes went as wide as saucers when he saw Simon standing right in front of him.

Simon smiled at Cyrus through his bloody eyes, and before Cyrus could react, Simon hit the fire lamp straight on his head.

"Aaaaaa! Aaaaaat Aaaaaaaaaa!" Cyrus screamed in horror as he held his head in horror and pain.

The oil from the lamp flowed down his head, making the fire even more prominent and long-lasting.

"What did you do!" Cyrus shouted in agony, and Simon fell to his knees, tired and helpless.

He smiled, content with his last attempt. The fire lamp hurt Cyrus more than Simon had guessed. Maybe it was because of the oil. Whatever it was, Simon was satisfied.

He looked around, trying to figure out in which direction he had smelt Athena's blood scent the last time and where they had drifted.

It felt like his time was nearing because of how much pain his body was in, but he wanted to see Athena and probably explain what happened at that party himself. Simon wanted to hear I love you, from Athena one last time before dying. Seeing Cyrus still struggling with the fire as he ran towards the room, probably in search of water, Simon furrowed his brows.

Cyrus's reaction was more than what he would call odd. However, now wasn't the time to think about it.

This was the perfect time to leave this place and find Athena. The vampire lord still hasn't returned with any news. No one knows where Athena is and if she is safe. The thought of her being hurt and wounded because of how much power Cyrus might have snatched was alone sending shivers down his spine.

Simon crawled towards the wall before he stood with support.

Turning around the corner, he started walking in random directions until he finally felt Athena's scent strengthening. And this time, it wasn't the scent of her blood but her natural scent.

Simon smiled at the thought of meeting his mate again but stopped abruptly when he felt Cyrus's presence behind him.

"Where are you running off to, Simon? Our fight isn't over yet,"Cyrus's voice was beyond angry and cold, and Simon turned around. The fear of not being able to see his mate again evident in his eyes as he supported himself on the wall.

Simon looked at Cyrus's half-burnt face, and though he knew he might not live another day, he was happy that he was able to cause him this kind of pain.

"You didn't do good when you hurt me like this. I was really saving my beautiful face for Athena. She has a thing for eyes. Do you know that? How dare you try to ruin my future with her like this?"Cyrus held Simon's hair in his fist and pulled him to the middle, making Simon struggle against his hold before he kicked Cyrus away with everything he had.

"Not bad. You are full of zest, aren't you? Let me take care of that first. You are making things hard for me. Then again, I would've been disappointed if you hadn't because you are the untamed Simon Scar." Cyrus bent to Simon's eye level before he raised his hand to punch Simon, but before he could do that. Simon kicked him in his manhood, making Cyrus roll down in pain.

"You bas*ard! Will you take responsibility for my future generation? You will die today, but I have a long way to go. How dare you!"Cyrus stood in great pain,wWw.novellworm.com coughing blood, looking at the ground in shock.

Cyrus furrowed his brows when he noticed the blood in his hand. What was happening? Athena's powers were enough to get him going for an entire day.

Then why the hell was he getting affected by Simon's kicks and punches and coughing blood?

Cyrus quickly masked his expression, not wanting to give his enemy any leeway. "How dare you make me cough blood like this? Do you know how expensive it is?"

Cyrus launched himself at Simon, who barely dodged and fell backward. Simon was still dodging but didn't have enough energy to fight back.

He had been hoping for anyone to come and help him through the fight a little since taking down a rare wolf who had stolen the powers of another rare wolf wasn't easy. He was amazed that anyone hadn't arrived. Were there so many rogues that the team wasn't able to handle it?

Simon was harshly pulled back from his thoughts when Cyrus's punch landed squarely on his face, and a sickly cracking sound reverberated in the area.

Simon's eyes scrunched at the impact, and his heart skipped a beat as his head pounded with pain. His jaw was probably broken.

"You know, it was fun fighting with you, but now I am kind of getting bored.

Rather than wasting this energy on killing you. I should use this energy to please my future mate instead, no? Don't you think so?" Cyrus smiled wickedly.

"Do you want me to tell you a secret? I saw your mating session with Athena. The way she used to throw her head back whenever you slammed inside her and how sweet moans escaped her mouth. her naked body while she was on her four.

taking you all in to complete the mating session, and when she sat on your lap. and you slammed inside her to bite into her neck and mate at the same time.I saw everything." Cyrus said, and Simon felt his blood boiling at his words.

"I will kill you if you as much as go near or touch her." Simon growled.

Cyrus chuckled and grabbed Simon's jaws in a tight grip, hurting him even more. "Mmmhmmh," Simon tried to jerk his face away from Cyrus's grip, but it hurt even more.

"Why don't you think about yourself first, alpha Simon? It was nice fighting you. but as you can see, I am weirdly aroused thinking about all those things I can do with Athena, and now I want to release myself inside her. I want to feel the same tightness that you might have felt. We are done here anyways. Everything you ever had will be mine. Your dreams of having a family would be mine," Cyrus smiled.

Simon wanted to change into his wolf form now. However, he didn't know if he would be able to survive it. His body was already in great pain and almost at its breaking point. If he changed into his wolf form and something happened,there would be no going back.

A wolf can heal his human counterpart easily, but not himself, and Simon didn't want to take that chance.

"It was a not-so-good encounter, but I promise I will always keep you in mind. After all, you are the one who gets the credit for giving me this happiness.

Goodbye, and have a painful and traunating afterlife," Cyrus wished Simon before he raised the long dagger in his hand to kill Simon.

Meanwhile, in the northern regions of the base. Yaretzki groaned. "Sis, can't we use our powers? I will make them disappear in a second:

Arzoo killed the rogue in her hands before looking at her sister with a sigh. "I have told you this before too. We can't use our powers to hurt other species recklessly"

You didn't hesitate to come and save Athena last time and show the part of the memories to Scarlett. Using magic on other species without prior notice is also forbidden, no? If you could do it at that time. why not now?" Samuel asked, and Arzoo shook her head.

"First. Yaretzki did that in the heat of the moment to protect Athena from turning maniacal. Second, once we witches call someone out. we try to protect them and go beyond what the laws say. Athena is like our daughter, and that's why we agreed to her appeal, Arzoo paused.

"You guys. however, don't even matter to us. The only reason we are helping here is because we are waiting for Athena to wake up and tell us if she wants to come with us. We can't let that Vampire lord take her away," she completed her sentence before turning to Yaretzki, who sighed and nodded.WWw.NoVeLWorm.com

"The earlier we deal with these rogues. the sooner Athena will get the appropriate treatment without you using the magic on her and breaking the rules. Will you not do it even if the council of the werewolves permits you?"Samuel suggested before he twisted the neck of the other rogue.

Garima and Justin fought with the rogues, staying close to Samuel to hear his conversation with others. To say they were shocked by what those witches said would be an understatement.

Just what kind of powers did this girl behold to have all the species come together and fight for her safety? The witches were ready to break rules, the vampire lord was ready to extend a hand of friendship, and the council of werewolves was asking people to break rules for her. Was Athena really that special?

Garima gulped when Yaretzki's gaze fell on her, and she looked away.

"We can do it, but we won't. This is your fight. It's already more than enough that we are wasting our energy on these pests just because we want to be there for Athena,"Arzoo scoffed.

"And regarding Athena's health, you don't have to worry about that. We will ensure nothing happens to her once she gets out of here with us. We are just waiting for her to gain consciousness, and once she gives us her permission,wewworms.net won't waste any more time here" Yaretzki said before she held her wand in the air and plucked it straight into the chests of three rogues, who were coming to hurt Arzoo, pulling it out with scorn.

"Sister!" Yaretzki shouted, and Arzoo killed the other rogue with a concerned look. "This will need a special kind of cleaning. Yaretzki looked disappointed, and theWwW.NoVeLWorm.com energy around her started to increase. Arzoo killed the other rogue like this, but seeing how they were the ones who were attacking, Arzoo couldn't scold her.

"Stay away from her," Arzoo sighed, and all the werewolves on Simon's side paused before rushing away from Yaretzki.

Before they could even blink, the shining energy around Yaretzki shone the brightest before extinguishing completely.

"She didn't even do anything. What was this hype all about? Aren't they showing off a bit -"Garima didn't complete her sentence because the next thing she noticed was the bodies of rogues falling, dismembered, and sliced, making everyone widen their eyes in shock.

What would have happened if they hadn't rushed back from around Yaretzki?

Samuel looked at the witches with uncertainty.

No wonder they were feared the most.

"I didn't mean to do it. It's their fault for even trying something like that with us, Yaretzki turned around like she didn't just kill 50 rogues without even lifting her finger.

Meanwhile, where Cyrus and Simon were fighting, seeing the long dagger in his hand, Simon gritted his teeth as he struggled against his hold.

"Goodbye, Simon," Cyrus said before bringing down the dagger at lightning speed, and Simon gasped in pain.

"I love you, Athena, Simon closed his eyes, ready to accept his twisted fate.

A/N-Oh my god, guys. I just noticed a few of your gifts in my book, and I can't tell you how lucky I feel. Thank you for your constant support. Love you all.

Please keep sharing the book to motivate me so that I can bring more amazing stories to you.