

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 51 online free

CHAPTER 51

When Gavin carries me to my room, my nerves really start to take over. I thought I was nervous when I was telling him about me and Declan, but now I'm really nervous. Not that I don't want this to happen, but because I don't want to disappoint him. I've only done this once, and Declan knew that I was a virgin and that I didn't really know what I was supposed to do. I don't want to be a disappointment to Gavin.

Setting me down beside my bed, he takes my face gently and begins the kiss, but soon, I turn it into something completely different. Need burns through me now, and I want to convey that through our kiss. The great thing about Gavin, is that he's always understood me without me having to say anything, and it's no different now.

how.

He breaks our kiss and literally rips my shirt down the front instead of pulling it off, over my head. When I look up into his eyes, I see Mace in the background, and so I bring Tala forward as well. As much as she scoffed at the idea of me being intimate with Gavin, she is all for being present for our first time.

Gavin goes for my neck, sucking and licking at the area that is reserved for my mate's mark. I trust him enough not to mark me; he would never do that to me. It's a sensitive spot, though, and I growl as I fist his hair and throw my head back, giving him better access. When he pauses, I use this break to grab the hem of his shirt and pull it roughly up and over his head. I want to run my tongue over every crevice that lines each muscle in his chest and abs, but he has other plans.

Picking me up, he tosses me onto the bed and tears at my bottoms until they are in complete tatters on the floor. I look between my shredded clothing and then back at the man responsible, and cock a brow, "You owe me a new outfit."

“I’ll buy you all the new fucking outfits that you want, Alpha.” He growls as his eyes sweep over me from head to toe. His nostrils flare as my arousal begins to drip.

He smirks as his hands go to the button and he undoes them. Moving to the zipper, he is in no hurry as he pulls it down, “Are you sure you’re ready for all this?”

Oh no,’ Tala face paws herself, ‘please tell me he isn’t a dud below the belt!’

I chuckle, ‘Why do you say that?’ I ask her.

Only males who brag about their size end up having a lil smokey instead of the plumper.’ She frowns.

“Really?’ Just when I go to say something else, though, Gavin drops his pants. I’m pretty sure both me and my wolf have the same expression as we drop our jaws.

“Holy shit, Quinn! I’m sure glad that it’s your body that’s taking it, and not mine!’ Tala cringes.

Well fuck! I stare up at Gavin, wide-eyed, and he shrugs, smugly. I can’t even form any words at this time, only stare at the one-eyed monster glaring angrily at me. He’s fully hard and rearing to go, but where, I’m not even sure!

“How is that supposed to fit?” i glance up at him a bit horrified.

He chuckles, I promise, it will fit wherever I want it to fit.”

I come out of my daze enough to point toward my nightstand, “In the drawer.”

He raises a brow but opens the drawer that is right next to him. Smirking, he pulls out a sheet of foil packets that he lets drop down, showing all six of them to the sheet, “You’re well prepared.” He chuckles.

I roll my eyes, Cici has always kept them in my drawer, hoping that one day I’d let someone ‘in’. Although, I’m not really sure that they are going to fit you.”

“I think they will be fine.”

He tears one off the sheet and throws it on the bed beside us, “Now where were we?” He bites his lower lip and looks down at the apex of my legs, “Oh yes, I remember now.” Dropping down to his knees, he attacks my core, his tongue licking and stroking me oh so sinfully. One moment i’m holding his head to me, and the next, I’m trying to get away, but he holds me down as he continues his torture.

“GAVINOH, MY GODDESS!”

I buck and grind against him, wanting it all and yet trying to get away at the same time. When I come for the first time, it’s with his tongue deep inside my pussy and his fingers rubbing and pinching my clit.

“OH-FUCK ME...!” I cry out as wave after wave crashes over me. My hands fist the bedding as my back arches, and I throw my head back.

Ano

14:43

CHAPTER 51

I don’t get to have a break once my climax is over, as Gavin stands up and pulls me until my ass is just over the edge of the bed. He runs his bare cock through my folds and then pushes the tip in just a little bit. Just that tiny part of him makes me feel snug and it’s not even the full girth of him. When he pulls it back out, he snatches up the foil packet and rips it open, rolling the rubber onto his throbbing cock with no issue.

He lines himself up with my entrance, and then taking hold of my legs, he pushes them up and spreads them wide as he grins and winks at me. Slowly, he enters me one inch at a time. He stretches me to the point that I stop breathing, and then he stops so I can adjust before advancing further. I whine and whimper, but he pays me no heed while he watches as he impales me.

Once he’s halfway, he stops and glances up at me, “Are you okay, do you need me to stop?”

“Don’t you fucking dare!” I say as I pant. He grins and starts thrusting in and out of me for a bit, “Just do it Gavin. Just take me now.—* I’m cut off as he thrusts all the way into me and then holds himself still as I adjust. I can’t talk or breathe at the moment, but the longer he stays still, the faster I recover.

When i'm finally able to move, I do it slowly, testing out the waters before I give him the go ahead. Once I nod, he doesn't hesitate. Pulling almost all the way out of me, he slams back into me and continues to do so. I feel like I am fully fucked already, and we've barely even started

He then picks me up and turns to sit down, making it so I'm straddling him. He takes my mouth with a passion that he's never done before now, and I feel my desire build. He fucks me hard as he kisses me, squeezing my ass as he helps me to ride him. Releasing my mouth, he latches onto my breasts that are bouncing right in front of him. The need I sense within him is contagious as it spreads to me and in this moment, all I can feel is the need to please him.

I begin to ride him hard and fast as he takes turns on each breast. When I feel him reach one hand between us and start playing with my clit, I fuck him even harder. Tala is in my head urging me to go faster. There is a wildness about her that I've never seen or felt before, and it seeps into me.

Growling, I shove Gavin onto his back, giving myself more room to ride him. He continues to play with my clit with one hand as the other plays with my nipple, pinching and pulling it as I throw my head back and grind down on his cock.

"Come for me, Quinn. Come all over my fucking cock!" He orders, and even though the wolf in me is an Alpha, she submits to him and comes hard."

"ARGH-FUCK GAVIN I'M COMING!!"

"Yes, baby, that's it...fuck, you're gorgeous!" He takes both of my hips and grinds me down until my climax is over, and then he flips me.

As soon as I'm on all fours, he enters me in one swift thrust and continues the pace. I shove back onto him over and over until he places his hand between my shoulder blades and presses me down until my head is on the mattress.

"Stay right there and let me fuck this sweet pussy on my own." I think I have another after shock as he says it. He's getting even deeper from this position, hitting places that I didn't realize anyone could touch, but he is. He is Alpha here as he takes me as he wishes, and I couldn't care less. I'm just here riding the blissful waves of euphoria as he continues to fuck me fast and hard. "Fuck Quinn, I don't know if I will ever get enough of you!"

Just as he says those words, I feel him swell and then thrusting once more, he stills and roars out his orgasm. Reaching around, he strums my clit a few times and I cry out as another one takes over my body as well. We stay joined together for a few minutes after we have both condom.

I'm still lying on my stomach when he comes back, too exhausted to even move, so when he spreads my legs, I don't fight him. It's when I feel his tongue back between them lapping up all of my arousal and then flicking my very sensitive clit, that I whine and try to turn onto my back, but he doesn't allow it.

"If you think for one moment that I am done with you, you can forget it. I've waited almost a year to have you in bed and I'm not letting you out of it for quite some time." He then proceeds to work his tongue once more and all too soon, I'm forgetting all about everything else. He makes good on his word and keeps me hostage in my suite the rest of the night.

Previous Chapter

Next Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 52 online free

CHAPTER 52

Waking up in someone's arms is such a comforting feeling. I remember waking up the morning after my first time as Declan was getting out of bed. It didn't feel the same as what this does, though, and I shouldn't even be thinking about it or him for that matter, not while I'm in Gavin's arms. It isn't fair to him. I need to put all of my energy into my relationship with the man who is holding me now, and not with the one that I can never have.

I turn, so I can lay my head on Gavin's chest, and out of nowhere I purr or should I say Tala purrs. I feel a rumble under my cheek as Gavin chuckles.

"Since when do wolves purr like kittens?"

snort out a laugh, "I don't, why don't you ask Tala. She's the one purring."

'It's not a purr, it's a contented sigh!' She argues.

"Oh, she says it's a contented sigh, not a purr." I inform Gavin.

He flips me onto my back, "Well, whatever it she calls it, it was sexy as fuck." He takes my mouth, surprising me when he slips me the tongue.

I turn my head to the side, "Don't kiss me like that! I haven't brushed my teeth!"

He chuckles, "What's that got to do with anything?" He starts kissing down my neck.

*Morning breath, duh!"

"Your mouth tastes amazing," he continues to sprinkle kisses across my collarbone, "But do you know what will taste even more amazing?"

"Mm, what?" I ask, enjoying the attention and the chills that he's causing with his lips.

Quick like lightning, he's under the blankets and his face is between my legs. I have no time to close them or do anything as he attacks my pussy with a vengeance, "ARGH!" I cry out, but it doesn't stop him, it only makes him take more. In no time at all, he has me coming all over his face as he laps it all up.

When he finally comes up for air, he's smiling like the Cheshire cat in that fantasy story, my arousal all around his mouth, "Mm, now that's what I call a good breakfast!"

I burst out laughing as I wipe his face off, "You are incorrigible!"

He shrugs, "I've been called worse. He jumps from the bed, "Do you mind if I shower?"

"No, go right ahead." I lay back and savor the aftershocks of my climax. When I hear the water turn on and then the water hit something other than the tile since there is no door on the shower, only open space, a devilish smile appears.

Getting out of the bed, I saunter over to the ensuite and poke my head in. Gavin's back is to me, giving me a clear view of his fantastic bare ass and muscular legs and back. I bite my lip and then sneak up behind him, snaking my arm around him and taking his cock into my hand.

“What the...” He jumps.

“Tsk tsk, you should never allow anyone to sneak up on you.” I continue to stroke him until he turns around and then I have to readjust my hand. Instead, I decide to kneel in front of him.

“Quinn, you don’t have to fuck...”

I take as much of him into my mouth and use my hand for the rest. He never once forces me to take him deeper, but he does place his hand on top of my head. We stare at each other the whole time I’m pleasuring him, and then I have him coming. He tries pulling out, but I growl and suck him even harder until I swallow every last drop.

When I’m finally satisfied, I slide my mouth off him with a loud ‘pop’ and wipe the corners of my mouth, “You were saying?”

He grabs me and hauls me against his chest so he can kiss me. It isn’t a long one, but it’s full of everything that isn’t being said between us. Once he lets go, we both settle into our shower, each taking turns washing the other’s back.

“Will you have breakfast with me before you head back?” I ask as we both get dressed.

“Sure. Anything that will delay my walk of shame.” He winks at me.

“There is nothing shameful from where I’m standing.” I muse.

0.00%

13:31 D

CHAPTER 52

He pulls me into his chest, “Yes, but last night.”

“Oh yes, there was that one thing that you did...” I grin and wiggle my brows.

“What about when I made you do...” I cover his mouth with my hand and glance around giggling.

“Don’t you dare!” I threaten him with my unsaid words.

He makes me squeal when he suddenly bends down and throws me over his shoulder, “Don’t worry Alpha, I won’t tell anyone about your little perversion.” He slaps my ass.

gasp, “My perversion? I didn’t know about any of that before last night.”

“See, aren’t you glad that you have me to show you what you’ve been missing?” He laughs as he bounces down the stairs being careful as to not jar me too much.

I giggle and slap his ass that is right in front of my face while I’m upside down over his shoulder, “You can put me down now, Gavin.”

“Nah, I’ll wait until we get to the kitchen. After all, you’re probably still sore.”

“You only wish! The only thing big on you besides your muscles is your ego!” I scoff, but we both know better.

“Awe, you dig my muscles?”

“Good Goddess, I’m going to shut up now.” I mumble to myself.

VANNNNNNNNNNN

Cici and Spencer join us for breakfast, and we decide to sit out on the back patio since it’s such a nice morning. We are just finishing up when one of my border patrol warriors mind links me.

“Uh, Alpha, there is someone here who is insisting that she be let in to talk to you.’

‘Who is it?’

‘It’s the Storm River Luna.’

I frown.

“What is it?” Cici asks.

“Patrol just linked me telling me that Lila is demanding to speak with me.”

“What the fuck?”

“Exactly my thoughts.” I respond to my friend and then turn my attention back to my patrol, ‘Please have someone escort her to the pack house, if you will. I don’t want her roaming around on her own.’

“Copy that, Alpha.’

“I’m going to need more coffee if I’m going to have to deal with her this early.” I pour myself another cup of coffee from the carafe and sit back to wait

“I’d add a little whiskey to that if it were me, but hey, you do you.” Cici chuckles.

Ten minutes later we hear the annoying voice of the she-wolf that everyone despises, as she’s being led out to the back patio. “Here we go, everyone. Buckle up and enjoy the ride. There is no telling which way this conversation is going to go.” I warn all three. – –

The Luna bursts out the back door as though she owns the place, “Oh, I’m just in time for breakfast.”

“Oh damn! Sorry Lila, had we known you were coming, we would have made extra.” Cici states.

“It’s Luna Lila, thank you very much! I’m not hungry anyway, besides,” she looks at me, “I’m still needing to lose the weight from having Alpha Declan’s baby.”

Troll my eyes, “Why are you in my territory, Lila? Did you run through all the unmated males already and now you’re looking for more?” | quirk a brow at her as I smirk.

“Excuse me? Show me a bit more respect. You are talking to a Luna!”

Gavin goes to get up, but I stay him with a hand, and then I smile at him before standing up myself and getting right up into Lila’s face, “And you forget your manners, LILA!” i let Tala’s growl out, “You are talking to an ALPHA and you’re on MY land!”

Lila's head bows as she looks incredulous. It surprises me as well, because no Luna or Alpha should be affected to the point where they bow their heads to me. Maybe it's because her and Declan aren't actually mated.

37.60%

13:31 0

CHAPTER 52

"Tell me what you want, and then leave." I release her so she can straighten herself.

She fixes her stare on me, "I hear that Alpha Declan brought my son here yesterday."

I shrug. "What of it?"

"My son stunk of you!"

I smirk, "Probably because I held Declan's son the whole time they were here."

"He had no right to bring him here to you, his whore!" Her wolf Lina makes an appearance in her eyes.

Tala is the one to chuckle, "Oh, look at that," we turn to my friends, "Her little wolf wants come out to play!"

They all snicker, but when I turn back to Lila, Lina is gone but the woman is seething, "Stay the fuck away from my Alpha and MY son!"

This time, Gavin stands up and comes to stand behind me, wrapping an arm around my waist, "Not that Alpha Quinn has to explain anything, but my cousin and my aunt came to visit a dear friend, and we were both happy to visit with them," he looks down at me, "Weren't we sweetie?"

I smile up at him, "Yes, baby." I reach up and kiss his jaw."

Lila now stands with her mouth hanging open, "You two..."

"Us two, what?" I ask.

“You two are together now?” she asks.

I roll my eyes, “Well, it appears that way, now, doesn’t it? You saw us kiss the other night, so don’t act surprised.”

“Well, I didn’t want to make assumptions. Does Declan know?”

*ALPHA Declan does know.”

“Well shit, baby. My father is calling me back to the pack. Can I see you later?” Gavin caresses my face.

“Of course. Let me walk you out.” I turn to Lila, “I will be right back.”

Cici and Spencer are just sitting at the table, enjoying the scene before them, “I’ll be right back.” I say to them as well.

I walk Gavin out to his vehicle, and he pulls me in close. “Don’t let her get to you. You are above her in every way, always remember that.” He kisses my forehead.

“Thank you for yesterday, and last night. Oh, and this morning, too.” I grin.

“Anything for you, Quinn. I will see you later.” He takes my lips, and we have a quick make out session until we hear young pups running by. giggling at us.

“Oh, before you leave, I wanted to ask you how your talk with your cousin went yesterday.”

“Oh gosh, long story. How about I tell you later when you cook me dinner?”

“Oh! I’m cooking dinner tonight? Are you wanting to live to see tomorrow?”

He chuckles, “Okay, how about I pick up some takeout and we can do another movie night and talk.”

“Sounds perfect! Thank you again for everything.”

“Stop, I enjoy doing things for you. I will see you later.” After another long kiss, I watch him drive off down the long drive.

I turn back to the house, and let out a huge sigh, thinking about Lila still being inside, “Might as well get this over with.”

Previous Chapter

Next Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 53 online free

CHAPTER 53

Lila is now sitting on one of the couches in the living area by the front door when I come back inside. Looking around, I don't see anybody else around. A little unnerved by her being left alone, I give myself a mental note to curse out my best friend and Beta. They are either too busy making out to realize that she came inside, or they left her to find a place so they could make out. Seriously, though. Those two need to have a talking to about their responsibilities around here.

I walk over and take a seat across from where the she-wolf is sitting. She smiles devilishly at me, "So, tell me all about you and the Alpha heir."

"Pfft! We are not friends, Lila. I'm not going to share anything with you. Just tell me what you want and then leave, I have a lot to do."

She jumps up suddenly, "I'm sorry to take up your time. I only came here to tell you to stay away from my family, and, well, I see that you have moved on, so I have no reason to be here."

I stand up. "Fine, then don't let the door hit you in the ass on the way out." I move to the stairs and head to my office, but I'm stopped by the annoying she-bitch once again.

"Quinn," she waits until I turn around, "I do hope that now you have moved on, we can at least be civil to one another."

This woman is out of her freaking mind! I scoff, "Until you disappear from my friend's life, there will never be civility between you and me. You have ruined his life, and for that, I will never forgive you. Goodbye, Lila. Don't ever come back to my territory again."

I turn, and resume my way to my office, mind linking my warrior to escort Lila back to the border. I wonder if Declan knows that she came by. The only good thing about her showing up, is it giving me a reminder that I need to go to the doctor and get on birth control. My only problem is that we have yet to get a pack doctor, so I will have to check with Declan about going to Storm River's doctor since they are the closest. Besides, I've been seeing Dr. Langly for the past three years.

Thinking of doctors, I remember my conversation with Summer. I think I will offer to pay for her schooling so she can become our doctor. I know it will take years, but she can still work in the clinic and do as much as she can, and we will figure out medication issues as we go because she will not be able to write prescriptions for a while.

Dialing Declan, he's quick to answer, and I can't help but smile, "Hey, Quinn. How are you?"

"I'm good, thank you, and yourself?"

"Oh fine, just trying to put the little guy down for a nap while working on pack stuff. I swear, his mother disappears all the time, not having a care about her son." He growls softly.

"Well, that is one of the reasons why I'm calling you. Lila was just here."

"What?! Why the fuck was she there?"

I chuckle, Apparently, your son smelled a little too much like me and she came to warn me to stay away from her family."

"My Goddess, that woman never lets up! She's barely a mother to Holden, and yet, she likes to stake her claim to him when it comes to you."

"Yeah, well, I think I have her off my back now, but I did tell her to stay out of my territory. I just wanted to let you know, because next time she comes here, she may find herself in our cells for trespassing."

"Good! I hope she does try again then." We both chuckle.

*As much as I would love to help you out by keeping her locked up here, I highly doubt I would have any warriors left, because they would quit after a few days of dealing with her." i muse.

*Very true," He laughs. "I'm sorry that you have to deal with my fuck ups, Quinn. It was never meant to be this way."

“I know this, Declan, and I don’t blame you.”

He clears his throat. “You said that was one of the reasons you were calling, what else did you need?”

“Oh, yes. I was wondering if you would be okay if I came to see Dr. Langly for my yearly checkup, since we don’t have a pack doctor yet.”

“Of course, you and any of your pack can come see him if they need to and as long as he agrees. You are already his patient so he shouldn’t have an issue.”

“Thank you.” I go on and tell him my thoughts about Summer, and he thinks it’s a good idea as well. Any leads on the one doing the killings?”

0.00%

1

CHAPTER 53

“No,” he sighs heavily, and I doubt he’s done doing them, so please make sure you’re careful. I believe this is all about you, Quinn.”

“Why, though? Why me? I’m just an orphan-turned-Alpha.” I struggle to figure this out.

“I don’t know, but I won’t stop until we find them. I think you shouldn’t go anywhere without guards, at least until we catch the fucker.”

“I can’t live my life that way, Declan. You know me too well to even suggest that.”

He chuckles sadly. “I know.”

I don’t want him to stress over me, so I try to appease him, “Hey, I will be careful, and when I leave my territory, I won’t go by myself, but I will not have guards on my all the time.”

“You’re so stubborn, woman.” He snickers, “But I will take it, I guess.”

“Okay, well I better go, but I will let you know when I come to see Doc and will come by to see you and my namesake.” Smiling to myself because I think it was sweet of him to give his son a middle name to take after me, even if the baby does belong to the pack whore; he’s still a part of Declan.

“Okay, see you soon...”

I’m in my office working on financials when Cici comes strolling in. She’s the only one that gets away without knocking because to be honest, she wouldn’t listen anyway if I tell her to knock first. She throws herself onto the couch in the corner of my office and sighs heavily. I continue to work until the second sigh comes.

“Are you needing something, Cici?”

“No, I’m just bored. Spencer is away on pack business and now I have nothing to do.”

I smirk because I sent her mate away on this said business just so they can learn to be apart every once in a while, “I was going to call you in soon anyway, so I might as well talk to you now about it. I am going to be having the old pupcare opening back up, and I need someone to manage it for me. I thought that you might be interested while you’re still in beauty school.”

“Are you fucking serious right now?” She sits up, excitedly.

“Of course, I’m serious. I wouldn’t be asking you otherwise. Veronika will be in charge of taking care of the pups, but she has she doesn’t have a head for business, so you are my first choice.”

“Yes! I’ll take the job!”

“Thank you, you don’t know how much this means to me. Having you take this extra weight from my shoulders is a relief. I trust you to run it accordingly. You will have a monthly allowance, but you will need to run anything extra by me first. Otherwise, she’s all yours.”

“Oh, my Goddess,” she comes running over to me, literally jumping into my lap, “Thank you, thank you! When do I start?”

I open a drawer and pull out a set of keys, “No time like the present. I have she-wolves wanting to go to work but have no one to watch their pups.”

She snatches the keys from me, “Great! I will have it up and running by no later than the end of the week.”

I stop her before she gets all the way out the door, “Make sure you contact Veronika. She needs to be in the loop at all times.”

“Will do, Alpha!”

‘Well, that didn’t take much convincing.’ Tala chuckles.

‘I know she’s been bored here, and I want her to feel welcome and at home here.’ I explain to my wolf.

“Yeah, Rani has been depressed lately.’ She states.

“Maybe we should go for a run with them soon. It’s been way too long since we stretched out our legs with those girls.’ I suggest and Tala agrees.

‘Let’s make it happen. I’m all for it.’

“Great, all I have to do is catch up on my work here and then i’ll see if she wants to go.’

Tala and Rani used to love running together. There were times where they would keep us held back just so they could spend more time together. Cici and I would get so mad at them for holding us hostage in our own bodies, but our wolves are just as mischievous as we are, so we couldn’t really fault them.

CHAPTER 53

Finishing up my financials, I’m just about ready to link Cici about going for a run when another member anxiously mind links me, ‘Alpha, it’s happened again!’ A warrior’s voice comes through very loudly.

‘What are you talking about? What’s happened again?’

‘The killer has struck again!’

That’s it until tomorrow! Hope everyone has wonderful weekend! =)

95.54%

13:31

Previous Chapter

Next Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 54 online free

CHAPTER 54

'The killer has struck again!' Echoes through my head as I head toward the western border. It's the border that I share with Alpha Dominik from the Dark Shadows pack. I've already called and informed him of the findings in case he is missing any pack members. This time, it isn't just a female, but a male as well.

put a call into Declan also since the last one was found on his territory. After I had arrived at the location, though, I thought it would be best if I called Gavin to come check it out, because not only does the she-wolf have auburn hair like mine, but the male has the same coloring as Gavin. Whoever is doing this is trying to tell us something and I just can't process what it is exactly.

The killer used different methods on each. The male was just a quick kill, with his heart torn from his chest. The heart is actually placed onto of the she-wolf's chest, above her own. Once again, the woman was sexually assaulted first and clawed all up.

"What the fuck?" It's Declan's voice that is heard as he walks up to the scene.

"Yeah, what the fuck is right!" I say walking around carefully as I watch for any kind of clue, "This fucker is on my last nerve, and I can't wait until we catch them!"

"Quinn, you need to keep protection on yourself. This is the third she-wolf that resembles you, and now a male that resembles my cousin. You can no longer deny that this is all about you."

"ugh, I know!" I begin to pace back and forth as I bite my thumb nail, "How the fuck is he getting by security and patrol?"

“I’m not sure but I think it’s time that we take a good look at all the security footage and see if there is anything that we can find. Maybe we missed something the first two times.” Declan suggests, which I think is a good idea.

“Hey,” Gavin comes walking up, “Oh, wow! Is that supposed to be me?” He asks, grimacing, as he observes the male closely.

“Yeah, I guess so. I think someone found out that we are dating.” I reply dryly.

“Wait a minute,” Gavin gets our attention, “I’ve seen this guy before. If I remember correctly, he was one of the warrior’s that came to help rescue you from Desert Sand. I’m not for sure which pack he was from though, and I don’t know anything about the she-wolf.”

“That doesn’t really help much, now does it?” Declan scoffs.

“All I’m saying is that I’ve seen him, so don’t be a dick.” Gavin scowls.

“Alright, that’s enough! We don’t have time to fight amongst ourselves when we need to be working together on this!” I growl at both males.

“You’re right, I’m sorry.” Gavin is the first to apologize, and then Declan follows.

“Yeah, sorry. Old habits die hard.” Declan smirks.

*Alpha, Alpha Dominik is approaching.’ One of my men warn.

I watch for the Alpha’s vehicle to pull off to the side of the road. This is the only border that has an actual road splitting the territories and we aren’t far from the road at all. The Dark Shadow’s Alpha is a handsome man who is in his mid-thirties. His Luna is very sweet, and their two children are adorable, but the Alpha, he isn’t one who messes around. He can be very kind, or he can be very heartless. Watching him walk toward us, makes me want to shrink back, because he does not look happy at all.

We had just covered the bodies up right before he got here, so he can’t see them at the moment. Stopping right in front of the three of us, he runs his hand over his face, “My head warrior’s brother never came back last night after taking his mate to a movie. My head warrior and his mate were pup sitting their one-year-old for them. It was their first date since having their pup.” He states this as if he is sure that this couple are the people that he is talking about. “May 1?” He asks, wanting to lift the sheets.

I nod. Deep down I know it’s the couple that he speaks of and now I’m waiting for the confirmation. I don’t have to wait long, though. He curses a second later and starts kicking at the ground. My own hands ball into fists at the anger that’s building inside of me. This fucker has turned an innocent child into an orphan for what? Some vendettas against me? What the fuck have I done to anyone that would cause them to do these horrific actions?

I turn and start walking away, but the moment my name is called, I let Tala out and take off. I need to let off this steam that’s building inside of me because I’m about to explode and I don’t want to take it out on anyone else but who I should be taking it out on.

Tala’s paws pound the earth as she runs at record speed. Not sure on where we are going, I just let her take the lead. I hear another set of paws, but I know we aren’t in danger because the scent is one that I know well. Mace lets us run without trying to stop us, but he remains behind us. I should have known that they wouldn’t let me go by myself, not with a killer who is apparently out for my blood, on the loose, but at least I am being allowed to do what I need to do to at the moment.

Tala huffs and puffs after almost an hour of running full speed around Dark Moon’s border. She was hoping to get a whiff or something, anything, that could possibly lead to the psycho who has become more than a thorn in our side. They are a hidden enemy, and that’s one of the worst kind. Not knowing who or why they are doing what they are doing makes every moment a dangerous one. I’m all for living life and not being scared, but I’m not going to lie, I’m getting there.

Tala stops short and then transforms without even warning me. Apparently, she’s done for now as she takes her spot in her little corner and curls up, I feel the exhaustion that has taken hold after what my wolf just put us through, but it’s just in body, my mental state is fine.

Mace practically ran into us when Tala stopped the way she did. I’m still on the ground on all fours when a wet nose nuzzles my neck. Mace’s dark brown fur is soft as it rubs against my bare flesh. I lay down and let him kiss me the only way he can when in wolf form, by licking. He isn’t perverted about it, that’s not how our kind are; we either mate while both in human form or when we are both in wolf form, but never in wolf and human form. At least that is what the normal shifters do, but I know that it has been known to happen. That isn't what this is, though. Mace just wants to console me as well, but soon he's letting Gavin take over as he transforms back to human.

Strong arms wrap around me, and we just sit here in the silence of the forest. Gavin doesn't push, he never has, and that's what I like about him. No words are needed between us when one of us are hurting or upset. It's almost like an unspoken rule that we are just here for the other person. He kisses my shoulder a few times but it's only for comfort, and I'm grateful that he is here with me.

The sun is beginning to set, and I know we shouldn't be gone too much longer or else Declan will send a search party out for us. Leaving a brief kiss on Gavin's soft lips, I smile warmly at him, "I'm ready." He nods and then Mace and Tala take over once more as we head back.

NNNNNNNNN

It is after seven o'clock by the time everyone leaves, and it's just me and Gavin. He offers to go get the takeout that he promised, and I soak in a bath while he is gone. When he returns, I decide to stay in the Alpha suite, so we can have our privacy because I'm not in the mood to be around others at the moment.

"So you going to make me beg you to tell me about your talk with Declan yesterday?" I pout playfully.

"Oh yes, I honestly forgot about that, but the thought of you begging on your knees turns me on." He wiggles his brows, earning him a slap on the arm.

"I said nothing about getting on my knees-again." I smirk as I put a mouthful of orange chicken and rice into my mouth. He rubs his crotch, and both my brows hike up, "Issues? I'd get that looked at if I were you." I hold back the chuckle that I so want to let loose.

"Ha ha, I'm glad you can make light of the state you put me in every time we are together.

"Well, maybe if you're a good boy and answer all of my questions, I will help you with your problem." I cock a brow and smile half ass.

"You're mean..."

“And you’re stalling, now spill.”

*Fine,” taking a bite of his lo mien, he takes his time with chewing, making me chuckle and shake my head. He makes a show of swallowing and then taking a drink before continuing, “The talk went pretty good.”

i toss a decorative pillow at him, “Smartass! You better start talking or no more nookie for you!”

Mace comes forward right away, “Gavin told Declan the real story about his past, on what his father did, and not him like Daniel led Declan to believe. He then proceeded to tell him about the new members and what they all told you, including how he now has a baby brother from his father raping Demi. They then talked a little about their feelings for you and came to an agreement that if Gavin hurts you, then Declan has the go ahead to end him.” He takes a huge breath and then exhales before letting Gavin come back.

I bust out laughing at this point while Gavin just sits there dazed, trying to figure out what the hell just happened, “Apparently, Mace didn’t like the idea of you not getting any nookie, so he spilled everything to me in a very timely manner.”. I cover my mouth, but it doesn’t muffle the chuckle that comes out.

Gavin rolls his eyes, “My wolf is such a horn dog, I swear!”

“I thought it was very adorable and he is a great wing man for you. He wanted to make sure you got lucky is all.”

“No, he wanted to make sure that We got lucky...”

I shrug, “I guess he’s smarter than his human counterpart then.” i take a drink and no sooner do I swallow, I’m being tackled to the floor.

“Oh really? Maybe you should just date my wolf then.”

* Maybe I should...”

“Hm, but can he do this?” He begins to suck on my neck, “Or this?” His hand slips into my tank top and massages my breast, “What about this?” Sliding his hand all the way down, he cups my sex and starts kneading me with the heel of his hand.”

“Mm, you might have a good point.” i bite my lip and start moving my hips against his hand.

“Admit it, Quinn,” he whispers into my ear, “You want my cock.”

“I’m not afraid to admit anything.” I look him straight in his green orbs. 1.
Want. Your. Cock.”

How can you not like Gavin? He’s so sweet and thoughtful... Happy Saturday!
=D

Previous Chapter

Next Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 55 online free

CHAPTER 55

Gavin

Quinn’s straightforwardness always seems to amaze me. Unlike most females, she always says it like it is, and will always go after what she wants. Her telling me that she wants my cock, only makes me want her more, but I can’t give in that easily.

“Beg me for it.”

*An Alpha doesn’t beg...”

Her voice is seductive as fuck and the way she bites her bottom lip makes me want to give in and give her everything she wants, but not yet.

“An Alpha doesn’t submit either, but you did for me, didn’t you. Now I want to see you beg for me...” i rub her a little harder through her leggings. Capturing both her wrists in my other hand, I stretch them above her head. “Gavin...”

“Tell me, Quinn– tell me what you want. Beg me to give it to you, and you will have it all.”

“Please...”

“Not quite, Alpha.” *Please Gavin...”

“Getting closer...” Inibble her ear before descending to her neck.

Just when I think she’s going to cave, and beg me, she flips us, and straddles my waist, “How about you beg me now?”

I lay here stunned for a moment, trying to figure out what the hell just happened, “How?” Even now as she holds my wrists to the floor, I can’t break free. Tala is present as she smirks down at me.

“She already told you that an Alpha doesn’t beg.” Her wolf growls, playfully..

“Tala, I was just being playful with her. Please bring her back.” I’m a little confused as to what’s going on here. Where in the hell did she get the strength to flip me like that?

Quinn comes forward and chuckles, letting go of my wrists but remains on top of me, “You’re looking a little perplexed, Gavin.”

“Well, I am actually. How did you do that?” I furrow my brow.

She shrugs. “I’ve been training more and I’m guessing it’s finally paying off.”

I see the honesty in her answer, but I don’t believe it. There is no sense in pushing it, though, not when she truly believes that it’s her training. Rubbing my hands up and down her thighs, I try another tactic. It’s not really playing fair, but at this point, I have to do what I can when it comes to this smart Alpha.

“I think I had better think about heading home,” I give a small tap to her hip, indicating that I need her to get up

Her bottom lip sticks out, “You’re going to leave me in this condition?”

“What condition is that?” I do my best to keep a straight face.

She takes my hand and puts it inside her leggings, sliding it down until my fingers find her arousal, “This condition,” she says softly. “Don’t leave me to take care of it myself.”

*That was never my intention, beautiful, but you didn’t want to give me what I was asking for. We both want something, but only one of us is willing to give the other what they want. Have you never heard the saying ‘You have to give if you want to receive’?” I smirk.

Keeping my hand inside her pants, she begins to grind down onto my hand as she pulls her shirt off and then begins to play with her own breasts, “Yes, but it’s more fun to play hard to get.” She pinches her nipples and bites her lip as she stares seductively down at me.

Trying to keep my hand still as her heated core grinds into it, my fingers move on their own accord, pushing their way deep inside of her. She moans and that’s when I know that I have lost this game. I jump up, holding her to me and bring her over to the bed. I waste no time reaching into the stand and grabbing one of her foil packets. Pulling my jeans down just enough to roll it onto my rock-hard shaft, I then tear her leggings off and plunge into her tightness.

“OH! Goddess, I forget how big you are!” I still myself, not wanting to hurt her, “Don’t stop!” she exclaims.

Grinning. I pullout and then slam back into her over and over. She cries out my name as her first climax hits her, but I continue to fuck her through it, prolonging it. I watch as her tits bounce up and down while I hold her legs up and spread wide open. Sweat begins to roll down my back as I continue my thrusts.

When she’s finally done with her first orgasm, I flip her onto all fours and grab the hair at her nape. Her back arches the more I pull, and she moans as I slide back into her. Without any warning, I suck my thumb and then press it to her back hole, causing her to still and then gasp. I m going to take it slow with her, so I just keep it pressed, and don’t insert it. Once she realizes that, she begins to move once again.

*Oh Goddess, I’m going to come again!” i feel her walls begin to squeeze my cock, and I can’t hold mine back any longer.

“Come, Quinn. Come with me now!” We come together on a chorus of grunts and moans. I fill the rubber to the brim before I’m finished, and she cries out my name one last time before collapsing onto her stomach.

Leaving her only long enough to toss the used condom away, I join her back on the bed. Picking her up, I pull the covers back and then lay her back down. I crawl in beside her and pull her into my arms, placing a kiss on her shoulder.

I'm content, and I hope she is too, as we lay here in the silence of her room. I can do this for the rest of my life, if only she will agree, but it's way too soon to bring that up. We've only begun to date, so I'm not taking any chances in scaring her away just yet.

"How's that pussy coming along, son?" I cringe as soon as I walk into our pack house and my father asks this question. Why does he have no appreciation for any female?

"If you are referring to Alpha Quinn, then I suggest you address her by her name when talking to me. You can at least show me a little respect when talking about the woman in my life."

He studies me before continuing, "Hm, you're beginning to grow some balls I see." He grunts, "It's about damn time."

I roll my eyes as he turns away, "I've always had balls, Father. I was just being respectful towards you as not only my father, but also my Alpha."

"Hmph! Whatever you say, Gavin. Now, let's talk about this union between you and Quinn."

I sigh heavily and follow my father as he heads to his office, "There is no union yet, and there won't be as long as you refuse to let me take my rightful place as Alpha. Do you blame her for not wanting to tie herself to anyone other than an Alpha?" I scowl, "it's like you not wanting me to tie myself to anyone other than Quinn because of what she can bring to the table." I run my hand down my face. I need to get a hold of myself, he needs to think I'm on his side and not see my true feelings for the female Alpha, "Look Father, I know how important it is to unite with Quinn, and I've already taken the next step and turned her into my lover, but I can only do so much. She has to choose to tie herself to me."

Snickering, my father looks at me with a grin that sends chills up my spine, "She won't have a choice if you knock her up."

I'm taken aback at my father's suggestion, "You killed those young she-wolves that I had gotten pregnant all those years ago, and now you want me to get another one pregnant?"

My father scoffs, "This is totally different, it's what needs to be done in order to combine two great packs."

“Says who you? Last time I checked Declan’s pack was greater than ours.”

He snorts this time, “That pansy cousin of yours lost his chance, and now it’s up to you.”

“I will not get Quinn pregnant just so you can force her to be my Luna. All you need to do is give me what is rightfully mine, the Alpha title.”

He slams his hands down on his desk, “I will hand over My title when I’m good and ready! If you don’t want to knock the bitch up, then at least keep her with you until I am ready to pass it down!”

“Fine! Have it your way father, I will wait.” I turn and walk out of his office, fuming over the audacity of what he wants me to do.

How have I never seen this side of my father before now? I knew he was an asshole, but even this is a new low for him, and his actions are not that of an Alpha. I think it’s time that I rally together my cousins and the rest of our allies and go to the Elders with this information.

My father mind links me before I get too far, I’ll be going away on business for a while. I could be gone for a few months, since it’s overseas. My Beta will be coming with me, so I will need you to step up. I’ll see how you do while I’m gone, and maybe we can discuss it again when I get back.’

‘Fine, when do you leave?’

‘Tomorrow afternoon.’

I don’t bother responding. I don’t know what business is taking him overseas, but to be honest, I really don’t care at this point. As long as it gets him away from me, Quinn, and all the pack members that he’s abused over the years. Maybe I can use this time to gather more intel before going to the elders.

Previous Chapter

Next Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 56 online free

CHAPTER 56

Declan

Islam my hand down on my desk, making my Beta flinch in the seat across from me, "It's been weeks, Carter! Why have we not caught this fucker? Four dead bodies and not one clue as to who did it!" I get up and go stare out my window. Pack members are outside, enjoying the beautiful day, unaware that it could be their last if the killer decides to kill again. Not that I'm complaining, but it's been three weeks since the couple from the Dark Shadows pack were found.

"I get your frustration, but you can't let this asshole win. You can't let him see that he has you all wound up. We don't know who it is; it could be anybody. Hell, it could even be one of our pack members.* Carter says with a knowing look.

I turn slightly toward him, "Are there still eyes on her?"

"Yes, and when I can't get one of the others to do it, I do it myself."

*As much as I despise her, I highly doubt Lila is the killer. That would be way too much work for her to do." I turn back to look at the setting sun. "What about the other? Are they still doing their job diligently?"

"Yes, they report in on time."

"Good, good." At least one thing is going my way.

"If I may remind you, Declan."

"No, you may not. I know what you're going to say, and I really don't care to hear it." I don't mean to be so cross with my best friend, but I'm tired of having this discussion.

"Declan, if Quinn finds out that you have eyes on her constantly, she will be furious!"

"She may be furious, but she will still be alive!" I growl.

"Okay, as long as you are aware of the consequences." My friend chuckles.

"Speaking of Quinn, I think it's time that we deliver her family's belongings to her. Now that she is settled in, she should be able to decide what she wants done with it all. Can you hire a moving truck to deliver it all to her?"

“Yep, I’ll put it at the top of my list.” He states, “Have you decided what you’re going to get her for her birthday?”

Sighing, I haven’t the slightest idea. Now that she’s her own Alpha, and she is with my cousin, I’m not quite sure what is appropriate anymore, “No. I’m open to any suggestions that you may have.” I chuckle and turn back to my friend.

“Well, we can definitely count another car out.” Carter snickers, Jewelry, perhaps?”

“That won’t be inappropriate?” I question him.

“I don’t see how it would be. It’s not like you’re getting her an engagement ring or anything. You took her in and gave her a home for three years, Declan. You’re allowed to get her a personal gift.”

I’ll think on it some more, and then let you know.”

“Sounds like a plan. If you don’t need me anymore, Keenan was wanting a word with me about some of the new trainees.” —

“That’s fine, we are done here, anyway.” I wave him off

I’m just getting up to the Alpha’s floor when Lila comes down the hall. I stop dead in my tracks, and looking at my watch, there should be no reason for her to be up here. Holden should have been put to bed a few hours ago. I’ve hired a nanny to help me care for the pup since his mother is not dependable, so the nanny is the one that puts him to bed when I’m still working in my office.

“What the fuck are you doing up here, Lila?” | scowl at the she-wolf.

“I was checking on our son, what do you think I’m doing?”

“Since when have you ever cared about the well-being of our son?” My hands curl into fists, wanting to hit something so bad. A pup needs their mother and Lila couldn’t care less about Holden, so he’s missing out on that mother’s love.

“I love my son, Alpha! Just because I’m not with him twenty-four-seven doesn’t mean I don’t care about him!” She scoffs.

“Whatever you say, Lila Holden has been in bed for hours, so you have no need to be up here. Unless you are putting him to bed, which is highly unlikely, you are not to be up here. This is reserved for the Alpha family only.”

“You forget that I am your Luna.”

“You only have the title because you gave birth to my son!” I sneer, “You aren’t even a mother to him; we have no need for you here.”

When she walks past me on her way to the stairs, I scent another male on her, but I can’t quite place the scent, only that it is another pack member, “Let me remind you, Lila, that as long as you insist on keeping the Luna title, you are not to be with other males.” I growl.

“I know this, Alpha.” She stops at the top step but doesn’t turn when I turn towards her...

“If you know this, then why do I scent another male on you?”

“You are mistaken, I haven’t been with anybody since you. Speaking of which, should your needs be taken care of, all you need to do is link me. Now that Quinn is busy fucking your cousin...”

I have my hand wrapped around her small neck in a heartbeat, “If you ever talk about her in that way again, it will be your last time, whore! You will also refer to her as Alpha Quinn from this day forward. Do you understand me?”

She can’t answer me because I’m holding her throat that tight, so she blinks, and I let go. She drops to the floor, and I head to my room. Without turning back to her I respond to her other suggestion.

“I would rather cut my dick off than to ever stick it inside you again, so don’t ever suggest that in the future.” Walking into my room, I close the door and lock it, not trusting that she-bitch one bit.

The next morning, I go into the safe in my office and pull out the last two items that I’ve held inside it for almost four years now. One is the letter for Quinn that she can’t read for another year yet, and then the other is a chain with a key around it. I found it stashed with this letter, so I’m assuming it goes with it. I have no clue as to what it could possibly go to, but maybe Quinn will know.

I have no right to keep these items from her and I know she will respect her mother's wishes and not open it until the given date. The necklace gives me an idea for a birthday present, though, and so I get to work, and start making calls. It actually doesn't take me long to find the person I'm looking for to commission him on preparing Quinn's birthday gift.

I'm leaving my office in a good mood when I run into one of the young she-wolves, "Excuse me, Alpha, but I'm looking for Luna Lila. She told the nanny that she was taking Holden for a walk, but nobody has seen her and it's time for his feeding."

I hold my finger up as I try mind linking Lila. Frowning, I try again, but the bitch has me blocked, "How long ago did she take Holden?"

*An hour ago, around sevenish." The young Omega states.

I frown once more because she shouldn't have had him out that early to begin with. I link my Beta and head warrior to warn them of the issue and to send out a search party. Hoping that Lila is just being a bitch and keeping my son from me, and that they are not injured in any way.

Alpha, patrol saw Lila's car heading out of the territory about thirty minutes ago.' Keenan links me back.

Duke and I both snarl, "Find her and bring me back my fucking son!"

Previous Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 57 online free

CHAPTER 57

The last few weeks have been somewhat peaceful, aside from regular pack stuff, we did have a slight situation with a few rogues trying to get past our border. The new systems that we put in are working great except for when the motherfucker wants to leave a dead body on my property. I'm not sure how they do it without being caught. Thank Goddess it's been quiet on that account as well.

I haven't been able to spend too much time with Gavin either since he's taken over while his father is gone, but we do make time at least every other day, or should I say night where he comes over and stays the night with me. Our bond is growing stronger, but there is still something inside of me, other than my wolf, trying to tell me something. Until I can figure out what it is, I'm going to enjoy my time with him.

My birthday is just about here and there is still no mate in sight. I already knew the chances weren't high, but now I know I was forgotten, or maybe the Goddess has other plans for me. Either way, I'm moving on whether it be with Gavin or someone else.

I've finally got an appointment with Dr. Langly today, so I can start the meds. We are diligent in using protection when Gavin and I are together, but this will be even better. I can't believe he didn't have any openings until now, but I can't really complain since he isn't Dark Moon's pack doctor and he's taking time out to see me.

When I slow down to check in with patrol, they just smile and wave me past. I do miss living among the Storm River pack. They always made me feel at home, and never treated me like an outsider. As I pull into town, there seems to be an unusual amount of activity, but I'm already running a few minutes late, so I concentrate on getting to the clinic.

The receptionist greets me with a smile and asks me to update my paperwork now that I no longer live here. I'm only waiting for about five minutes when a nurse calls my name. Handing the papers back to the she-wolf behind the desk, I follow the nurse back to the examination room.

* see here that you are needing a dose of birth control, is that correct? The nurse smiles warmly. She's an older she-wolf, and I've seen her around town, but I don't really know her.

"Yes Ma'am."

"Oh gosh, call me Anita please,' she chuckles, "How are you liking the Alpha life?"

"Well, it's a big change from being just a regular she-wolf, that's for sure!" I laugh. "But I am actually loving it, and my pack members. We are growing day by day, and I think we can get back to where we were before the attack."

A sympathetic look flashes across her face but then she smiles once more, "If anybody can do it, it's you."

"Thanks for the vote of confidence." I grin.

Anytime, honey, she glances down at the laptop and starts confirming health questions from my file. Once she's done, she closes the laptop and stands "Normally I would administer the meds, but since it's your first dose, Dr. Langly will visit with you and give it to you. For future doses, you can opt out of having me give them and have Doc give it. A few others already do that they just feel better knowing that a doctor is giving them their meds."

"Oh okay. Well, it doesn't matter either way. A nurse is just as capable of sticking me with a needle as a doctor is." i chuckle.

"My exact thoughts, but hey, to each their own." She waves and then closes the door behind her.

I'm not waiting long before the doctor comes in. "Quinn, it's so nice to see you again. Oh, I guess it's Alpha Quinn now, isn't it?"

"Hello, Dr. Langly. Quinn is fine, it's nice to see you as well. Thank you for fitting me into your busy schedule."

*I'm more than happy to help you or any of your pack members until you get your own pack doctor. It may just take a bit to get in. I apologize.

"No apologies are necessary, I'm just grateful that you can help me out." I give him a genuine smile, but he doesn't react the way one would: he seems to be a bit nervous. "Is there something wrong?" I ask concerned.

"What? Oh no, no, nothing that you should be concerned with. A personal matter just popped into my head is all. Dr. Langly is in his late twenties, possibly early thirties, and is still single. I wonder how he's stayed sane all these years. Maybe he did have a mate at one time, and she passed away, but I'm not one to pry, so I don't ask "How are you doing physically? He asks as he takes his stethoscope to my chest and back *Physically, I feel great. I'm getting stronger with every training session, and I can kick anyone's ass that challenges me" i grin smugly.

“Well, that’s good to hear. You look very healthy on the outside, good muscle tone, very fit. Before I administer the birth control, is there any chance that you could be with pup?”

“Well, I am sexually active, but we use condoms every time. I’ve just had my cycle, so I should be good.” I laugh nervously.

“Don’t be nervous, Quinn, it’s something we have to ask everyone. We will need a urine sample, though, just to be sure, and then I will administer the shot.”

“Okay.* I say as he hands me the cup that I need to fill. I jump down from the table and go into the nearest bathroom. I’m back in no time, but I have to wait a good ten minutes before Dr. Langly comes back in. My heart beats rapidly as he comes in flipping through papers in my chart.

As if he’s just now sensing another person in the room, he slams the folder closed and then smiles at me, “The test was negative, so if you will be so kind as to lean over the table, I will bring your pants down, just past your hip, and give you the shot.”

My heart calms down, and I take a much-needed breath. Doing as he says, I lean over, and he pulls one side of my pants down, swabs it with something cold, and then I feel a pinprick in the fleshy part at the top of my ass. He lifts my pants back up and tosses the empty syringe into the red Sharps box on the wall.

“Okie dokie, all done. Now remember, just like the human’s shot, you need to come back in three months for the next dose.” He warns.

“Thank you, Doc. I appreciate it.”

“Of course, anytime. Also, I would continue to use the condoms if you’re not with your mate, but the meds should be in full effect within a week.”

“Oh, no worries, Doc, both will be used. I don’t want to end up like your Alpha,” I snort, “Although, by boyfriend isn’t a psycho like the Luna of this pack.”

Doc flinches at my comment.

“Oh, I’m sorry, Dr. Langly. I didn’t mean to disrespect your Luna. Sometimes I open my mouth and insert my foot.”

“It’s all good, Quinn. It was so nice seeing you again.” He can’t leave the room quick enough. I’m left standing here wondering what the fuck just happened.

I drive up to the front of the Storm River pack house. I had left a text for Declan, letting him know that I would be stopping by, but I haven’t heard back from him yet. I didn’t want to just leave without seeing him, so I said fuck it and came to the house anyway.

There is a lot of commotion going on here as well, everyone moving around quicker than normal. When I finally get a hold of one of the Omegas that cleans the pack house, I ask what’s going on.

“The young heir is missing, and Alpha Declan is going mad!” She informs me.

“Wait!” I raise my voice as she goes to scurry away. “What do you mean, Holden is missing?”

“The Luna took him for a walk this morning and hasn’t returned, and she’s blocked out the Alpha, so he can’t locate her.”

“Where is Alpha Declan now?” I ask a bit frantic. He must be going out of his mind with worry. What was Lila thinking, taking Holden from his father, who happens to be an Alpha? Does she have a death wish?

“Last I knew, he was heading one of the search parties.”

“I see. I understand that you must be busy, but could you link your Alpha and let him know that I am here, wanting to know what he needs me to do?”

The Omega nods and smiles before going quiet. He must answer right away because next thing I know, she’s dragging me to the back door, *Alpha says to meet him at that tree line. He will be here in a few minutes.”

“Oh, okay, thank you.”

I sit and wait for Declan to come to me for a good ten minutes or so, but finally, Duke’s shiny black coat bursts from the trees and stops right in front of me. I lift my hand and run it down the front of his chest since it’s easier to reach. Wrapping my arms around his neck as much as I can, his soft fur turns into a bare chest and Declan's arms come around me.

"Thank you for coming, Quinn."

I find myself in a bit of a predicament when I think of how Declan is now naked with his arms around me. I want to comfort him, but I shouldn't be doing it when he isn't wearing any clothes. I step away and take his hand in mine, keeping my eyes above his chest area.

"What is going on, Declan? Your help said that Lila took your son?"

He steps away and runs his hand over his face, "The bitch told the nanny that she was taking him for a walk about seven this morning and nobody has seen her since. She's blocked me out and I can't even find her scent anywhere, nor my son's."

"But where could she have taken him? She doesn't have anybody outside of this town, does she?" I ask, flabbergasted.

"Not that I'm aware of. She's got her mother, but that's it, and I've already been there twice, and there are eyes on the house in case Lila shows up." He begins to pace the more agitated he gets.

"What in the fuck is she thinking?" I ask.

Before he can say anything, the same Omega who led me out here calls out for Declan to come inside quick. We both run for the house. I let him take the lead as we get to the door at the same time. The Omega points down the hall, and we follow her lead, stopping short when we get to the living area. Sitting demurely on one of the couches, bouncing a wrapped bundle, sits the fucking Luna.

Declan's growl echoes through the entire house, "Where the fuck have you been?"

nobody has seen her since. She's blocked me out and I can't even find her scent anywhere, nor my son's."

"But where could she have taken him? She doesn't have anybody outside of this town, does she?" I ask, flabbergasted.

“Not that I’m aware of. She’s got her mother, but that’s it, and I’ve already been there twice, and there are eyes on the house in case Lila shows up.” He begins to pace the more agitated he gets.

“What in the fuck is she thinking?” I ask.

Before he can say anything, the same Omega who led me out here calls out for Declan to come inside quick. We both run for the house. I let him take the lead as we get to the door at the same time. The Omega points down the hall, and we follow her lead, stopping short when we get to the living area. Sitting demurely on one of the couches, bouncing a wrapped bundle, sits the fucking Luna.

Declan’s growl echoes through the entire house, “Where the fuck have you been?”

Previous Chapter

Next Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 58 online free

CHAPTER 58

Declan

I’m standing in the middle of the living area, butt-ass naked, seething. My hands are clenched tight as I glare at the she-bitch who dares to call herself the Luna of my pack. The only thing stopping me from tearing her to shreds is the fact that she still holds my son in her arms. I’m waiting for her to answer me, but all she does is sit there and smirks as she takes a look around the room. When her eyes land on Quinn, her smirk disappears.

“What the fuck is she doing here?” She sneers, “I leave for half a day, and you’re already bringing your whore back?”

“Lacy.” I say in a very low, strained voice. A she-wolf that I went to school with steps forward, “Please take my son out of here.” When Lacy goes to take Holden, Lila growls at her and holds him tighter.

“You will not touch my son!”

Poor Lacy doesn't know what to do as she looks back at me. I raise my voice once again, "You will give my son to his nanny, now, Lila!"

"He's my son, too, Alpha! You seem to forget that."

"NO!" Duke roars now, "You're the one who forgets that you have a son! You only give him attention when it's going to benefit you!" I'm doing all I can to hold my wolf back because he's about to come unleashed, so I push him back once more, "You will hand over my son, before I have to do it myself, and so help me Goddess, you will be sorry then!" I take a step forward.

It's enough for Lila to hand my son over to Lacy. As soon as she does, I'm quick, as I move toward her and lifting her off the floor by her neck. I'm never one to hurt a female, but Lila has proven time and time again that sometimes it's necessary in order to get your point across.

"You kept my son from me on purpose! Why?" I snarl up at her as I hold her up above my head. I loosen my grip enough so she can still talk.

"I was not keeping him from you..."

*That's a lie! You blocked me from communicating with you and you lied about taking him for a walk! You even covered up both yours and Holden's scent so we couldn't locate you! Now, I want to know WHY!"

"I told you; I wasn't..."

I didn't let her finish as I throw her across the room. Her body slams into the wall by the window, putting a huge hole in the drywall. Her body crumbles to the floor, but she looks up and glares across the room at me. Her eyes then move over to Quinn who is just standing there, showing absolutely no emotion. The female Alpha's brow cocks up when Lila glares at her, but instead of saying anything to Quinn, she turns her attention back to me.

"Why?" she sneers, "Why do you choose her over me all the time? We used to have fun together when we hooked up, and then all of a sudden, you just stopped. Were you lusting after her the whole time?"

I have to roll my eyes because seriously! She keeps asking me why, but she doesn't stop to ask herself why she didn't heed my warning from the very beginning when I told her that all it was ever going to be is just sex.

*Are you hearing yourself right now, Lila?" I ask incredulously, "Quinn had absolutely nothing to do with me no longer fucking you. YOU are the one that made me stop because you were getting too attached, even after I told you that nothing would ever come of it!

"But we were good together, Declan!" She stomps her foot like a child.

"IT'S ALPHA! How many times do I have to tell you this? The only thing good about us was when I was able to relieve myself and then send you home afterwards. You can't seriously think that I would choose a pack whore as my Luna willingly, do you?" I snort, "No, my Luna would have been mine alone, not shared within the pack."

Lila kicks up one side of her mouth and glances over at Quinn, "Guess you're out of the running now too, since you're fucking his cousin now."

When I go to grab her once more, Quinn lays her hand on my arm and stops me as she steps forward and crosses her arms. The smirk that forms on Quinn's face can't mean anything good.

"I wouldn't have been out of the running had you not fucked him over and tricked him into getting you pregnant. But hey, at least he got to have a piece of me to remember always." I watch as she leans close into Lila's ear. Oh Goddess, is she really going to tell her? Straining my ears, I barely catch what is said, "He got the one thing that you could never give him my virginity."

Lila jerks back, her eyes landing on me, "She's lying! Tell me she's lying!"

I shrug

"When?"

"The night before I left, Oh, I guess it was that morning as well." Quinn winks at me and I can't fathom why she is revealing all of this to Lila.

"You fucked her even though you knew I was pregnant with your pup?" She shrieks.

"No, Lila, I didn't fuck her. Quinn and I made love all night long. That's what happens when you love someone." I smirk at the horrified look on the she-bitch's face.

“Well...She tries saying something but keeps stopping herself because she’s at a loss for words. Finally, she gets an evil smile on her face and turns back to Quinn, “Well, you can never give him an heir. Beat that bitch!”

Oh shit, she did not just bring that up! I know that it’s a sensitive subject for Quinn, but what surprises me is that the female Alpha holds her own and puffs her chest out. I don’t know if it’s only me, but it’s almost as if Quinn as grown in the last few seconds. She looks stronger and much scarier.

“You think so, Lila? If I didn’t have a man of my own, I could swoop your Alpha up in a heartbeat and give him an heir as well. May not be the heir to this pack, but you forget that I am now an Alpha. Any child of mine will be an heir to my pack.”

I can see the steam leave Lila as she takes in Quinn’s words, “Quinn will always be the better woman, the better Luna, and the better choice, Lila. When will you give up this pissing contest? Quinn knows that she is the better choice, but you know what? None of this matters because Quinn and I are only friends. This is between you and me, and nobody else.” There are two warriors standing by the door and I nod at them. “I’m thinking some more time in the cells for this little stunt you pulled is in order.”

“What? No, please! I’m sorry, I will never do it again!” She begs me.

I ignore her pleas and turn to Quinn, “I’m going to grab some clothes, please meet me in my office.”

“Alright. She smiles at me and then turns back to Lila, “I have never been a threat to you Lila. I left the pack so Declan could try and build his family. This is all his decision, and your actions never helped you. You need to leave me out of this. I’ve moved on, and I’m happy.” Lila doesn’t say a word, so Quinn turns and follows me up the stairs.

I close the door to my office and lean against it, crossing one foot over the other. I threw on the first thing I saw which was a pair of basketball shorts and a t-shirt. I’m still bare footed as I sweep my eyes over the woman by the window.

“Why did you do it? You didn’t have to, you know.” My voice is soft.

"I'm so tired of her going on and on about what she has versus what I have. I shouldn't have stooped to her level," she looks down before turning her head towards me and grinning, "but it felt so good rubbing it in."

I choke on a laugh and push myself away from the door, "We could have kept it a secret, nobody needed to know."

"I'm not ashamed of what we did, Declan." She furrows her brows at me.

"I know, and I'm not either, but that doesn't mean that we have a duty to tell others that we shared a night together. What will Gavin say when he hears about it?"

"He already knows." She looks back out the window, "We don't keep anything from each other, and when he asked if there was anything between me and you, I told him."

"What did he say?" I can only imagine what my cousin thought. I hope he didn't give her too much grief.

She smirks but doesn't turn back to look at me, "I don't think you want to know what happened after that."

I understand and I feel myself actually blush a little, "I see." Cocking my head, I ask my next question, "Did you really mean it? I mean about being able to give me another heir?"

This time, she turns and looks me in the eye, "Why wouldn't it be possible? I'm with Gavin, though, so no, technically, it isn't possible any longer.

"Right, well, at least Lila is now locked away for a while and won't be able to cause any trouble."

"Declan, you need to talk to the Elders about her. You cannot deal with that the rest of your life!" She places her hand in the middle of my chest, but I don't think she realizes it, and I don't do anything to stop her from doing it. Her touch gives me tingles and our heartbeats are still in sync.

"I will try, but I'm not holding my breath. If anything, she will always have a cell with her name on it." I chuckle sadly.

A vibration goes off and Quinn reaches into her back pocket for her phone. I watch her as she reads her message and then smiles, and right then I know that it's from Gavin. He's the only other person who could put a smile on her face the same way I can.

"I've got to go. Gavin's on his way over to my place. Besides, you should probably spend some time with your son." She reaches up and hugs me. Returning it, I take a deep breath of her scent and squeeze her tight.

"Thank you for coming over here. Maybe next time it will be a little less chaotic." I press my lips against her forehead.

She pulls away, "I don't know, is it really a good time if there isn't any drama?" She backs her way to the door, "Goodbye, Declan. I will see you soon."

"Goodbye, beautiful."

Previous Chapter

Next Chapter

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 59 online free

The days and weeks following my visit to the Storm River pack are filled with training, pack business, and preparations for my upcoming birthday. Of course, I argued with my best friend about not throwing me a party, but you can't talk Cici out of anything once her mind is set.

"It's not even a meaningful birthday, Cici. I'm only turning nineteen."

"Pfft! You are our Alpha and every birthday from now on is a meaningful one, so suck it up, buttercup!"

I roll my eyes and then glance down at some of her ideas. My eyes widen at what I'm seeing, "Five thousand dollars for an ice sculpture of me?" Lask in disbelief, "Absolutely not, Cici! I'm not wasting money on that, cancel it!"

"Ugh, fine! I'd rather get rid of that than the strippers, anyway." She grins.

I had just taken a gulp from my bottled water, when she states this, causing me to spit it out all over, “CICI! You better be fucking with me because I’m two seconds away from strangling you!”

My friend snatches up all her party notes and turns to leave, “I guess you won’t know until the night of your party.” She then struts away from me, holding her nose in the air.

I swear to the Goddess, if there are males that strip at my party, I will never talk to my best friend again! I’m not a prude or anything, and I will be the first to get into line at a male strip club, but I refuse to have them at my party; a party that I don’t even want and that my boyfriend will be at.

Taking my seat behind my desk, I look around and my eyes land on the boxes still piled up in the corner of my office. Declan had the items that he had collected and kept after the attack, delivered back to me. The furnishings are being stored in a shed at the moment and personal items that belonged to my family are boxed up in one of the spare rooms on the Alpha floor.

The boxes in the corner of my office are everything that came out of this office when it belonged to my father.

I’ve yet to go through them, though, because I had already gotten emotional when Declan had given me the last letter that he had from my mother. The one that I cannot open until the day before my twentieth birthday. He also handed me the key that is on the chain that my mother had always worn around her neck, up until a few weeks before the attack.

She had told me that it was time that she put it in a safe place for when I was older. I know what the key unlocks and how important it is that I don’t open it until the specific time stated. I don’t know what that time is, but I can bet that the letter will tell me once I’m able to open My mother’s personal safe is hidden well, and I am the only one that was told about it; not even my brother, Dylan, knew about it.

I wrap my hand around the key that now hangs around my neck and smile warmly. My mother always kept it on a long chain in case she needed to shift unexpectedly and didn’t have time to take it off. I’m happy that I have another piece of her; one that I can keep with me always. I have so much to thank Declan for. Even giving him my most prized possession doesn’t seem to be enough, but it will have to suffice.

“Knock, knock,” his voice sounds in time with his knuckles knocking on my door.

I glance up, grinning, happy to see Gavin’s handsome face smiling back at me as he enters my office. He walks around my desk and stands behind me, placing his big hands on my shoulders. A moan slips as he begins to massage the tense muscles that I’ve got going on.

“Have you eaten anything?” He asks softly.

“I trust had a slice of toast,” I look at the time, and see that it’s well past lunch time, “Oh wow! I hadn’t realized the time.”

He chuckles, “I figured as much.” His hands leave my shoulders and I pout, but only for a moment as I watch him leave for just a second and then come back in with a box of pizza.

“How did I not smell that?” I snicker.

“You didn’t even realize that I was standing here, watching you for at least three minutes before I actually knocked!” He places the box on top of the table by the couch in the corner and then curls his finger at me, indicating for me to come to him.

I happily stand up and sashay over to him, reaching up to plant a sweet kiss on his cheek. He has other ideas, though. Sliding his hand behind my waist, he hauls me up against his hard chest and brings his mouth down to mine. He kisses me passionately for a moment or two and then pulls away before it goes too far.

He brings his thumb up and wipes away a bit of wetness by my mouth, “Did you actually think that I came all the way over here for a simple kiss on the cheek?”

“Mm, no, but that was only for starters. I need to fill my belly and restore my energy for what I have planned for you.”

Read The alpha who saved me by Stacy Rush Chapter 60 online free

'What do you mean there are fifty-six refugees?' I ask Spencer shockingly, through our mind link.

When I stepped out onto the front porch, I couldn't believe my eyes when I saw the crowd gathered on the front lawn. I look over the small

I crowd, and if it weren't for the children mixed in with both males and females, I would have thought that perhaps it was a trick, but they all

I carry bags with them.

'Just like I said, fifty-six, but those are just the adults. There are another seventeen of them under the age of eighteen.' He informs me.

'Did they say why they are here?' I ask, trying to keep a straight face while sweeping my eyes over the newcomers.

'All I know is that their pack was attacked, and their Alpha and Beta were killed, along with all the other higher ranks.' He adds sadly.

I guess I had better find out from them what happened because it's obvious that they didn't want to tell my Beta everything. I trust Spencer to make good decisions, so if he allowed them onto my territory and right up to the pack house, then they must not be a threat.

"Welcome to the Dark Moon pack. I am Alpha Quinn Night. Is there a spokesperson among you who can step forward and tell me why you all are here and where you came from?" —

A woman steps forward, "I am Aspen. My brother was the head warrior of our pack. We are from the Crescent Moon pack."

"Crescent Moon? You're a long way from home, Aspen." Crescent Moon pack is just over the state border, which is at least a six-hour drive from here.

"Yes, we are, Alpha Quinn, but we knew that we needed to get to you and your pack." She glances around before turning to me once more,

“Our pack was attacked by the Gray Skies pack. We were eight hundred strong, but still no match for Gray Skies. We,” her hand sweeps over the small crowd, “are all that is left. I suggested that we come here because I remember hearing my brother and Beta talk about the Dark Moon pack, and about its new Alpha.”

“They talked about me?” Why would anybody talk about me?

“Yes, Alpha. You are known far and wide of being a brave alpha female who overcame the struggles of losing her family and most of her pack to an attack. You are like a hero for some of us.” The she-wolf smiles sheepishly:

Gavin rubs my back tenderly before leaving his hand on the lower part, and I am grateful for his support. When my own eyes sweep the crowd, I see hope within their eyes. I already know that I’m not going to turn them away, but it’s all so overwhelming.

“Do you know why your pack was attacked?” I ask Aspen.

“I am not for sure, but before I fled, I heard one of their warriors mention something about a Dire wolf. I can only assume that they are one of the packs in search of the last of the Dire wolves to be rid of them.”

My forehead crinkles, “Oh, for the love of Goddess, not another one!” It’s a good thing they are in the next state, but if her pack has heard of my pack, who’s to say that they won’t travel this far?

“They are killing innocent wolves over a myth?” Gavin asks. ,

I glance to my side to look at him, “It’s the same reason why Luther attacked my pack. Over a fucking Dire wolf.” I growl.

“Okay, well, I’m sure you all are tired and most likely hungry. This here is my Beta, Spencer, and his mate Cici,” I point to the couple, “He will show the males to the male's shower room that our warriors use, and Cici will show the women to theirs. I will see to getting you all fed ve you clean up and then we will discuss sleeping arrangements and start the process of swearing you all in, if that is what you are seeking.

“Thank you. Alpha. You and your Beta have been so kind to us. Most Alphas along the way wouldn't even talk to us, thinking we were rogues.” The pretty she-wolf smiles at me, and I can't help but feel saddened for what they have gone through.

“! take it, your brother didn't make it out of the attack?” I hate to ask, but I want to be sure.

You are correct, Alpha. They went after all the high ranks first, before moving on to the rest. That's why so many of us were able to get out. I have only my sister, Kimber, left.”

I don't need to ask where she is because another she-wolf steps out of the crowd, a spitting image of Aspen, only Kimber's hair is more most black. Both have blue eyes, though, which makes me a bit worried about Kimber. I haven't forgotten about the killer on the loose.

I must inform you; we have had some trouble in the area. Someone seems to be targeting me and some have been killed; women who resemble me. I only say this because I noticed that Kimber has my hair and eye color. I suggest you stay within this pack and don't go anywhere alone. At least until we can catch the fucker doing it.”

“We understand, Alpha.” Both women say it in unison, and I giggle.

“Oh, before I forget, this here,” I place my hand on Gavin's arm, “is Gavin Davis. He is the Alpha heir to the Blue River pack, and he is my boyfriend. I expect you to show him the same respect that you will show me.”

This time, the whole crowd says, “Yes, Alpha,” at the same time and then Spencer and Quinn begin to separate them. I turn to Gavin and blow out a long breath. Leaning forward, I place my forehead against his chest and just take in a few more breaths.

Straightening myself back up I gaze up at him, “seventy-three new members. That’s a whole lot to swear in.”

“You don’t have to do it all in one day, babe.” Gavin rubs my arms up and down.

“I know, but it’s still exhausting, and Goddess, my heart goes out to them!” Gavin then pulls me into his arms, “Why are these packs so bent on ending this so-called Dire wolf? So what if it’s strong, if it’s even real? It’s apparent that it doesn’t want to be found and will not attack others.”

“It’s all about power, Quinn. These Alphas from the attacking packs are power hungry, that’s all.” He rubs my back some more.

“I’m so glad that we stopped Luther’s pack. I wonder if there are any others close to us?”

“I can try and do some digging. Now that I’m acting Alpha, I will get further now than I can when I’m just the heir.”

I lift my head and stare into his green eyes, “You are amazing, do you know that?”

He shrugs, “Well, I didn’t want to say anything because I didn’t want to seem conceited, but I am pretty amazing.” He agrees cockily.

I tap his cheek playfully, but he flinches, “What?”

“You need to calm down on your training. That hurt just a little bit.” He laughs.

“Oh, whatever, you big pussy.” I go to turn away, but he holds my arm.

“I’m being completely serious, Quinn.”

Studying him, I realize that he is being dead serious. I glance at my hand and then at his cheek and I can see the red handprint taking shape.

I feel really bad now, so I reach up and place a kiss on it.

“I’m so sorry, Gavin. I didn’t realize my strength was growing that much. Goddess, first Cici, and now you!”

“Hey,” he lifts my chin up, “It’s okay, I’m fine. It will take a lot more than a few taps to put me down.” He chuckles.

Rising up, I lean in towards his ear, “How about I make it up to you tonight?” I bite my bottom lip, “Maybe I will even let you spank me in return, only not on those cheeks.”

He groans and readjusts himself, “I will definitely be taking you up on that offer!”

Thank you to all who are still with me on this! I’m enjoying writing this one as my first werewolf romance and plan on writing more in the future. Please keep your comments coming, I love reading them all! =)