"I want to know Sheila's whereabouts. You were about to find Charlotte. I would like you to find Sheila by any means possible," Alpha Nick said seriously, but Beta Dustin was not happy about it.

"Alpha, why?"

Alpha Nick couldn't put a finger on his reason for wanting to know Sheila's location so badly, but he felt uneasy. with her strange disappearance.

Fearing that something must have happened to her, there was a sternness in his tone as he couldn't reach Sheila through the phone, not even to check on her.

She claimed to love Athena so much, and Alpha Nick was wondering if she had a different way of contacting Athena.

Still, he couldn't lower his pride to ask, as Athena might just read negative meanings into it. "Can you just do it without asking for reasons?" There was a slight annoyance in his tone.

Beta Dustin was not liking this. Just six months and Sheila had already stolen the hearts of the warriors because of the bunch she trained. One of them almost even defeated him.

If Sheila returns, then Beta Dustin might lose his authority. Finding Charlotte was something he opted to do for the Alpha by himself, but he had no enthusiasm in searching for Sheila.

"She's just an orphan. You are divorced. Forget her and focus on Charlotte," he advised politely. Alpha Nick felt the need to clear the air. It seemed that his request was misunderstood.

"I haven't taken my focus from Charlotte, but I feel that Sheila is lying to me," he revealed. Beta Dustin relaxed a little, happy it wasn't because Alpha Nick was developing any kind of feelings for Sheila.

"She's just hiding her poverty-stricken self," he shrugged. He was still standing since he entered the office, ast Alpha Nick had hit him with the request before he sat..

Somehow, he found Beta Dustin's description of Sheila offensive and didn't overlook it.

"Can you mind your tone? When I met Sheila at the club, she was driving a yellow Ferrari. When I met her at the restaurant to discuss the pack matters, she paid the bill without asking for the price. The dollar notes she

He didn't know what it was, but the more he thought about it, the greater his conviction that Sheila was indeed not what she claimed to be. He couldn't also say that she was lying.

As Sheila would term it, it was either he didn't ask or asked the wrong way. Dealing with his ex-contract Luna suddenly required a lot of skill and thinking.

"She might just be trying to get your attention," Beta Dustin suggested. For as long as he knew, there was nothing special about Sheila, except that she made him feel inferior about himself.

Alpha Nick poured himself a cup of coffee, but touching the cup, it had grown cold. He had it prepared on his way back from training with Anita, but who knew that it would turn so cold within a short time?

He felt like he needed coffee but didn't have the time to have more made by the maids. "I don't think so. She already captured the interest of a lot of men. I just wonder why she was so pitiful when I asked her for the divorce. It doesn't look as if she needed me in her life."

The last part of his statement left a bitter expression on his face. Why did he feel hurt for not being needed by Sheila? Funny enough, his wolf was always calm at the mention of Sheila but repulsed at the mention or thought of Charlotte.

There was something going on that he could not understand.

"Maybe it was because she couldn't lay hands on the things she wanted," Beta Dustin said in a mocking tone. Charlotte was not smart, so dealing with her was far easier than Sheila.

Sheila seemed to also be too experienced and knowledgeable than what she claimed to be. As he began to put two and two together, he couldn't help but agree that something was indeed wrong with Sheila's identity.

"She rejected half of the pack with everything else I wanted to give her. Do you call that failure?" Alpha Nick asked, jolting Dustin from his trance.

"I don't know what it is, but I hope she doesn't steal your mind and attention from your mate," Dustin tried to redirect the conversation to escape from the confusion sitting on his mind.

Alpha Nick pursed his lips, once again feeling like he has been misunderstood. "Nothing or no one would ever come between me and Charlotte. I'm just interested in knowing what Sheila has been hiding. She seems to be running away from something every time I see her."

The latter part of Alpha Nick's explanation seemed to have calmed Beta Dustin's suspicions. It was not as if Alpha Nick was falling in love with Sheila. WwW.NoVÉlsjho(m)©cóm

He was just suspicious of her character. Who knew what she was hiding? Perhaps she must have married somebody else to save herself from the shame of being married and divorced at such a young age.

Also, it might be because she was ashamed of not being able to win Alpha Nick's heart after all her time spent in the pack as his Luna.

It was such a shame and a waste of time. "I will find out about her whereabouts to prove to you that she is nothing," Beta Dustin said with great resolve.

He spent six months in search of Charlotte, but it was just recently he received a call from one of his investigators that they had seen a woman who looked like Charlotte. Reaching the location, she was indeed the one.

It was not as if he single-handedly did the job, but since he was entrusted with another one, he had no choice. but to fall back on those investigators.

"And I will go for a run," Alpha Nick said and rose from his chair. He had come here to get a few things done before going to shower, but after this conversation, he suddenly felt like he needed a lot of fresh air.

As Alpha Nick went about his run, he wasn't far in the woods when he heard the shriek of a female, instantly halting in his steps.

As he neared the sound of the voices, he could hear Charlotte's voice, "I said you should disappear." wWw.NoVÉlsjho@e.Com

He rushed towards the sound of the voice, only to see Anita on the floor, covered in bruises as she tried to shield herself from her attacker.
