Alpha's Surrogate by POOJA

Chapter 56

56. More than just Alphas...

In the pack, there was hustle and bustle, joyous levity, and an uplifting mood all around. On this auspicious full moon day, every house on the Sirius Bright Pack's territory was empty as everyone had gathered for Alpha Zander and Luna Adira's wedding. Unlike Xavier's wedding, the younger Alpha's wedding was being held in the pack house's big magnificent garden.

By the evening, Beta Kaiden and Gamma Tyler had completed the border security check as well as the wedding preparations. Lance, the Luna's bodyguard, and Omega Cole, the Luna's friend, had been great examples of enthusiasm. The Beta and Gamma had received their full support. The Omega not only had a handsome face, but he was also quite strong.

It was 25 minutes past the wedding's scheduled start time, and everyone was excitedly awaiting the bride, but the new Luna was waiting for her sister. The groom and Alpha, who had been waiting for his older brother, felt the same way. They both declined to starting the wedding without their siblings in attendance.

Stephen was irritated by his older grandson's behavior, who had inexplicably vanished with his mate. There was no one who knew where they were. Why would he go anywhere on his brother's wedding day?! There were several responsibilities on everyone's shoulders, yet the Alpha had snuck out of the pack with his woman in the middle of the night for fun? Wasn't this also meant to be a big party to celebrate Kiara's pregnancy? The old wolf had decided to take a bite of his grandson's ass. Thankfully Zander had made up a random excuse to spare his brother's a$$, Steven was calm and drinking with the other elders.

Close friends of the twin brothers, as well as Alphas and Lunas of the allied and competing packs, were invited. All of the guests had arrived, but the music had been turned on and the dance floor cleared, so no one had noticed the delay in the ceremony. While Jennifer and Lena, on the other hand, had ingeniously engaged the pups with ice cream to keep them entertained.

Jennifer sent a mind-link to Lena, who had been conversing with Steven for some time. Xavier had asked Kaiden to send his private jet for him so that they could arrive on time for the wedding. The return trip was going to take far too long this time. The Alpha and Luna were able to fly back in half an hour thanks to the jet "Quickly go inform the Alpha and Luna of their siblings' arrival," the Beta female instructed. The moon had already reached its full phase!

"Okay!" The red headed Gamma female exclaimed in excitement. The most anticipated moment had finally arrived. She noticed Zander and Adira walking out together as she turned on her heel towards the pack house. They were well aware of their siblings' arrival. Xavier and Kiara were greeted with a smile from the couple.

"Adira! Congrats!" Kiara ran towards her sister for a big and tight hug.

"You look so beautiful in this wedding gown!" She exclaimed. She had also arrived dressed in the same green gown that Xavier had chosen for her.

"Thank you!" The older sister hugged her back.

"Grandpa has so many questions for you." Zander warned his brother, outlining the reasons and lies he had made up to cover for his sudden disappearance.

"Ahh, thanks for covering for me," the Alpha let out a long sigh. He knew what was coming for him.

"Why are you so stubborn, Adira? I had told you not to bother waiting for me. You should not have delayed the wedding." the young woman murmured as she led her sister to the stage where the wedding would take place.

"There has never been a time in our lives when we haven't been together, Kiara. And now that I'm getting married, I would like you to accompany me. I miss mom and dad. I wish they could be here with us.

But at the very least, I want you by my side when my life changes. This is a big day for me," Adira clutched Kiara's hand and came to a halt in front of the stage. Kiara nodded with a smile. She also missed Martha and Sawyer.

The Alpha twins, who had been trailing behind their mates, overheard their conversation but kept quiet.

"Let's get married, Adira," Alpha remarked as he asked for his bride's hand in marriage. She giggled and nodded shyly. That's when he noticed his sister-in-law place her older sister's hand in his, a big smile on her face.

"Best wishes, you two. Today is your day Adira. I will be there to experience it with you," Kiara smiled as she went back to Xavier before the bride and groom took their places on the stage.

The wedding vows soon began, and everyone watched as the Alpha and Luna exchanged rings with bated breath. The young she-wolf stood by her mate, holding the glass of juice that he had bought for her.

The Alpha noticed his mate's mouth slightly open as she watched Zander and Adira moving closer for a kiss. She had grasped the glass so firmly that he was afraid she would break it and hurt herself, yet when they finally kissed, she leapt up like a bunny.

"Careful," Xavier kept his hand on her back to control her movements.

"Did you see! Zander and Adira are married. They accepted each other. I am so happy," Kiara exclaimed.

"Yes, I see," he responded with a chuckle, drawing her closer to him. Drawn in by her sister's happiness, she had forgotten everything. Jennifer and Lena were both overjoyed, and their mates were having difficulty keeping them in check as well. After a few moments, all of the females rushed up to the stage to offer the new bride hugs and kisses. Adira's cheeks had become flushed! She had truly become married.

"Grandpa," Zander gave a hug to Steven. With a smile, the old man blessed the bride and groom. He had also noticed that Adira was wearing the diamond jewelry set that he had given her, which had brought him honor. It reminded him of his deceased mate. He was the happiest person there.

“Zander, I still remember what you had said. You gave your mate time to love and accept you. The respect you have shown Luna Adira is what allowed her to fall in love with you. You have proven your devotion to her. Excellent work, my son!” He congratulated while patting him on the back and kissing his granddaughter-in-mate’s hand. Adira and Zander bowed and smiled at Stephen.

“Thank you Grandpa for your blessings,” they said. The elderly wolf grinned. Finally, he had fulfilled his obligation as a grandfather to these two grandchildren. He watched their joy filled lives, in which they had lovely mates who were an honest and the ideal fit. He was the first to take a photo with the newlywed couple. Then it was Xavier’s and Kiara’s turn. Iris did not miss the opportunity to take photographs with couple, her brothers and then her sisters-in-mate. The Beta and Gamma had approached the Alpha groom just to poke him, but it turned out that the younger Alpha was the most shameless.

“Trust me, I will kick you out of our room tonight if you talk dirty in front of the others!” Adira warned her husband by elbowing him. The Alpha had no choice other than to behave himself. He couldn’t let his dream of enjoying the first night of his wedded bliss be shattered. The photographs were taken with all of their friends, followed by family and guests.

All of the remaining rituals were carried out one by one. Like the first dance, drinks, and other activities. Adira and Zander had simply served cake, but they planned to have supper with relatives and friends later. It was their party, so they decided to make up their own rules.

Xavier and Kiara had already enjoyed their time so they didn’t cut the cake. It was Zander and Adira’s day after all.

When Adira was about to throw her bouquet, every unmarried woman’s breath had stopped. Whoever caught the bouquet it was said would be the “next” one to walk down the aisle! When Adira tossed it over her shoulders, every she-wolves’ eagle eyed gaze was glued to it. Who would catch it?! All of the ranking females held their breath, hoping that it would come to rest with a familiar person.

“Oh my Goddess!” A woman standing behind all the single she-wolves gasped in astonishment as the bouquet fell into her hands without her leaping or working for it! What a fantastic evening!

“Iris!” The Lunas, Beta, and Gamma females instantly hugged the surprised woman, who couldn’t believe her good fortune. Iris had caught the bouquet!

“So it is your turn next!” Lena exclaimed, poking the Alpha daughter of the family, who was blushing profusely. It was like a dream come true. That’s when the Lunas noticed their Alphas were standing in the distance with displeased expressions. Their sister had been the one to get the bouquet. It was a clear red light. Who was that bastard who was going to steal their little sister?!

“I hope you invited your mate to the party, Iris,” even though he had attempted to speak softly, Zander’s voice was heavy. He had every intention of putting her mate to the test. Despite the fact that their sister was 19, she was still innocent, and the twins did not want a playboy to toy with her heart.

“Don’t tell me he got scared and ran away,” Xavier remarked indifferently with a blank expression.

Why hadn't her mate arrived yet?

"He would never run away. I spoke with him earlier, he is on his way to our pack. You must keep your promise." The young woman quickly defended her mate while reminding her brothers about the promise, which only annoyed the brothers. She was clearly madly in love with that unknown man.

"Don't be overprotective. I completely understand how you feel. Let's just wait until he arrives," Kiara suggested as she clasps Xavier's hand to calm him down. He agreed, but he had a bad feeling about this. Both of the twins exchanged glances but remained silent.

While all of the ranking members of the pack gathered at the dinner table, the guests enjoyed the buffet on the other side of the garden. On exceptional occasions, such as today, the Beta and Gamma females arranged dinner in a separate section of the garden where all of their guests could spend their time alone. Steven was seated with his friends, so he was not with them. While Iris was also busy with her friends. A large dining table had been set up in the middle, with beautifully decorated cakes, beverages, and other delicious food.

"Congratulations to Zander and Adira!!!" They all clicked their glasses together, sipped their drinks, and wished the couple a happy married life.

Kaiden and Tyler, who had skipped lunch due to the preparations, began eating hurriedly while their mates served them.

"Why are you only eating salad?" Zander questioned, observing that his mate's plate had only green veggies.

"I don't feel like eating much, maybe because I am tired," she replied, eating slowly.

"Still you need to eat, Adira," the Alpha advised, clutching her little mouth and putting a piece of meat in it.

"It is not time to be tired. Tonight is going to be quite long. You know that." He winked, giving the young Luna dirty thoughts that made her flush. She elbowed him once more. That's when they both saw everyone had stopped eating and was watching their little play with a smirk.

"What?" The Alpha gave a bored look while placing meat on Adira's plate

"Do you remember when I told you that when you discover your soulmate, you'll realize what love and the mate bond is? I can see you've changed," Tyler smirked, reminding him of what he had told him in the past when he was single.

"Really? I don't remember anything," Zander quickly lied, letting all the guys know that they could not back down no matter what.

"Then you must recall what type of mate you had imagined for yourself." That's when Beta Kaiden accepted the challenge and took the charges in his palm.

"I said, I don't remember..."

"Hmm... what is this all about?" The bride's attention was drawn to the comment, as all eyes turned to the Beta, who had no idea what he was talking about.

"Trust me, you are dead, if you..." Zander couldn't threaten Kaiden entirely before he said it. "A cake-faced she-wolf who would wriggle her little tail around..." "Why don't you eat more, Kaiden!!" Adira gasped as Zander approached the rambunctious Beta and shoving a large slice of cake in his face before he spilled all the secrets that should be kept until the grave.

Everyone laughed, taking it as a joke among friends as Beta threw daggers through his eyes at his Alpha while offering him a tight, bitter smile.

The bodyguard entered while everyone was still talking, joking, and laughing during supper.

"Luna Kiara," he called as he approached the young woman, holding the cat in his arms.

"Meow has been missing you," he handed over the cat to her mistress.

"Thank you for taking care of her, Lance." In her absence, Cole and Lance had been taking care of her because Adira was busy.

"No problem, Luna," he smiled back.

"Oh, has my baby been missing me! I missed you too, baby. Did you eat?" The young Luna asked, giving countless kisses to the white kitty

"Xavier, can you please make a plate for Meow?" Kiara asked, putting her cat on the ground. Xavier placed a platter of delectable meat in front of her, and the cat instantly began to eat eagerly. She finished it quickly then started to play around the dining table, especially near Xavier and Kiara's legs, before she ended up in her mistress' lap for a nap.

After dinner, they all talked about Zander and Adira's wedding and honeymoon. That's when Xavier felt something brush across his thighs. What was that? He came to a halt and looked down, only to discover Meow had placed her paw on him for the first time, requesting attention.

"Meow! No, baby. I told you not to do that." When Kiara had realized what had happened, she swiftly drew her back into her lap. The stubborn cat refused to listen and began to converse with Kiara and Xavier in a bold manner. She disliked it when she was stopped!

"I'm sorry, she wants to come to you," the young she-wolf explained the situation to her Alpha, who had narrowed his green eyes once more on the little cat, who was possibly challenging him in her own language.

"Don't give me those eyes. You are not coming over to me," Xavier said coldly to the cat. That caused the cat to talk more. Wait! Did she understand them? The Alpha looked at Kiara who had bit her lip to hold in her laugh.

"If you put out your hand and give her a few scratches then she will calm down," Kiara suggested in a hushed tone. She was well aware of his conditions that he had set for her when he had brought the cat to the pack. But she chose to push her mate a little.

"Me?" In disbelief, Xavier raised his eyebrows. He had never considered petting a pet, not even in his wildest dreams.

"Yes, please try it, Xavier. She likes you," Kiara offered, her eyes sparkling. He had just been looking between the cat and her for a few seconds when he heard his woman say.

"Please do it for me once, Xavier," she coaxed, making a cute face that caused the Alpha to blink for a few seconds.fk! This woman could get him turned on with just her eyes, and the cuteness she had been displaying to him was too much for him to handle, so he did what she requested.

“Yes!!” Kiara giggled, watching him trying his best and touching little white Meow slowly. Yes, he did not scratch but gently patted her with his hand. The Alpha let out a deep sigh of relief. He had really done it! He hadn’t been able to deny Kiara and had done it!! He drew his hand back after stroking Meow’s fur. That was when the women went to meet a few of the other Lunas. Zander had returned after speaking with the other Alphas and guests. Stephen had taken care of everything and told him to relax and spend time with his friends. When he returned, there was already a conversation going on.

“What did you say? You confessed your feelings to Kiara? You love her?!” Kaiden asked this in shock, but there was a surprising smile on his face. Zander’s surprised eyes snapped to his brother, then he laughed in happiness.

“Finally!!!” The younger brother roared.

“Yes, I did,” Xavier admitted.

“Congratulations Brother. You cannot imagine how long I have been waiting for this day. Finally, you moved on with your life,” Zander said happily. The younger brother had believed that Xavier had fallen for his surrogate since the first time he saw her, but he remained tight-lipped about it. He knew that his twin would never reveal his feelings since he had a trust issue, but Kiara had changed Xavier completely. Zander could see that Xavier was returning to the old smiling sibling he had been before Petra.

“Then let’s take another shot for this great news!” Tyler replied as he raised a glass and all the guys drank at once. They planned to drink as much as they wanted tonight.

“Then what about the surrogacy contract?” Kaiden inquired as he poured another glass for himself.

“I burnt it,” the Alpha answered casually.

“What?!!” Tyler shrieked.

“Yes”

“What the hell did you do, Xavier? I hope you know that you shouldn’t have done it!” The Gamma panicked, putting the glass back on the dining table.

“I know, but I was on the verge of losing Kiara. She had decided to leave me as she was under the impression that she was only a surrogate to me. I’m not willing to risk losing her, so I burnt it in front of her to make her believe,” Xavier explained, sending Tyler into a panic.

“Tyler, I know what you’re thinking. I will accept full responsibility for my conduct. Don’t be concerned,” the Alpha assured him with a small smile. The Gamma couldn’t help but give a small smile in return, but Xavier’s comment had made him anxious.

“Luna,” Tyler approached Kiara while holding the cat. She’d been conversing with other Lunas.

“Ohh, you came to give me Meow,” she smiled, taking the cat back.

“Yes, but there is something I’d like to discuss with you. Do you have a couple of spare minutes, Luna?” He asked.

"Yes, sure," she replied, giving her full attention to her Gamma.

"I found out that Xavier burned the contract and confessed his love to you. But there is one thing you should know: by destroying the contract, Xavier has gotten himself in a lot of trouble."

"What? How?" Kiara questions in confusion.

"In reality, the contract was out of the ordinary. I'm Xavier's lawyer, and I prepared that agreement. It was signed by the pack's Alpha. It bore the seal of the Sirius Bright Pack, which was no joke. When the contract is sealed, it becomes an authority, power, and responsibility that cannot be denied. By destroying the contract, the Alpha has put his position on the line. He has challenged the seal and caused incomprehensible trouble on himself by burning it," the Gama explained everything to her.

"Now what will happen?" In a panic, the young Luna placed her hand over her lips. She had no clue that a few pieces of paper were so deadly. She had been overjoyed when they burned. Knowing this, Xavier had placed everything on the line! She was to blame for this.

If there was anything she could do, she had made up her mind to fix it! When she was with him, there was no chance her man could get into trouble.

"I hope you have your contract safe, right?" "Yes, I have kept it safe in my room," she explained.

"Thank Goddess! Please keep it safe, Luna. As long as one of you has that contract nothing can happen to Xavier." Tyler took a deep and relieved breath. He had let go of all his stress.

"Definitely, I will keep it safe!" Kiara vowed. "Please do so since the contract cannot be terminated under any circumstances," he added, running his hand through his hair.

"What?" Kiara's face turned a little pale. Why can't it be terminated since the Alpha burned it and wanted to end it?

"Do you mean that I am still Xavier's surrogate?" She questioned. Tyler became worried when he saw her expression. He was fully aware that it was coming, but as a lawyer, he was obligated to reveal everything.

"You are still legally Xavier's surrogate. But don't be concerned, Luna. You're both truly in love, so ignore the surrogacy contract. Don't even think about it. It will be over when you give birth, so you may treat it as a piece of paper, as Xavier suggested," The gamma smiled, bringing a sigh of comfort to his Luna, who nodded slightly. She was terrified about being a surrogate again. Xavier's love declaration, on the other hand, had given her a lot of security. She had faith in her love and accepted the circumstances as they were.

"Thank you for sharing everything with me, Tyler. I am grateful." "It is my duty, Luna," he gave a slight bow.

"So, Tyler, why is the Sirius Bright Pack's seal and Xavier's signature so important? Yes, I understand that it is important, but the way you explain it seems that it is for more than just legal purposes. What is this all about?" The young lady felt as if she had been missing out on something significant. Something she had not been aware of.

“Luna, don’t tell me, you don’t know what Xavier is!”

“He is the Alpha, right?” When he looked shocked, she smiled nervously. Did she say something wrong?

“The Alpha twins are more than just Alphas, Luna,” Tyler said.

“What do you mean? Who are they?” Kaira c*d her brows, but the suspense had piqued her interest.

“They are Alpha…”

“The Alpha King has arrived!!” A sudden and unexpected announcement cuts into the Luna and Gamma’s conversation.

“What! The Alpha King is here?!” Kiara’s jaw dropped as she noticed the royals entering the pack like the Mafia. They were the King’s Beta, Gamma, and a bodyguard. Why was the Alpha King in their pack? Tyler quickly excused himself. The whole pack, including the guests, the Alpha and Luna, knelt, dropping their heads.

Kiara’s heartbeat accelerated as she looked around. What should she do? She searched around for Xavier, but he was nowhere to be found. Nobody she knew was there. She was ready to kneel as well, not knowing what to do next, when Xavier grabbed her hand. She was startled and looked at him.

“We don’t kneel,” he told her as he took her hand in his and led her away. The young lady was taken aback while walking beside him. What did he mean when he said we? Why wouldn’t they kneel when the man in front of them was the ALPHA KING!!!”

“My King.” Xavier and Zander stated together, but both Alpha sisters had only bowed their heads, refusing to look at the King. They were standing right next to their mates.

They were taught as children not to gaze into the eyes of the royals and kings. Those who pulled this stunt would be executed by beheading,

But what was weird was that while everyone else was kneeling, they were standing.

“Thank you for accepting the wedding invitation,” Zander said with a smile. Adira looked at her mate from the corner of her eye. How could he talk to the King while looking into his eyes? Not once had he stammered. AND THEY INVITED THE KING TO THE WEDDING? HOW?

“How could I possibly miss this wedding? I had to come,” the King said, his voice heavy but friendly. Kiara, on the other hand, recognized his voice. She felt she knew him since his voice sounded so familiar.

Who was he?

“Yes, you had to come since I’ve called you countless times. Did you forget about my twins?” Steven sighed and rolled his eyes.

“Never! How could I forget my precious nephews. They are also mine, Steven. My Alpha Princes,” the King declared. Adira and Kiara’s breath stuck in their lungs when they heard the King calling their mates nephews and Alpha Princes! Both of the ladies raised their eyes to look at the Alpha King who was none other than Grandpa Stephen’s twin.

The Alpha King was the twin brothers' great uncle. Xavier and Zander were Alpha Princes?!

Alpha's Surrogate by POOJA

Chapter 57

57. Unexpected guest

"Yes, you had to come since I've called you countless times. Did you forget about my twins?" Stephen sighed while rolling his eyes.

"Never! How could I forget my precious nephews. They are also mine, Stephen. My Alpha Princes," the King Renard declared, giving narrow eyes to his younger twin brother.

"Yeah... yeah... the great King Renard doesn't have time for his family," the old wolf countered. brushing off his older brother's statement, taking it as a flimsy excuse.

The level of silence that spread throughout the garden had created a peculiar sense of perplexity and astonishment. Had they understood correctly? Xavier and Zander were the Alpha Princes?! Had elder Stephen actually dared to roll his eyes at the Alpha King? The majority of the guests who had bowed their heads and knelt before the royal family and the King had no idea that Renard and Stephen were brothers nevermind twins. The time difference between the births of the Alpha brothers had only been a few minutes.

Everyone got to see what the Alpha King looked like today due to the fact that the solution to someone's problem had reached the King through his warriors. First it had gone through his Gamma, then his Beta Low ranking individuals, tiny packs, and the general public never had the opportunity to meet or see the King. That being said, only a few the strong and wealthy packs ever had an audience the king. The truth of this was only known to a few key individuals, packs, and Sirius Bright Pack members. Furthermore, both of the brothers agreed to never divulge their connection to anybody unless absolutely essential. This made it possible for Stephen and Renard to investigate people and catch them red handed.

When their great father, the former King, was still alive, he had declared that Stephen and Renard the Alpha kings. However, the younger brother had always thought that there should be only one King, so he voluntarily abdicated from the throne choosing to remain in the Sirius Bright Pack while Renard remained in the castle. Both brothers were happy and busy with their own lives, while they could see each other a few times over the year, it just deepened their bond and affection for one another.

"Uncle!!" Iris jumped on Renard, the Alpha King, for a tight hug. She'd gone back to the pack house to fix her makeup, completely unaware of her great uncle's unexpected visit.

"Oh my little princess. Where were you? I have been missing you," The King returned her hug and kissed her cheeks. He had last seen her when she was 18 when she had come to reside at his castle for a month.

"I had no clue you were going to come to the wedding, uncle. Last time you skipped Xavier's wedding," she drew back while complaining, but she still held his hand.

"Yes well, your uncle was very busy," her Grandpa agreed coolly from behind, earning narrowed eyes from his twin.

"I had previously confirmed that I had been out meeting and hunting for months so I couldn't attend Xavier's wedding," Renard explained coldly, looking for Stephen before smiling at his niece and nephews.

"Come here boys. This old man needs to hug all of you," while his one arm was cuddling his niece, uncle expanded his other one arm to include the boys in his embrace.

"Uncle, thank you for coming. But you missed my ceremony," Zander chuckled, drawing himself back.

"It does appear that I am a bit late, but I will be angry if I did not receive any cake!" Renard made a sarcastic remark while growling. His entire family burst out laughing.

"You did not drink without me, right?" The King asked his twin. "I have been waiting for you. Let's go have some cake and some drinks," the old wolf suggested to his older brother.

"Yes, but first I'd like to see my new nieces-in-law first. What has happened to them?" Renard looked around, perplexed. He was certain that two very gorgeous ladies had stood by his great nephews, but their heads had been lowered so that he hadn't been able to see their faces.

Xavier and Zander moved their large bodies away from Kiara and Adira, allowing the King to see them. They had stepped back when their mates had been enjoying a family hug. The Alpha's large long arms drew their mates to them before introducing them to the Alpha King.

"Uncle, This is Adira. My mate,"

"This is Kiara. My mate," Both of the twins smiled as they introduced their mates, but Renard had an unusual expression on his face.

"We are glad to meet you, my king," the alpha sisters said together with a small smile and a respectful bow. The two she-wolves were worried, despite the fact that the King was a pleasant and polite man when with his family members that didn't necessarily mean that pleasant behavior would extend to them.

Just as Kiara had no idea that Xavier had a twin brother, the same could now be said about Stephen having an older twin brother who was identical to him. Their voices, hair, and appearance were so similar that no one could distinguish which was the older brother and who was the younger. They were photocopies to each other like Xavier and Zander.

The Alpha King was similarly tall and handsome like Stephen. Everyone in the Alpha family seemed to have inherited the same stunning green eyes and deadly aura that would make anybody surrender in their presence. When the girls did not receive the King's expected tenderness and kind words, they lifted their heads and looked him in the eye. His big green eyes had been fixed on Kiara and Adira for a long time, but he had forgotten his words. Why was he staring at them like he would attack them with his eyes?

"What's wrong Ren? My granddaughters-in-mate are beautiful, aren't they?"

Stephen asked proudly.

"Yes, they have Goddess-like beauty," the other man said, smiling. Both young women returned the mens' smiles, but there was something odd in the Alpha King's eyes when he took a step closer to them to scrutinize their features attentively.

"What are your names again?" The King asked. "Kiara and Adira," they answered, noticing a frown in his eyes. "Sisters?" He threw another question at them that sounded like an inquiry.

"Yes," Kiara replied immediately, her gaze drawn to Xavier. What had piqued the King's interest in them? He didn't seem to like them, she thought. The older Alpha was perplexed by his uncle's behavior.

"Where are you two from? Who are your parents?" Renard inquired once again.

Instead of questioning the pack's name, he wondered as to where they were from. When the King began emitting a strange and enigmatic aura while questioning them, the Alpha sisters were concerned. Due to the fact that he was the King of the werewolves, he had an immediate effect on Isha and Venus. But they put on a confident expression front in front of him.

"Is everything alright uncle?" The Alpha twins returned to their females quickly drawing them into their sides. The garden was full of guests who were observing this unexpected and uncomfortable scene in which the Lunas of the pack were being interrogated like they were common criminals.

Observing his nephews' overprotectiveness, the King burst out laughing and shook his head.

"I'm only trying to get to know my nieces-in-mate. That's all. Now, both of you brats, get out of here and tell me how wonderful the Lunas are."

Kiara blinked, suddenly comprehending that the Alpha King was also trying to put them to the test, like Stephen had done previously. If they panicked or became terrified, they would fail the test and lose face in front of their uncle.

"We are from the Ardara Moon Pack," Adira said.

"We are the daughters of Alpha Sawyer and Luna Martha," Kiara stated. They exchanged a friendly smile with Renard. Obviously, there was some concern in their hearts since the hatred between the two packs was likely to generate bitterness in the Alpha King's as a result of the rape and death of the blind girl that was part of the Alpha's family. But, unexpectedly, the King turned out to be just as cool as Stephen.

"Great to hear. Congratulations on the weddings and pregnancy." The King surprised the Alpha sisters with a kind and loving smiling. How quick his attitude changed!

"If you're finished with the interrogation, Ren, let's go have some drinks," Stephen proposed.

"Yeah, sure. Lunas first," the King suggested, gesturing to his nieces-in-mate to walk first with their mates. The old wolf noticed that his twins' eyes were still on both of the sisters.

The dining table where all their friends had for dinner was now crowded with relatives as well. The King and Stephen had been sitting beside each other and had already started drinking. The King had brought many guests with him, leading to another dinner table being set up a bit further away for them. But everyone could still talk to each other.

Xavier, who had taken a seat next to Kiara, had been observing Renard's Beta, Gamma and guest's attitude.

"Don't you find it strange." Zander mind-linked his twin.

Xavier

"Yes, there is something unusual going on. Uncle Renard's visit does not appear to be natural, responded, returning the glass of wine to the table.

They maintained a vigilant eye on the King's people, who happened to be the council! Why would the council attend a wedding? Their arrival was always a terrible omen! Didn't they have more important things to do than attend an Alpha Prince's wedding?

The Alpha twins had irritated the majority of the council's elders for a variety of reasons.

"I had no idea you were an Alpha Prince," Kiara murmured as she sipped her water.

"It wasn't significant since I don't like the title. It distinguishes me, and many over reacts when they learn about my reality and relationship with the King. Not to mention how much I despise that title," the Alpha responded sluggishly.

"You hate the title or you don't like to be pressured," Renard snapped out of nowhere, drawing everyone's attention. He had heard every word that Xavier had said. Kiara became aware of a sense of tension in the air. The Beta and Gamma couples maintained a solemn demeanor at all times. What were they going on about?

"Please, Uncle, put this matter aside. We don't want to take over your position," Zander interrupted as he knew soon his great uncle was bound to snap at him. If this were any other time he would have walked away but right now he was going to be on the offensive.

"I agree. As I already stated, I am satisfied being the Alpha of this pack and have no ambition to become the Alpha King. That seat was designed specifically for you the older twin, stated. Zander nodded immediately in agreement.

"And how much longer do you plan for this old man to rule? I'm going to die one day. What will happen then? Both of you must take up my position as soon as possible!" The King remarked sternly as Stephen nodded along in agreement.

"Then give it to Grandpa Stephen," Zander countered, picking up a slice of cake.

"This is not the time to joke around, kid!" Stephen glared at him.

"What about Jaspen?" Xavier suggested, looking at his younger brother.

"Yes, I was thinking about him as well. He is Uncle Mason's oldest son. He'd be the best..." Before Zander could continue, the old wolf slammed his fist down on the table, displaying his razor-sharp fangs to both of his nephews.

"My alcoholic, gambler, and slacker grandson would end up selling my entire kingdom for a bottle of wine. A man who does not know when the sun rises and when it sets will never be a leader. I don't want someone that is stupid, selfish, corrupt, or reckless on the throne! I'm just interested in the two of you, and that's it!" The King claimed while glaring between them both.

"There will be no more arguments. I am, once again, prepared to give you both some time. I would like to have a yes in response before our next family gathering," Renard announced before Xavier or Zander had a chance to.

"Ah, this old man. He nags us all the time!" The younger Alpha mumbled. "How can you refer to the King as an old man? He will be offended if he hears you,

"Adira hushed her mate.

"He already heard me," Zander responded, alarming his bride, who realized that the king had been hurling daggers at his nephew's side. Had he actually heard what he had said? The young Luna instantly gave him an apologetic smile on behalf of her mate, that his uncle returned immediately but he still had a sour expression for his disobedient nephew.

"I understand that the king's grandson is useless, but what about the rest of his sons and grandsons?" Adira was perplexed.

"Unfortunately, uncle's only son and daughter-in-law, as well as their 12-year-old son, were involved in an accident ten years ago. The plane crashed. No one survived, my uncle lost them all. Only Jepsen remains, but he is unsuited for the role. Yet none of us want to steal something that legitimately belongs to someone else. We are Grandpa Stephen's grandchildren, therefore as long as Jepsen is alive, we do not see the need to inherit the throne," Zander explained quietly this time. The matter was sensitive.

Kiara noticed her Alpha sipping wine again, as if he hadn't heard his uncle.

"You have gotten your last warning," she whispered again. She found the drama to be both interesting and surprising. That's when her man gave her a devilish grin. fk! He looked so attractive when he did that!

"For the past two years, the old man has given us his final warning at every family gathering. It's fairly common. I'm curious to learn who is paying attention. Clearly not me," Xavier explained with a defiant grin as he lightly pecked Kiara's cheek.

"I wonder why you don't want to become King? It sounds good and if it were anyone else they would immediately cease this opportunity," the young woman wondered, putting a cherry in her mouth. Her stomach was already full but the cherries tasted good.

"If you become my Queen then I will think about it," Xavier whispered into her ear, turning Kiara's ears red in excitement. His hot breath was so seductive! She turned her face to his side so their lips were only a few inches apart from each other.

"I am glad to learn of my new identity as Alpha Princess. I will think about becoming your Queen later," she murmured back, moving closer to his lips like she was about to kiss him but stopped.

"I wonder when you will have the chance to think?" The Alpha asked, trying to capture those rosy red lips.

"Tonight. In our bed," she said. Xavier received a light kiss on his lips before Kiara returned to her cherries with a giggle. fk! She captivated him, making him hard in the constraints of his pants then looked away!

The Alpha King's gaze was flickering between the Alpha couples as everyone chatted, laughed, and joked with each other. His gaze was drawn to the sisters, who appeared to be very in love with their men.

"What's the matter, Ren?" Why are you staring at the girls all the time? You're acting oddly too," Stephen inquired. For a long time, he had been watching his brother.

"Something is wrong," the King replied heavily.

"Like what?" The old wolf asked in confusion.

"I've seen these girls before! I'm not sure where, but I know them! Are you certain these females are the Alpha's daughters, as they claimed?" The older twin expressed his concern.

"As far as I know, yes they are," When the younger brother answered, the King's Beta came up and whispered something in his King's ear that caused him to scowl. Before Renard could say anything, one of the King's elders said

"We heard something about Luna Adira and Luna Kiara. I wonder if it is true," The garden turned into a dead silence.

"What did you hear?" the Alpha twins snapped together, not linking the tone that the elder had used.

"That the Luna Adira had gotten into an accident when she was young and now can't give birth," he said. Zander along with everyone else was stunned to hear his claim while Adira's body turned ice cold.

"I'm curious why you didn't reject her straight away, instead you accept her as your Luna when you're fully aware of it. If that is true, you'll be dismissed from your position if you don't marry another she-wolf for an heir," another elder added.

"Is it true, Zander? Your mate can't give birth?" The King questioned. Zander clenched his fist tightly. Stephen, who was in the dark, examined his grandson's face. He had been strangely silent, which was not Zander's style. Xavier who was also unaware of this thing, immediately felt his twin's ferocity through their sibling bond. It was enough for the older Alpha to understand that the claims were true. Nevermind that he felt Kiara's panic as well.

Kiara gazed at her sister, who was again lost in memories of the past of what she had gone through. The kidnapping, accident, hospitalization, and everything else. Those nightmares. The pain she had attempted to ignore, returned as soon as everyone's questioning gaze fell on her.

Alpha's Surrogate by POOJA Chapter 58

Chapter 58

58.Challenge – Part 1.

"Hello Xavier," the woman grinned, flashing the gorgeous half smile that had stolen the Alpha's heart years ago but now just poured poison on his sentiments, heart, and emotions.

Kiara was taken aback when she saw the blonde beauty with perfect makeup, an appealing figure, and sexy clothing. She had big brown eyes, thin lips, a sharp nose, and a big face. She looked the same as she had in the wedding photo. Her blonde hair had been pulled back into a perfect bun, yet there was a sparkle in her eyes as she looked at the Alpha for the first time in two years. When Kiara realized that the woman was none other than Xavier's first mate, she grasped the skirt of her dress at her sides.

What was she doing here?! In the story that Jennifer had revealed to her, the Alpha had immediately rejected his cheating mate that night and kicked her out of the pack. Petra was never supposed to return, according to the Beta female. So how could she undertake such a daring move? The story and reality did not seem to match, but one thing was for certain in the young woman's mind: Xavier was Kiara's. Only hers!

He did not belong to that she-wolf who had transformed her Alpha into an emotionless, cold, cruel monster that had begun to despise every woman around him. Petra had been the one who had taught him that true love did not exist in this world, that it was only a few seconds of attraction and physical hunger.

That's all.

The young she-wolf would have had a normal life with her mate if her husband had never been betrayed by his first mate and his mother. Instead their love story had begun with a surrogacy contract. But when the Alpha eventually revealed his true feelings and ended the contract, despite the fact that they were legally bonded to each other with the contract, the she-wolf from his past appeared. She in no way resembled a threat to the Alpha's innocent second chance mate.

The young Luna took a few seconds to look between the two of them. Both seemed delighted that they had frozen in place. The eye contact between them was not normal.

Kiara's gaze was pulled down to her mate's hand, which was trembling in rage. His emerald eyes locked with Petra's brown ones, instilling insecurity in the young she-wolf's heart. She was able to sense Xavier's emotions and had finally seen how much the other female could influence him.

His suffocation, frustration, anguish, grief, and fury were all emotions the young Luna was experiencing as a result of the mate bond, and it was nothing short of a living nightmare. Kiara had recalled all of Xavier's physical suffering, false promises of love, and betrayal in those few seconds when Petra appeared in front of him. Her presence had completely transformed him into someone she had never met before. Her mate had become someone unknown to her.

"How are you, Xavier? It's been a while," the blonde woman asked, her brown eyes filled with some unknown emotion. She took in Xavier from head to toe, finding him more attractive after the two year span she hadn't fortune to catch a glimpse of him.

"I missed you," Petra added, with a smile as she tried to start walking towards him. Kiara grimaced when she heard her tone. What did she mean when she said she missed him? She didn't sound like she'd ever committed a crime like betrayal in the past. She sounded like a long lost lover.

"How dare you enter my territory?!!" screamed the Alpha, letting his large, bloodthirsty claws emerge once again. Alpha Harvey's Beta took off to defend Petra. Not just the Beta but other Blue Moon Pack protectors. There was a rumor that the great Alpha Xavier was a lunatic who never thought twice about killing anyone, and the woman before him was the most vexing of all.

"Stop. He will not kill me," when she spoke to her people, her voice took on a new level of confidence. Petra turned her head to check Kiara's reaction, which was not pleasant. A slight smile lingered on the blonde woman's lips as she began to get closer to her former mate.

"I have my reasons for coming here, Xavier. But still I want Alpha King Renard to explain..."

"Shut the fk up, you bh!!" Xavier yelled as he grabbed the woman's slender neck. Everyone, including the King, panicked as Petra's neck began to bleed, which was caused by the Alpha's sharp claws digging into her skin.

"What the fk is everyone waiting for?! Go and separate Alpha Xavier from Petra!!" King Renard ordered in his Alpha tone, which was enough for every wolf to jump into action. Due to suffocation, the brown-eyed woman's face had become bright red. She'd been throwing her arms and legs at him in an attempt to stay alive while in the death grip of her ex-mate until the other men could save her. But the real concern was whether it would work.

The Alpha had shoved them away with one hand, but he never loosened his grasp of the woman's neck.

"Stephen, ask Xavier to let Petra go! He will listen to you," Ren asked his younger brother.

"Kids grow up, Ren. Only Zander can handle his twin but I doubt he would in this instance," the old wolf explained as he gestured to Zander, who was enjoying the show despite having a dark aura at having to see his ex-bitch of a sister-in-mate. There was no way he was going to interrupt the ongoing soon-to-be murder since Zander shared his twin's desire to see the betrayer die.

That was when Alpha Harvey reached the crying Iris. "Don't cry, Iris. I am..."

"Get the hell out of here! If you don't want to lose your hands then don't touch my sister!" Zander growled in a warning before the other Alpha could touch the young lady.

"She is my mate!" Harvey roared, causing a crack in Zander's brain. He grabbed the other Alpha's collar and dragging him close to his face.

"Get the fk out of my territory with your we sister if you want to see the next second of your life," Zander growled, looking deep into his eyes before Iris freed her hand from her brother's.

"Brother, give me 5 minutes with Harvey alone," the young she-wolf demanded, this time there were no tears in her eyes.

"It's not happening, Iris!" Her brother said in a low deadly tone.

"You will let me talk to him alone, if you trust me," she countered right away. This time Zander didn't regard his 19-year-old sister as a baby, but as a lady who understood what she was doing.

"fk!" The Alpha cursed, letting go of her mate's collar.

"I will fg tear you into pieces if you touch my sister!" Zander warned him, before Iris grabbed her mate's hand and dashed to the other side of the garden.

The King, who had been watching his nephew's craziness unfold, was enraged. Even his greatest warrior hadn't been able to stop Xavier. It was disrespectful and insulting since more than six individuals had held his arms and body in an attempt to push him back, but none of them had been able to do so.

Petra, who should have died a long time ago, was still alive because her wolf was very powerful and she had a strong will to survive. But how long could it continue on like this? Xavier was not going to stop until he snapped her neck and his wolf tasted her blood.

"fk! I never meant to do this, but the issue has gotten out of hand!" Renard grumbled, deciding to take a step he'd never taken before.

“Alpha Xavier! This is your King’s command. Let go Petra right away or your entire pack will have to bear the punishment for you disobeying my orders!” The Alpha King roared as he watched Xavier letting go of Petra’s neck right away. Her weak body collapsed to the ground, as her pack members rushed to her aid. Alpha Zander moved away, shoving the other wolves who were attempting to restrain his sibling. Despite the fact that they were the King’s bodyguards, he kicked them away like they were little more than garbage.

Then he stood beside Xavier who turned to face Renard.

“Uncle,” Xavier’s emerald eyes flashed with wrath. He had not anticipated the King to ask him to do this, thus Renard knew all about his rejection and Petra’s treachery.

“Calm down,” The King began.

“I can’t! The entire world is aware that the Blue Moon Pack is not permitted to enter my territory. They had welcomed their own doom by stepping foot here. Despite knowing the consequences, they have committed this crime, therefore none of these people will leave my pack alive. Even though you were the one who authorized them to conduct this crime,” Xavier asserted, staring deep into his uncle’s eyes.

“You’re not going to be able to kill them, Xavier. If you forgot, let me remind you that the ban you imposed on them has already been lifted. The two-year restriction ended one month ago, and the paused treaty between the two packs has been resumed,” the King explained as he approached his nephew, who was still not satisfied.

“That reason is insufficient for them to come here without my consent,” the older Alpha said, taking a step closer to his uncle as an indirect challenge that there was no way he was going to bear these acts against his will even though the man standing in front of him was the King.

Instead of being offended by Xavier’s attitude, the King maintained his cool. He looked between his twin nephews, who both had identical looks of rage and rebellion in their eyes. This was the aura and confidence that Renard required in the person who would succeed him as Alpha King!

This was the fire he had been looking for, and it could only be found in these Alpha twins. When the elder brother was speaking, he was furious, and the younger stood next to him like a shield. Zander did not once disrupt the conversation to display his presence to the others, but the purpose of Zander’s being next to Xavier was something else. If his brother made a mistake in front of the Alpha King, Zander would instantly reign him back in.

Yes, there was a small chance of that happening but the rage might drive Xavier insane, to the point where he didn't give a fk to even about the King. The old Alpha King was fully aware of everything that they had done that made him proud. This was why he wanted both of the twins to be the Alpha King: they were inseparable and couldn't live without each other.

Renard took a deep breath when he noticed Stephen, who plainly despised him as well. He was fully aware that he needed to clarify things for his younger twin, but he needed to calm his nephew first.

"Xavier, the Blue Moon Pack approached me for this purpose. Even when the two-year ban had ended, you disregarded the reinstatement of the pact as if it were only a few lines on paper, ignoring all of the Blue Moon Pack's e-mails and letters. Don't forget how valuable your signature and seal are to our Kingdom. Thanks to your attitude, when the Vampires attacked the Blue Moon Pack, they did not get the help provided in the agreement. The entire council is watching your actions as an Alpha Prince, and the case will be heard today. Injustice has been done to the Blue Moon Pack, and you must accept responsibility."

The King explained then quickly ordered everyone to the meeting room to consider this critical topic. Xavier was still enraged, but this time it was directed at himself. He had completely ignored all of the letters from the Blue Moon Pack. He had no idea they had been assaulted by vampires as well, and that they had gone to the council and King about it.

"fk!" Xavier gritted his teeth and growled. He had obviously dug his own grave and allowed them into his pack. That was when he noticed his mate in the distance, where she had previously been. From the start, the young she-wolf had been watching everything, her gaze was solely on her mate, who eventually looked at her.

As he approached Kiara, Xavier sensed her sadness since she had seen a different side of him that she had been ignorant of.

"Let's go, Kiara," he asked for her hand, but he wasn't sure she'd be courageous enough to place her hands on him. He used to be aggressive, insane, and a beast. He was hardly the type of man an innocent lady would want as a mate. He wasn't Prince Charming, with roses in his hands. Instead, his nails were splattered with blood, this was his reality.

“Yes, let’s get this over with as soon as possible, so that we can get to bed, Xavier. I’m exhausted and want to sleep,” Kiara smiled, placing her hand in his as she began to walk by his side like the genuine Queen he had always wished for.

“Sure,” the Alpha and Luna smiled at each other while entering the pack house.

“Iris, wait a minute,” Harvey’s hand was in one of his mates, who had been dragging him away from the crowd for a few seconds.

“Please hear me out,” he said again. The mated bond made him aware that she was down right furious and if he did not make up with her then something bad was coming for him.

“Iris, please hear me out, baby,” he murmured, this time he applied pressure on her wrist to stop her in her tracks, but he was slapped across the face. The Alpha’s head was snapped to the side, despite the fact that the slap could not have injured his thick skin.

“How can you bring Petra with you?” The young woman screamed, a scorching sensation on her hand, but it was ignored in the face of her rage.

“I did not bring her…”

“Don’t lie!” Before he could explain himself she snapped at him.

“We are both fully aware of our family’s animosity and the precarious situation of our relationship.

The arrival of your sister ruined everything for us. I knew my brothers would be furious after learning the truth, but I could have persuaded them to say yes to our relationship since they adore me. However, by bringing your sister you have now opened the door for our rejection, Iris’ green eyes welled up again as she said the word rejection.

“Don’t talk about rejection, Iris!” Harvey grabbed arms tightly while gritting his teeth.

“Do you really believe I can’t fight back against your brother? It is only because of our love that I have been keeping myself together so that I can prove my love for you to them. But it appears that, as a result of that minor incident, you are already considering rejecting me. There’s no way we’re rejecting each other,” the Alpha drew his mate closer to him.

“Do you hear what I’m saying? If you even think about it, I’ll do something terrible,” he warned, brushing his lips on hers.

“I wonder what you will do?” She raised her eyebrows without moving away. “I will kidnap you!” The Alpha announced his plan, throwing the young lady into a pit of fear.

“There’s no way I’d stay with you if my brothers didn’t approve of our relationship, Harvey,” Iris declared.

“Don’t talk crazy, Iris,” he snarled. Both lovers’ gaze locked on one another before Iris kissed her enraged mate to calm him down. But their hearts were both broken, they needed each other.

“Yes, Harvey, I’ve gone insane for your love. It is now your turn. Show me your madness and win me from my brothers or forget about me,” Iris challenged as she walked away to enter the pack house.

“fk!” he shouted in frustration.

When the Sirius Bright Pack’s Alpha daughter entered the hall, she saw that all of her family members and The Blue Moon Pack members had taken their places. Everyone’s gaze was drawn to Iris and her soul mate, who was following her closely and calmly. Zander’s face went sour once more, but when his sister sat by him, the Alpha was content. Harvey stood beside his sister, who had an ugly red fingerprints stain on her neck.

“The coffee is tasty,” Petra lifted the cup while smiling at Kiara. The young lady furrowed her brows. Why was she just staring at her? And how could she pretend as if nothing had happened to her? Wasn’t she supposed to die a long time ago, yet here she stood enjoying coffee in front of Xavier, who was completely ignoring her presence? He was not able to share the same breath with Petra but the king had commanded that they stay.

“First, I am going to talk about the reason why the Blue Moon Pack is here,” the King who had been seated in the middle chair started the conversation.

“Yes, Iris’ wedding is one of the reasons, but I’d prefer to address that further later. The current Alpha of the Blue Moon Pack has been diagnosed with an incurable illness, his son Alpha Harvey will soon take over that position. Petra is currently acting as a stand-in for her father, Alpha Roman. She would be the one in charge of reporting the vampire onslaught that is taking place in her territory. Not to mention that due to the treaty, both of your packs are in this scenario together,” the King elaborated.

“Wait! What exactly do you mean by together? We can handle our Pack problems on our own,” Zander pointed out. That’s when Petra took her hand away from her neck to speak.

“You would be insulting my father and the agreement if you did that, Zander. The Blue Moon Pack is willing to work with the Sirius Bright Pack. The vampire problem and the killings are happening on both sides, and it was already decided that in this sort of emergency, we would support each other and catch the culprit.”

“That’s right. The treaty will be in effect for the next three years, therefore we wanted to remind Alpha Xavier and Alpha Zander that they should collaborate with the Blue Moon Pack, disregarding any animosity and incidents from the past until the matter is resolved.” One of the respective elders at the King’s side suggested.

When the Alpha twins did not respond, there was an awkward stillness in the meeting hall. Refusing the elder’s recommendation was obviously going to worsen the problem because the treaty was legal and binding, no one could brush it away. This one blunder could haunt them for the next three years! They were trapped! fk!

That’s when the King witnessed both the twins talking over mind-link for a few minutes before

Zander said. “We are willing to work together.”

“That is a wise choice! I’m delighted you see that you have come to your senses. Both packs will now collaborate in hunting the vampires,” Klara was taken aback by Renard’s announcement. What did he mean by “collaborating“? Did this imply that Petra would be near Xavier while he was investigating?

“Seems we need to shake hands,” Petra extended her hand with a grin that increased Kiara’s heartbeat

“Sorry to interrupt my King but I would like to clarify a few things,” Xavier finally opened his mouth to address the King, ignoring her hand. She chuckled as she retracted it.

“I had a meeting with Vampire King Alfred a few days ago. I, too, assumed that vampires were behind the attacks and murders, but the Vampire King also proved that vampires had been assaulted by werewolves. In actuality, all of this is being done by a third party. I seriously doubt that our adversary is anyone other than werewolves. So, if our enemy is of our own species, I don’t think we need to band together or form a team to find them,” the older Alpha stated which gave his Luna a lot of comfort. As a result, they would not be working together! Kiara jumped up and down in her mind.

“So I will now order the Blue Moon Pack to get the fk off of my land,” Xavier commanded, glaring at Petra.

“That sounds good, but because my father is severely ill and Harvey is about to become Alpha, we’re short on manpower. We can’t handle those werewolves, but you can. We need your assistance, Xavier,” she continued, batting her lashes at the end to make herself look sad in front of the council.

“That’s not good,” the elders began to sympathize with Petra. Kiara watched her entire fake performance, but she was surprised when Petra smiled at her. Why did this woman have to grin at her all the time?!

The King also nodded, having great sympathy towards the woman who was handling this situation alone.

“That will totally depend on the next attack Xavier. But for now I want the Blue Moon Pack and Sirius Pack to work together and that’s my final decision,” the King ordered, no one else could say a word on this matter after that. Emotions had to be put aside as the King was only thinking about the werewolves who would be killed in future by enemies. He wanted to protect his people and these two packs were going to come out with good results.

Kiara's face had become pale as a result of the King's decision. Petra had won and smiled once more. The young Luna had buried her nails in her palm while maintaining a cool demeanor. Now she finally realized that the other woman had been challenging her the entire time.

Kiara's face had become pale as a result of the King's decision. Petra had won and smiled once more. The young Luna had buried her nails in her palm while maintaining a cool demeanor. Now she finally realized that the other woman had been challenging her the entire time.

"I..." Xavier opened his mouth to finally disobey the King's order, ignoring the fact that it would cause problems, but everyone observed that he abruptly stopped. What made you decide to stop? Something was wrong.

"We understand, my King," Petra and Harvey responded, bowing respectfully. Xavier, who hadn't even looked at his ex-mate once, flashed a sneer before agreeing. Petra smiled at Xavier, but then she noticed the Alpha's and Luna's hands were clasped together in front of her brown eyes, indicating that Xavier had been suppressing his rage solely because of Kiara. Thanks to her touch, he had not responded or argued with the King

"Now, I would like to talk about Iris's wedding," the old Alpha King began to speak.

"We don't agree to this marriage, Uncle," the twins said together.

"Why?"

*The reason is clear. He is the brother of that woman. That's all," Xavier declared.

"The reason sounds reasonable but why don't you think about your little sister, Xavier? Can't you see how much she is in love with Harvey?" The Alpha King asked politely, prompting the twins to look at their sister, who was oddly silent. But she appeared to be in tears. Xavier averted his gaze and turned his heart to stone once again.

“She is still a child. She is under our protection, and we will not allow Alpha Harvey take our sister away,” he declared.

“Xavier, despite the fact that I am a few years younger than you, we were once friends. You are aware that I am not a bad person. I am filled with desperation. I love Iris. She’s my soulmate.” Alpha Harvey had the most calm demeanor, yet his eyes were full of desperation.

“Love? Soulmate? Don’t make me laugh! You should ask for a better explanation and meaning of all these things from your sister! Ifg don’t believe you,” the Alpha snapped, indirectly humiliating Petra who had her eyes fixed on Xavier’s hand in Kiara’s. She did not seem to hear him.

“Don’t compare me with my sister. I have my own personality and this is me, Xavier. I just want Iris,” Harvey argued, which plainly irritated the twins. Xavier stared at Iris, who was still not asking for anything like she had earlier. She appeared to be prepared to reject her mate if her brothers persuaded her to do so

“Then tell me how far are you willing to go to get my sister! How much do you love her? What can you do for her? If I am satisfied with your answer then I will agree,” Xavier offered, attracting everyone’s attention. The other Alpha’s response would now decide the fate of the new love birds.

“I can sever all ties to Petra and create my own pack for Iris,” Harvey announced, surprising everyone including his own sister.

“What the fk you are saying?!” Petra gritted her teeth turning her brown furious eyes on him. “You heard me. I want Iris under any circumstances,” her brother declared.

“What you...”

“That’s wonderful! You truly love, Iris,” Zander laughed, nodding at his sister to calm her down.

“Does that mean that you agreed for our wedding, right?” Alpha Harvey asked, which perked up Iris’s ears in happiness.

“Yes, but like you said, you need to end your relationship with your sister straight after the marriage. However, I want you to take your father’s Alpha position and make my sister the Luna of that pack.” The Blue Moon Pack was obviously one of the stronger packs, and their sister deserved the life of a queen.

“Thank you so much brothers. I love you,” Iris ran to hug Xavier and Zander while crying.

“We would do anything for you, Iris. We only agreed since Harvey is your soulmate and appeared to be honest. Seeing as the King has declared your wedding is to be held on the day of next full moon, I will be watching your soulmate’s behavior. If I notice anything fishy, trust me, I will not remain calm,” Xavier warned. Obviously, the twins did not want to subject their sister to the agony of a rejection, so they chose to be flexible.

“I understand, brother,” she said hugging them again then went to hug her sisters-in-mate.

“I know both of you had been mind-linking my brothers and changed their minds. Thank you so much,” the young woman could not help but shed a few tears.

“We are family, Iris. If you are happy then everything is okay,” Adira assured her.

“Yes,” Kiara agreed. Everyone rose from their seats. One by one, the King and everyone else congratulated the new couple then exited the pack house to say good-bye to the King, who appeared to be in a hurry.

The King had left the pack, and everyone’s attention was drawn to Blue Moon Pack members. Kiara was staring at Petra, who was watching everything. What was she looking for? Why wasn’t she leaving?

“I will come back tomorrow, Iris,” Harvey promised. The love birds kissed each other. She blushed, noticing that her brothers were watching them.

“Let’s go,” Harvey said to his sister.

“Where?” she asked.

“Home?” He replied but noticed the piece of luggage that one of the pack members was holding for Petra.

“What is the point of bringing your luggage?” Her brother inquired, perplexed. “Harvey, we’re not going anywhere. We’ll be living in the Sirius Bright Pack until your wedding,” she said, smiling

“What?” Kiara squeaked when she heard the other woman.

“Why would you stay in our pack?” The young Luna asked, c*g her brows. This she-wolf had taken advantage of an opportunity to investigate with her Alpha, which meant she would be coming to the Sirius Bright Pack, and now she thought that she would stay?! There was no way Kiara was going to let this happen!

“It appears that Xavier chose not to tell his Luna of the pack’s regulations. It appears that I should explain. The Blue Moon Pack and the Sirius Bright Pack are thousands of kilometers apart. Everyone is busy, and no one has time to travel long distances every day, therefore we’ll be staying in Sirius Bright Pack for 14 days until Harvey’s wedding, Am I correct, elder Stephen?” Petra inquired of the enraged old

fk! He was the one who created this rule during Petra and Xavier’s wedding since he had no intention of living in the Blue Moon Pack, but now this nasty bh had caught him in his own trap. One of the packs would always go to other for weddings and would stay as well, Kiara turned to face Stephen, who nodded.

“That is the rule, Luna Kiara,” he responded in a hushed tone, but he was cursing himself for it. When Petra lifted her eyebrow and smiled smugly at Kiara, the young lady clenched her fists at her sides. Kiara’s scowl was met by a frown from Xavier, who had just returned with his twin.

“What is going on here?”

“I don’t agree, Xavier. This woman shouldn’t stay with us for 14 days until the wedding,” Kiara asserted.

“Who said that she was staying in my pack house?” The Alpha asked, giving a disgusted look at Petra.

“The rules did, Xavier,” the brown-eyed woman replied sweetly.

“Fk the rules! Don’t show your face to me again,” he snapped. Kiara had a satisfied smile on her face when she looked at Petra. He would not let her stay with them.

“If the Blue Moon Pack is kilometers away, we will book hotel rooms for the Blue Moon Pack,” the Luna responded, seeing Petra approach her.

“I’m sorry to disappoint you, but I’ll be living here until the wedding and maybe after that,” Petra announced so quietly that Xavier’s ears hadn’t hear her, but Kiara could. She frowned at her bold statement. What gave her so much confidence? Both Alpha bloods had come face to face.

“It is not happening,” Kiara replied with a smile, wanting to scratch her eyes out, that had always had a dirty greed for Xavier.

“Ok, i agree,” Xavier said from behind.

“What?!” Kiara looked back to him in shock.

“Yes, we are letting her stay, Kiara, but Iris’s marriage will be tomorrow,” Xavier grinned. Kiara’s lips turned into a big smile but Petra turned pale.

“You can’t disobey king’s order just because your random chosen mate doesn’t like it, Xavier!” Petra screamed but spotted a wider grin on Kiara’s lips when Xavier pulled his woman in his arms and kissed her like there was no tomorrow. The brown eyes woman had dug her nails in her palm to see their passionate kiss.

“Kiara is not my chosen mate,” Xavier murmured, without breaking the kiss but Petra heard him clearly.

“what do you mean?” Petra asked, looking between both of them who had totally neglected her existence.

“Kiara is my one and only soulmate,” he said looking deep into Kiara’s eyes.

Chapter 60

60. Special Day.

“What? Your soulmate? How is this possible?” Petra muttered. Her voice sounded as if she had lost her ability to communicate. Hadn't she been screaming just a few seconds ago? The Beta and Gamma females smirked boldly at the former Luna then at the Blue Moon Pack. The rest of the world only knew that Xavier had chosen a mate, but no one knew that the woman was also his second chance mate. Petra's huge brown eyes had widened as she witnessed her ex-mate and an unwanted lady kissing one other as if they would die if they were separated. Xavier had grabbed Kiara's ass in front of everyone while Kiara had seemed to have forgotten what shyness meant at the time. Venus and her human were claiming their mate in front of a greedy bh who wanted to steal their mate. Kiara was well aware of what that she-wolf had planned! She knew the other woman had come to steal Xavier from her, but the young woman was not going to let Petra get any closer to her Alpha. ..

“That is only the beginning,” she promised with a smirk. The Alpha received a seductive look from his wife before she averted her gaze from him.

“Yes, we are soulmates,” The young Luna, Xavier's one and only soulmate, turned her gleaming chocolaty eyes to meet his ex-mate's shocked ones. She did not move away from Xavier as she enjoyed his warmth.

“Soulmates?” Stephen's ears perked up as if he'd been bestowed with something he'd never expected. The word 'mate' gave him goosebumps but also a rush of excitement in his bones. The younger Alpha smiled as he felt his Grandfather's eager eyes on him. Zander nodded, confirming that his brother had been given a second mate. Stephen was stunned. His rejected grandson had been given a second chance mate? Didn't that mean that Xavier had mated and marked his own mate indicating that he was now more powerful than ever?! The old wolf smirked evilly before turning emerald eyes on his slut of an ex-granddaughter-in-mate, who was losing herst. He had always thought she was much uglier than she was. Her flawless make-up couldn't cover up her dark rotten heart.

Petra staggered back as she stared at Xavier and Kiara. It had to be a lie! How the heck has he received a second chance mate? That was quite rare! There was no way! It was freaking impossible! He had been the one who had rejected her first. Despite the fact that she had been the one who had betrayed the mate bond, he should not have been able to find another soulmate. If mates reject each other, they never receive a second chance as the rejection implies that you are scorning the Moon Goddess' decision! No matter what they had done in the past! So how the fk had things turned out like this?

If she, the daughter of the great Alpha Roman, had not gotten a second chance mate over the last two years then why the hell would the Moon Goddess bless Alpha Xavier with that beautiful young yet brazen h who was now giving her a challenging look? How dare she?!

"You do not look happy. I wonder what the reason is? Is it only because of the change of the date for your brother's wedding or is it something else?" Kiara asked with an identical grin to the one that the other woman had given her throughout the discussion with the King. Petra's dream of staying in the pack for fifteen days had been shattered by the young she-wolf.

"Obviously, I am surprised as a certain male claimed two years ago that he despises women and mates. He despised even their shadows falling on him, but now I find something else," The other woman threw out a little chuckle, masking her true rage. Her eyes were on Xavier's hold on Kiara.

That's when the young lady heard her man chuckle from behind her. "It's because I was living with a traitor whorish bh who used to spread her legs for my previous Beta," Petra was stunned when Xavier suddenly mentioned Orion.

"I hadn't met my Kiara, my love, my soul, until very recently," he added. While answering his ex the Alpha tightened his grasp on his mate's waist as he felt like he was too far behind her and pressed his nose into her neck.

"And I must confess, you were right. I can't live without her. I couldn't live without my Kiara," Xavier admitted, catching the fire that was in Petra's eyes that made him grin. He licked Kiara's mark, making her moan,

The brown-eyed blonde dug her long claws into her palm causing it to bleed, releasing her venom, which had been fueled by the Alpha couple who had been making out in front of her eyes. Seeing them together was more excruciating than the ache she was experiencing in her neck that Xavier's claws had given her that was excruciatingly painful.

"That's great!" Petra said with a little fake smile as she walked closer to Xavier and Kiara in a sly move.

“I consent to the Harvey’s marriage before the full moon. But not tomorrow,” she added. Kiara arched her brow. Not tomorrow? Why? But she remained cool and heard her next word calmly.

“Why? I’d like to be married to Iris as soon as possible. What does it matter to you if I may marry her tomorrow?” Alpha Harvey reacted angrily. When Xavier had reset the date, the soon to be groom had thought himself in paradise. But now his sister had been playing the Blue Moon Pack’s Alpha and chosen his fate! He would not have permitted her to accompany him if it had not been his father’s decision.

He knew she’d do whatever she wanted if she became her father’s proxy. He was simply waiting to mate and mark Iris and make her his Luna, then he was going to show Petra hell. The brother-sister relationship was strained.

“Don’t be dumb, think wisely. How are you going to get married tomorrow? So quickly? We need to go wedding shopping, get rings, invite guests, relatives, and do other things. I’ll be called into question if the soon to be Alpha of the Blue Moon Pack’s wedding were to be a simple affair! Father would blame me, not his son, so listen to me,” Petra stated as she hurled daggers at her brother who was blinded in love. She turned her eyes back to Xavier and Kiara.

“Today is 2 May. We need at least tomorrow to arrange everything. So let’s fix the wedding date for 4th May,” she suggested. The Alpha took a deep breath while mind-linking his twin. As usual the decision was going to be made by both of them.

“Done,” Zander replied, putting his glass down and walking closer to Petra.

“We can bear you one more day,” he added, with a bitter smile. She smiled back and threw her luggage towards Cole who had been standing behind her. The young Omega startled while grabbing the bag.

“Bring it to my room,” she ordered. Now she was going to stay in the Sirius Bright Pack for two days.

“Cole is not a servant,” Kiara warned Petra sternly.

“Put that bag down, Cole,” she ordered, which he immediately followed.

“Hmm, if an Omega isn’t a servant, who will carry my bags for me?” She wondered, laughing at the young man who had been upset when she called him a servant.

“He is a friend of mine. You must carry your own bags. No one from my pack is assisting you,” the young she-wolf said, walking away. Petra chuckled as she motioned for Harvey’s Beta to pick up her luggage.

“Don’t fg step foot in my pack house,” Xavier growled at Petra.

“Cole, please ask someone to open the guest house for the Blue Moon Pack,” Xavier added, before leaving with Kiara. Iris followed her brother, but she kept turning to look at her mate, who was making a puppy dog face at her. He had not objected to staying at the guest home. He just could not bear to be separated from his sweetheart.

“Don’t worry, he’ll be staying in the pack house,” Adira murmured quietly as she walked by her

“How?” The young woman’s emerald eyes shone with amazement. Her sister-in-mate motioned to Zander, who was approaching Harvey. What was her brother doing? Would he punch him again?

“You are to follow me,” the younger Alpha used his sternest tone to order Harvey.

“Oh my Goddess! Thank you so much. You helped me again!!” Iris jumped in place and fiercely hugged Adira. She laughed as well. They entered the pack house together, as the young Luna giggled.

“Thank you for allowing me to stay in Iris’ room,” Harvey expressed gratitude when they joined the rest of the group in the pack house

“Who said you are going to stay in my sister’s room?!” Zander’s emerald eyes flared angrily at his soon-to-be brother-in-law.

“Then where will I stay?”

“Our pack house has a number of vacant rooms. I’ll ask my people to get you one,” the Alpha replied.

“But Iris will be lonely without me.”

“She is always alone, so don’t worry.”

"But I want to stay with her. After all, we're werewolves, and I'll be marrying her. It's common," the other Alpha countered, earning Zander's keen glare.

"Don't you dare lay a finger on my sister. Whether you're a werewolf or not, don't touch her before you're married," Zander warned. The other Alpha could only nod, watching as Iris disappeared up stairs. So he needed to stay alone tonight?! fk!

Harvey's movements were observed by the protective brother, who narrowed his eyes on his sister's mate. Something wasn't right

"Don't tell me you two have already done it," Zander snarled, delivering the most lethal glare to his brother-in-mate.

"Well..." Harvey cleared his throat, glancing everywhere except at the other Alpha. Was he actually allowed to tell the truth?

"How dare you!!" In an instant, the collar of the Blue Moon Pack's soon-to-be Alpha was grasped and he was slammed into the nearby wall.

"I should have seen that coming! You're Petra's brother, how could you be any different? Is this part of your scheme to trap my sister? Huh? Did you want to get her pregnant and pressure us into this marriage?" The Alpha demanded an explanation, his grasp tightening.

"Absolutely not! Iris is the one who wanted to. Before receiving a punch from his mate's brother for the second time that evening, Harvey cleared the air. Or worse, they would once again refuse the marriage.

"What? Don't you dare blame my sister! She is innocent. Accept your fault as a man," Zander barked. The Alpha, being a male, had no faith in other men. He must have taken advantage of his sister.

"Yes, she is innocent, but we did it when she asked me. You are her brother, so she will always be your baby sister, but she is now a woman who knows what she is doing, Zander. I didn't force her in any way. We did it out of love. If you don't believe me, ask Iris," Harvey explained calmly. Alpha let go of his collar with a low growl. fk! It was true. She was no longer a child. She was a woman who had already found her mate, even though he was the enemy's brother.

"Are you sure you did not get her pregnant?" Zander questioned sternly.

"I used protection since our relationship was in a sensitive situation and she wanted everyone's permission for us to get married so yes, she is not pregnant," Harvey confirmed. Zander was relieved to learn that Iris had not subjected to pregnancy forced wedding. Her relationship was built out of love.

“So can I stay with Iris tonight?” The other Alpha asked when his mate’s sibling seemed to have gone back to normal.

“Go to the second floor, the second room is hers. I swear if you make her pregnant before the wedding...,” Zander warned, walking away.

“Awww, so sweet,” Adira, who had been standing near the stairs, waiting for her husband and listening in on the discussion, delivered a flying kiss to her mate, which he promptly caught and caged in his heart.

She laughed watching him doing it. He had really kept her kiss!

“Only because you asked me to let them stay together for tonight,” he claimed, drawing her close to him as they walked up the stairs.

“Yet you let him stay because you wanted Iris to be happy. Not every sister is blessed to have a brother like you,” Adira remarked, recalling Noah, who had done all he could to have her kicked out of the pack house and in the end had ultimately succeeded. The Alpha sensed his woman’s grief and gently drew her closer to his chest.

“I’m sorry; you went through so much on our wedding day. Our special day did not go as you had anticipated. You could not enjoy it. I have to admit it turned out to be the worst wedding and I could not make you happy,” Zander said, his voice sorrowful. When the King’s elder pointed out Adira’s inability to have a baby, he had fa’d the whole happy atmosphere of the wedding. The Alpha had sworn an oath not to bring up the subject of a baby in front of his mate, but they had screwed everything up. They had made her feel inadequate, which Zander was well aware of. She cried but he felt her pain.

“I feel like a failure,” he added, which caused Adira to panic.

“No way, Zander. No matter how many problems we encountered, this was a memorable day for me,” she cupped his face making him to look into her eyes.

“It was the best day of my life, Zander. Because you were holding my hand the entire time. We were together,” she added, her smile bringing a smile to Alpha’s lips.

“Our rings, that hot kiss, our first dance, and when you protected me from elders. I discovered that I am an Alpha Princess,” she remarked and they both chuckled together. He nodded.

“I have so many memories with you that if I die after having such a wonderful mate as you, I will have no regrets, Zander. I lived my entire life in this one day, what more could I ask for?” she whispered with a smile but the Alpha pressed his finger to her lips.

“Shhh... don’t talk about dying, Adira. I can’t imagine living without you. I’m not very good at accepting those kinds of jokes. I swear I’d burn the world down if you were not with me,” he whispered as he leaned down to her.

“I love you, Adira,” he confessed yet again. He’d said it countless times, yet every time he uttered those three words to his mate, her heart raced faster. As their foreheads touched, Adira closed her eyes.

“I love you too, Zander,” she replied by raising her toe and kissing his lips. He drew her in closer by her waist, closing the gap between them completely. When he began to massage her breast, the kiss between them became hotter. The young woman began to moan in the hallway forgetting that others were not in their bedroom. Not to forget tonight Stephen had also stayed in the pack house.

“Let’s go,” Zander whispered, scooping her up into his arms.

“Where?” She questioned as he carried her out of the pack house then into the woods.

“To make our first official night as a mated couple special. I’ll add one more memory to our pleasant moments,” he promised, smiling. The gloomy wood was suddenly illuminated with magnificent light and adornment.

“Wow,” she gaped in amazement as Zander continued walking, allowing her to admire what he had planned for her. Everything looked so lovely that she was certain it had taken hours to decorate. They were surrounded by her favorite red and white roses. Not to mention the moonlight that shone above their heads.

“What is all of this, Zander?” She murmured, then gasped as she realized what was in store for her.

“My love for you, Adira,” he replied, kissing her softly. She blushed then noted something else.

“Oh my Goddess,” her mouth was agape. It was a king-sized bed in the middle of the woods, beautifully decked with roses! She turned to face her husband, who was carefully placing his bride on the bed.

“It is not the time for you to open your little mouth, Adira. I’ll enjoy these red lips later,” he winked as he closed her mouth. She flushed at his dirty comment.

“It is so beautiful, Zander. I love it!” She exclaimed as he sat down next to her. He grinned as he brushed her hair away from her face “Adira, you are the most beautiful woman in the world to me,” he said, leaning closer to her lips. The young woman closed her eyes as soon as their lips met. She felt his big hand on her clothing, carefully removing each piece of her gown.

“What if someone is watching us?” She purred, kissing him back, she was already completely naked in front of his hungry gaze. But wait, did she really care about someone seeing them making out when she had taken his shirt off like there was no tomorrow?

“No one can see you except me, Adira. I would never allow it,” he swore, lying her on the bed and lovingly kissing every inch of her body.

“AHH Oh…” When he buried his face between her thighs then licked and sucked her py, the young woman moaned. He was stopped as his finger was about to penetrate her moist py.

“Don’t finger me tonight, Zander. Just fk me! Please fk me,” She pleaded, pulling down his zipper with her foot. She teased him by rubbing her feet over his hardness. fk! It was so thick, long, and hard.

“fk, as you wish my Princess,” he hissed as he drew his c’*k out and stroked it a few more times. He had not fingered her, so she was going to be tight, but he used her py juice to lubricate his ck as he stroked his cak tip over her leaking honey pot.

“Oh!” When he slapped his thick meat over her py while leaning down to lick her n*s, she squealed with delight.

“Zander,” she whimpered and arched her hips, attempting to take his co*k inside her. His teasing was exacerbating the situation for her. She craved him filling the aching need deep inside her, moving deep and faster.

"Yes," he murmured, kissing her breast then moving up to nibble her bottom lip.

"What if I am ..." she paused and cried in excitement before she could finish her statement. The Alpha had given her a powerful thrust, filling her core with his hardck. Zander groaned as well and closed his eyes.

"fk! Adira, you're so tight and hot clasped around me," he roared, moving inside her.

"Oh..." she moaned.

"What were you saying, baby?" He questioned, pinning both of her hands above her head as he increased his speed and began to thrust into her deeper. The young she wolf's blue eyes were locked on her mate. His eyes were filled with love that was meant only for her..

"I will tell you tomorrow," she smiled, pulling him into a passionate kiss. Before telling him anything, she wanted to fully experience this night with him.
