

Alternate 1021

Chapter 1021

1021 Ambush! 1!

In a dense forest, a few robust figures were advancing quickly. From the black battle armor they wore, it could be confirmed that they were the Holy Dragon city's cultivators. They were a standard cultivator battle team.

Of course, the cultivators in this Army only had an average cultivation of level four or five. They could not be compared to the cultivators in the Holy Dragon City, which were made up of Lord cultivators.

Even so, the combat power of a team of five level four and five cultivators couldn't be underestimated!

Although they were unfamiliar with the terrain of this mountain forest, the Holy Dragon City cultivators still walked as if they were on flat ground, constantly moving towards the predetermined location.

This place was a few hundred miles away from Snow City. The road between the two places was rugged and difficult to travel on. There was only a small path that shuttled through the mountains.

On normal days, very few people would pass through this road.

However, with the arrival of the Holy Dragon City and the demon slayers formed by the Aborigines, this remote and difficult road that was the closest to the city of snow began to become more and more lively.

Almost every day, there would be groups of people passing through this place, heading towards Snow City.

A large portion of these people were believers of the indigenous gods and were potential enemies of the Holy Dragon City.

They did not follow the main force and entered Snow City first. They were in charge of gathering intelligence and receiving the main force.

The Holy Dragon city's Army, which was in charge of stopping the enemy, would naturally not let these enemies pass through this area. Thus, before the main forces arrived, the Holy Dragon City cultivators who had arrived first on the flying devices immediately took corresponding actions in an attempt to stop the enemy.

These Holy Dragon City cultivators were here to carry out a mission.

After walking through the forest for a few more minutes, a stream flowing out of the forest suddenly appeared in front of them.

The stream in front of him was the only source of water in the vicinity. After flowing out from here, it would run parallel to the mountain road for some distance and then flow into a large lake.

Almost all the travelers along the way would use this stream as a supplementary water source. Otherwise, no one could persist in walking dozens of kilometers to get water from the next location.

Under the current circumstances, destroying the enemy's drinking water source had naturally become a necessary task for the Holy Dragon City cultivators!

After looking around and confirming that there was nothing unusual, one of the Holy Dragon City cultivators took out an item and casually threw it towards the stream.

However, just as the item was about to fall into the stream, a gust of wind suddenly appeared and smashed the item into the air!

Then, dozens of strong figures rushed over from the distance and surrounded the Holy Dragon City cultivators.

Judging from their speed, they were all experts among the native cultivators, and their strength was not much inferior to the Holy Dragon City cultivators!

Seeing this, the Holy Dragon City cultivators looked at each other and immediately rushed to the other side of the river, trying to escape the enemy's ambush.

The sound of leaves rustling came from the forest beside the stream. Then, a strange creature that looked very similar to a tree but had emerald green eyes suddenly appeared in front of the Holy Dragon City cultivators.

It waved its long branches and whipped them at the Holy Dragon City cultivators. It was as fast as a green bolt of lightning.

A Holy Dragon City cultivator was caught off guard and was struck by the branch. He immediately groaned in pain and retreated a few steps.

it's a Lord-tier monster. Be careful!

His companion beside him reminded him. He suddenly unsheathed his sharp saber and blocked the branch that was coming at him.

The sharpness of the Holy Dragon City cultivators' sabers had far exceeded the Treant monster's expectations. After the two weapons clashed, the Treant monster roared in pain.

It turned out that its several-meter-long branches had been cut off, and a dark green liquid was dripping from the broken branches.

"Damn it, you actually injured a servant of God. I will never forgive you!"

The Treant monster roared loudly and once again pounced towards the Holy Dragon City cultivator who had injured its body. At the same time, countless emerald green branches pierced towards the Holy Dragon City cultivator like Spears.

"You're looking for death!"

Faced with the Treant monster's attack, the Holy Dragon City cultivator did not panic. He only snorted coldly and casually took out an item from his waist, throwing it at the Treant monster.

When the Treant monster saw something coming at it, it waved its branches without hesitation, trying to swing the machine to the side.

The moment the branch came into contact with the object, a loud bang was heard. A huge shock wave and metal fragments shot out in all directions.

The Treant's body moved slowly, and it took the impact of the explosion head-on. Its branches and leaves were sent flying everywhere!

As for the Holy Dragon City cultivators who were already prepared, they took the opportunity to hide behind the big tree to avoid being injured by the bomb.

Although the Treant monster was covered in injuries from the explosion, it did not suffer any fatal injuries due to its special physique. Now, it was pouncing again.

At this moment, the Treant monster was in an extremely sorry state. It dragged its broken body, which was constantly flowing with green liquid, and roared at the Holy Dragon City cultivators as if it had gone mad.

Through the few exchanges just now, the Holy Dragon City cultivators could already tell that the Treant monster's close combat ability was indeed powerful, but it lacked long-range attacks.

As long as one maintained a certain distance from it, even if it had a Lord-tier cultivation base, one could still grind it to death!

However, they were surrounded by enemies at the moment. They didn't have enough time to slowly kill this troublesome guy!

We have to find a way to break out of this place, or we'll fall into the hands of the native cultivators sooner or later."

Taking out the rifles hanging on their bodies, the Holy Dragon City cultivators immediately locked onto a direction and began to fire.

In the dense forest, dense gunfire immediately rang out.

As the bullets flew out, the enemies surrounding the Holy Dragon City cultivators were hit one after another and fell to the ground. Cries of alarm and curses rang out continuously.

The native cultivators, who had never fought with the Holy Dragon City cultivators, could not guess the power of the Holy Dragon city's firearms and weapons, so they immediately suffered a great loss the moment they met!

Corpses fell in the forest one after another. The remaining native cultivators who had not been attacked were all frightened at this moment. They hid behind the big trees and did not dare to stick their heads out to avoid being shot in the head!

As for the powerful Treant monsters, they were also beaten up by the cultivators of the holy city until their fluids splashed everywhere, leaving broken branches and fallen leaves along the way.

Seeing that it was unable to break through the Holy Dragon City cultivators 'blockade, the Treant monster could only roar in anger and retreat into the forest unwillingly.

Relying on the powerful destructive power of firearms, the Holy Dragon City cultivators temporarily had the upper hand.

However, this situation did not last for long. Very soon, the enemy began to launch long-range attacks, constantly shooting arrows and short Spears at the Holy Dragon City cultivators.

The Holy Dragon city's standard battle armor was made of special materials and had excellent defense. However, against the special arrows shot by these indigenous cultivators, they could still be injured.

Sure enough, not long after, a Holy Dragon City cultivator was shot in the shoulder by a sharp arrow. The enchanted arrow was made of an unknown material. It actually pierced through the battle armor and pierced deep into the flesh.

The Holy Dragon City cultivator who was fighting trembled, and a drop of cold sweat dripped from his forehead.

Chapter 1022

1022 Persistinence_1

A numbing and itchy feeling immediately spread from the arrow, causing the Holy Dragon City cultivators who were attacked to feel their hearts tighten.

It was very likely that this enchanted arrow had been poisoned by the native cultivators!

Just as this thought appeared, the Holy Dragon City cultivator's skin, which had been injured by the arrow, suddenly frosted, covering his armor.

The Holy Dragon City cultivator's shoulder was also completely frozen. His entire arm drooped powerlessly, no longer feeling anything!

The frost that covered the Holy Dragon City cultivator did not stop spreading after freezing his arm. Instead, it continued to spread to other parts of his body.

Once it spread to the vital areas of the body, it would be life-threatening!

Seeing this, the Holy Dragon City cultivator's expression immediately turned decisive. He threw the rifle in his hand to the side and deftly removed a piece of armor from his shoulder.

He pulled out his saber and slashed at his frozen arm without any hesitation.

The sharp blade cut through and the arm was cut off from the root. It fell to the ground and immediately melted into a pile of soft meat paste.

And from the wound on his body, a cold air seemed to come out of it, as if it was alive, and quickly dissipated into the air.

Seeing fresh blood gushing out of his wound, the Holy Dragon City cultivator let out a long sigh of relief. He quickly took out a bottle of spray and sprayed it on his wound.

As soon as the spray came into contact with the skin, it immediately formed an extremely tough film, firmly wrapping the wound, and no more blood oozed out.

The entire process was extremely short. It was obvious that he had received special training in this area. Otherwise, his movements would not be so agile!

Looking at the enchanted arrow on the ground, a trace of fear flashed through the Holy Dragon City cultivator's heart. If the arrow had hit his chest or any other important part, he would have been a corpse by now.

From this, it could be seen that although the overall strength of the indigenous cultivators was similar to that of the Holy Dragon City cultivators, some of their special methods were quite powerful, and they would suffer casualties if they were not careful.

The four Holy Dragon City cultivators who were blocking the enemy at the side immediately looked at them with concerned eyes. After seeing that their companion was fine, they turned around and continued to block the enemy's attack.

However, the only response they got was even more enchanted arrows. They landed around them one after another, covering the trees and the ground around them.

All kinds of enchanted arrows with destructive effects were exploding one after another, and one would be affected if they were not careful.

In order to ambush the Holy Dragon city's cultivators, these Aboriginals had indeed put in a lot of effort. They had actually equipped themselves with so many expensive enchanted arrows!

"Heavenly demons inside, listen up. You have no way to escape. If you don't want to die, you'd better surrender immediately!

If you continue to resist, we'll turn you into sieves when the next attack begins!"

As they were closing in, the Aboriginal cultivators were still shouting, trying to put more pressure on the Holy Dragon City cultivators.

However, in the face of the native cultivators' continuous persuasion and threats, the Holy Dragon City cultivators' expressions did not change, and they only retaliated silently.

Seeing this, the native cultivators seemed to be angry from embarrassment. Soon, the number of arrows shot at them increased greatly, and they fell like a rain.

In the face of such a frenzied attack, the trees that the Holy Dragon City cultivators used as cover were already riddled with holes. At the same time, under the effects of various energies, these few large trees quickly turned into a pile of rotten wood dregs.

The Holy Dragon City cultivators, who had lost their cover, were now directly exposed to the enemy!

To make matters worse, after the previous continuous firing, the ammunition they had brought was also exhausted.

After securing the rifles in their hands behind their backs, the five Holy Dragon City cultivators quickly drew their battle swords. At the same time, they gently patted the wrists of their battle armors, and a thin special shield shot out.

“Kill!”

Without any unnecessary words, the five Holy Dragon City cultivators used the formation that they had rehearsed countless times and moved in the direction of the enemy.

The arrows were blocked by their shields, and their speed did not slow down at all!

When the ambushing enemies saw that the Holy Dragon City cultivators were no longer using firearms to attack, they immediately laughed wildly and jumped out from all directions, waving their battle swords and surrounding them.

Without the threat of firearms, these native cultivators were fearless when they approached. They closed in with a few steps.

A bloody and intense battle suddenly broke out at this moment!

Under the enemy’s concentrated siege, the Holy Dragon City cultivators’ expressions remained calm. They kept brandishing the battle swords in their hands, desperately slashing at every enemy who tried to get close.

Those native cultivators, who had the advantage of numbers, wanted to capture the five Holy Dragon City cultivators alive, like a cat toying with a mouse. However, after fighting for a while, their expressions became serious.

Although the native cultivators who ambushed them this time were elites handpicked from the demon slayers, their experience in life and death battles was far from that of the Holy Dragon City cultivators!

As the few indigenous cultivators underestimated their enemy, they were easily cut down by the Holy Dragon City cultivators during the fight.

After losing several people in a row, these native cultivators began to become cautious. They no longer approached the Holy Dragon City cultivators easily, but used guerrilla tactics to continuously consume their physical strength.

When they were exhausted, they would capture these Holy Dragon City cultivators alive and interrogate them for the information they wanted.

But looking at the Holy Dragon City cultivators, they were clearly prepared to die. It would be extremely difficult to capture them alive!

damn it! Why are these otherworldly demons so difficult to deal with? are they not afraid of death? ”

Just as the group of Aboriginal cultivators were surrounding the five Holy Dragon City cultivators, a brawny man nearby was watching the battlefield intently and spoke in a cold voice.

The native cultivator standing next to him was a mage in a long robe. A light ball was floating in his hand, emitting a heart-palpitating aura.

“The reason why master was able to use divination techniques to predict the heavenly demons’ movements and set up an ambush was to capture these demon cultivators alive.

The war is coming, but our understanding of the heavenly demon race is pitifully little. This is extremely disadvantageous for us.

Therefore, we must capture these otherworldly demons alive today no matter what!”

The Sorcerer’s tone was extremely determined. From the beginning to the end, he did not pay attention to his companions who were killed. He only stared at the five Holy Dragon City cultivators, waiting for the best time to strike.

“Don’t worry, these demon bastards definitely won’t be able to escape!”

The brawny man snorted coldly and strode toward the Holy Dragon City cultivators, ready to capture them personally.

However, he had only taken a few steps when his expression changed slightly. He raised his head and looked at the sky.

The wizard did the same, and the ball of light in his hand jumped rapidly, as if it would fly out of his palm at any time.

A low buzzing sound could be heard as two strange-looking aircraft suddenly appeared above the battlefield and stopped.

The enemies surrounding the Holy Dragon city’s cultivators had also discovered the aircraft above them. Their attacks were also affected, and the Holy Dragon city’s cultivators took the opportunity to kill another person!

Looking at the flying device above them, the five Holy Dragon City cultivators covered in injuries suddenly sneered.

“Your time of death has arrived!”

Chapter 1023

1023 In danger (1)

Hearing the Holy Dragon City cultivators’ sneers, the Aboriginal cultivators’ hearts beat wildly. Before they could figure out what was going on, they heard a familiar gunshot.

The two drones hovering in the air had quickly locked onto them. The high-speed metal bullets easily tore the bodies of the native cultivators apart.

This kind of special ammunition was specially equipped for the drone. It had extremely strong lethality and could easily penetrate the heavy armor of native cultivators. If it was adjusted to the accurate shooting mode, the hit rate was even higher.

It could be said that once a low-level cultivator was locked on, there was basically no possibility of escape!

A series of screams rang out. In the blink of an eye, more than ten native cultivators were killed by the drone.

Several of the native cultivators were hit directly in the head, and their heads exploded instantly. The headless bodies shook a few times and fell to the ground with blood spurting out.

The rest of the native cultivators were frightened and stopped their attacks. They used the thick trees to avoid being shot.

When they had fought with the Holy Dragon City cultivators earlier, they had already discovered this point. In places with dense trees, the killing power of firearms and weapons would be greatly reduced.

At this moment, the native cultivators were using the experience they had just gained to Dodge the attacks of the drones, and the effect was obviously good!

However, the headless bodies that fell on the ground from time to time reminded the native cultivators that even if they hid behind the trees, there was still a possibility of being shot to death.

Behind the big tree in the distance, the brawny man and the native wizard gasped at the sight of the drone cleaning up the battlefield with high efficiency. They looked at each other with fear in their eyes.

Was this the battle puppet mentioned in the intelligence? it was indeed a terrifying killing power!

Whether it was the guns used by the Holy Dragon City cultivators or the sudden appearance of the unmanned attack aircraft, they all shocked the brawny men and mages who were watching the battle from the side. If the otherworldly demons had a large number of similar weapons, then the demon Slayer Legion would not be able to find an effective way to resist them.

When they thought about how the fanatical demon slayers had fallen in batches under the attacks of the otherworldly demons 'sharp weapons, their faces turned frighteningly gloomy.

no, I can't allow this to happen!

The wizard growled as he stared coldly at the drone that was still hovering in the air. He then stealthily moved closer to it.

The brawny man next to him immediately understood what he meant. He also began to use the trees as cover and came to the position below the drone.

At this moment, his body was tensed up, like a cheetah approaching its prey, ready to launch a Swift and fatal attack at any time!

At this moment, the native cultivators were everywhere in the forest. They were constantly dodging, but even if they were to increase their speed to the extreme, it was still difficult for them to escape the capture and lock-on of the drone. The screams of death rang out from time to time.

Corpses were scattered in the forest.

The hunters had become the prey, and they were all in a sorry state!

However, while these native cultivators dodged, they also launched attacks, trying to shoot down the two drones from the sky.

However, there seemed to be a protective shield on the surface of the drone that could easily block the attacks of the native cultivators.

After that, the native cultivators who launched the sneak attack would be accurately shot and killed, turning into corpses in the blink of an eye!

After trying a few times, these native cultivators found that their attacks had no effect, so they gave up this futile attack and began to try to avoid the pursuit.

As the unmanned aircraft chased after the enemy, the five Holy Dragon City cultivators who had escaped finally had a chance to catch their breath.

Although they were covered in injuries, they gritted their teeth and persevered. They began to retreat in one direction.

The native cultivators were all avoiding the pursuit of the drones, so even when they saw this scene, they could not stop it.

However, just as the five Holy Dragon City cultivators were retreating, a black shadow suddenly flashed behind a large tree. At the same time, snake-like branches stabbed at them ruthlessly.

The Treant monster that had just retreated from the battlefield had launched a surprise attack at this moment!

The two Holy Dragon City cultivators at the very front could not Dodge in time and were directly hit by the Treant monster's branches. They were already exhausted, so how could they withstand such a heavy blow? they immediately fell to the ground, spurting blood.

The Treant monster's branches immediately seized the opportunity to wrap around the two men's necks and bodies, trying to strangle them to death!

Seeing that their companions were being attacked, the remaining three Holy Dragon City cultivators roared in anger at the same time. They waved their battle swords and rushed forward, wanting to save their companions.

As the saber danced, leaves and branches kept falling, and the branches on the Treant monster's body were cut into pieces.

However, the branches that bound the Holy Dragon City cultivators were not cut off.

Perhaps this Treant monster had used some kind of secret technique that made the branches binding the Holy Dragon City cultivators abnormally tough. After the saber slashed down, it only left a shallow mark!

Even though it was under the frenzied attacks of the three Holy Dragon City cultivators, the Treant monster continued to resist and refused to retreat. It refused to let go of the two Holy Dragon City cultivators it had trapped.

And from the looks of it, this guy clearly wanted to die together with the two Holy Dragon City cultivators!

“Hahaha, I’ve already left a Life Seed in master’s divine Kingdom. Even if you kill me now, I’ll be reborn soon!

You damn guys, you actually dared to hurt my body. Today, you will die no matter what!”

The Treant monster laughed crazily, and the branches that bound the Holy Dragon City cultivators tightened again. Even their battle armor caved in.

The two trapped Holy Dragon City cultivators let out muffled groans, blood slowly flowing from the corners of their mouths, and their eyes became unfocused.

“Dammit, hurry up and save him!”

A Holy Dragon City cultivator turned his head and roared at the drone above him.

One of the unmanned attack drones, which had both AI control and remote control, immediately changed its target after hearing the roar of the Holy Dragon City cultivators. It locked onto the Treant monster on the ground.

A series of bullets landed on the Treant monster’s body, causing wood chips to fly all over its body. In the blink of an eye, a section of its body had been forcibly knocked off!

But even so, the Treant monster was still not dead. It was still swaying its body, and all the branches on its body were shaking wildly!

The drone immediately increased its attack power. Who would have thought that the tree man’s branches would immediately weave into a tree wall to block the bullet attack?

In the center of the tree wall were two Holy Dragon City cultivators whose faces were as white as paper, their lives hanging by a thread!

Chapter 1024

1024 Reinforcements (1)

Just as the drone was about to attack the Treant monster, a ball of light suddenly flew up from the ground and struck the drone’s shell.

A muffled sound suddenly spread through the forest.

The ball of light seemed to have a terrifying amount of power. When it touched the protective shield of the drone, it could not be stopped at all and a fist-sized hole was punched through it!

The drone that was ambushed immediately trembled and swayed in the air as if it would fall at any moment.

At this moment, another body shot up into the sky. It was the brawny man who had been waiting for a long time. After the Sorcerer’s sneak attack with the ball of light succeeded, he shot towards the drone like a cannonball. He laughed as he swung his fist at the drone.

“Bang!”

A muffled sound was heard, and the drone that was already on the verge of collapse immediately let out a roar and fell rapidly to the ground.

hurry up and take it away. Once it's sent back, it'll definitely be a great achievement. The gods will definitely not be stingy with their rewards!

Floating in the air, the brawny man let out a proud laugh and shouted at the native cultivators on the ground.

However, he didn't get any response. Instead, he saw a trace of fear in the eyes of the native cultivators on the ground.

“What are you guys doing?”

As soon as the burly man opened his mouth, he felt a sense of danger. At the same time, an icy cold voice rang in his ears.

a reward from the gods? I'm afraid you won't be able to live to enjoy it!

When the burly man heard this sound, he didn't even dare to turn his head and immediately began to run for his life.

However, his body had only moved a few meters before he suddenly stopped. Then, a line of blood appeared on his forehead.

“Huala”

The brawny man with the Lord's cultivation was split in half, and his organs and blood splattered onto the ground.

“BOOM!”

With another muffled sound, the Treant monster on the ground was smashed into pieces by a huge Mace, and then stepped on by a Big Foot!

The native cultivators who were originally avoiding the drones all opened their mouths in shock and fear.

They didn't know when it started, but countless figures appeared in the surrounding forest, slowly walking towards their position.

A soaring killing intent was emitted from their bodies.

In the sky, a ninth level Holy Dragon City Lord cultivator in black armor was looking down at the earth. A sharp blade condensed from air was slowly disappearing from his palm.

The native Lord who had attacked the drone earlier had been killed by him!

As for the Sorcerer who had ambushed the drone, he was leaning against a tree. A short alloy spear had pierced through his chest and he had died.

He glanced at the remaining native cultivators on the ground. His eyes were full of cold killing intent, but in the blink of an eye, it turned into a contemptuous sneer.

Only when his gaze fell on the injured Holy Dragon City cultivators would his cold eyes reveal a trace of concern.

At the place where the Treant monster had stopped earlier, a huge monster that was four to five meters tall appeared. It was extremely ugly and ferocious.

Under the heavy armor full of spikes, the muscles on his body were bulging and full of terrifying strength. He stood there like a small mountain, making people feel intimidated!

It was waving its huge Mace with a ferocious expression, driving away the native cultivators around it.

These ferocious monsters were the ogres raised and trained by the Holy Dragon City. They were known as the meat grinders on the battlefield!

“BOOM!” BOOM!”

The sound of trees snapping could be heard, and soon, hundreds of ogres appeared behind this huge Ogre. They were drooling and looking at the broken corpses on the ground with greedy eyes.

Among the guards of the ogres, a tall, bald man wearing armor similar to the ogres slowly walked out. He looked quite fierce.

Beside him stood a four-armed boy in a cloak. He was also bald and carried a heavy rifle.

After the two of them appeared, they began to look around. Their gazes finally landed on the heavily injured Holy Dragon City cultivators, and a trace of anger flashed through the bald man's cold eyes.

The bald man let out an angry roar as he looked at the frantic native cultivators.

“Scoundrels, I'm going to punish you!”

As soon as the bald man finished speaking, he raised his arm and pointed at the stunned indigenous cultivators. The huge and ferocious ogres around them heard his words and immediately pounced on them like heavy trucks.

The scene of the ogres charging forward was too shocking. Even the ground under their feet trembled as they ran. It was as if a thousand troops were charging!

When the native cultivators saw this, their faces turned pale and they turned to flee without hesitation.

Even though they were surrounded by the figures of the heavenly demons, they were not willing to face such a terrifying and brutal giant monster. They were afraid that the huge Wolf-tooth club would land on their bodies and smash them into meat paste.

That kind of tragic death, just thinking about it made people shudder!

However, these native cultivators had only run a few steps when they saw a group of half-mechanical monsters made of metal and flesh in the forest ahead of them. They were rushing toward them at high speed.

There was only bloodthirst and coldness in their eyes when they looked at the native cultivators. There was no emotion that a living creature should have.

The most devastating thing was that the teeth of these cyborg monsters were all made of metal. One could only imagine how terrifying their lethality was.

Once they were surrounded by these monsters, there was no possibility of survival!

After seeing the group of half-mechanical monsters, the native cultivators didn't dare to continue moving forward. They quickly changed their direction and rushed toward the other side of the forest.

In the blink of an eye, they had completely fallen into despair.

A large group of armed robots made entirely of metal were constantly advancing in the forest, forcibly opening up a new path.

Behind these armed robots was a long line of soldiers. It was the Holy Dragon city's Army that had come to stop the enemy!

At this time, the native cultivators had no way out, and the weak had already knelt on the ground in despair and surrendered, trying to save their lives.

The ogres and half-mechanical beasts surrounded them, and after they left, there were only some bloodstains left on the ground.

There were also some indigenous cultivators who launched a crazy attack, pouncing towards the Holy Dragon City cultivators. After a few gunshots, these indigenous cultivators fell to the ground one after another, closing their eyes unwillingly.

The Holy Dragon City Lord standing proudly in the air did not care about the screams and curses of the indigenous cultivators. He only raised his head and looked into the distance.

As long as they crossed the hill in front of them, they would reach an open plain. The demon Slayer Legion that they were responsible for stopping this time was currently stationed there.

In this Demon Slayer Legion, there were more than 100000 Demon Slayer and fanatical believers who had responded to the call of the indigenous gods and gathered to expel the otherworldly demons.

Once this Demon Slayer Legion reached Snow City or gathered with the other three Demon Slayer legions, the situation would be quite unfavorable for Holy Dragon City.

Therefore, their mission this time was to intercept these 100000 native enemies. It would be best if they were all buried in this dense forest in the valley!

Chapter 1025

1025 The collision that is about to happen _1

If the Holy Dragon City wanted to get rid of the enemy, they had more than one method to choose from. However, due to limited conditions, they could not implement any of them at the moment.

After all, the Holy Dragon City was currently fighting in another world. Many of the resources consumed in the war could not be replenished in time.

It was unknown how long the war would last, so the stored materials naturally needed to be used reasonably.

For example, the Holy Dragon city's Air Force could only be put into battle when they needed fire support, so most of the battles still needed to be solved by the ground troops.

And this kind of close-range combat was also the best and most respected fighting style of the Holy Dragon city's soldiers!

The person in charge of commanding this Army was a Lord of Holy Dragon City with a ninth rank cultivation. He had once been a wandering cultivator and had joined Holy Dragon City when he was at his lowest.

Relying on the Holy Dragon city's abundant cultivation resources, his talent had increased rapidly, and he was only one step away from becoming a king-level cultivator.

Tang Zhen would naturally put in great effort to nurture these kind of residents who had a strong sense of belonging to the Holy Dragon City and were quite strong. Moreover, he would entrust them with important tasks.

Because he did not have his own name before he joined the Holy Dragon City, he chose to follow Tang Zhen's surname and named himself Tang lie.

Looking at the endless March behind him, Tang lie waved his hand and ordered them to continue moving forward.

The Holy Dragon City soldiers who had received the order quickly ended their search in the dense forest and began to March towards the enemy's location.

At this moment, in the direction of the Holy Dragon city's second Legion, there was an ancient city's ruins. One of the four Demon Slayer legions was currently stationed there.

According to the original plan, the demon Slayer Legion would enter the dense forest area in front of them today, then cross the valley and head straight for Snow City.

However, when the leader of the demon Slayer Legion received the latest news that an Army of tens of thousands of otherworldly demons was approaching, he immediately gave the order to stop.

Once the demon Slayer Legion and the otherworldly demons encountered each other, a bloody battle was bound to break out. The narrow valley was destined to be the best battlefield to fully display the advantage of the demon Slayer Legion's numbers.

Therefore, the vast ancient ruins under their feet were the perfect place for the final battle. They would wait here for the heavenly demons to exhaust themselves and give them an unforgettable lesson!

As the location of the battlefield was confirmed, pieces of information about the otherworldly demons fell into the hands of the commander of the demon Slayer Legion.

Looking at the information collected recently, the native cultivators who had been elected as leaders and had the support of the Empire behind them felt a bit of a headache.

Based on the performance of the otherworldly demons in the past few battles, their weapons and equipment were completely different from those on the continent of timriel. They were more efficient and sharp, especially in terms of long-range attacks, which completely crushed the native forces!

Thus, even if the otherworldly demons didn't have the advantage in numbers, they still couldn't be underestimated!

Moreover, as the otherworldly demon Army rapidly approached, the demon Slayer Army's only option was to fight head-on since they couldn't ambush or outwit the enemy.

Just as they were intensely discussing tactics and preparing to kill as many otherworldly demons as possible, another piece of information sent by the messenger bird fell into the hands of the leader of the demon Slayer Legion.

The leader of the demon Slayer Legion's expression changed and his hands trembled slightly after reading the report.

Looking up at the leaders around him, he took a deep breath and spoke in a serious tone.

"The heavenly demon race has arrived!"

The Holy Dragon city's Army moved at a speed that the demon slayers could not even imagine. They quickly passed through the rugged Valley and headed straight for the ancient ruins!

A large number of chariots let out loud roars and galloped on the vast plains that used to be cultivated land. All kinds of vehicles followed closely behind, like a Steel Wave that covered the earth, directly killing the demon Slayer Army.

They had already received the order, and there was no other request. The battle would only end when they could not see the enemy's figure!

All the soldiers knew that this would be a bloody massacre, a disaster that belonged to the demon slayers!

The advantage in strength and equipment made Tang lie, who was in charge of commanding, abandon all fancy means and only seek a clean and simple battle.

He needed this kind of honor to prove that the city Lord had not chosen the wrong person, and the Holy Dragon City also needed this kind of battle result to intimidate the rest of the enemies.

Hundreds of thousands of lives should be enough!

As the Holy Dragon city's Army continued to advance, the ruins of an ancient city could be seen on the distant horizon. The broken walls and pillars of the main hall still stood.

On the ground below the hill, there was a black mass of people. It was the demon Slayer Legion that had taken up a defensive formation after receiving the information.

The demon slayers of different ages were holding their simple weapons tightly, waiting for the battle to begin.

They had already made preparations. Once the battle began, they would kill one of the otherworldly demons even if it meant exchanging their lives for the other. Otherwise, they would not be satisfied even if they died!

As for the rumbling sounds from the approaching heavenly demons, it didn't affect them much, because they had already been informed that the heavenly demons had a large number of battle puppets!

Although the war puppets were terrifying, they still had a fatal weakness. The demon Slayer Legion, which had the advantage in numbers, thought that they could completely destroy them!

The distance between the two sides was getting closer and closer. In a few minutes, they would collide.

At the center of the demon Slayer Army, a middle-aged man in charge of commanding the battle roared as he saw the Holy Dragon city's Army approaching. A shocking aura erupted from his body.

At the same time, a huge shadow condensed in the sky above his head.

It was the image of an old man with a long beard. He wore a short robe and held a magic staff in his hand. His eyes flashed with an indescribable madness.

He was one of the gods that the natives believed in, the crazy Demon God shelguera!

With the appearance of his shadow, the demon slayers on the ground immediately let out a shocking cheer, and their fighting will was instantly raised to the limit.

Just as shelguera's figure appeared, another huge figure appeared out of thin air. It was a very thin-looking Dragon, and its entire body exuded an ominous aura.

This was one of the Aboriginal deities, the pestilence Demon God putt!

With the appearance of the two demon gods, the fighting spirit of the demon Slayer Legion soared to the sky. With the command of the commander, the demon Slayer Legion let out crazy roars like a tide and swept toward The Steel Wave on the opposite side.

1026 Intense battle (1)

More than 100000 demon slayers spread out, and their roars were even more intense than the sound of the sea waves. It was like a flood that had gone out of control and was about to engulf the island on the other side.

The demon slayers didn't show any fear in the face of the metal war chariots that were charging at them. There was only an indescribable fanaticism.

At this moment, they had completely forgotten about the fear of death. They only wanted to kill all the otherworldly demons and make the God they believed in happy!

When the distance between the two sides was less than an Arrow's length, the armored tank at the forefront began to spray endless flames, and bullets mercilessly poured down on the demon Slayer at the forefront.

The sound of guns and cannons, which was even more intense than the roars of the demon slayers, instantly filled the battlefield.

The fanatical demon slayers immediately fell to the ground like wheat fields blown by a hurricane. At the same time, they quickly spread backward.

The ground was immediately dyed bright red. Death was displayed in front of the demon slayers in a way that they had never seen before!

The distance between the two that were about to collide was suddenly pulled apart, and it was filled with flesh and blood!

The demon slayers, who had recovered from their fanatical state, looked at the tragic scene of death with incredulous eyes. An emotion called fear quickly emerged in their hearts.

The originally indomitable footsteps suddenly became hesitant, but very quickly, they were swept forward.

Soon, the demon slayers, who had begun to wail, were swallowed by the rolling metal wave and were instantly crushed into pieces!

When the two waves completely met, the real battle officially began!

The demon slayers, who were holding Sickles, axes, wooden sticks, and stones, didn't care if they were protected or not. They pounced on the completely sealed chariot like crazy.

But before they could get close, they were shot and killed by the Holy Dragon City soldiers who followed the chariots. Even if there were some fish that slipped through the net occasionally, it was impossible for them to cause any damage to the special metal-made chariots!

"BOOM!"

The explosion of the bomb rang out in the demon Slayer Legion, tearing countless Demon Slayer into pieces and scattering them in all directions!

As the Holy Dragon city's Army pushed forward and surrounded them, spells from the indigenous cultivators and all kinds of scrolls fell into the Holy Dragon city's camp from time to time, bursting with brilliant light.

At this moment, the battle became more and more intense!

With the order of commander Tang lie, the Holy Dragon city's Army that had finished their deployment immediately launched a fierce attack.

With a roar, a large number of unmanned attack aircraft appeared and began to move back and forth on the battlefield. They constantly poured a large amount of ammunition, clearing out the demon slayers who had not yet come into contact with the Holy Dragon City Army!

Thousands of half-mechanical beasts roared and charged at the demon slayers. They were bloodthirsty and brutal, using their sharp fangs to tear all the enemies they encountered into pieces!

One by one, the tall armed robots were like Reapers on the battlefield, constantly advancing forward. No one could stop their footsteps along the way!

However, the most eye-catching thing was the ogre army led by Big Bear. They waved their spiked clubs like crazy demons, smashing all the enemies in their way into pieces.

From time to time, they would even steal a bite of snacks.

Because of their heavy armor and their innate abilities, these ogres weren't afraid of the attacks of the native cultivators at all. They marched straight towards the center of the demon Slayer Army.

In the chaotic battlefield, more than 100000 native demon slayers were completely crushed by tens of thousands of Holy Dragon City soldiers. Their fighting spirit had been extinguished by blood!

They were like flies, running around the battlefield, hoping to find a way to escape.

However, at the beginning of the battle, the Holy Dragon City Army had already begun to surround them, firmly trapping all the enemies.

They were already fish in a barrel. Under the Holy Dragon city's powerful military blockade, there was no possibility of escape!

At this time, the battlefield was completely under the control of the Holy Dragon city's Army. They were constantly driving away the panicking enemies, and at the same time, the encirclement continued to shrink.

The ground was already covered in countless corpses. The Holy Dragon city's soldiers, covered in blood and smoke, were sending the enemies who had completely collapsed to hell!

At this moment, they didn't need to think about anything else. They only needed to faithfully execute their orders.

War was a battle of life and death. If the Holy Dragon City Army was at a disadvantage today, they would not have a good ending!

Moreover, killing was a common occurrence for the cultivators in loucheng. They were already used to this kind of scene, so they didn't feel uncomfortable at all!

As the battlefield gradually shrank and a large number of enemies gathered, the high-end combat forces belonging to both sides also began their decisive battle.

Strong figures shuttled back and forth quickly on the battlefield. The light of swords and spells rose and fell, and the huge destructive power was no less than that of guns and weapons.

At this point in the battle, the native cultivators had already realized that if they could not escape from the Holy Dragon City Army's encirclement, they would not be able to escape death!

Under the threat of death, these Aboriginal cultivators exploded with all their combat strength, fighting evenly with the Holy Dragon city's cultivator team!

However, their overall cultivation was far from the Holy Dragon city's Aboriginal cultivators. How could they be the Holy Dragon city's overlords' opponents? they were like a group of unyielding children, being sent flying by the strong men with sharp blades!

It was only now that these Aboriginal cultivators truly realized how great the gap in strength between them and the Holy Dragon City cultivators was!

As the blades flew, blood and flesh splattered everywhere. The native cultivators were killed one after another, and the number of people who put up a last-ditch resistance was decreasing.

In the intense battle, the two commanders of the demon Slayer Legion, who had been possessed by the souls of the indigenous gods, fought with the two Holy Dragon City cultivators while roaring continuously.

Because of the divine soul possession, the strength of these two native cultivators was unexpectedly strong. They were almost on the same level as King level cultivators!

In the world of timrell, this kind of power was almost at its limit. If he took another step forward, he would become a God in this world.

However, the power of the world's origin was not endless, so the number of gods also maintained a fixed number, and would not easily increase or decrease!

Therefore, the strength of these native cultivators who had been possessed by the divine soul would at most reach the limit of the Lord, and they would never cross the threshold of qualitative change.

However, in this kind of life-and-death battle, this kind of restriction made them feel extremely aggrieved. They were suppressed by the Holy Dragon City cultivators to the point that they had no chance to fight back!

To the Holy Dragon City cultivators who had participated in killing King-level existences more than once, getting rid of two top-notch Lords would only take a little time at most!

Chapter 1027

1027 Smoke from the war (1)

A huge amount of blood soaked the ground, making it muddy.

Broken corpses could be seen everywhere, covering the ground in their field of vision. They were stacked on top of each other in a disorderly manner, and a nauseating smell drifted in the air.

The Asura hell was nothing more than this!

The dying ones were still struggling, and all kinds of strange sounds came out of their mouths and wounds, which filled the entire battlefield.

It was like the sound of death, enough to make the legs of the weak go soft and unable to stand up again.

Smoke filled the air, and broken weapons were stuck everywhere. Warhorses that had lost their Masters were running around in the sea of zombies, neighing from time to time.

Teams of Holy Dragon City soldiers were constantly searching the battlefield, carrying out the final clean-up work on the outer battlefield.

There was no need to keep any prisoners in this battle!

The crisp sound of gunfire, mixed with the cold glint of sharp blades unsheathed, and the screams that reverberated on the battlefield, formed a hellish scene.

The enemies who suddenly jumped up from the corpses and tried to make a final struggle all fell in despair.

Under the cold gazes of the surrounding people, the numerous fake dead had no chance of escaping.

They cursed loudly and begged bitterly, but it was to no avail.

The cultivators' indifference to their enemies was reflected to the extreme at this moment. Facing these demon slayers from the other world, they had no pity in their eyes.

Perhaps it was just as the native gods had said, the cultivators of Lou city were indeed all demons. Once one chose to be their enemy, one had to be prepared to pay a heavy price.

From the periphery of the battlefield to the center, there were still sporadic battles happening. Groups of enemies were struggling on the brink of death, making a futile final counterattack.

They were covered in wounds. Blood and mud had already made them look extremely disheveled. With the Holy Dragon city's soldiers closing in on them, these enemies' eyes were filled with despair, and they were roaring like wild beasts.

What responded to them were sharp blades and bullets!

In this area, the ogre army and the half-mechanical beasts were feasting on the food that they thought was extremely fat. The sound of bones and muscles being broken could be heard from their mouths.

After passing through this area, they could see a large number of Holy Dragon City Warriors advancing. The sounds of battle could be heard from time to time.

The enemies who had no way to retreat were falling in pools of blood one after another as the Holy Dragon city's soldiers advanced.

Suddenly, a burst of cheers rang out from the center of the battlefield. Then, two majestic figures soared into the sky, each holding a bloody head.

The head with twisted facial features was staring at the bloody battlefield with a trace of helplessness and unwillingness in its eyes.

The owners of the heads were the two commanders of the demon Slayer Legion who had been possessed by the souls of the indigenous gods. They had been killed by Tang lie at this moment!

With the enemy chieftain's death, this battle was over.

The Holy Dragon city's Army faced an enemy that was more than four times their number. They quickly ended the battle at a jaw-dropping speed.

The demon Slayer Legion formed by more than 100000 Demon Slayer around the ancient city ruins was completely annihilated in the end. Not a single one survived!

When the results of this battle were spread, the Holy Dragon city's name as a demon was acknowledged by all the natives. They would usually curse and curse, but they also felt incomparable fear in their hearts.

In the face of the otherworldly demons who had killed more than 100000 people in one battle, these Aborigines would not join those demon-slaying teams easily and lose their lives for nothing unless they had no other choice!

While the battle around the ancient ruins was still ongoing, another Holy Dragon City Army was also about to engage the enemy.

Their target was the Army from the Empire, which also had a total of nearly 100000 people!

Unlike the demon slayers, the Imperial Army was made up of professional soldiers who had been trained for a long time and had participated in battlefields. Their combat power was quite strong.

The demon slayers from all walks of life could not be compared to these professional soldiers. If the two sides met on the battlefield, a team of 100 soldiers of the Empire could easily kill thousands of demon slayers!

Facing such an imperial soldier who was proficient in cold weapons, if they chose to fight in close combat, although the Holy Dragon City was not afraid, it would definitely cause a certain number of casualties!

This method was clearly not a wise move.

Therefore, the commander of this Army decided to let these native professional soldiers experience another way of fighting in Holy Dragon City.

With modern weapons and tactics, he would leave an unforgettable lesson for the enemy!

Unlike the 2nd Legion, which had a commander who advocated close combat and had subordinates who liked to fight with the enemy, the team responsible for attacking the dynasty's Army had many members from the original world.

They preferred to use technological weapons to deal a devastating blow to their enemies!

The total number of Holy Dragon City soldiers participating in this operation had already exceeded thirty thousand, including the Air Force, ground force, chariot force, artillery force, and so on.

If not for the fact that they were wearing the standard armor of the Holy Dragon City, one would mistake them for an Army from the original world just by looking at their weapons and equipment!

Traces of the Holy Dragon city's Army could be seen everywhere in the sky and on the ground.

As the main force set off, information about the enemy was quickly sent to the command center of the Army.

At this moment, a huge vehicle was slowly moving forward in the center of the group.

This vehicle used both tracks and wheels to move. At the same time, it could easily wade through water. Its own defensive capabilities were also excellent, and it also had a powerful firepower system.

Along the way, it had been closely guarded by the surrounding chariots.

The Army's command center was located in this Special Vehicle. The Army's commanders were currently surrounding the holographic map and constantly perfecting the battle plan.

Through the images transmitted by the sky Eye system, everyone could observe the enemy Army without any fear, and they did not have to worry about being discovered by the enemy.

It could be said that the Empire's Army was now fully exposed to the Holy Dragon city's eyes. There were no secrets to speak of.

Looking at the high morale of the enemy after a long journey, the officers present nodded in approval.

It was obvious that the commander of the Empire's Army had a rather impressive commanding power, which was why he was able to manage the Army in such an orderly manner.

An enemy with such qualities would definitely have extraordinary combat power.

Although the Holy Dragon City was more powerful than the other side, they still had to go all out when facing such an enemy!

Chapter 1028

1028 Prologue of death (1)

The sky was gloomy, and the road was long.

The endless Army was slowly advancing on the road. The dust stirred up as they advanced condensed and floated up for a long time.

The Empire's soldiers were all covered in dust. They raised the spears in their hands and looked forward like soulless puppets.

The long journey over the past few days had already made them feel extremely exhausted, and they no longer had the extra energy to think about all sorts of messy things.

Everyone knew that after their long journey, they would face the powerful enemy that had caused the continent to be in turmoil.

They came from outside this world and came to destroy this world!

If they were allowed to do as they pleased on the continent, all the other races would be implicated and eventually walk towards extinction.

Thus, the gods sent down an Oracle, and the nobles of the Empire actively fought against them. They wanted to drive the extraterrestrial demons out of this world at all costs!

With the unprecedented cooperation of the Empire's upper echelons, a large number of soldiers were quickly mobilized and headed straight for Snow City.

This terrifying efficiency was almost unprecedented. From this, one could see how much the Empire's rulers feared the otherworldly demons.

After all, the people in power of the Empire had more information than the ordinary people, and they were more aware of how dangerous the otherworldly demons were.

Of course, for ordinary soldiers, these things had little to do with them. They only needed to eat and follow orders to fight.

What they didn't know was that the enemy on this expedition had already set their eyes on them.

A thunderous sound suddenly rang out in the ears of the soldiers, causing them to subconsciously raise their heads to see if it was going to rain.

However, what they saw was a group of objects slowly approaching from the sky. As they passed by, they kept dropping white flower-like things.

These strange flowers had square-shaped objects hanging under them, which looked like dandelion seeds. They were slowly falling on the plain where the Imperial Army was.

Countless soldiers of Zenit looked up at the sky and discussed the strange scene curiously.

There must be something wrong with this abnormal situation. The Imperial Military officers who had serious expressions all ordered the soldiers to stop moving forward and stood on the spot, ready to enter the battle at any time.

According to the information they had, they had reason to believe that it was the otherworldly demons 'doing, so they had to be on guard!

The atmosphere suddenly became heavy.

Under the gaze of the Empire's soldiers on the ground, the "Flowers" that fell from the sky became clearer and clearer, allowing them to see what the objects under the flowers were.

It was a square-shaped metal object that looked like a cabinet. It seemed to be a single piece and was quite heavy.

Seeing this scene, the Empire's soldiers had a bad feeling and subconsciously retreated in all directions.

With these metal objects as the center, blank areas quickly appeared. In the blink of an eye, these metal objects landed in the open space.

“Bang!”

With a series of muffled sounds, the metal objects fell heavily to the ground and sank deep into the soil.

The soldiers raised their spears and sabers and got into a defensive posture. They kept looking at the metal piece with an unknown origin and a strange coat of arms, their eyes full of doubt and vigilance.

Don't panic, don't get too close. Everyone, leave this place immediately!

The officers of the Empire on their warhorses urged the soldiers to move forward quickly in case of any accidents.

After the soldiers of the Empire heard the order, they began to reorganize their ranks and tried their best to avoid the metal objects as they continued to advance.

However, there was no way a team of nearly 100,000 people could leave this area so quickly.

Just as the soldiers passing by were examining these metal objects, and the mages of the Empire's Army were carefully studying them, something strange happened.

The metal object, which was originally a single entity, suddenly stretched out, revealing the secret hidden within.

Cold metal tubes were revealed at this moment, pointing at the panicked soldiers of the Empire.

When the flashing green light turned red, the high-speed bullets began to wreak havoc in the dynasty's camp!

This special weapon was temporarily named as the machine gun throwing platform. It could be airdropped into the enemy camp with 15,000 rounds of ammunition. It could use an extremely terrifying firing rate to cover all enemies within a 500-meter radius!

Its terrifying damage and intimidating effect would definitely give the enemy a near-collapse blow!

However, there were many limitations to this weapon. It was not suitable for use in the technological world, so it was best to use it against enemies who relied on cold weapons.

Before seeing a similar weapon, they would never know how terrifying this thing was!

As all the machine gun throwing platforms began to show their power, the Empire's Army immediately fell into chaos. The high-speed bullets pierced through their armor and killed the other soldiers without exhaustion!

Almost none of the soldiers of Zenit who were in the attack range could dodge the bullets before they were hit. They all fell to the ground with fear and unwillingness on their faces.

It didn't take long for the storm-like gunshots to die down. Like fireworks, after the most brilliant explosion in a short time, only empty shells were left.

However, this kind of brilliance was drawn by the blood of the enemy!

Although the gunshots had stopped, the waves of fear did not stop. Instead, they quickly spread.

The soldiers of Zenit who were lucky enough to escape all looked at the area that was ravaged by the metal Storm in a daze. They smelled the unique stench of the battlefield and the heavy smell of gunpowder, and they all felt like vomiting.

The soldiers of Zenit who had started to vomit could be seen everywhere. Some of them even vomited their bile.

This was because wherever such a weapon existed, it would be covered by a terrifying Metal Storm. Shattered corpses would cover the surrounding land, and not many people could bear the tragic scene!

This unprecedented and terrifying speed of reduction made the commanders of the Empire's Army furious, but they could do nothing about it.

They gnashed their teeth in hatred for the otherworldly demons who had caused such a tragic scene, but at the same time, they also felt a strong sense of fear!

This terrifying enemy actually had such a terrifying weapon. This filled their hearts with worry.

What was even more terrifying was that before they could even see the enemy, the other party had already launched an attack in such a way!

The officers of Zenit had complicated and heavy expressions on their faces as they rode through the panicking soldiers on their warhorses. They kept shouting orders in an attempt to stabilize the situation.

However, just as the situation turned for the better and the soldiers finally regained some order, a thunderous sound came from the distance again.

...

The Empire soldiers who had just calmed down suddenly felt their hearts in their throats!

Chapter 1029

1029 A bloody collision _1

The sudden muffled sound of thunder was becoming clearer and louder, as if even the earth was starting to move!

It was like a war drum that took away lives, making the soldiers of the Empire who had just experienced a terrifying and bloody scene have the urge to turn around and escape.

The soldiers of Zenit who didn't fear death on the battlefield and didn't fall behind were like new soldiers who were filled with fear of the enemy and the war. They only wanted to escape from this place.

However, the merciless military law and the instinctive habits they had been trained to force themselves to calm down. Then, under the command of the officers, they quickly formed a defensive formation.

All the soldiers moved with unusual speed because a terrifying Army was slowly appearing in front of them.

In this team that had suddenly appeared, huge metal chariots could be seen everywhere. They could move on their own without the pull of livestock.

The chariots of the Empire's Army were inferior in comparison!

The people who appeared with the chariot were the legendary otherworldly demons. They wore black battle armor and looked like a dark cloud covering the earth from a distance, giving off an extremely oppressive feeling!

In addition to the sabers on their bodies, these enemies also had a weapon similar to a crossbow, which was held firmly in their hands.

Although their faces were covered by their helmets, one could still feel the cold gazes from their eyes from a long distance.

A huge battle puppet stood in the middle of the otherworldly demon soldiers. It was obvious that it was a killing machine! They stopped about three kilometers away from the dynasty's Army and were gathering, preparing to fight with the dynasty's Army.

Both sides' goal was to defeat the other, so there was no possibility of compromise.

In the camp of the Empire's Army, the royal family member who was in charge of this Army could not wait to give the order for the cavalry to charge.

He wanted to take advantage of the fact that the otherworldly demons had yet to gain a firm foothold and give them a head-on blow!

With the melodious sound of a bugle horn, the cavalry commander pulled out the saber at his waist and swung it forward.

Nearly 10,000 Empire Knights riding strong warhorses and holding long Spears launched a fierce and Swift attack at this moment.

In order to deal with the otherworldly demons, the Empire had mobilized almost half of its cavalry, which was why there was such a magnificent scene in front of them.

The Empire's soldiers at the front of the line quickly opened up a path for the Knights to rush out of the formation. In the blink of an eye, they had gathered into a flood.

The ground was shaking, and dust was flying. The scene of nearly ten thousand cavalrymen charging was definitely a rare battle scene!

As the cavalrymen charged forward, the Empire's infantrymen behind them also began to advance quickly, raising their Spears and charging at the enemy.

Facing the enemy cavalry that covered the sky and the earth, the Holy Dragon City Army immediately moved. The chariot troop at the front let out a muffled Thunder-like roar and lined up in a long horizontal formation. With an aura that could destroy everything, they charged towards the enemy.

The huge armed robot followed closely behind, moving its legs and striding forward, pointing its weapon barrels at the enemy from a distance.

Above these armed robots, there were a large number of unmanned attack aircraft that had arrived first. They were one step ahead of the enemy's camp.

Teams of Holy Dragon City soldiers were closely following the advancing tanks and armed robots, surging forward like a wave.

“BOOM!”

The Holy Dragon City Army, equipped with super-light artilleries on vehicles, began a fierce bombardment. A large number of cannonballs whizzed out and fell into the infantry camp behind.

The cannonballs that were loaded with special gunpowder immediately made an earth-shattering sound when they fell into the Imperial Army.

One after another, terrifying bullet holes appeared on the ground, and the shock waves and shrapnel flew up. In the surrounding area of hundreds of meters, there were almost no survivors!

The bombardment of these cannonballs was like raindrops falling into a calm pool of water, constantly stirring up violent waves, engulfing the enemies!

The soldiers of the Empire who were in formation suffered heavy losses. Under the bombardment of the cannons, the soldiers of the Empire were blown into pieces and completely disappeared from the attacking formation.

This bombarding caused the soldiers of the Empire's Army to quickly collapse. If the supervision team did not frantically kill the soldiers who escaped, the entire attack formation would have completely collapsed.

However, with the appearance of the drones and the small cloud bombs, the soldiers fell into despair when they saw their comrades being killed.

They had never heard of such a method of war, and they were powerless to resist.

The tragic and huge casualties made them completely lose the confidence to win the battle, leaving only endless fear.

At this moment, the chariots, which were only a few hundred meters away from the chariot troops, all began to attack!

The cavalymen of Zenit who were charging at them were instantly blown apart as if they were hit by an invisible hammer.

The invisible hammer continued to extend into the depths of the cavalymen, and the broken pieces of meat were constantly lifted up and then fell to the ground.

The armed robot following behind the tank suddenly accelerated and began to sprint forward.

The other Holy Dragon City soldiers also sprinted, nimbly jumping onto the armed robots and war chariots, quickly penetrating into the enemy camp. The weapons in their hands opened fire, killing the enemies on the war chariots one by one!

The Empire's Knights, who were shocked by the sight of their companions' deaths, maneuvered their warhorses in an attempt to avoid the impenetrable rain of bullets from the Holy Dragon City!

They ran around the battlefield, trying to kill the Holy Dragon City Warriors in the chaos. However, under the lock-on of countless guns, they had no chance to do so!

An Empire Knight roared as he spurred his warhorse on. He aimed his spear at the back of a Holy Dragon City soldier. He wanted to kill the otherworldly demon like he had done in the past and pierce through it. Then, he would lift it up high!

Seeing that the other party was right in front of him, the kingdom Knight grinned hideously and shouted.

"Demon child, go to hell!"

As soon as he shouted, his body suddenly trembled, and three bullets landed on him.

One bullet hit his arm, causing the spear to fall. Another bullet hit his chest, creating a big hole in his armor. As for the third bullet, it fell into his mouth, blowing off the head above his lower jaw!

Blood spurted out from his neck like a fountain, shooting into the sky.

The headless body, along with the warhorse that had been turned into mincemeat, fell into a pool of blood.

The Holy Dragon City soldier who was ambushed turned around and glanced at the corpse on the ground. He then turned to look at a sniper cultivator squatting on an armed robot not far away and raised his thumb to express his gratitude!

The other party waved his hand, locked onto the enemy again, and began to shoot continuously!

Chapter 1030

1030 Victory (1)

On the vast battlefield, smoke and fire were rising everywhere, and the figures of soldiers from both sides fighting could be seen.

There were countless small battlefields in the big Battlefield, and the soldiers of the Empire who were on the verge of collapse were killed wave after wave.

Of course, the captured soldiers of Zenit could be seen everywhere. They were all holding their heads with their hands and lying on the ground with a depressed expression.

In the sky above the battlefield, there were also flying weapons belonging to the Holy Dragon City. They were shuttling back and forth, occasionally providing fire support to their allies on the ground.

They attacked the enemy from above, setting off waves of death. At the same time, they were also responsible for pursuing the deserters and annihilating those who tried to escape the battlefield.

Leiting No. 5, please enter your Attack Position immediately!

In the sky above, the Holy Dragon city's fighter planes were also constantly shuttling back and forth, and orders were constantly issued from the battle Command center.

This time, the one who had accepted the mission was a fighter aircraft codenamed "Thunder". It had a rather excellent ground attack ability.

After receiving the order to attack, the fighter jet from Holy Dragon City immediately followed the instructions on the screen and took off vertically from the ground in a very short time, quickly arriving on the battlefield.

Ignoring the smoke-filled scene on the ground, the pilot's eyes were fixed on an area marked on the ground and launched an attack without hesitation!

A missile instantly detached from the fighter plane and headed straight for the ground.

On the ground, there were thousands of Empire soldiers gathered together to protect the Empire's influential soldiers. After the missiles landed, countless soldiers were immediately affected.

They were lifted into the sky by the violent explosion, and their bodies were torn into pieces in the blink of an eye!

A part of the crowd was wiped out, but the remaining soldiers of Zenit did not scatter. They continued to protect the influential figures of Zenit and escaped from the battlefield.

It was as if they had gone crazy, charging forward without a care for their lives. They completely ignored the Holy Dragon city's interception and forcefully used their lives to carve out a bloody path!

That crazy look made the Holy Dragon city's soldiers' expressions change.

Although they admired these brave warriors who risked their lives, the Holy Dragon city's Warriors did not hold back at all when they attacked. They continued to attack, continuously reducing the number of enemies.

However, this group of enemies was indeed difficult to deal with. Not only did they have a strong fighting spirit, but they also had a large number of long-range attacks.

In addition, the elites of the Empire's Army were almost all gathered here. As a result, during their retreat, they were actually evenly matched with the Holy Dragon city's soldiers who were chasing them!

When the Holy Dragon city's soldiers launched their attacks, the Empire's elite army, who had put up various defenses, would also use powerful crossbows and spell scrolls to retaliate. This made the Holy Dragon city's soldiers unable to attack in close range, and they were suppressed hundreds of meters away.

This kind of combat distance greatly reduced the combat power of the Holy Dragon city's soldiers. Other than the Holy Dragon city's chariots, unmanned attack aircraft, and cannons, there was no other way to deal with them.

It was just that the battle was at a critical stage, and the flames of war were everywhere, so it was impossible to mobilize effective firepower in time.

If not for the timely appearance of the Thunder fighters, in a short while, these enemies would have completely left the battlefield and escaped into the forest!

Under the attack of the Thunder fighters, the originally orderly formation was immediately thrown into chaos. The Holy Dragon City Warriors saw an opportunity and immediately launched a wave of fierce attacks.

The two heavily damaged armed robots charged straight in, relying on their powerful firepower suppression along the way, and actually rushed directly to the front of this group of enemies.

The black muzzles of the guns were aimed at the nobles who were panicking, and the bullets were fired again.

A few mages roared and cast spells with all their might. An earth wall was constructed out of thin air, blocking in front of the Empire's nobles. The dense bullets hit the dust and sent it flying.

Taking advantage of the rare buffer time, the nobles of the Empire quickly retreated, scrambling to run into the distance.

More than 20 soldiers of the Empire moved in the opposite direction with bloodshot eyes. They quickly took the scrolls from the mages and charged at the armed robots without any regard for their lives.

They were a Suicide Squad. They sacrificed themselves just to buy a little more time to retreat.

The dense barrage of bullets knocked down some of the Empire's soldiers, and they fell to the ground unwillingly.

The remaining soldiers who had not been hit did not hesitate at all. They were decisive and decisive, and their blood-red eyes were filled with the determination to die.

When they got close to the armed robot, they all roared and tore the magic scroll in their hands.

"BOOM!"

Flames, frost, and lightning that were leaping up like snakes swallowed the two armed robots directly, and the fierce attack came to an abrupt end.

As for the soldiers of the Empire who released the magic scrolls, they had long disappeared without a trace. They were completely crushed!

Because of the soldiers' sacrifice, the 2 androids were completely destroyed, and the influential people of the Empire took the opportunity to escape.

In fact, these nobles didn't have high status. Otherwise, they wouldn't have teleportation scrolls on them, and they wouldn't have stayed on the battlefield even though their commanders had already fled.

However, to the ordinary soldiers, they were still important people who needed to be protected with their lives.

Unfortunately, under the Holy Dragon city's inescapable net, their sacrifices were destined to not be rewarded.

The battle Command, which had been eyeing this group of enemies for a long time, immediately mobilized a large number of troops to surround and block them. Soon, all their escape routes were blocked!

Seeing that there was no hope of escape and that only death would await them if they continued to resist, these high-ranking officers of the Imperial Army immediately chose to surrender under the threat of death.

The surrender of these nobles was the last straw that broke the camel's back, and the soldiers who were still holding on all chose to kneel down and surrender.

However, less than one-third of the Empire's soldiers were left. More than 60000 of the Empire's soldiers had died in this battle!

To the Empire, this was definitely a huge and heavy blow.

It was estimated that after this battle, the internal affairs of the Empire would become abnormally chaotic. Those greedy, cowardly, and selfish nobles of the Empire might very well give up on the conquest of Holy Dragon City and seek other ways to solve the problem.

Once the Empire gave up on attacking the Holy Dragon City, the fanatical and blind believers of the gods would not be able to pose much of a threat to the Holy Dragon City.

It could be said that after this victory, the Holy Dragon City had basically completed the main part of their plan to stop the enemy. They had used the lives of more than two hundred thousand indigenous enemies to issue the most important warning.

Towards their enemies, the Holy Dragon City would not show any mercy. They would definitely kill until you trembled in fear!
