

Alternate 1201

Chapter 1201

1201 A thrilling escape _1

“Faster, faster!”

At the edge of the garbage mountain, many figures of different sizes were running at full speed, as if they were using all their strength.

Behind them, a huge, rolling dark cloud had already arrived. It was the terrifying storm that the Aboriginals had turned pale at the sound of it!

The dark clouds were formed by countless miniature robots. They had streamlined bodies and sharp serrated blades that could easily cut and tear anything. There were even assembly tools at their heads that could be switched at any time, making it easy for them to decompose and extract all kinds of garbage.

These miniature robots were like a dense Army of locusts, constantly moving forward in the air. When they got close to the garbage mountain, they began to disperse rapidly, like a large drop of viscous ink, beginning to spread in the clear water!

The entire garbage mountain was gradually engulfed by the dark clouds. A wave of dense rustling sounds rang out, and the complete garbage that was visible to the naked eye immediately disintegrated into powder like crisp soil. At the same time, the powder continued to surge like a boiling pot.

Even metal objects had no chance of survival. In fact, they crumbled even faster!

Such a terrifying scene was unforgettable for the rest of their lives. They then tried their best to avoid the dark clouds that were constantly spreading.

Due to the delay earlier, Uncle Jim and the others were only a few dozen meters away from the dark cloud. As time passed, the distance between them and the dark cloud was rapidly shrinking!

Uncle Jim was extremely anxious. As he ran, he desperately urged his companions to get away from this terrible storm as soon as possible.

To the Aboriginals, this was an existence that they couldn't fight against. They had no other means of resistance except to hide!

Morris was running at the back of the group, dragging an unconscious man on his leg. Although he looked light and effortless, it still affected his running speed.

Seeing that the distance between Morris and the team was getting further and further, Uncle Jim could not help but shout, “Morris, quickly throw away your pocket, this way you can run faster!”

“But Uncle Jim, it's a pity to throw away these mayflies!”

Morris was out of breath as he ran. He responded loudly as he ran, but he never let go of the bag on his back.

“You’re still thinking about this at a time like this. If you don’t throw it away, you won’t be able to keep your little life!”

Uncle Jim was so angry that he stopped in his tracks. When Morris approached, he grabbed the broken bag on his back and threw it into the “ dark clouds ” behind him.

The tattered bag was still in mid-air when it was wrapped up by the densely packed miniature robots in the dark clouds. Then, it slowly floated as if it had lost its gravity and rapidly disintegrated at a speed visible to the naked eye!

Morris, who had been a little unwilling, could only withdraw his regretful gaze, turn around, and continue to run.

However, after this short delay, the two of them had closed the distance between them and the “ dark cloud ” by a large margin!

The buzzing sound seemed to be right next to their ears, and the strange sound of metal wings rubbing against each other made their scalps go numb.

Morris, jump on my back. I’ll carry you out of here!

Uncle Jim’s eyes were bloodshot, and his voice suddenly became hoarse. After letting out a low roar, he did not allow Morris to refuse. He pulled Morris and threw him behind him. At the same time, he grabbed Morris ‘robe with his other hand and firmly fixed it on his body.

As for the unconscious man, who had been floating all this time, he also landed on Uncle Jim’s body. He was still swaying along with the rhythm of running, looking like a big tail that was constantly waving!

Uncle Jim, hurry up and run! Those monsters have caught up!

Morris, who was lying on Uncle Jim’s back, looked back and saw a small group of miniature robots suddenly rush out of the formation and then rush towards them.

Uncle Jim didn’t react at all when he heard that. He just kept running.

oh no, are those monsters going to touch Yingying? they’ve already touched the man’s legs!

Hearing Morris ‘exclamation, Uncle Jim’s heart trembled. He exerted all his strength and accelerated even more!

However, this was already Uncle Jim’s maximum speed, and it was also an insurmountable shackle for mortals. No matter how hard he tried, it would be of no use!

As for the mysterious man who was touched by the dark clouds, Uncle Jim had already sentenced him to death in his heart. There had never been anything that could resist the decomposition and cutting of these miniature robots. Even metal could not resist it, let alone a body of flesh and blood.

Even if the other party was lucky enough to survive, it would be difficult to save his legs. In this environment where there was a lack of medicine, he would not be able to hold on for long!

thank you for your sacrifice and for becoming our shield!

Uncle Jim mourned for this unlucky fellow in his heart. He then stared at the uneven road in front of him with full concentration to prevent himself from accidentally falling.

However, at this moment, Morris 'cry of surprise came from behind him again.

Oh my God, Uncle Jim, those monsters landed on that man's body, but they didn't disintegrate him. Why did they suddenly stop moving?"

what did I just see? these monsters are fighting with their own kind, trying to protect the man from harm!

this is unbelievable, Uncle Jim. Those monsters are actually blocking us from the storm!

Listening to Morris 'long-winded exclamation, Uncle Jim finally couldn't hold back his curiosity and turned around to take a look.

It was this scene that frightened Uncle Jim so much that he almost threw Morris out!

It turned out that the body of the unconscious man was covered with those terrifying metal bugs. He was only one step away from touching her body.

Looking at those monsters with sharp metal-cutting teeth, Uncle Jim had a sudden realization. No wonder he felt that Morris on his back was getting heavier and heavier. Now it seemed that it was the accumulated weight of these metal bugs!

However, what was shocking was that these terrifying metal insects, which would usually make the Aborigines pale, did not disintegrate the unconscious man's body. Instead, they formed a protective shell and firmly protected him.

Any other metal bug that landed on the man's body would immediately be attacked by the protectors. As sparks flew, the metal bugs fell to the ground one after another.

In addition to the metal bugs that were protecting their bodies, there were also some metal bugs behind them that formed a line of defense, clashing with the endless dark clouds.

The sound of metal clanking and electric sparks rose one after another. As Uncle Jim ran forward, he actually left behind a flaming trail!

It was also because of the obstruction of these metal bugs that Uncle Jim and Morris could hold on for such a long time. Otherwise, they would have been devoured by the dark clouds that rushed over and disintegrated into nothing!

While he was secretly shocked, Uncle Jim was also very curious and vigilant about the culprit of all this, the unconscious man who was filled with a mysterious and strange aura.

"Uncle Jim, we're almost at the cliff!"

Morris's reminder came from behind, which made Uncle Jim, who was a little distracted, shocked and quickly came back to his senses.

Looking at the cliff in front of him, Uncle Jim took a deep breath. Suddenly, with a loud roar, he flew into the air!

Morris, hold on to me tightly. We're going to be safe soon!

...

Chapter 1202

1202 The monster City and the floating city

After a violent roll, Uncle Jim and Morris climbed out of the sand pile!

Although they were wearing long robes and goggles, there was still a lot of fine sand on their bodies, which was constantly shaking down along with their movements.

Looking at the terrifying dark clouds circling above the sand dune, the two of them looked like they had just survived a disaster. After silently looking at each other, they couldn't help but laugh out loud!

Relying on his understanding of the terrain of the garbage mountain, Uncle Jim chose to rush towards this sand dune. The facts proved that his choice was correct. As long as they rolled down from the garbage mountain and left the range of the garbage mountain, these terrifying metal bugs would not continue to chase them.

This was a characteristic of the metal insects that would never change. It was also because of this that the Aboriginals could make use of it and escape from accidents time and time again!

After the joy of escaping, Morris glanced at the unconscious man who had been separated from his legs and half of his body was buried in fine sand. He looked at Uncle Jim with some hesitation.

Although this was not the first time Morris had "picked someone up", this time he became hesitant. This was because he had already realized that this man did not seem to be simple, and it was very likely that he would bring danger to his companions if he brought him back.

From the moment they had met him, he had shocked them more than once!

"Uncle Jim, are we still taking him away?"

Morris asked for Uncle Jim's opinion, which was a rare sight. It was not the kind of seemingly request but actually extremely stubborn attitude that he had in the past. He would find a way to bring the person back no matter what.

Uncle Jim didn't care about that. He took a few deep breaths and said, "We saved his life and he saved ours, so we don't owe each other anything!"

A hint of disappointment flashed in Morris' eyes, but he did not continue to be stubborn.

"But this person's background is very mysterious. Just like what you said, Yingluo, maybe after he recovers, he might give us unexpected rewards out of gratitude!

So Yingluo, let's Yingluo bring him back!"

Hearing this, Morris immediately jumped up in excitement and ran straight to the unconscious man. He wanted to see if he was still light so that the two of them could bring him back to their residence.

Uncle Jim looked at Morris' back and heaved a long sigh.

He knew that the reason why Morris had such a strange hobby of "picking up people" was not entirely because of his kindness, but because of a story he had heard when he was young.

The protagonist of the story saved a Prince who was in trouble. After the Prince recovered and returned to his country, he gave the protagonist of the story countless wealth that he could not eat for a lifetime!

What really moved Morris in the story was not the countless wealth, but the food that he could never finish in his lifetime!

When Morris was very young, his parents had chosen to enter the dangerous 'city of monsters' to look for food because they lacked food. In the end, they never returned.

Therefore, Morris, who had lost his parents at a young age, had a deep obsession with food.

He hoped that he could be like the protagonists of the stories he had heard when he was a child, helping a Big Shot in distress, and then the other party would give him a generous return, preferably an endless amount of food!

this silly boy. In this day and age, how can there be any big shots in trouble? that's just a plot in a story!

Uncle Jim smiled and shook his head. As one of the "hopes" that Morris picked up, he could not repay him for the huge amount of food. He could only do his best to protect him until the day he fell.

He hoped that this poor and kind child could live a peaceful life and not lose his life because of any accidents!

"Uncle Jim, come and see, we're rich!"

Morris' excited shouts could be heard, and he kept waving at Uncle Jim, looking very happy.

Uncle Jim struggled to stand up and slowly walked to Morris' side. He saw that this guy was holding two broken metal bugs, as if they were two rare treasures.

There were dozens of similar metal bugs in the sand nearby, all damaged and stopped working.

After seeing these metal bugs, Uncle Jim also revealed a happy smile on his face.

Metal was extremely scarce in this world. It was not that there was a lack of mineral deposits, but after an accident a hundred years ago, almost all the metals that could be seen everywhere in the world had been collected and devoured by the "Monster City."

The so-called "Monster City" was actually a mutant mechanical city controlled by a super-intelligence. Under the control of the super-intelligence, the collected metal had been swallowed by a special construction mechanical insect, and slowly built into a constantly expanding Metal City!

This kind of Metal City was called "Monster City". It was full of strange buildings with strange functions. Because the super-intelligence's way of thinking was different from that of humans, the appearance of these buildings was also strange!

In these huge "monster cities," the metal residue that had been refined was piled together. After a long time, it became special soil, and special plants that had been modified by superintelligence were grown on it.

Although these plants looked equally strange, they could be used to fill their stomachs and adapt to the barren soil to provide food for the indigenous people who relied on garbage to survive.

Unfortunately, the fruit of this plant was very special. After planting it in a different place, there were no seeds. If he wanted to continue to plant it, he would have to obtain it again!

Therefore, it had become a regular operation for the Aboriginals to obtain plant seeds from the monster cities. The entire process was filled with danger, and it could be said that there was only a slim chance of survival!

In these monster cities, other than all kinds of strange buildings, there were also a large number of mechanical guards. They would destroy any non-mechanical creatures as soon as they were discovered!

When the Aboriginals with crude equipment fought against such mechanical monsters, the chances of winning were pitifully low. Therefore, the best choice was to escape as far as possible.

Every year, there would be Aboriginals who would die in the monster City. After making huge sacrifices, they might not be able to get what they wanted.

In order to make weapons and equipment, they also needed to obtain metal materials from the monster cities. This was because the metals that had not been smelted in other places had all been used up by the collection robots with metal detection functions in more than 100 years!

That was why Morris was so excited to get a few metal bugs. After they were processed, they could totally create a brand new sharp weapon, which would increase the combat power of their side again!

In fact, this world didn't only have the Aboriginals who relied on garbage mountains to survive, because they could only be called "abandoned people" at most. In the sky above them, there were also huge floating cities!

These man-made cities suspended in space had a man-made atmosphere. At the same time, they completely simulated the environment on the ground, so that people could live here for a long time, not much different from living on the ground.

The Aboriginals who lived there called themselves 'citizens'. They sent mining robots to collect the minerals deep underground and send them into the sky. They also dumped all kinds of garbage on the surface and looked down at the abandoned people from above, enjoying the gifts they gave.

To put it bluntly, the purpose of the garbage was to provide supplies to the mining robots on the ground, which were collected by the mini-robots that formed the terrible storm and used to maintain the normal operation of the mining robots.

The second was to provide the abandoned people with some extremely pitiful material sources to prevent them from going extinct and causing the citizens to lose their object of pride!

Chapter 1203

1203 The world that is gradually being destroyed

The monster City and the floating city had a very intriguing relationship. It was said that the source of the monster City was a kind of monster that the citizens had unintentionally created in order to build the floating city.

After the appearance of the city of monsters went out of control, the citizens continued to speed up the research and construction of the floating city under great pressure, and finally achieved the expected success.

After the first floating city was successfully built in space, the citizens immediately moved on a large scale. Of course, the people who were given priority to be transferred were naturally those in power and aristocrats.

No matter how special the environment was, money would become waste paper. However, these people had accumulated connections in the past and recognized their own kind. Therefore, the first batch of people to be transferred was unsurprisingly them!

When the first batch of citizens landed on the floating city and the second floating city began to build itself, the monster City also began to expand rapidly. A large number of robots swarmed out and fought with the floating city for all the resources of this world.

A terrifying war suddenly broke out, and countless natives were caught in it. The buildings in the city were destroyed one after another, and all the usable resources were collected and taken away by both sides!

Such a reckless war and plunder eventually led to disastrous consequences. Many places were barren, and useless garbage and remains could be seen everywhere. The surviving natives died one after another.

The chaotic and despairing war continued for many years. During this process, floating cities were built one after another. Small monster cities were constantly born from the monster cities, and they continued to expand!

The war continued until the resources on the surface were exhausted. Then, the two sides, who could destroy each other, reached a truce and began to explore and plunder the resources underground.

The war ended quietly, and the survivors of the abandoned people finally had a chance to breathe.

In the days that followed, the abandoned people struggled to survive in the harsh environment. They relied on the airdrops that were regularly sent by the citizens to obtain resources that were not available on the surface to fight against the monsters that had appeared due to the radiation.

The citizens had even tried to use the abandoned people to destroy the expansion of the monster City, but it naturally ended in failure!

As time passed, the citizens gave up on using the abandoned people. However, they did not stop the airdrop of garbage because the garbage had to be disposed of somewhere. Thus, a strange pattern was formed. While providing supplies to the mining robots, they also gave themselves a benevolent Halo.

They unanimously agreed that it was because of their generosity that these abandoned people had a chance of survival!

The abandoned people were completely unaware of all this. While they were struggling to survive, they didn't know that the citizens in the sky would often hold feasts with all kinds of delicious food.

When they were tasting good food, the citizens liked to talk about their "generous" "good deeds" to show how great and benevolent they were!

However, the truth was that in the eyes of these high and mighty citizens, these abandoned people who had similar appearances to their ancestors were not on the same level as them!

However, to the abandoned people, they didn't need to think about these things either. The dangers that were everywhere and the huge pressure of survival made them have no time to let their thoughts run wild.

Even if they were unwilling, they didn't have the power to change everything. Whether it was the floating city in the sky or the monster City on the ground that was impregnable, they were not existences that the abandoned people could fight against!

Morris and Uncle Jim were also ordinary abandoned people. Other than saving their lives and filling their stomachs, they did not have any thoughts of resisting change.

If they did not understand the secrets and had no one to teach them, the abandoned people would never have such thoughts!

At this moment, Morris was working with Uncle Jim and the others to put the unconscious man, Tang Zhen, who had gained a lot of weight, on a bag and drag him forward on the sand.

This was because he had crushed a jade talisman that had a weight reduction and suspension effect the moment before he fainted. Therefore, Tang Zhen was as light as a balloon and was easily dragged forward by Morris with his legs.

Otherwise, his purple-gold armor alone would be enough to make an adult vomit blood, let alone leave with him!

Tang Zhen had also realized this point. That was why he had used the Jade talisman that he had created in his free time, allowing him to avoid a crisis that was neither big nor small.

Otherwise, under the cutting and dismantling of the mechs, even if he did not die, he would have to pay a heavy price.

Tang Zhen, who was injured on top of his injuries, might really lose his life because of this!

As for the increase in his weight now, it was because the effect of the Jade talisman had gradually weakened. In another one or two hours, his weight would return to its original level.

At that time, it was estimated that four to five people would need to cooperate at the same time before they could bring Tang Zhen back to their residence.

The group continued to advance along the barren land. From time to time, they would dig up one or two edible plants from the ground to be used as the main ingredient for the soup.

Due to the scarcity of food, every harvest would make everyone smile.

Only Uncle Jim looked around vigilantly, wary of the appearance of wandering mutated monsters, even though they lived in a fixed place most of the time and only wandered outside for a short time.

Only when the day of extreme darkness arrived would these mutated monsters suddenly appear and attack all living creatures, including the abandoned people. They would use their blood to relieve the violent blood and desires in their bodies!

Every time this moment came, the abandoned people would choose to hide themselves and avoid the most difficult two days and two nights!

And there were actually less than three days left until the day of extreme darkness.

After walking for about three hours, they finally arrived at the bottom of a huge pit. In the rock formation that was exposed after the explosion, there was a cave entrance that was more than two meters wide. This was the place where the abandoned people lived.

In fact, there was more than one group of abandoned people in this huge pit. However, most of the time, they did not have much in-depth contact with each other except for simple communication.

Such an approach was naturally to ensure autonomy and not be used as cannon fodder by other races.

Fortunately, due to the scarcity of weapons, there were few fights between the abandoned people. Even if there were, it would only happen when they fought for garbage and seeds.

Perhaps it was the heavens "blessing, but there was a spring at the bottom of the pit. The abandoned people regarded it as their lives. In the matter of protecting the spring, they had a rare tacit understanding and were willing to fight a bloody battle with any plunderers!

They walked along the narrow passage and approached the open space in front of the cave. Soon, some women, old and young came out. They took the bags from the people and opened them with anticipation.

In their eyes, the trash seemed to be the most precious treasure, and they would occasionally attract a burst of exclamations.

"Look, this is half a sweet vegetable root and some seasoning. I can use it to make a pot of fresh soup!"

"These silk threads are not bad, they can be used to sew clothes."

haha, What's this? it looks pretty good. I have to study it!

"Buddy, I've finally gathered the necessary materials for the wind mirror that you've always wanted. There's a huge piece of plexiglass here!"

At the entrance of the cave, the abandoned people were surrounding the trash that had been thrown away by the citizens with faces full of joy!

Chapter 1204

1204 Wake up (1)

After looking through the harvest, everyone then shifted the topic to Tang Zhen, who had been brought back.

“Morris, did you bring back another person?”

perhaps after this person recovers from his injuries, we can satisfy Morris’s wish and give him a house full of food!

this person’s attire is not simple. Perhaps he is really an important person!

A few women in the crowd carefully sized up Tang Zhen and then said to Morris with a smile. Their tone had a trace of friendly teasing.

“Of course, I’m telling you, Yingluo.”

Hearing this, Morris was about to tell everyone about the previous thrilling encounter, but Uncle Jim interrupted him and said loudly to the crowd, “Let’s hurry up, everyone. After we’ve eaten, we’ll go outside to continue looking for food.

The day of extreme darkness is about to arrive, so we have to prepare enough food and water. At the same time, we also have to move some rocks to block the entrance of the cave!”

With just a few words, Uncle Jim had arranged everyone’s work, and everyone nodded at the same time. They were obviously used to his command.

Seeing that everyone was busy, Uncle Jim asked Morris to go to the waterhole to get some fresh spring water. Then, he put in a lot of effort to get Tang Zhen into the cave.

The light in the cave was very dim, and the ground was covered with a thin layer of hay. Although it looked very simple, it was very clean and there was not much smell.

After placing Tang Zhen in a corner of the cave, Uncle Jim heaved a long sigh of relief. Only then did he sit at the side and carefully observe.

In this world, Easterners were not rare. Even among the Wanderers, there were many who had Asian faces.

There were many similarities in parallel worlds, including the races they had. Therefore, Tang Zhen’s obvious Oriental face did not surprise Uncle Jim.

The only thing that made him feel strange was that Tang Zhen had revealed an extraordinary aspect and his strange attire.

The outermost robe looked to be of good quality, but it was now in tatters and disheveled, revealing the purple-gold armor engraved with complex runes inside, shining with a mysterious luster.

Uncle Jim swore that he had never seen such an exquisite armor before. It was definitely a precious work of art!

Although he did not know the exact Material of the purple gold battle armor, Uncle Jim was certain that it was made of some kind of metal. In this world that was extremely lacking in metal, it undoubtedly represented a huge amount of wealth!

As for its artistic value, no one would care at all.

I really don't know where this guy came from. He's actually wearing this kind of metal armor?"

Uncle Jim had seen similar equipment many years ago, and the owners of these equipment were the citizens from the floating city!

Their dressing and behavior had left a deep impression on Uncle Jim, so he had never forgotten them for many years.

However, compared to the purple-gold armor worn by Tang Zhen, the citizens' equipment was undoubtedly simpler. It was like the assembly line products of a factory. It was not as exquisite and beautiful as the purple-gold armor.

Therefore, when he discovered that Tang Zhen was wearing a set of armor, Uncle Jim thought that he was a citizen from heaven. However, he quickly denied this thought.

Those high and mighty citizens would never allow themselves to be in danger. Every time they landed on the ground, there would be many robot warriors protecting them. Moreover, there was no energy crystal implanted between Tang Zhen's brows.

The energy crystal embedded between the eyebrows was a unique symbol of the citizens, indicating the different levels of the citizens. It was said that it had a mysterious power that could make the citizens have a healthier and stronger body, and even have the opportunity to sense the mysterious power!

As for the source of this energy crystal, not only did the abandoned people not know, even the citizens did not know. They only knew that it was extremely precious.

A series of footsteps could be heard, and Morris' figure appeared from the cave entrance.

He was carrying a broken container as he carefully walked into the cave and slowly sent the clear water inside into Tang Zhen's mouth.

Clear water continuously dripped from the corner of Tang Zhen's mouth. Morris hurriedly wiped it clean and appeared to be in a flurry.

"Uncle Jim, don't you need to do something? he seems to be severely injured!"

Morris checked the wounds on Tang Zhen's body and asked Uncle Jim with a slightly worried tone.

"It's almost day of extreme darkness, so all the abandoned people choose to stay in their caves to avoid being attacked by the radioactive monsters. In such a short time, we can't find a doctor to help treat them!

So we can only help him bandage his wound and wait for him to recover. Other than that, we can't help at all!"

Uncle Jim shrugged his shoulders, indicating that there was nothing he could do.

Morris appeared to be very disappointed. However, he still slowly dripped the clear water from the container into Tang Zhen's mouth, until Tang Zhen's body slightly trembled.

“Cough, cough, thank you, Yingluo!”

Tang Zhen, who was leaning against the wall, suddenly opened his eyes. He glanced at Morris, who was feeding him water, and said with a hoarse voice.

Uncle Jim and Morris were startled. The two of them subconsciously took a few steps back and looked at Tang Zhen with vigilant eyes.

“Since you’ve brought me back, are you still afraid that I’ll harm you?”

Tang Zhen smiled. After which, he strenuously supported his body in an attempt to lie down in a more comfortable manner.

When Morris saw this, he quickly walked over and supported Tang Zhen’s arm with great difficulty, helping him lean against the stone wall in the corner.

“I feel much better now. Thank you, Morris!”

Tang Zhen smiled as he expressed his thanks. After which, he turned to look at Uncle Jim by the side and said in a faint tone, I know you’re suspicious of my background and are afraid that I’ll bring danger to you and your companions. You can rest assured that I won’t attack my life Savior!

Uncle Jim nodded. Although Tang Zhen had only made a verbal promise, it made him feel a trace of peace of mind.

“For the next period of time, I will stay here to recuperate. When my injuries are healed, I will leave. Do what you need to do, and there is no need to pay attention to me!”

After Tang Zhen said this to Uncle Jim, he turned to look at Morris.

“Thank you little brother, if it wasn’t for your persistence, I might have been torn to pieces by those miniature robots. Of course, it could also be them who were torn to pieces by me!

So, to thank you for your help, you can tell me about your dream. Maybe I can help you realize it!”

Tang Zhen had actually woken up a long time ago. However, due to his injuries being too serious, he did not have the mood to care about anything else. He only focused on healing the injuries on his body.

Fortunately, he had a lot of special medicine in his hand, which was extremely effective in treating injuries. At this time, he had recovered a lot, and there was no problem for him to protect himself or chat.

After continuous observation along the way, Tang Zhen had basically judged the situation of this world. Even if it was not a pure wasteland world, it was not far from it.

Of course, other than that, he knew almost nothing about this world.

...

As for his promise to Morris, it was not fake at all because he really intended to help the other party realize his wish. Moreover, Tang Zhen was very clear that for an abandoned person who had limited knowledge and struggled to survive all day long, most of their wishes were very practical.

With the means Tang Zhen possessed, he would definitely be able to easily satisfy the wish of his Savior.

Morris had always insisted on "picking up people". Now that he had accidentally picked up Tang Zhen, he had finally received the expected reward!

Chapter 1205

1205 Stop temporarily _1

Tang Zhen had never minded displaying his magical methods in front of outsiders to prove his strength. This would make them a little more honest.

Pretending to be a pig to eat a Tiger would only bring him a lot of trouble. He would not be like a person with a taunting Halo, looking for trouble all day long.

A vast amount of wealth would make people greedy, and a powerful strength would make people respect and fear. When the two were combined, they would produce a special effect that would make people subconsciously choose to obey.

At this moment, Tang Zhen's body had this kind of temperament. Under the influence of his spiritual energy, it could cause others to subconsciously have a good impression of him and choose to believe in him.

"Sir, you're saying you can fulfill my wish?"

Morris had an excited look on his face as he asked Tang Zhen. His face was full of apprehension.

He had been waiting for this day for a long time, and now that he had finally gotten what he wanted, he was naturally excited.

Uncle Jim stood at the side, but his expression didn't change much. He didn't doubt Tang Zhen's strength, but he didn't believe that Tang Zhen could satisfy Morris' wish.

To the abandoned people, the value of food was equivalent to gold, and Morris' dream was to have food that he could not finish eating in his lifetime. This was almost equivalent to a shocking treasure!

No one would give Morris such a valuable reward to repay his kindness. At least in this world, no one would do so!

"I want a lot of food, enough for Uncle Jim and the rest to eat for a long time. This way, we don't have to risk our lives to collect food!"

Morris did not ask for enough food to last him a lifetime, because he knew very well that it was unrealistic.

After hearing Morris' wish, Tang Zhen didn't have the slightest surprised expression. Instead, he revealed a faint smile.

When he entered this place just now, Tang Zhen had heard the women's laughter and conversation. From the content of these conversations, he knew about Morris' "habit of" picking people up," which was why he said those words just now.

A small price could make Morris abnormally excited. It could also pull the relationship between him and these natives closer. To the current Tang Zhen, there was absolutely no harm in this.

If someone had bad intentions because of this, Tang Zhen could guarantee that the other party would soon become a corpse!

He stretched out his hand and pointed forward. Then, under the shocked gazes of Morris and Uncle Jim, a large pile of food suddenly appeared in front of them, emitting an alluring aroma.

Even though they had never seen such exquisite and delicious food, the fragrance that made them drool could not be faked. Morris and Morris were sure that they were not hallucinating!

“Hahaha Yingluo has so much food, it’s enough for us to eat for a long time!”

Morris rushed to the pile of food and picked up a sausage from it. He placed it under his nose and took a deep breath, his face filled with an intoxicated expression!

Uncle Jim was in a daze for more than ten seconds. Only then did he withdraw his gaze from the pile of food and slowly turned his head to look at Tang Zhen. At this moment, his eyes were filled with shock and reverence. There was also a trace of fear that was deeply hidden.

No one would be able to remain calm after witnessing such a magical scene, especially for the abandoned people. This was a miracle!

Tang Zhen, who had used such a technique, was naturally no different from a God!

Originally, he still wanted to say something. However, after those words circled in his mind a few times, he did not say it in the end. He did not want to cause Tang Zhen to be unhappy.

After witnessing Tang Zhen’s mysterious means, Uncle Jim’s words and actions had already begun to become restrained.

On the other hand, the simple-minded Morris did not care about all these. He greedily sniffed the fragrance of every food and kept swallowing his saliva, but he resisted the urge to taste it.

From Morris’ point of view, every food here was extremely precious, so he should share it with his companions and not keep it for himself!

When the ecstasy in his heart subsided a little, Morris came back to his senses. He walked to Tang Zhen and bowed deeply.

thank you so much! With this food reserve, we won’t have to worry about hunger for a long time!

Facing the inexplicably excited Morris, Tang Zhen only smiled and waved his hand. He softly said, you guys better store this food and have a good meal. I need to rest too, understand? ”

Hearing this, Morris and Uncle Jim both nodded their heads, and then moved the food to the small cave at the side.

After they were done with all this, the two of them picked out two types of food. After bowing to Tang Zhen, they walked out of the cave and prepared to study how to cook it.

Tang Zhen only let out a long sigh of relief after the cave had finally quieted down. His face revealed a trace of a rejoicing expression.

In the following time, he would be regarded as a God by these natives, and he would no longer have to worry about being harassed. He could also focus on recuperating and counting his gains.

This trip to the myriad world mall was really thrilling. He had almost lost his life there.

Although he did not complete the cornerstone platform's mission, the additional rewards were extremely rich. In addition to the ransom paid by the blood-eyed sorcerer, he also brought back the private collection of the Super creature's brain!

In fact, Tang Zhen could not be sure if he had managed to do this. This was because there seemed to be nothing in that dimensional gap. Only the abnormal condition of his storage ring before he left allowed him to vaguely confirm that he had succeeded!

However, he couldn't take it out to check it yet, because any material that could be preserved in such a special environment would have a terrifying weight. Once it appeared, it would probably sink into the ground!

Of course, this was not a big problem for Tang Zhen. He could completely use his mental energy to control it and prevent it from falling into the ground right in front of his eyes.

The main reason was that the matter in that environment was always in a state of extreme compression. God knew if it would spread rapidly and cause an explosion the moment it appeared, completely blowing up the cave he was in.

At that time, the items stored in it would also be released with a "boom", filling the entire cave and even bursting!

With the scale of the myriad world mall, even if the Super biological brain kept a very small part of the resources, the amount would be absolutely terrifying. That was why it deliberately found such an environment to compress and store the resources to the limit, in case the other areas were not enough.

It was also because of all these reasons that Tang Zhen was unable to immediately check his spoils of war. Moreover, his current injuries did not allow him to do so.

As for the other thing that he needed to do immediately, it was to look for the plane coordinates of the loucheng world through his mobile phone so that he could return to Holy Dragon City or teleport the loucheng cultivators over.

The plane coordinates of the loucheng world were stored in his phone. As long as he connected it to this world, Tang Zhen would be able to freely return!

However, this process could be long or short. The only thing Tang Zhen could do was to wait patiently.

Other than these two things, Tang Zhen also discovered an extremely interesting situation. That was that this world was gradually declining. The destructive aura of death was already very obvious.

As a cultivator of Lou city, he had always been extremely sensitive to this kind of thing. Therefore, Tang Zhen noticed the abnormality at the first moment.

The only reason for this was that the world's origin had been damaged by the outside world, and it was still worsening!

However, to Tang Zhen, this was an opportunity to make a fortune!

Chapter 1206

1206 Days of waiting

After an unknown period of time, the aroma of cooked food wafted into the cave.

Morris 'thin figure appeared again, but he was holding a container in his hand, which contained food that had just been taken out of the pot.

Sir, you must be hungry. Hurry up and eat!

Morris sniffed the fragrance emitted by the food and tried his best not to drool. Then, he respectfully placed the food in front of Tang Zhen and carefully said.

"I have my own food. You should take it back and eat with the others."

He glanced at the food in the container. It was obvious that Morris had given him the best part. Unfortunately, the abandoned people's cooking skills were terrible. In addition, Tang Zhen really had no appetite now, so he smiled and declined Morris.

Sir, you're injured. You should eat quickly. We still have a lot. It's enough to fill everyone's stomachs!

When Morris saw that Tang Zhen didn't want to eat, he thought that Tang Zhen was worried about the lack of food, so he opened his mouth to persuade him.

This was actually a lie. Even though they had just obtained a large pile of food, the abandoned people still did not dare to waste it and only had a little more than usual.

After living a hard life, the abandoned people had learned to be calculative and would never eat and drink without restraint.

alright, stop trying to persuade me. You guys should hurry up and eat!

Tang Zhen waved his hand and asked Morris to bring the food out. He then closed his eyes to rest.

Outside the cave, waves of laughter could be heard from time to time. The delicious food and sufficient reserves made Morris and his companions exceptionally happy.

The abandoned people were filled with respect and gratitude towards Tang Zhen, who had brought them all this. They would definitely not enter the cave to disturb his rest if there was nothing to do.

In the next two days, Morris and the others no longer went out to search because they had enough food. Instead, they carried stones and soil with all their might and built a stone wall in front of the cave entrance.

As they had to go through the day of extreme darkness every year, these stones were gradually accumulated, and the abandoned people only needed to transport them over when they were in use.

There was no order to the arrangement of the stones. They were just randomly piled up. God knows if they would collapse when they were piled to the desired height.

Tang Zhen guessed that the reason why these abandoned people would spend so much effort to build a masonry once a year was because the stone walls they built were too loose. Therefore, they could only be used for an extremely short period of time.

Just as Morris and the rest were working hard, the other two groups of abandoned people on the opposite side of the pit were also doing the same work.

Seeing the reaction of Morris and the others, the neighbors were very curious. They did not know why they always had smiles on their faces.

Under normal circumstances, shouldn't they be frowning like him?

Especially in the past two days, from the place where Morris and the others lived, there was often an alluring aroma floating in the air. There was no need to guess to know that it was definitely food that they had never eaten before!

They lived next to each other, and their living conditions were similar. Even their sources of food were similar.

It was also for this reason that they were very curious. They did not know where Morris and the others had gotten this food from.

Perhaps they had an unexpected harvest on the garbage mountain, picking up food discarded by the citizens, but were missed out in the screening process.

This was the only reasonable explanation. Otherwise, it could only appear out of thin air!

The other two groups of abandoned people didn't know, but this seemingly absurd possibility was the closest to the truth!

In fact, the other two groups of abandoned people had long known about Tang Zhen's existence. However, they had long been used to this kind of thing because Morris "picking up people" had happened more than once.

Because of this, the two groups of abandoned people had even laughed at Morris many times, thinking that there was something wrong with their neighbor's head, to actually waste precious food for these strangers!

However, they had never dreamed that it was because of Morris "foolish" behavior that they had obtained enough food and could possibly change their fate!

In the blink of an eye, the day of extreme darkness arrived. Morris and the others had finally completed the last step of the work, which was to seal the cave entrance where they lived.

In order to prevent the mutated monsters from damaging the water source, the three groups of abandoned people even worked together to temporarily cover the location of the spring with stones. This way, even if the mutated monsters found it, they would not be able to dig the stones away in a short time.

Everything was ready. After the night passed, the people began to stay quietly in the cave, staring at each other in a daze.

The arrival of the day of extreme darkness meant that the sun would not rise today. There was almost no light outside, and it was all dark.

On such special days, the mutated monsters would go crazy at the same time. They would spread out from their territory, their whole body glowing with fluorescent light, and try to attack all normal creatures they encountered.

Because of the existence of these monsters, many of the living creatures that had survived were wiped out and completely disappeared from this world!

In a certain corner of the cave, Tang Zhen checked the progress of the search for the plane coordinates. After confirming that there was still no progress, he turned his head and looked at Jim and the others.

They were currently sitting in a circle, using the light from the fire to try to dismantle the damaged miniature robots into a pile of parts, and then pick out some parts to make weapons.

Although it was called a miniature robot, it was still 30 centimeters in size. However, because the assembly was extremely tight, the process of dismantling was quite difficult. In a short while, Uncle Jim and the others were already covered in sweat.

However, other than a severely damaged micro-robot that had been taken apart, the rest of the robots were still intact after being fiddled with for a long time!

Jim and the others were at their wits 'end, feeling as if they had no idea where to start.

"Morris, let me see it."

Hearing Tang Zhen's words, Morris immediately picked up a damaged micro-robot and carefully handed it to Tang Zhen.

When Uncle Jim and the others saw this, they also looked at Tang Zhen at the same time, hoping that he would help to open it.

Tang Zhen placed the miniature robot in his hand and carefully observed it. The corner of his mouth was gently raised.

He stretched out his finger and flicked it at a certain spot. Then, a soft sound was heard, and a screw-like object fell from the outer shell of the miniature robot.

Immediately after, Tang Zhen's palm gently trembled. The miniature robot that had caused Jim and the others to be helpless was directly turned into a pile of spare parts!

This scene caused Jim and the others to be dumbstruck. They looked at each other and picked up a miniature robot from the ground one after another. After that, they tried to disassemble it like Tang Zhen did.

you don't have to do this, because there's not much metal in it. Even if you take it all apart, you can only make a dagger!

Tang Zhen explained upon seeing this. However, Uncle Jim and the others merely smiled in a simple and honest manner before lowering their heads and continuing to study.

Morris, who was sitting on the side, explained in a low voice when he saw that Tang Zhen did not seem to understand this, " "Sir, among us, only Uncle Jim has a metal machete. The other people's weapons are almost all made of stone, so everyone hopes to have another one.

This way, whether it's snatching garbage or entering a Monster City to get seeds, I'll have more confidence!"

Tang Zhen nodded. In these two days, he already had a deeper understanding of this world. He also knew how difficult it was to obtain metals.

...

Even so, he did not give Morris and the others weapons directly. Perhaps he would give them a few in the future, but definitely not under such circumstances.

Compared to ordinary cold weapons, not only were the demonic weapons stored by Tang Zhen extremely valuable, but they also had special properties. In this world, they could definitely be called divine weapons!

Once the enemy knew about it and tried to snatch it, it would be equivalent to bringing disaster to Morris and the others. He had seen too many similar things, so Tang Zhen naturally would not do this!

However, it was not a problem to give them one or two ordinary cold weapons.

Chapter 1207

1207 Forging a blade (1)

After sizing up his surroundings, Tang Zhen extended his hand and beckoned. Soon after, a fist-sized brown rock landed in front of him.

Tang Zhen extended his hand and broke off a piece of rock. After forcefully rubbing it into powder, he gently shook his head.

Tang Zhen had already discovered these scattered iron ores and he believed that the abandoned people were also very familiar with them.

However, as they did not know about smelting techniques and lacked the inheritance of knowledge, the abandoned people did not even know that these ores could be extracted into wrought iron, which was definitely more than enough to be used to forge weapons!

The main reason why war would cause civilization to regress was because of the destruction of productivity and the loss of a large amount of knowledge!

what's so good about this broken stone? can it be turned into food? "

Morris saw Tang Zhen looking at the iron ore in his hand and felt very strange, but he didn't open his mouth to ask.

In these two days, Tang Zhen had asked them many questions and seemed to be very interested in many things.

What puzzled Morris was that there were many questions that were common knowledge that every abandoned person knew, but Tang Zhen seemed to not know and listened with great interest.

God knows where he used to live. How could he not know about these things?

Although Morris 'heart was filled with doubts, he could only watch his mouth because of Uncle Jim's warning to avoid Tang Zhen's dissatisfaction.

"Morris, do you want a metal weapon of your own?"

Tang Zhen tossed the iron ore in his hand a few times before turning his head and asking Morris with a smile.

"I want it, of course I want it!"

After hearing this, Morris "eyes immediately flickered. At the same time, he looked at Tang Zhen with an extremely expectant gaze, as if he was filled with desire.

Living in such a world, every boy yearned to have a metal weapon of their own. Unfortunately, for most people, this was just a wish that was destined to never be realized.

Unless they had enough courage and luck, they would not be able to obtain the materials from the monster City and create a weapon of their own!

When Uncle Jim and the others heard this, they kept looking at Tang Zhen while they were working. The abandoned people already had some understanding of his mysteriousness and strength over the past two days. They knew that he had a special ability that exceeded the imagination of ordinary people.

Since he had said that he would give Morris 'weapon as a gift, he would definitely be able to do it!

Their hearts were filled with envy towards Morris. At the same time, they were also filled with curiosity. Everyone was waiting for the moment Tang Zhen took out the weapon.

It was just that Tang Zhen did not conjure a weapon out of thin air as they had imagined. Instead, he handed the ore in his hand to Morris.

I need stones like this. If you want your weapon to be longer than Jim's, then try to collect as many as you can!

Morris took a glance at the iron ore and immediately jumped up from the ground. He ran to the entrance of the cave and started to search.

In the huge pit formed by the explosion, there were a lot of scattered iron ore. Morris had seen a lot of them before, but it was a pity that they were basically scattered outside. Before this, no one had paid much attention to them. At most, they were used as throwing weapons.

As for the iron ore in the cave, it was just that the abandoned people had accidentally brought it in and then left it in the corner.

Morris rummaged for a while before he returned with a pile of fine ores of different sizes in his clothes. He carefully placed them in front of Tang Zhen.

“Sir, this is the only thing in the cave. I’ve brought everything!”

At this point, Morris still showed a regretful expression and said in a somewhat unwilling tone, “There are a lot of such stones outside. If you had told me earlier, I could have definitely found a lot of them!”

this is enough. You can just stand aside and wait.

Tang Zhen’s voice had just sounded when he casually picked up a piece of iron ore and casually crushed it into powder.

Upon seeing this, everyone gasped. They naturally knew how hard these stones were and how difficult it was to crush them.

Uncle Jim’s heart was beating wildly. After witnessing Tang Zhen’s terrifying strength, he was even secretly rejoicing. Back then, he did not injure Tang Zhen with his knife in a moment of desperation. Otherwise, he might have already turned into a corpse.

Ignoring everyone’s shocked eyes, Tang Zhen crushed the iron ore in front of him one by one. Soon, a large pile of powder appeared in front of him.

Using his spiritual force to lift up the powder, Tang Zhen snapped his fingers and a ball of flame appeared out of thin air in the cave.

The ball of fire did not seem to emit any heat, but for some reason, Uncle Jim and the rest felt that it was extremely dangerous, as if it could easily burn people into ashes.

Under Tang Zhen’s control, this cluster of flame slowly approached the ore powder. After which, it completely wrapped around it.

Then, as if they were watching fireworks, sparks kept flying out, and the powder floating in the air quickly turned into an orange-red liquid.

Under normal circumstances, the extraction of iron ore would have been completed. However, for Tang Zhen, this was only the beginning.

The residue of the smelting fell to the ground, and the flames wrapped up the metal solution again, then continued to refine.

What Tang Zhen wanted was not high-purity iron because its texture was too soft. It was not suitable to be used to make weapons.

After the metal solution changed its color again, Tang Zhen took out a crystal from his storage space. He reached out and crushed it before throwing it into the flame.

&Nbsp; as the powder seeped into the liquid, the liquid’s color rapidly changed. There was even a faint light shining from within, making it look like a transparent pearl.

Tang Zhen ignored the metallic liquid suspended in the air. He extended his hand and wiped it on the rock on the ground. Immediately, the ground became as smooth as a tile.

The abandoned people who were already dumbstruck felt their hearts convulse when they saw this. They subconsciously touched the Rocky ground beneath them.

In a cloud of dust, a simple mold appeared on the ground. It had the shape of a battle sword, and it looked very ordinary.

He controlled the metal solution to fall into it. After it was completely filled, a battle sword was completely formed!

Due to the limited conditions, Tang Zhen had chosen the forging method. Moreover, after he had refined it with his special technique, the elements within the battle blade had been arranged in an extremely even manner. It wasn't inferior to the forging blade in the slightest.

Even compared to powdered steel, it was not much worse!

Moreover, Tang Zhen had added special materials from the loucheng world into the metal solution, which greatly increased the toughness and elasticity of the battle blade. The sharpness of the blade had also been greatly improved.

No matter how one looked at it, this was a treasured saber that could cut through iron like mud!

Morris had been watching Tang Zhen's forging process without blinking. When the battle blade gradually cooled down in the mold, he couldn't wait to immediately rush forward and admire it.

Uncle Jim and the others also recovered from the shock. Their eyes were also filled with anticipation, wanting to see how sharp the weapon was.

Tang Zhen didn't let everyone wait for too long. As a ball of cold air wrapped around the battle saber, the temperature of the metal's surface rapidly dropped. He then extended his hand and took the battle saber out of the mold.

...

To be honest, the appearance of this saber was really not flattering. If it was not for its obvious shape, outsiders would probably think that it was an iron plate!

The Battle Sword was slender and the handle and the blade were one. Tang Zhen asked Uncle Jim for a piece of cloth and simply wrapped the handle before casually throwing it to Morris.

"From now on, it belongs to you!"

Morris, who had received the Battle Sword, was extremely excited. He did not care about its ugly appearance at all, and his expression was one of adoration.

In fact, the blade that Uncle Jim regarded as his life was even uglier. It was merely polished from a piece of iron. On the other hand, the blade that Tang Zhen forged out of boredom was much stronger in terms of both quality and shape.

The other abandoned people's greedy and envious expressions also illustrated this point!

Just as everyone gathered together and touched the saber as if it were a treasure, a scream suddenly came from outside the cave that was blocked by rocks.

When Uncle Jim and the others heard the sound, their expressions changed. They looked at the entrance of the cave in unison, looking very nervous.

Chapter 1208

1208 Choice (1)

“Morris, what’s going on?”

Tang Zhen looked at the similarly nervous Morris and asked with a slightly serious tone.

Hearing this, Morris hurriedly explained.

Sir, our neighbor has been attacked by mutated monsters. She might be in a very dangerous situation!

When he said this, Morris ‘tone clearly had a hint of worry.

When the day of extreme darkness arrived, the world was pitch black, and it was impossible to see anything with the naked eye.

However, in such a special environment, the mutated monsters seemed to be unaffected. They moved around in the dark like the wind, trying to destroy all normal living creatures, and the abandoned people were the first to bear the brunt.

In order to prevent being targeted by the monsters during the day of extreme darkness, the abandoned people would carefully hide their caves and do their best to get rid of any traces left behind by their daily activities. It was never too much to be careful.

The group of abandoned people opposite them must have done the same, but something went wrong and they were targeted by the mutated monsters. Their lives were in danger!

The seemingly solid stone wall would not be able to hold on for long against the radiation monsters in their berserk state. Once they were forced into the cave, the final outcome would definitely be very tragic!

“What should we do? should we help them?”

An abandoned person asked, but he was immediately met with strong opposition from his companions.

“How can we help? Once we go out, it’s very likely that we’ll attract the radiation monsters. At that time, not only will they not survive, but we won’t be able to escape either!”

then what should we do? are we just going to watch them die? ”

“What else can we do? don’t tell me that we have to sacrifice our lives to save someone who’s going to die?”

“But, aiyaya!”

The dispute came to an end in a very short time. Although they couldn’t bear it, no one could save an outsider they were not very close to when they were risking their own and their companions ‘lives.

If he really made such a choice, it was definitely not heroic, but selfish and irresponsible!

Therefore, despite the screams and cries for help outside, mixed with the roars of the radioactive monsters, Uncle Jim and the others in the cave could only sigh and could not provide any help.

Tang Zhen turned his head and looked in the direction of the cave entrance. His calm eyes contained a trace of coldness. This was because the life and death of the group of abandoned people outside had nothing to do with him.

However, no one had expected that Tang Zhen would stand out in this kind of situation where it had nothing to do with him.

Morris, do you have the heart to see your neighbors die? ”

Tang Zhen suddenly turned his head to look at Morris, who was holding his battle blade and trembling slightly, and asked in a faint tone.

Sir, I actually really want to help them, but that might cause Uncle Jim and the others to lose their lives. So, I know what I should do.

Morris hesitated for a moment and whispered to Tang Zhen.

you know what to do? do you think that standing by is the right choice? ” then can you guarantee that these monsters won't turn around to deal with you after killing your neighbors? ”

Hearing this, Morris was stunned. He frowned and said in an uncertain tone, ” I don't think so. We've cleaned up the traces very well. The radioactive monsters shouldn't be able to find Yingluo.

“Didn't your neighbors do this? and according to my observation, they were even more careful than you in this aspect. But what was the result?

That's why you're all just hoping that the radioactive monsters won't discover you. This is equivalent to gambling with your lives!”

Tang Zhen's tone was very calm. It even carried a trace of coldness and ruthlessness, causing the expressions of Uncle Jim and the others to change slightly.

“Teacher, what are you trying to say?”

As the leader of this group of abandoned people, Uncle Jim was undoubtedly the most nervous person present. After hearing Tang Zhen's words, he finally could not help but open his mouth and ask.

“What I mean is, instead of waiting for death, it's better to rush out and kill the monster!

Not only would you be helping others, but you would also be helping yourself. Why not?”

of course, this has nothing to do with kindness. It's just a more effective way of self-protection in special circumstances. Sometimes, it's better to take the initiative to attack than to wait for fate's judgment!

Uncle Jim could not help but smile bitterly when he heard that. “Sir, what you said is not unreasonable, but the problem is that we don't have the strength to do so. If we go out rashly, we'll be courting death!

“We chose to watch from the side because we had no choice. Otherwise, who would let the radioactive monsters wreak havoc?”

When the other abandoned people heard this, they also sighed in unison.

Tang Zhen slightly nodded. He looked at Uncle Jim and said, “I understand how you feel, so you need to make a choice next. Either I take you to save the neighbors and kill the radiation monsters, or we sit here and bet that the radiation monsters will let you go.

However, if that happens, it is very likely that I will not help, because the only person I can help is Morris. As for you people, in my opinion, you are no different from the neighbors!”

Uncle Jim’s heart could not help but skip a beat when he heard this sentence. He did not have the courage to question Tang Zhen why he was forcing them to make a choice. Under normal circumstances, this was no different from courting death!

Tang Zhen was right. The possibility of them being attacked by the monster was indeed only 50%. If the monster did not target them, everything would be fine. At most, they would have lost a group of neighbors.

However, if the monster turned around to attack them, the only result would be death!

However, due to Tang Zhen’s existence, the abandoned people now had an additional choice. That was to follow him to rescue their neighbors. At the same time, they had to kill all the radiation monsters that they were afraid of!

Although they didn’t know why Tang Zhen forced them to make such a difficult choice, the thought of killing the radiation monsters after throwing away the concerns in their hearts caused their blood to boil!

Uncle Jim naturally did not doubt Tang Zhen’s strength. Since he dared to say such words, it also meant that he had the confidence to retreat in one piece.

“Uncle Jim, I think we should give it a try since we have Sir’s help!”

Morris waved the Battle Sword in his hand and said to Uncle Jim. There was still a trace of anticipation and fighting spirit in his eyes.

“So, what’s your decision?”

Tang Zhen looked at Uncle Jim with a smile that was not a smile as he asked in a calm voice.

Sir, why are you doing this? this is really making things difficult for me!

Uncle Jim shook his head slightly. After standing up from the ground, he slowly pulled out his blade that was polished with iron sheets.

...

After scanning his surroundings, Uncle Jim finally looked at Tang Zhen. He clenched his teeth and said, Morris and I have weapons in our hands, we can go out with you. As for the stone weapons in the hands of the others, they can't penetrate the tough skin of the radioactive monsters, so it's best to stay in the cave!

Hearing this, Morris stood up from the ground with excitement. He turned around and ran towards the entrance of the cave, trying to move the rocks blocking the door.

When the other abandoned people saw this, they also expressed that they wanted to go out and help deal with the radioactive monsters. However, they were sternly rejected by Uncle Jim.

If he and Morris went out, even if they could not kill the radioactive monsters, they would be able to retreat safely under Tang Zhen's protection. However, if everyone went out and a dangerous situation occurred, he would not be able to come to the rescue at all.

"Since we've already made up our minds, let's go out now. I hope we still have time!"

Tang Zhen slowly stood up and walked to the front of the cave. With a wave of his hand, he moved the rocks at the entrance of the cave.

A world as dark as ink appeared in front of everyone. It was like a bottomless abyss that could swallow people at any time.

Looking at the pitch-black darkness outside the cave, the abandoned people subconsciously took two steps back with nervous expressions.

The fear of the day of extreme darkness had been deeply rooted in their hearts since they were young. All kinds of terrifying legends related to darkness had also made them never have the courage to step out of their hiding place during the day of extreme darkness.

Chapter 1209

1209 The abnormality of the sun of extreme darkness

As the stone was removed, the howls of the radioactive monsters became clearer. It was as if they were very close to them. As long as they walked into the darkness, they would bump into the radioactive monsters and be gnawed to the point that not even their bones were left!

Morris and Uncle Jim were both nervous and excited. They held the weapons in their hands tightly and looked at Tang Zhen who was standing at the entrance of the cave.

"Let's go out. Remember to follow me closely!" He said.

Tang Zhen smiled and waved his hand. He was the first to walk out of the cave and his figure was immediately swallowed by the darkness.

Seeing this, Morris and Molis quickly followed. At the same time, they instructed their companions to seal the entrance of the cave immediately to prevent the radioactive monsters from taking the opportunity to rush in.

When the two of them entered the night, they were just about to search for Tang Zhen's location when they discovered a shimmering figure in front of them. The figure was slowly walking towards the cave where their neighbor was.

The two of them only needed a glance to confirm that this back was definitely Tang Zhen. It was just that they did not know why he was able to emit light in the darkness.

However, after witnessing Tang Zhen's mysterious methods, the two of them were no longer surprised. Without any hesitation, they immediately staggered and gave chase.

In such a special environment, the faint light emitted by Tang Zhen was the best guide for the two of them!

At this moment, the two of them also saw the radioactive monsters in front of them. Their bodies were shimmering with spots of light, and they were jumping and roaring in front of their neighbor's cave.

This light spot was actually a special phenomenon that would only appear when the world Energy had reached a certain level. Any living creature that had gathered World Energy in their body would have their body glow.

Morris and his companion were completely unaware of this. They only looked around nervously, their ears perked up high to prevent the radioactive monsters from taking the opportunity to attack.

Although it was too dark to see the surroundings clearly, Jim and his partner were certain that their neighbor had not met with any mishaps, which made them feel slightly relieved.

As Tang Zhen's group approached, the radioactive monsters immediately sensed it. After being silent for a few seconds, they began to slowly approach Tang Zhen's group.

Looking at the oncoming radiation monsters, Morris and Elin immediately held their weapons tightly, waiting for the best time to attack.

you guys might need some light to see the traces of the radioactive monsters!

Tang Zhen's voice came from the darkness. Soon after, two light balls suddenly appeared and enveloped Morris and Uncle Jim.

The two of them were stunned at first, then they looked surprised and looked up curiously.

The floating light ball's illumination range reached more than 50 meters, completely dispelling the surrounding darkness. The two of them were in the center of the light source, so they could see everything within the illumination range clearly.

As for Tang Zhen himself, he was still in the darkness. Just as the two of them were secretly worried, another light ball suddenly appeared.

Tang Zhen's figure appeared in the field of vision of the two. However, he was currently standing in front in a very casual manner. His eyes were staring at the dark region in front of him.

The monster that had been howling non-stop suddenly became silent, as if it had left.

However, Uncle Jim and Morris were very clear that the radiation monsters were not really far away. Instead, they stopped in a position where the light could not reach, and stared at them fiercely.

The monster wouldn't wait too long and would probably attack soon.

“Owwuuu!”

As expected, after a mournful roar sounded, numerous figures rushed out from the darkness and headed straight for Tang Zhen’s group.

Under the illumination of the light source, Morris could clearly see these radioactive monsters that usually only moved in certain areas. They looked very similar to humans, but their bodies were hunched, looking like swollen and rotten living corpses.

Compared to the size of a normal person, the radioactive monster was at least twice as large!

Other than that, there were also some monsters that were probably mutated animals. However, their bodies were covered in bone spur mucus, which made them look unusually ferocious.

As the radiation monsters began to attack, the light balls above Morris and Morris suddenly flickered. The light became extremely dazzling. As long as one was in the middle of it, their vision would be greatly disturbed, and then they would feel dizzy and even lose their sight!

The eyes of the attacking monsters were damaged and they kept wailing. The attacking formation became chaotic.

Morris and his partner, who were under the light ball, were instead shrouded in darkness. This allowed them to clearly see the enemy’s movements, but they themselves were not affected by the flash at all.

With the assistance of the light ball, Morris and eliard were overjoyed. They immediately waved the weapons in their hands and ruthlessly slashed at the incoming radiation monsters.

The sound of sharp blades cutting through the air could be heard. The radioactive monsters fell to the ground one after another under the attacks of the two people. Their stinky blood scattered everywhere!

However, when comparing the two, Morris ‘killing efficiency was still higher. Almost none of the radioactive monsters that were attacked by him had a complete body. Even their hard bones were easily broken by the sharp battle sword!

As for Uncle Jim’s blade, it had already started to bend, and the blade was also deformed by the huge impact.

After giving Morris an envious look, Uncle Jim took out a stone battleaxe from his waist and slashed at the radioactive monster with the saber in his hand, letting out a loud roar from time to time.

Due to Tang Zhen’s help, the battle between the two of them appeared to be very easy. After confirming that the radioactive monster was not as terrifying as they had imagined, the confidence in their hearts grew.

As for Tang Zhen himself, he was currently carefully observing those radiation monsters with a pondering expression.

Previously, he had taken the initiative to come outside because when the day of extreme darkness arrived, the world Energy outside would suddenly begin to surge. This situation was clearly not right.

In addition, he could vaguely sense a familiar aura from these radioactive monsters. They were actually somewhat similar to the monsters in the world of the building!

In the bodies of these monsters, there was a special energy. The difference was in the strength and purity.

Compared to the monsters in the world of loucheng, the radioactive monsters in this world could only be considered semi-finished products. Although there was energy gathering in their bodies, they did not condense at all, forming high-energy crystals similar to brain pearls.

Tang Zhen had a guess. Once the radiation monsters formed this kind of energy crystal within their bodies, the natives of this world would also embark on the path of cultivation!

According to the data he had collected, the more complete the world was, the less likely monsters and cultivators would appear.

For example, the environment of the original world was not suitable for the existence of monsters and cultivators. Because the world's origin had not suffered too much damage, the energy of heaven and earth would be concentrated and stored to ensure the continuous development of this world.

The origin of a world was the basic power for a world to operate. The more complete the origin of a world was, the more living creatures and plants it would have!

On the contrary, after the world's origin source was destroyed and was not artificially obtained in large quantities, the overflowing natural energy would give birth to all kinds of monsters, and cultivators would be born!

Therefore, the emergence of the cultivation era was not a good thing. It was even very likely to be the beginning of the world's destruction!

When this situation reached a certain level, the world's principal will would awaken and then cultivate a son of destiny with great destiny in order to suppress all the chaos and finally bring peace to the world.

In such a stable environment, the world's origin would gradually recover, the heaven and earth energy would gradually disappear, and the Dharma ending era would descend once more!

Tang Zhen's world was currently in the early stages of this cultivation era. Under the influence of the overflowing energy from the world's origin source, the most elementary monsters had already appeared.

Even this special day of extreme darkness was closely related to the influence of the world's principal will. Perhaps it was using this special environment filled with heaven and earth energy to accelerate the growth of monsters!

...

As for whether there were already natives who could cultivate, the information he had was not complete, so he could not be sure for the time being!

Tang Zhen's goal had already been achieved after he figured out the cause of these monsters. As such, there was no need for him to hold back!

Chapter 1210

1210 Fragile monster (1)

Following the sound of a gunshot, Tang Zhen suddenly launched an attack.

Although the wounds on his body had yet to heal, it was more than enough to deal with a group of beginner-level monsters. In fact, he only needed to think about it and he could kill all the mutated monsters!

However, since there was an even more convenient method, Tang Zhen would naturally not waste any more energy. Therefore, he simply took out a gun from his storage space and directly shot at the radioactive monster.

As the rapid gunshots rang out, the dense bullets easily tore through the tough skin of the radioactive monsters, causing them to fall to the ground in screams.

However, most of the radioactive monsters were directly torn to pieces!

Tang Zhen used a special grapeshot grenade, also known as an air bomb. It was an improved version developed by the Holy Dragon City.

It could explode in the air after approaching the target. The violent shock wave and the flying fine steel balls had a lethality several times higher than ordinary bullets!

Once hit by such a bullet, the body would be like a torn rag doll. The situation of the minced flesh and internal organs flying in the air could be said to be as tragic as it could be!

This seemingly inhumane weapon was actually originally developed to deal with a large number of low-level monsters. After it was fired by weapons such as close-range artillery, it could definitely form a tide of death in an instant!

As their strength continued to increase, the Holy Dragon city's research on weapons to kill monsters had become more concise and efficient.

As for the light submachine gun that Tang Zhen was using, it was equipped with a modified miniature grapeshot grenade. Its power was slightly inferior to the ammunition used for defense. However, its advantage was that it was convenient to carry around and its destructive power was also not ordinary.

His weapon was only an experimental version. Since he was indirectly involved in the research and development work, he naturally had one with him.

In just an instant, the radioactive monsters surrounding Tang Zhen fell to the ground one after another. They kept screaming and screaming on the ground. Some of them even dragged their broken bodies and tried to escape from the area.

The radiation monsters that caused the abandoned people's expressions to change when they talked about them now seemed so fragile!

For the Aborigines who lacked sophisticated weapons and equipment, the radioactive monsters were absolutely invincible. Their tough skin was difficult to cut through even with ordinary iron. As for the rough stone tools, they could not cause much damage to them at all.

However, the moment they encountered weapons that were similar to firearms, the advantage of the radioactive monsters' physical defense would be completely gone. They could only be slaughtered!

Compared to the monsters in the world of the building that had been specially trained, the strength of these radioactive monsters was still too weak!

The battle not far away had already stopped. Morris and Uncle Jim looked at the scene that had just happened in a daze, their faces full of horror.

"Heavens, what kind of weapon is this!"

Morris muttered to himself. He had never seen such a terrifying weapon before. In just a few breaths, the monsters that the abandoned people had avoided like the plague were all blown into pieces.

Perhaps the Aborigines of this world also had similar powerful weapons in their hands, but they were definitely not something that ordinary people could come into contact with. At least, Morris and Uncle Jim had never seen such a form of attack before, which was why they were so shocked!

"Pa da!"

The special disposable magazine fell to the ground. Tang Zhen pushed a new magazine and coldly swept his gaze around. After which, he raised his gun and pointed it at Morris, who was still in a daze.

"Sir, what are you doing?"

After witnessing the terrifying might of a gun, Uncle Jim was filled with fear towards this kind of weapon. At this moment, when he saw Tang Zhen actually pointing the muzzle at Morris, he immediately turned pale with fright and roared. At the same time, he subconsciously blocked in front of Morris.

However, just as he lifted his foot, Tang Zhen had already pulled the trigger, and the crisp sound of a gunshot followed.

Hearing the gunshot, Uncle Jim was immediately stunned on the spot, and his mind went blank.

He had never thought that Tang Zhen would actually shoot Morris. What was the reason for this?

However, what puzzled him was that Morris was not like those monsters who were torn to pieces by the shock wave of the grapeshot grenade. He had not even recovered from the shock.

On the contrary, a shrill roar suddenly came from behind him, and then a translucent figure staggered and fell to the ground, covered in terrible wounds.

Morris was shocked. After he recovered from his shock, he immediately realized that Tang Zhen had only fired the shot to save him.

If this transparent monster really managed to get behind him, then Morris would not be able to escape death!

in the future, when you fight, you must remember one thing. That is, you must not just rely on your eyes to observe the enemy. You must also listen and sense. Otherwise, you may lose your life because of a little negligence!

After saying this, Tang Zhen ignored Morris, who didn't seem to understand, and Uncle Jim, whose face was filled with shame. He continued to walk towards the cave where another group of abandoned people lived.

Seeing this, Uncle Jim and Morris quickly followed.

As the three of them moved forward at the same time, a moving light source illuminated the dark area, and soon the cave where the neighbor lived appeared in front of them.

However, at the entrance of the cave, there were a few dead radioactive monsters lying there. However, there were more bodies of abandoned people. They had been torn into a bloody mess, and there were pools of blood and broken limbs everywhere.

let's go in and take a look. If there are still people who are lucky enough to survive, we'll bring them back to where we live!

Tang Zhen spoke indifferently. After which, he turned around and looked at the sky above his head.

Uncle Jim and Morris agreed, then walked to the hole that had been dug open with a serious expression. They put their weapons in front of them and went in with their backs bent. It did not take long for the two of them to come out again, followed by two women and a few young children.

Seeing their dead companions, the woman and the children immediately burst into tears.

They were the only survivors of the abandoned people. When they were attacked by the radioactive monsters, they had hidden in the small cave where they stored food. They were then sealed by their companions with stones and managed to escape the attack of the radioactive monsters.

Fortunately, Tang Zhen's group of three had arrived in time. Otherwise, they would have been unable to escape death!

Morris, you take them back first. Uncle Jim and I will deal with the bodies. Otherwise, the smell of blood will attract more radioactive monsters!

Morris agreed and led the survivors back to his cave. At this time, his back with his sword in hand was enough to give the survivors a sense of security.

After waiting for Morris to leave, Tang Zhen waved his hand. Immediately after, flames the size of candlelight appeared. Like dancing spirits in the night, they landed on the corpses of the abandoned people and monsters that had died in battle.

"BOOM!"

With a series of muffled sounds, the walnut-sized flames suddenly exploded, burning all the corpses to ashes.

"Jim, do you know what those shiny things in the sky are?"

Tang Zhen extended his hand and pointed at the few bright spots in the sky as he asked with a doubtful tone.

Uncle Jim turned his head to look at the sky, but he could not see anything because of the light ball.

After the ball of light was extinguished, he looked up at the sky and explained, " the bright spots are the floating cities where the citizens live. Of course, I've only heard about it from others. I'm not sure whether it's true or not!

A cold smile surfaced on the corner of Tang Zhen's mouth. He used an indifferent tone to speak, in a collapsed world, anything can happen. I just don't know if these floating cities can really bring permanent safety to those citizens.

...

Uncle Jim didn't know what Tang Zhen's words meant. Therefore, he only laughed dryly and didn't reply.

However, he didn't know that for a city Lord like Lou, once he said such words, it meant that a war might happen soon!