

Alternate 1231

Chapter 1231

1231 Morris "love tragedy (1)

Little Jue was immediately stunned after hearing Tang Zhen's words. His face revealed an expression of disbelief.

you want to kill all the citizens? what's the purpose of this? "

Little Xi no longer had the time to distinguish whether Tang Zhen's words were true or false. She only knew that with the magical ability he had just displayed, if he were to deliberately go against the citizens, he would definitely bring unimaginable losses to the floating city!

Little Xi understood that she had no way to retreat now. Therefore, she no longer tried to escape. Instead, she sternly asked Tang Zhen.

Tang Zhen's expression did not change in the face of little Xi's questioning. He merely used an indifferent tone to reply, actually, there's no specific reason. Perhaps I don't like the way you do things, or perhaps you have something you shouldn't have, which brought you trouble!

Little Xi revealed a suspicious look when she heard this and asked, " "This is the reason?"

"I've already said that there's no specific reason. If you have to find one, then you can put it on me. Because as long as I go to a world, it's destined to set off a bloody storm!

Since the floating city has taken control of this world, it is naturally my enemy. I never like to hold back against my enemies!"

Tang Zhen gave little Xi an answer. It seemed laughable and perfunctory, but it was also an indisputable fact.

As a cultivator of a city and the owner of a powerful city, his life had been tied to war and plunder. Before he fell, the flames of war would burn wherever he stepped!

This was the fate of the cultivators in loucheng, and also a terrifying curse. They would either burn their enemies with the flames of war or set themselves on fire!

this is ridiculous. It's definitely not the real reason. You're just trying to scare me, right? " alright, we've delayed for so long. I believe your companions are already nearby, so our conversation ends here!

Xi took a deep breath and calmed herself down. She shook her head again.

Tang Zhen no longer paid attention to the guilty-looking little Xi. Instead, he spoke to the unusually silent Morris,"Her life and death are in your hands. I hope you can make a decision on how to deal with this woman.

No matter what decision you make, I won't have any objections!"

"Sir, I don't know Yingluo."

Morris didn't expect Tang Zhen to target him again and then force him to make a painful choice.

If he continued to keep little Xi as a hostage, it would indeed increase the safety of him and his companions. As long as Tang Zhen's seal was present, little Xi could forget about escaping from their control!

But if that was the case, Xi's situation would become extremely dangerous. Once a battle broke out, she was likely to be the first to be dealt with!

Morris could not bear to see the woman who had made his heart race die.

However, if they chose to let her go, it would be equivalent to putting their companions in danger. Without Xiao Xi as a hostage, the enemy would attack them without any hesitation!

As for how to choose, Morris did not know what to do for a moment, and his heart was in pain.

"Morris, you're different from them, right?"

Little Xi knew that her fate was in Morris' hands, so when she heard Tang Zhen asking her to make a choice, she knew that this was her only chance to escape.

Although she didn't know the relationship between Tang Zhen and Morris, little Xi was very sure that if Morris decided to let her go, the other party would definitely not refuse!

She spoke at this moment to let Morris make a decision that was beneficial to her, so that she could get out of this dangerous situation as soon as possible.

Morris pursed his lips when he saw Xi looking at him with a smile and a look of anticipation. A touch of determination gradually appeared in his eyes.

Morris turned his head to look at Tang Zhen. He bowed deeply and then slowly straightened his body.

"Sir, although I don't understand your intentions, I'm sure you don't have any intention to harm me.

Perhaps it's just as you said, this is to help me and my companions get rid of our tragic fate and live a good life that we never dared to think of before!

It's a pity that I'm just an abandoned person without much knowledge or ambition. The things you've mentioned are too far away from me, so far away that I feel extremely hesitant just thinking about it."

Taking a deep breath, Morris looked at Tang Zhen, who was standing in front of him with his hands behind his back. He clenched his teeth and said, whether you're happy or not, I've decided to let this woman go!

Tang Zhen expressionlessly nodded. Little Xi, who was not far away, was secretly happy in her heart. At the same time, the gaze she used to look at Morris became increasingly gentle, as if it was filled with affection.

She knew that this expression of hers was very powerful and would definitely make this abandoned child more determined in his decision.

I'm sorry, Uncle Jim, and the other uncles. Please allow me to be willful for once.

Morris glanced at Uncle Jim and his other companions with an apologetic look, then turned to look at dawn and said with a bitter smile, "I'm actually very clear in my heart how big the gap between you and me is. I don't have the right to like you at all.

that's why I suddenly hate the floating city and its citizens. It's because of their existence that I had to struggle for survival since I was young. One day, I died of illness and hunger, buried in a corner no one knew about!

I don't want to repeat my parents' fate, and I don't want to experience the torture of wanting to love but not daring to love again, because it makes my heart feel extremely painful."

Morris gently raised one of his hands and slowly pressed it between his eyebrows. At the same time, little Xi only felt a heat in her palm. The confinement runes set by Tang Zhen began to slowly disappear.

"Thank you for your appearance, and for letting me finally understand what I want. I also hope that you can remember my name. If one day, I am constantly mentioned by people, or even looked up to in fear, you will definitely have a part to play in this!

If you can no longer hear any news about me or know that I'm already dead, don't ever forget that there was an abandoned child who fell in love with you at first sight and even gave up his life for you!"

As Morris' voice fell, the rune in little Xi's palm completely disappeared, and Morris himself swayed a few times before suddenly falling to the ground.

"Sir, I'm sorry to have disappointed you!"

Morris' face was pale. He smiled at Tang Zhen and fainted because of the loss of his spiritual force.

"No, I'm actually very happy, because you finally know what you want to do!"

Tang Zhen waved his hand with a smile on his face. Morris' body floated up from the ground and landed in front of Uncle Jim and the others.

even if you leave the monster City now, you can't escape the citizens' encirclement, so I suggest you enter the building where you found the mutant plant and wait for my notice before you leave.

Uncle Jim seemed to have been mentally prepared for this long ago. Now, he was even more obedient to Tang Zhen's orders. When he heard Tang Zhen asking them to hide in the metal building, he immediately carried the unconscious Morris.

"Sir, please take care. I'll be leaving first!"

Uncle Jim was clear in his heart that Tang Zhen would definitely not give up on them. Instead, he would stay behind and deal with the enemy alone.

After bowing to Tang Zhen, Uncle Jim was just about to turn around and leave when he suddenly heard a deep voice suddenly ring out from not far away.

stop right there! None of you can leave today!

...

Chapter 1232

1232 Probing and opening of the passageway

Uncle Jim, who had turned around to leave, froze. He slowly turned his head back and carried Morris on his back.

At this moment, Tang Zhen was expressionless as he looked ahead. He did not seem to be surprised by the sudden appearance of the enemy.

As this low and cold voice sounded, many figures in black wind coats quickly appeared behind the surrounding metal buildings. They surrounded Tang Zhen's group from all directions.

An ice-cold muzzle was pointed at Tang Zhen and the others. This kind of special gun used telekinesis to assist in shooting. It could fire a special wire-controlled bullet. Within a distance of fifty meters, the speed could be controlled at will. Even if it was an arc shot, it would be effortless.

Once one was locked on by such a high-precision gun, it was almost impossible to escape because the bullet would follow the shooter's line of sight!

When Uncle Jim and the others saw this, they immediately raised their crossbows and aimed at one Man in Black each.

Although the enemy's numbers far exceeded theirs, Uncle Jim and the others were mentally prepared, so they were not afraid at all.

When little Xi saw that the reinforcements had finally arrived, she immediately took a few steps back and hid behind the Man in Black, with an expression of having just survived a disaster.

However, when she looked at the unconscious Morris, a complicated look appeared in her eyes, but it disappeared very quickly, and her expression returned to the indifference when they first met.

"How dare you! Do you know that kidnapping a citizen is enough to kill you several times over?"

The voice that had just sounded appeared again, and a few figures emerged from the crowd. The one in the lead was the judge of the black-clothed law enforcement team!

He looked at Uncle Jim and the others with a cold gaze, which seemed to be filled with disdain. His gaze lingered on the crossbow for a few seconds, and a sneer suddenly appeared at the corner of his mouth.

"From the craftsmanship of these weapons, it's obvious that they've exceeded the abandoned people's processing capabilities. Even the floating city can only be barely made!

These exquisite weapons must be gifts from someone, am I right?"

Uncle Jim and the rest obviously wouldn't answer the judge's question, and the judge himself knew it very well, so he continued, "Privately possessing prohibited weapons is an additional crime. So, if there are no accidents, you're already dead!"

After asking this question, the judge turned his head and looked at Tang Zhen. His stiff face revealed a warm smile, but it made people feel very uncomfortable.

nice to meet you. Let me introduce myself. I'm judge, the highest-ranking commander of the black-clad law enforcement team in floating city. May I know your name? "

Tang Zhen looked at the judge in front of him and replied in an indifferent manner, "You can call me Tang Zhen."

"So it's Sir Tang Zhen. May I ask if the weapons held by these abandoned people were a gift from you?"

"Yes." Tang Zhen nodded.

"In that case, you've already violated the laws of the floating city. In addition, you've participated in the kidnapping of a citizen and may have used psychic powers to steal all of a citizen's memories. Therefore, you must be arrested for trial!"

Tang Zhen coldly laughed when he heard this. He used a disdainful tone and said, the abandoned people can't enjoy any of the benefits of floating city, yet they have to abide by the laws of floating city. This is really a laughable matter.

The judge's expression did not change. He said in a very serious tone, " "You're wrong. If it weren't for the floating city's protection, these abandoned people might have starved to death or been eaten by the radiation monsters!

They've enjoyed plenty of benefits, so they naturally have to abide by the laws of the floating city!"

Tang Zhen could only reply with a cold smile in the face of the judge's words.

"If you think giving trash is a kind of benefit, I have nothing to say. But I think you already know my origin and that I don't belong to this world!

I've never enjoyed your 'welfare', so naturally, I don't have to follow your laws, right?"

no, no, no. Since you participated in the kidnapping of citizens, you must be punished, even if you are not an abandoned person. After all, this is my territory, and only I have the final say!

"That sounds right, but What if I don't want to cooperate?"

Tang Zhen looked at the prideful judge and asked in a curious manner.

"Then we can only show our true strength. In fact, I would also like to see your magical means. You know, even I can't steal a cultivator's complete memory!"

A fanatical expression appeared on underworld judge's face. As a battle maniac, he had not met an opponent for a long time. Now that he had finally met an expert from another world, how could he miss this opportunity?

As the two sides spoke up to this point, the smell of gunpowder became more and more intense, and the battle seemed to be on the verge of starting.

Tang Zhen waved his hand as he looked at the muzzles pointed at him. He indicated Uncle Jim and the rest to retreat to a safe distance to prevent accidental injuries during the battle.

The judge immediately became alert when he saw this. At the same time, he took out a weapon that looked like an iron rod from his waist and pointed it at Tang Zhen from a distance.

“BOOM!”

A terrifying aura spread out from Tang Zhen’s body, causing Uncle Jim and the rest who were the closest to him to have difficulty breathing. They once again retreated a distance of over ten meters. At the same time, the mechanical insects on the surrounding metal buildings also began to surge uneasily.

The judge’s joy became even more intense when he saw this. A wave of pure mental power flowed out of his body and directly charged toward Tang Zhen.

The two sides’ mind power collided, and an invisible force immediately spread out in all directions. Those restless mechanical bugs were the first to bear the brunt, and they were all shattered into balls of flames.

In an instant, the two of them were surrounded by blazing flames. Under the pressure of the rolling heat waves, the surrounding people quickly hid at a safe distance and stared at the battlefield in the center without blinking.

A barrier formed by spiritual energy appeared, isolating the judge from the raging flames around him. However, when he looked at Tang Zhen’s position, his pupils suddenly shrank.

Through the distorted air flow, he could see the raging flames that were enough to incinerate steel burning around Tang Zhen. However, Tang Zhen himself was safe and sound. He even revealed a trace of enjoyment.

The judge knew that the power of the explosion of the mechanical insects was comparable to that of the aluminoid agent, but this mysterious man from another world didn’t seem to care at all.

He already had an extremely high evaluation of Tang Zhen’s strength in his heart. After seeing this scene, he became even more vigilant.

The first round of the fight between both parties ended in a draw. Judge knew Tang Zhen’s strength and did not dare to hold back. On the other hand, Tang Zhen had yet to recover from his serious injuries and was only able to display less than 10% of his full strength.

Both sides had their own judgments on the strength of their opponents.

Although Tang Zhen had the means to defeat this enemy whose mental power cultivation was close to a Lord-tier cultivator, he couldn’t last long under the endless attacks of the enemy.

Tang Zhen would not be afraid of these enemies if he was not injured. However, he had to use another method to solve the problem in front of him.

Since you’re bullying me with your numbers, why can’t I return the favor?

Tang Zhen smiled at the judge in front of him. The flames around him suddenly twisted and changed shape. Soon after, a circular passage quickly appeared in the sea of flames. At the same time, a special aura that did not belong to this world slowly seeped out from the passage.

The judge's expression changed drastically when he saw the strange tunnel that had suddenly appeared. He immediately connected it to Tang Zhen's special identity.

This mysterious man was definitely a guest from another world, and this strange passage that appeared out of thin air might be able to connect to the unknown world he was in!

He stared at the scene in front of him and suddenly became nervous and excited. He even had a faint sense of anticipation. He wanted to see what would come out of the passage.

...

"Sir Tang Zhen, if my guess is correct, you should have come from the world behind the tunnel!"

The flames could not block their vision, and their conversation was not affected either. The judge, who was confident in his strength and eager to understand the situation in the other world, would naturally not attack at this time.

Through the exchange earlier, he had determined that Tang Zhen's strength should be similar to his. However, he did not know that this was not Tang Zhen's true strength.

Furthermore, through the crossbow that Tang Zhen had given to the abandoned person and the armor that he had worn when he first appeared, the judge had made a slight misjudgment and believed that he should have come from a world that used cold weapons.

For a backward world like this, technological weapons could definitely crush it completely!

Therefore, the judge would definitely not miss this precious opportunity to understand the other world. Otherwise, who knew when they would meet again?

Of course, even if the judge were to really attack, he would definitely not be able to break through the defense that Tang Zhen had secretly set up in a short period of time. After all, he was a law King. Even if he had yet to recover from his serious injuries, he would definitely not put a native cultivator in his eyes.

that's right. The place I came from is behind the passage, and there will be a surprise soon!

Tang Zhen's words had just sounded out when the judge's expression drastically changed. This was because a killing intent that caused his heart to palpitate had brushed past his face. At the same time, many strong and vigorous figures rapidly shot out from the sea of flames.

A series of angry roars and screams were heard. In a flash, the figures that appeared from the back of the passage killed the surrounding law enforcement members in black!

The judge looked at the bloody scene in shock. His heart was beating wildly as he realized that he might have made an unforgivable mistake!

...

Chapter 1233

1233 The arrival of the reinforcements

Seeing his subordinates who had gone through life and death with him fall into a pool of blood one after another, the judge felt as if his head had been hit by a heavy hammer, and a loud "boom" was heard.

He let out a furious roar towards the sky and rushed towards Tang Zhen, using all his strength to attack.

In order to capture the bandits, one must first capture the leader. He wanted Tang Zhen, who had caused the current situation, to pay the price. Only by successfully subduing him, the main culprit, would he be able to intimidate the cultivators of Loucheng, who were like the arrival of a god of death and made him feel fear in his heart.

Tang Zhen merely sneered as he looked at the judge, whose eyes were blood red and was attacking him as though he had met his father's murderer. However, he did not choose to Dodge.

Even if he was seriously injured, he could still completely crush his opponent, not to mention that the residents of his tower had already been teleported here, so he couldn't let himself get hurt no matter what.

Sure enough, when they saw someone attempting to attack Tang Zhen, a furious roar suddenly rang out from the passageway. Soon after, several figures rapidly rushed out and headed toward the judge from both sides of Tang Zhen.

"BOOM!"

A muffled sound was heard, followed by a blood-curdling scream. The judge's body was sent flying backward, and blood splattered in the air.

After flying for more than twenty meters, the judge's body finally landed with a loud crash. The metal pillar he was leaning against broke into two!

"Pfft!"

After spitting out another mouthful of blood, the judge's face was filled with horror. He looked at the cultivators standing in front of Tang Zhen with disbelief, and his heart was in turmoil.

He had never imagined that such terrifying cultivators existed. He had dominated the entire floating city, but he was as weak as a baby in front of these otherworldly cultivators!

What kind of world would give birth to such a terrifying monster?

Once this group of otherworldly visitors invaded on a large scale, they would inevitably pose a huge threat to floating city. This was because, in terms of individual cultivation, even if one searched the entire floating city, there was no one who could match them.

If he couldn't do it, others definitely couldn't!

They could only hope that these powerful enemies did not understand technology. If they destroyed all the spaceships on the ground, the floating city in outer space would become a place that the invaders would never be able to reach.

At the same time, the floating city could also use its own advantages to continuously throw war machines onto the surface, completely annihilating these enemies made of flesh and blood!

In a flash, many thoughts flashed through the injured judge's mind. At the same time, he endured the excruciating pain and quietly sent a message with a device similar to a microphone.

After that, the judge heaved a sigh of relief as if a heavy burden had been lifted off his shoulders. He then carefully observed the invader who had intercepted him.

There were a total of five people on the other side. They had different appearances, but they all wore a kind of Black Standard armor. There was a Dragon-shaped pattern similar to a coat of arms on their chest, which looked very powerful and domineering.

He had been injured by one of the intruders, but the other four had not attacked. Instead, they were responsible for defending against sneak attacks from other directions.

According to the judge's knowledge, although the armor had good defense, it was something that only Warriors in ancient times would be equipped with.

However, when he saw the armor of these intruders, his heart suddenly beat wildly, and his breathing became rapid again. He saw many things related to technology on these standard armors, and even he didn't recognize the additional equipment.

The only weapons that he could recognize were the long, blood-red standard saber and the large-caliber rifle with a menacing design.

However, these weapons and equipment alone had completely destroyed the last bit of hope in the judge's heart. It also made him painfully realize that these invaders were not barbarians from the era of cold weapons, but a powerful enemy who had already mastered Science and Technology.

Even if the intruders' technology was not as advanced as the floating city's, they were still a terrifying threat. They could even kill their way into the floating city!

A trace of regret flashed in his heart. When Tang Zhen opened the plane's channel earlier, he should have done everything he could to kill him. That way, none of this would have happened!

The judge, who was filled with regret, didn't expect that if Tang Zhen wanted to open the plane's channel, he could do it at any time. Even if he wanted to stop it, he couldn't!

"City Lord, this guy's strength is not bad, and his identity doesn't seem to be simple. Do you want to stay and interrogate him?"

Qian Longtou's white hair had increased by quite a bit and was tied up with a rubber band behind his head. He glanced at the judge whose chest was covered in blood and asked Tang Zhen.

let's keep him for now. This guy knows a lot of secrets, so he'll definitely be of great use to us!

Tang Zhen slowly walked over. As he walked forward, the flames in his path disappeared as if they had never existed.

"Greetings to the city Lord!"

The five Holy Dragon City cultivators used their right fists to knock on their armors as they saluted Tang Zhen with solemn expressions!

“Everyone, you’ve worked hard!”

Tang Zhen raised his fist and smashed Qian Long’s battle armor. After which, he chatted with the other four residents. When he saw these familiar faces, another familiar face surfaced in his heart.

Tai Seng, Murong Ziyan, Xiao die, fatty Qian Qian

They were still sealed, and before they found a way to solve the crisis of the city being destroyed, there was no possibility of meeting.

This was also a sore point in Tang Zhen’s heart, but he had been unable to cure it.

Tang Zhen turned his head and glanced at his surroundings. When he saw that the battle had already ended and all the black-clothed law enforcement members had fallen to the ground, he nodded his head in satisfaction.

“Greetings to the city Lord!”

The sound of armor being struck rang out again. More than a hundred Holy Dragon City cultivators who had arrived first saluted Tang Zhen at the same time, their faces filled with determination and fanaticism.

Uncle Jim and the others by the side were already dumbstruck. They recuperated in disbelief as they watched everything that had happened before their eyes. At this moment, they finally knew where Tang Zhen’s confidence came from for daring to confront the floating city.

These murderous cultivators were like ferocious beasts in human form. How many enemies could resist their sharpness?

However, Uncle Jim and the others hesitated at the thought of the floating city’s tyrannical strength. It seemed that they were still no match for the floating city with just their manpower alone.

They were now in the same boat as Tang Zhen. If Tang Zhen capsized, they would also be unable to protect themselves. Therefore, they naturally hoped that Tang Zhen’s strength was as strong as possible!

Fortunately, their worries quickly disappeared. In the mysterious and deep passage, cultivators in black armor appeared in batches. Before long, they had occupied all the empty space around.

An aura that made Uncle Jim and the others feel oppressed was accumulating in the surrounding air.

With a rough estimate, the number of cultivators in the building was close to 1000, and each of them was a veteran. Even if they were facing an enemy with high-tech weapons, they still had a lot of combat experience!

Compared to the tribesmen who had once destroyed the entire wild Warzone, the seemingly powerful floating city was actually nothing.

The first batch of combatants arrived and Tang Zhen immediately started to implement his plan.

Now that the monster City they were in had been sealed off, if they wanted to leave, they would have to destroy the citizen’s isolation tower, and then attack the enemy in the second defensive circle.

Tang Zhen would only have the opportunity to carry out the next step of his plan after completely destroying their defenses, which was to launch an invasion on the floating city.

...

At the same time, he also had to be wary of accurate attacks from beyond the sky, because the floating city would definitely not allow the Holy Dragon City cultivators to do as they pleased. They would definitely think of ways to kill them, thus ensuring the safety of the floating city.

If he wanted to obtain the final victory, he still needed to plan carefully!

Chapter 1234

1234 Tang Zhen's counterattack _1

Although the current situation was not good, Tang Zhen was full of confidence!

The floating city's advantage was that it was in outer space and could launch attacks from above. However, as long as Tang Zhen and the others did not leave the monster City, the floating city could not easily launch an air raid. They could only choose to deploy ground troops to fight.

However, for the cultivators of loucheng, the native ground troops were simply vulnerable. Perhaps only a fully armed Lord-level cultivator could kill the citizens in the Army and cause them to lose their horses!

Especially when the distance between the two sides closed, the Holy Dragon City cultivators who were also good at using technological weapons and had all kinds of magical skills would become the nightmare of all indigenous enemies!

At the same time, Tang Zhen also had a plan. He was prepared to make use of the floating city's powerful enemy, which was the monster City under his feet. This would cause the other party to be unable to focus on dealing with the Holy Dragon City.

Tang Zhen had seen many strong enemies, be it the terobo people, the myriad world mall, or even the Magus world. They were all existences that the floating city could not compare to. Even so, Tang Zhen did not underestimate them.

The war against the floating city might take a long time, but Tang Zhen could afford to wait.

With the plane coordinates, he could enter this world at any time and lead the cultivators to attack the enemy and plunder the precious origin stones and the world's origin.

If the cultivators in the tower City were to leave temporarily, it would be impossible for floating city to have time to catch its breath. This was because Morris and the others, who were specially trained by Tang Zhen, would take on the task of harassing and attacking floating city so that they could not continue to plunder the resources on the ground.

With excellent weapons and supplies, and with the dream to change their future, the abandoned people did not need much motivation and would actively participate in the battle to protect their homes.

Tang Zhen waved his hand to gather everyone and told them his plan.

“The place we are in is called the monster City by the natives. Although there are many hidden dangers, there are also many good things. I even suspect that the operation of the entire Monster City is related to the world’s origin and origin stones.

The world’s origin provided the monster City with a special ability similar to creation, and the stone of origin provided an inexhaustible power to operate it. No other item could be so perfect!

so, in the time to come, I will continue to explore the monster City and find out its true secret.

As for your mission, it is to destroy the tower of isolation, and then use the monster City to attack the citizens. At the same time, try to gather the abandoned people scattered in the monster City as much as possible, and Jim will come forward to take them in for his own use.

I hope to gather as many abandoned people as possible. Then, we’ll provide weapons to investigate and attack the mines of the floating city and the monster City, completely cutting off their supply of resources!”

Tang Zhen pondered for a moment when he said this before continuing, “I need to control a large number of abandoned people to participate in the battle, but they are scattered all over the world and can’t be gathered in a short time. Therefore, it is necessary to select a group of residents to be responsible for lobbying and commanding these abandoned people.

I’ll leave this matter to Qian Long. For now, we’ll pick 100 people and bring enough storage cards. Then, we’ll head to the locations I’ve specified and gather all the abandoned people in that area.”

Qian Long nodded, indicating that he would make the arrangements later.

“There’s another thing to do, which is to attract the radiation monsters of this world and let them attack the civilian Army from behind.

Tang Zhan will be in charge of this matter. You can choose ten Holy Masters who are skilled in this area to participate in the operation. The more radiation monsters we attract, the better!”

The Holy Dragon City cultivator that Tang Zhen called Tang Zhan was a well-proportioned and handsome cultivator. He was one of the orphans adopted by the Holy Dragon City and had extremely high cultivation talent. He had advanced to the Lord-tier cultivator at a young age.

As for Tang Zhan’s name, it was given by him. It implied that he was fighting for the Holy Dragon City.

In fact, there was more than one orphan in the Holy Dragon City who followed Tang Zhen’s surname. Now that they had gradually grown up, they had also begun to participate in more and more matters in the city and shared a lot of pressure for Tang Zhen.

my Lord, can we build a tower here? this way, the monsters will take the initiative to attack, and the enemy’s defense will most likely collapse!

Tang Zhan gave a suggestion after some thought.

it’s not impossible. We have enough trashy cornerstones anyway, so there’s no harm in testing it out!

The amount of brain matter required to build a level 1 city Tower was a piece of cake for the current Holy Dragon City. Any Lord-level cultivator could easily provide that.

The only problem now was whether the world outside the world of the City Tower could successfully build a city Tower. Although there was a successful precedent in the original world, the cornerstone platform was basically in name only.

Fortunately, Tang Zhen only needed to attract the monsters to attack the city. Whether the foundation stone platform was operating normally or not was of no importance.

After everything was arranged, Tang Zhen called Uncle Jim and the others over and asked them to cooperate with Qian Long and the others to execute the plan. After that, he walked into the depths of the monster City alone.

He wanted to search for the traces of the citizen leader and the others because his intuition told him that the other party had come to the monster City for an important item!

After Tang Zhen left, Qian Long and the others immediately started to take action.

Uncle Jim and the other three, including Morris, who had just woken up, followed the Holy Dragon City cultivators and participated in the operation, providing the information that the cultivators in the loucheng city needed at any time.

At the edge of the monster City, on top of a building that looked like a giant wall.

Morris 'heart was still beating wildly. Just a few minutes ago, he had experienced the feeling of flying in the air. He was lifted up by the thousand Dragons and flew to the top of the metal building.

When he saw that the Holy Dragon city's cultivators could fly over short distances, and that more than one person could do it, Morris only felt that there was something wrong with his eyes. Otherwise, how could he see such an incredible thing?

Even the non-Overlord realm cultivators who couldn't fly climbed up the metal buildings as if they were walking on flat ground.

Just where did Sir's companions come from? why were they all so powerful?

Although his heart was full of doubts, Morris did not dare to be careless about the task that he had taken on.

"Everyone, be careful of those metal blocks on the ground. Maybe one of them is mobile. As long as you step on it, you will fall into a very deep place, and very few people can climb out again."

Morris pointed at the flat ground at the top of the building and reminded the cultivators.

Morris, right? you've done well. Remember, if there are similar dangerous areas, you must remind me in time!

Thousand Dragon smiled at Morris. At the same time, he took out a large piece of chocolate from his storage ring and casually threw it into Morris 'hands.

"Take it and try it. It's not bad!"

Looking at Morris and the others' attire, Qian Long knew that they were the same as the Wanderers in the tower world, living a precarious life. Having the same experience, Qian Long naturally had a good impression of Morris.

Moreover, he could also faintly see that Tang Zhen was preparing to train Morris to become the leader of the abandoned people. In this way, the other party could barely be considered as one of his own.

Qian Long had always taken good care of his companions.

"Thank you!"

After Morris expressed his gratitude, he kept the chocolate in his arms. He would not waste such a rare meal just because he was greedy for food.

Once the several hundred Holy Dragon City cultivators had arrived, Thousand Dragon and the others immediately began to take out their weapons and equipment, preparing to launch a probing attack on the enemy's isolation tower.

This kind of giant metal cylinder that could release an energy shield must have a good defensive ability. Other than the solid metal shell, it was also very likely to activate an energy shield when it was attacked.

However, no matter how powerful the energy shield was, it would still be greatly depleted after being attacked. If the energy was not replenished in time, it would soon become a piece of trash.

...

Thousand Dragon and the others were prepared to launch long-range attacks on the isolation tower, trying to destroy it without getting close.

Ten electromagnetic cannons that had been dismantled from the terobo's warship were released from the storage card. They were only the size of a small car. Due to the powerful technology of the terobo's people, these electromagnetic cannons that were installed on the small warships had many advantages such as fast charging, good heat dissipation, high firing speed, and many other advantages.

The only regret was that there was a lack of energy reserves. As a result, many of the weapons and equipment obtained from torobo could not be used normally, and could only be left in the warehouse to eat dust.

After all the electromagnetic cannons were assembled, ten special metal bullets shot out at a speed of nearly 10 kilometers per second under Thousand Dragon's command. They instantly hit one of the isolation towers in front of them!

Chapter 1235

1235 The battle at the edge of the city

"BOOM!"

A loud sound was heard, and a few huge holes appeared on the smooth surface of the tower of isolation. It was a shocking sight.

The damage broke the balance of the tower of isolation, and then an unpleasant twisting sound rang out. The tall tower of isolation was like a drunkard with a heavy head and light feet, and it was broken from one-third of its position above the ground!

Under the disbelieving gazes of the citizens outside, the huge metal tower fell to the ground with a loud bang, raising a cloud of dust.

With the collapse of an isolation tower, the energy barrier that isolated the monster City from the outside world also disappeared in an instant. A huge hole had been formed.

“Who can tell me what is going on?”

The commander of the second line of defense looked at the scene in front of him and couldn't help but shout. He ordered to strengthen the security of the loopholes and quickly contacted the monitoring Department of the isolation tower to ask what had happened.

However, before he could get the answer he wanted, a loud noise came from another isolation tower in front of him, and a shocking hole appeared again.

The second isolation tower that had been attacked shook a few times, like a plant stem that had been gnawed at. It could no longer bear the heavy burden and broke again!

Two towers of isolation had been broken in a row, causing the energy barrier to lose its effectiveness completely. The width of the hole had exceeded the limit of defense.

If they were to forcefully activate the isolation barrier in this situation and seal up the gap, it was very likely to cause instability in the energy transmission, which could even lead to an even more terrifying disaster!

The best way to solve this problem was to apply for the re-deployment of the isolation towers. Unfortunately, this would take at least an hour, and they had to prevent more isolation towers from being destroyed!

what's going on? did the monster City launch an attack? ”

The commander finally connected to the control center of the isolation tower on the other end and loudly asked what had happened. From their position, they could only see a fire coming from the monster City, and then the tower of isolation was broken.

The tower of isolation was built to deal with the abandoned people and the radiation monsters, but the abandoned people would never have such means of attack. The only explanation was that the dormant Monster City had launched an attack on them for some unknown reason!

In this world, only a Monster City could compete with a floating city, and the monitoring Center's answer confirmed this point. The isolation tower had indeed been attacked by some kind of high-speed weapon.

However, this situation did not make sense. The monster City had never initiated an attack. In order to avoid attracting the attention of the monster City, they had built the towers of isolation at a safe distance.

What was the reason for the monster city's attack?

lock onto the position of the shot. I want to see what's going on.

With the commander's order, the video immediately changed. At the same time, a giant metal wall appeared in front of them.

When he saw the scene on the screen clearly, he gasped. He saw hundreds of enemies in black armor standing on the open space at the top of the wall like flagpoles. They were operating a strange weapon and shooting.

what's going on? are they attacking the isolation tower? "

The commander was stunned for a moment before he continued to observe.

"BOOM!"

Another huge explosion rang out, and the last isolation tower in front of the entrance was also directly blown to pieces!

But when the commander saw this, he heaved a sigh of relief.

As long as they confirmed that it was not a Monster City that launched the attack, the commander did not have to worry about starting a war. As for the unknown attackers, they could actually be easily dealt with.

order the drone cluster to launch a precise attack and kill all these damn bastards!

As soon as the order was given, the drones that were circling in the air immediately responded. They formed into formations and rushed toward the edge of the monster City.

"You came just in time, beat him up!"

At the top of the metal wall, thousand Dragon looked at the rapid attack of the drone cluster and gave the order to attack.

The Holy Dragon City cultivators, who had been waiting for a long time, immediately opened fire. In the continuous firing, the drones exploded in the air one after another, as if they had set off a gorgeous firework!

Occasionally, there would be drones that got close to the attack range, but their attacks could not cause any harm to the Holy Dragon City cultivators. This was because in front of the Holy Dragon City cultivators, a flashing energy shield appeared out of thin air.

More than 20 Holy Masters were in the middle of the team's attack, providing enough defense for their companions, allowing them to attack without dodging!

This scene was seen by the commander in the distance. While he was shocked and angry, he was more concerned about where this group of unfamiliar and powerful enemies came from.

With the floating city's surveillance system, it was impossible for any armed forces to hide for decades without being discovered, unless they appeared out of thin air.

Perhaps there was more than one visitor from another world, but a group of them?

Thinking of this, the commander's pupils suddenly shrank, and his eyes were full of splendor.

Seeing that the number of attacking drones was decreasing, he knew that it was not a solution to continue like this. He immediately decided to send troops to attack and subdue the unknown armed forces in the monster City!

If it was proven that they really came from another world, then they had to be kept alive, which was of great significance to the floating city.

The soldiers who received the order acted quickly. They rode the armored vehicles and sped through the open space in front of the monster City in a very short time. They suddenly stopped at the edge.

Teams of heavily armed soldiers jumped down from the armored vehicles and tried to rush into the entrance of the monster City under the cover of their comrades. Everything seemed to be extremely smooth.

However, before they could take action, they were suddenly attacked by the Holy Dragon City cultivators. With a burst of gunfire, the charging soldiers fell in pools of blood.

The Holy Dragon city's cultivators used their extremely accurate shooting techniques to build a death blockade line at the edge of the monster City. In just a few minutes, the indigenous soldiers had paid a heavy price.

They were hiding behind the heavily damaged armored vehicles and did not dare to stick their bodies out to avoid being cut in half by the rapidly approaching bullets!

However, the Holy Dragon City cultivators obviously would not let them off easily. Very quickly, miniature rockets flew from the top of the metal wall, turning the armored vehicles into burning fireballs.

Many soldiers were swept away by the shock waves of the explosion, and their bodies were torn into pieces in the air!

It didn't take long for there to be no more moving figures on the battlefield. It was clear that the first attack had completely failed.

When the commander saw this from afar, he was instantly enraged. The enemy's firepower was beyond his imagination, and it was the first time his troops had suffered such heavy casualties.

The bloody fact finally made him realize that these enemies were not unarmed abandoned people, nor were they radiation monsters with low intelligence, but a group of soldiers who had really experienced the battlefield.

He had no time to think about where his opponent came from. He only knew that if he wanted to defeat such an opponent, he had to go all out. Otherwise, he would definitely be the loser in the end!

order the first, third, and fifth robot units to attack immediately and launch a strong attack on the enemy's area. At the same time, the first Regiment will join the battle. We must rush into the monster City and kill these bastards!

The commander gave the order with a gloomy expression. As he could not fire at the monster City, he was so depressed that he was about to vomit blood.

...

This group of damned guys actually shamelessly used this characteristic of the monster City to confront him without fear, and it had indeed achieved the expected effect.

However, in the following fierce attacks, the other party was destined to be unable to stop it. The final winner would definitely be him!

Chapter 1236

1236 Killing under the smokescreen _1

After the commander's order was given, all the people who were involved in the battle arrived one after another. They looked at the corpses in the distance with grave expressions.

The officer leading the team was worried. He was very clear about the combat power of his soldiers and had seen the cold-blooded and powerful enemy!

More than a hundred well-trained elite soldiers were annihilated without even entering the entrance of the monster City. This was definitely a complete and utter defeat!

In the last 20 years, the floating city's Army had not participated in a real battle. Some soldiers had not even touched a gun.

The reason they joined the Army was only because of the official mandatory order. They had no choice but to join the army and receive the corresponding training.

Before joining this mission, these soldiers would never have dreamed that they would be so unlucky as to encounter a real war.

That's right, he was unlucky!

Currently, the floating city was filled with an air of comfort and enjoyment. The long-term peaceful environment had caused the new generation of citizens to lose their vigilance. They were only thinking about how to make themselves more comfortable.

Joining the army and serving in the military was also a last resort. The soldiers participated in the training with a mentality of resistance, so their combat power could be imagined.

The fierce battle that had just happened had completely frightened these soldiers. When they heard that they were going to continue fighting on the battlefield, many soldiers were so scared that they directly fell to the ground.

Many soldiers immediately jumped out and shouted that they refused to participate in the battle, but no one paid them any attention.

When these soldiers saw that no one was paying attention to them, they immediately brandished their weapons to demand an explanation. In the end, before they could do anything, they were locked on by the guns of the supervision team.

Unusual times called for unusual things. With the war imminent, the commander had every reason to shoot these troublemakers.

Looking at the cold robots, the soldiers who were causing trouble hesitated for a moment, but finally accepted their fate.

They were very clear that if they were smart on the battlefield, they might be able to come back alive. However, if they continued to resist, they would only end up being killed by the androids!

With a strong sense of unwillingness, these troublemaking soldiers returned to their ranks dejectedly. At the same time, they were strictly guarded by the other soldiers to prevent them from causing trouble on the battlefield.

With all the combat personnel gathered, the offensive immediately began. The ones at the forefront were naturally the unmanned heavy armored vehicles, providing cover for the androids and armored personnel carriers that were following closely behind.

Smoke grenades were thrown into the open space as cover, causing the edge of the monster City to be filled with smoke. The huge convoy took the opportunity to get closer to the predetermined position.

However, as they got closer and closer, the battle that they had expected did not happen. The enemy occupying the top of the building did not even fire a single shot, which was extremely strange.

Not only did the soldiers' apprehension not ease, but they became even more nervous.

"Bang!"

An armored vehicle that was driving through the smoke suddenly shook and slowly stopped, as if it had hit something.

"What happened? why did they stop?"

Inside the armored personnel carrier, the squad leader of the Veterans looked at the driver and asked in a slightly nervous tone.

I'm not sure. There are no signs of any obstacles on the device, but we can't move forward!

The driver replied helplessly. At the same time, he contacted the other tank drivers, but there was no response.

"Guys, we might be in trouble because all communication has been cut off. You can only walk forward!"

Hearing the driver's notice, the squad leader frowned and turned to look at the soldier sitting in the cabin.

we've encountered an accident. We have to walk now. Remember, don't run around after you get off the car. You must follow me closely. Do you understand? "

The soldiers quickly nodded and took a deep breath at the same time. They held their weapons tightly with nervous expressions.

"Alright, guys, let's get out of the car now!"

As soon as he finished speaking, the armored personnel carrier shook violently, and a crisp sound rang in everyone's ears.

The lights inside the armored vehicle flickered intensely. When it finally stabilized, a strong smell of blood entered everyone's nose, causing the veteran squad leader's expression to change.

"Who's injured? tell me!"

The veteran squad leader shouted. The soldiers looked at each other and shook their heads at the same time, indicating that they were not injured.

The seasoned soldier squad leader was stunned for a moment. His expression suddenly changed as he immediately looked behind him.

A metal javelin pierced through the front armor and the pilot's seat. Blood was dripping from the sharp tip of the javelin. The pilot, who had been talking to him just now, had been pierced by the javelin and was lying on the seat, motionless!

After seeing this scene, the seasoned soldier squad leader gasped. He didn't know what kind of terrifying power was needed to use a javelin to shoot through special metal armor and kill the pilot.

The seemingly sturdy armored vehicles were no longer safe.

guys, we have to get out of the car now. We have to act immediately!

The veteran squad leader stood up and slammed the open button on the door. After the door opened, he jumped out first. The rest of the soldiers didn't dare to hesitate and jumped out of the armored vehicle one after another.

As soon as he got out of the car, a disgusting smell of smoke and blood hit him. One of the soldiers couldn't stand the smell and vomited.

It was only then that the soldiers realized in shock that they were surrounded by smoke, which seemed to have become thicker. They could not see beyond two meters, and there were constant gunshots and screams around them.

At the same time, some of the chariots were burning. The flames were partly hidden by the smoke, like the sun covered by the mist.

put on your helmets and turn on your auxiliary equipment. We'll move out immediately!

As the soldiers activated the auxiliary equipment, the silhouettes of war chariots and green figures running in panic appeared in the smoke that had originally blocked their vision. The screams and sounds of shooting were from them.

The friend-or-foe identification system proved that these green figures were all soldiers on their side!

However, among these green figures, there were red figures. They flashed like ghosts, and wherever they passed, the soldiers on their side fell to the ground.

The splashing liquid and screams were enough to prove that the fallen soldiers had suffered a rather fatal attack!

After being stunned for more than ten seconds, the soldiers were woken up by the veteran squad leader's roar. They then subconsciously gathered together to prevent the red figure marked as an enemy from launching a sneak attack.

"Everyone, don't panic. Remember not to point your guns at your own people, and don't leave the team alone!"

The veteran squad leader, who had participated in several battles to clean up the radioactive monsters, warned. He knew very well how bad these new recruits were on the battlefield for the first time. It was already extremely rare for them to be able to execute orders in a timely and effective manner!

However, just as he finished speaking, he heard a scream beside him. Blood splattered all over his helmet and mask.

...

"Plop!"

The body of the soldier standing next to the seasoned squad leader stiffened. The gun in his hand fell to the ground, and he fell to the ground with a look of unwillingness.

There was a strange metal bar stuck in his chest. Looking at the fracture at the end, it was obvious that someone had broken it off from the armored personnel carrier and used it as a throwing weapon!

The veteran squad leader's expression was grave. He really wanted to know what kind of terrifying strength was needed to break this kind of metal object.

These enemies that they had yet to meet were far more terrifying than the radioactive monsters!

The sudden death of one of their comrades immediately threw the team into chaos. Some soldiers couldn't stand the atmosphere and immediately began to curse madly. At the same time, they raised their weapons at the moving enemy and pulled the trigger!

Chapter 1237

1237 A terrifying enemy _1

"Bang Bang Bang Bang Bang Bang!"

A crisp gunshot rang out, and the red figure that the soldier was aiming at suddenly fell to the ground.

I hit him. Did you guys see that? hahaha!

When the soldiers who fired saw that their target had been knocked out, they immediately shouted excitedly through the communicator, trying to get praise from their companions.

At the same time, the fear of the enemy in his heart was swept away, and he even desperately wanted to use the weapon in his hand to kill a few more enemies.

However, instead of his comrade's praise, a cry of surprise came from the communicator.

look! That guy isn't dead! He's standing up again!

he's watching us. What does he want? " not good, the enemy is about to attack. Quickly kill him!

Following the shouts of his comrades, the first soldier who fired the gun was stunned. Then, he saw a flash of fire.

"Pfft!"

His head burst like a balloon and suddenly disappeared without a trace, leaving only a bare neck that was constantly spurting hot blood.

The headless corpse fell to the ground, limp like a pile of mud.

Seeing the tragic state of their comrades, the other soldiers felt their scalps go numb. They raised their guns and shot without hesitation, trying to kill the resurrected enemy.

However, the other party was like a ghost, his figure flickering in and out of sight. No matter how the soldiers aimed and shot, they could not hurt him at all.

"Throw a grenade to stop him, hurry up!"

Seeing the enemy getting closer and closer, the veteran squad leader threw the bomb in his hand without hesitation. When the enemy was drowned in the flames, he shouted "retreat" in order to get out of this terrifying battlefield as soon as possible.

Through his observation, he was shocked to realize that the robot troops and a Regiment of soldiers who had participated in the attack had already fallen into a state of complete chaos.

The corpses on the ground proved that their side had suffered heavy losses and were in a state of collapse without command.

The second attack had undoubtedly failed!

What the squad leader was thinking about now was how to minimize casualties as much as possible and bring back these soldiers who were about the same age as his son.

After using the positioning System to retreat for a distance, they didn't encounter any more enemy blockades, which made the seasoned soldier squad leader secretly heave a sigh of relief.

However, just as he inadvertently turned his head to take a look, he saw a red figure half-kneeling on the ground where the grenade had just exploded. The figure was staring at him coldly with blood-red eyes.

Looking at the familiar outline, the veteran squad leader's pupils suddenly shrank. He knew that the figure was the enemy who had been attacked by the soldiers earlier.

Who knew what kind of monster this was? how could he not be killed?

Just as the ex-soldier squad leader was in a state of shock and fear, the enemy slowly stood up. His eyes seemed to be burning with flames as he slowly drew out a saber that was stuck behind him.

Seeing the shimmering light on the blade, the seasoned squad leader had a bad feeling. He couldn't help but shout, " run! Get out of this smokescreen! The faster, the better!

After giving the order, the veteran squad leader didn't escape with the soldiers. Instead, he quickly raised his gun and shot, trying to stop the approaching enemy.

As he fired, he kept retreating, trying to maintain the distance between him and the enemy.

Unfortunately, the enemy didn't fall again because of his shots. On the contrary, it continued to speed up and was soon less than ten meters away from him.

The veteran squad leader's face was already filled with fear. This strange enemy that couldn't be killed made him feel an indescribable sense of despair.

"Crack!"

The seasoned squad leader's expression changed as he ran out of bullets in his magazine. He pulled out a pistol and continued shooting at the approaching enemy.

A terrifying scene appeared again. The enemy actually grabbed the bullet and threw it in front of him.

At this moment, the squad leader was very clear that he had completely lost the chance to escape.

He could only hope that those Rascals could escape, so that his efforts would not be in vain!

The squad leader's face twisted as he thought he was dead for sure. He threw away his pistol again and drew a military knife from his waist. He waved it and shouted, "Come at me, you damn monster. I'm not afraid of you, understand?"

The enemy on the other side stopped. His figure was faintly discernible in the smoke, as if he was sizing up the somewhat crazy veteran squad leader.

you could have escaped. Although you would not be able to escape death in the end, I admire your choice!

The enemy in the smoke slowly opened his mouth. His voice sounded very dull, obviously synthesized by some kind of electronic device.

is that so? but what I know is that you cowards can only hide in the monster City. You don't even dare to come out and fight us head-on. What despicable and pitiful guys!

Hearing the sneer of the veteran squad leader, the enemy shook his head and then raised the sword in his hand.

Native warrior, you are qualified to fight with me with a blade. If you can survive three strikes from me, I will let you go!

The seasoned soldier squad leader was taken aback. He squinted his eyes and sized up the other party before slowly nodding his head.

In the next moment, the seasoned soldier squad leader exerted force in his legs and charged toward the enemy. He even stabbed the military knife in his hand at the vital part of the enemy.

However, before his military knife could reach its target, an ice-cold battle knife flashed in front of him. Then, the squad leader felt a sharp pain in his left arm.

One of his arms fell to the ground, and blood kept spurting out. The intense pain made him scream involuntarily, but the military knife in his right hand stabbed at the enemy again.

Another cold light flashed, and blood spurted out of his chest. The huge wound looked shocking.

The two consecutive attacks had already made the veteran squad leader covered in blood, but he still gritted his teeth and stood up, launching a third attack at the enemy standing in front of him.

To his surprise, he was struck by a cold light when he was halfway through raising his military saber. Three of his fingers fell to the ground along with the saber.

The ex-soldier squad leader, who had lost his weapon, laughed bitterly and fell to the ground powerlessly, waiting for the enemy to end his life.

However, the attack he expected did not happen. Then, he heard the cold voice of the enemy.

three moves have passed. Congratulations on obtaining the chance to live. Take care of yourself!

...

After saying that, the enemy slowly turned around and walked towards the monster City.

“Wait a minute, why didn’t you kill me?”

The seasoned soldier squad leader looked at the enemy’s back and asked in a doubtful voice.

He was very clear about the enemy’s strength and knew that the other party only needed one strike to kill him, but the other party obviously did not do so. This was also something that made him very puzzled.

After hearing the veteran squad leader’s question, the enemy who was about to leave stopped and answered without looking back, “ you’re very similar to my Captain. In the past, when we encountered danger, he always told us to retreat and stay behind to face the danger alone.

“I see, then where is your Captain?”

The seasoned soldier squad leader was curious and asked again.

he might be sleeping in a piece of paper right now. He might have been killed in the battle. Who knows?
”

The enemy’s voice carried a hint of desolation. Then, he took a step forward and slowly disappeared from the veteran squad leader’s complicated gaze!

Chapter 1238

1238 A terrifying opponent _1

As the smoke disappeared, a hellish scene appeared before everyone’s eyes.

The wreckage of the burning chariots and the corpses of the soldiers were everywhere. They were lying on the ground in a mess, covered in dust and blood. It was a terrible sight.

The cruelty and terror of war were completely displayed in front of everyone.

The commander looked at the scene in front of him in a daze. His body was trembling, and his eyes were filled with fear and shock.

Before the battle, the commander had never dreamed that they would pay such a terrible price just to capture a visitor from another world!

The enemy's strength and cruelty had far exceeded his expectations, and the direction of the war was beginning to become unclear.

The commander let out a long sigh. He was already aware of his fate in the future. The citizens of floating city could not afford to suffer such heavy casualties. Once news of this reached floating city, who knew what kind of waves it would cause?

It was estimated that the families of the soldiers who died in battle would all gather and demand to cut him into eight pieces!

However, as the Supreme Commander here, he had to bear the corresponding responsibility and could not escape!

Sighing, the commander turned around and ordered, "Immediately send a medical vehicle to bring back all the bodies of the dead soldiers. At the same time, check if there are any survivors. I want to know what happened.

This is very important to us, and we can't let something like this happen again!"

As the roar of the engine sounded, more than a dozen military vehicles with white flags slowly drove into the battlefield and quickly arrived at the location of the battlefield.

As the vehicle stopped, the life detection device on the medical vehicle was activated and began to search for possible survivors.

After confirming that there were no survivors in the search area, the mechanical arm on the ambulance quickly reached out and collected the corpses on the ground one by one. It then sealed them in a special container and loaded them into the ambulance.

Every time a medical vehicle was filled, it would return to the starting point and return to the battlefield after clearing it.

The commander looked at the "coffins" that were being unloaded one after another, but there was no news of any survivors. This made his face even gloomier.

"Damn it, are there no survivors?"

As soon as the commander's roar rang out, a soldier shouted, "report, a survivor has just been found. He's on his way back!

quick, bring him to me immediately. I want to know what happened.

The commander shouted, his face filled with impatience.

The medical vehicle returned quickly, bringing with it the only survivor who had been discovered. He had already received emergency treatment and was now lying quietly in the medical cabin.

“Hurry up and tell me, what happened to you?”

“What’s wrong?” the commander asked the ex-soldier squad leader who had lost an arm as he rushed to the medical vehicle that had just stopped.

Opening his eyes with great difficulty, the squad leader looked at the military officers surrounding the medical bay. He exhaled with great difficulty and asked in a hoarse voice, “Can you first tell me how my soldiers are doing?”

Hearing this, the commander’s face revealed a pained expression. He then shook his head and said, “Although I don’t know the names of your soldiers, there’s no need to confirm it. Other than you, no one else has returned alive.

The veteran squad leader’s eyes revealed a trace of pain when he heard this. Although he had long guessed that this might be the result, he still felt extremely pained when he heard it personally.

He glanced at the commander who was waiting for him to tell him the battle. The veteran squad leader sighed and said in a low voice, “That’s a group of terrifying enemies. They’re so powerful that they can’t be killed. If the battle continues, no one will be able to leave this place alive!

The officers’ expressions changed when they heard the veteran squad leader’s words. Someone immediately reprimanded, “Soldier, please mind your words. You’re just trying to scare us!

The commander’s face was as calm as water, but he didn’t say anything. His brows were tightly knitted together.

“I know you won’t believe me, but I still hope that you will seriously consider it. Don’t let those children lose their lives in vain!”

The veteran squad leader seemed to be very agitated, and his wound had opened up due to his violent movements. After the medical cabin detected this situation, it released anesthetic gas in time to put him into a coma and then repaired the wound.

Looking at the veteran squad leader who was sent into the spaceship, the commander pondered for a moment and gave the order to temporarily stop the attack.

He was going to speak to the highest commander of the floating city and seek his opinion to determine if he should continue to carry out this order that was bound to cause a large number of casualties.

However, he knew very well how important his new home was to the floating city. Those in power would not easily miss this rare opportunity.

Even if they had to sacrifice the lives of all the soldiers here, as long as they achieved their final goal, they would not hesitate!

Looking at the young and anxious faces, the commander could not help but let out a long sigh.

.....

The other side of the monster City had always been deserted. As there was no entrance, very few abandoned people would come here.

But today, in the complicated ruins, a group of humans who looked similar to the abandoned people had appeared. However, their temperaments were completely different. They carefully avoided the dangerous areas and went straight to the edge of the city.

It didn't take long for them to arrive at their destination and see the drones and the isolation tower outside.

We'll pass through the sealed area in one minute, and then we'll act separately!

One of the "abandoned people" said to his companion. Then, his figure rose into the sky and went straight for the drones.

In this world, only the cultivators of Holy Dragon City could do this. It was obvious that these abandoned people were cultivators of Holy Dragon City in disguise!

The purpose of their attire was to integrate them into the abandoned people. They would also gather and arm themselves to fight against the floating city's rule.

After the drone in the air discovered the suspicious target, it immediately rushed toward the Holy Dragon City cultivator. However, it exploded one after another as it got close, as if it had been crushed into pieces by an invisible hand.

The Holy Dragon City cultivator charged straight in, approaching the isolation tower in an instant. The defensive weapons at the top of the tower fired one after another, and beams of energy light flew past him.

The Holy Dragon City cultivators turned a blind eye and laughed as they stuck to the metal tower of isolation. At the same time, they took out a bomb and threw it at the blue energy ball at the top.

"BOOM!"

After a loud sound, the energy barrier released by the isolation tower suddenly disappeared. The other Holy Dragon City cultivators took advantage of this opportunity and quickly rushed to the outside area, their unrestrained laughter echoing in the sandstorm.

"Brothers, take care. We'll see you later!"

Chapter 1239

1239 Tracking _1

In the occasional sandstorm, close to a hundred Holy Dragon City cultivators embarked on their journey. They were prepared to head to various parts of the world to arm the scattered abandoned people and completely change the situation of this world.

With the strength of the Holy Dragon city's cultivators, in addition to the resources they had brought along, this mission was actually very easy. No wonder the cultivators were in such a good mood, as if they were going on a vacation.

As for eating and sleeping in the open during the journey, it was just a piece of cake for the cultivators of Lou Cheng!

The pattern of war was not fixed. This time, Holy Dragon City intended to use the native forces to carry out a long-term war.

Although the Holy Dragon City was powerful, the floating city's strength was not simple, either. The chances of defeating it in a short time were pathetically low.

Once the floating city made its judgment and determined that the Holy Dragon City had the ability to overturn their rule, they would definitely use all means available to them to annihilate the Holy Dragon City cultivators!

Any enemy with high-tech weapons should not be underestimated, because if they wanted to, they could destroy the world at any time!

If that was the case, the situation of the Holy Dragon City cultivators would also become very dangerous. It was very likely that they would be dragged down by the enemy to die together!

Moreover, the complete destruction of the invading world would not be of much benefit to Tang Zhen. It was definitely not the result he wanted.

From the very beginning, he had already decided to completely disrupt the balance of power in this world. He wanted the abandoned and the citizens to fight each other, and the Holy Dragon City would obtain everything it needed in the chaos.

If the abandoned people were successful, they would obtain a new life. This could be considered as Tang Zhen's reward.

Therefore, an invasion didn't necessarily have to kill the enemy head-on. Using others as tools and hiding behind the scenes to control the overall situation was also a good way.

From the moment the Holy Dragon City cultivators stepped into this world, the invasion of this world had already begun!

Inside the monster City.

Tang Zhen searched for traces of the citizen leader along the way. Finally, he locked onto his exact location and rapidly headed there.

He was not far from the center of the monster City. There were tall, strange-shaped metal buildings all around him, and he could see mechanical guardians appearing from time to time, wandering around the monster City.

These mechanical guards varied in size. One of the mechanical guards that looked like a Spider was particularly large. It was more than 50 meters tall, and when it walked, it looked like a Hill.

When the mechanical Guardian passed by, Tang Zhen hid in the corner of the building and observed it very seriously.

Tang Zhen could sense a trace of a special aura from this giant mechanical Guardian. This was also the reason why he specially stopped to observe.

After a few minutes, Tang Zhen's figure soared into the sky and directly landed on the head of the giant mechanical spider. He took out the soul devouring saber and slashed down.

Before the giant spider could react, the soul devouring blade had already pierced into its head, forcibly opening a huge gap in the metal shell, revealing the dense metal wires inside.

Tang Zhen leaped and entered the giant spider's body before starting to wreak havoc.

The mechanical Guardian that was under attack immediately went berserk. Its huge body rampaged through the monster City, and many metal buildings along the way were completely destroyed.

"BOOM!"

After destroying another metal building, the spider-shaped mechanical Guardian collapsed to the ground, sparks constantly flashing on the surface of its body.

Shattered pieces of metal flew in all directions. Tang Zhen's figure rushed out of the mechanical Guardian's body and landed on the broken building at the side. After which, he slowly opened his palm.

A five-colored crystal appeared and floated in his palm, emitting a mesmerizing light.

This was a source stone that had been cut and processed, and it contained a large amount of source power. The monster City had used a special method to turn it into the energy core of this giant mechanical Guardian.

Due to the special creation ability of the world's origin, this mechanical Guardian already had a trace of spirituality, and it could be regarded as a special mechanical life.

At this moment, the world's origin source in its body had been taken away by Tang Zhen, so the mechanical Guardian was naturally dead!

Tang Zhen's face revealed a trace of satisfaction as he kept the origin stone into his storage space. This was because his guess had been confirmed. There was indeed a large number of origin stones in the monster City.

There might be origin stones in the bodies of the mechanical guardians. The only difference was the size.

Obviously, the monster City was not just a cold metal monster, but also an attempt to turn the robots here into a special existence with life through the influence of the origin stone!

To Tang Zhen, this place was a huge treasure vault!

Tang Zhen glanced at the mechanical Guardian that had been completely scrapped. He no longer hesitated and swiftly ran toward a tall metal building.

The building looked like a stick of candied Haws. On the top of the straight metal pillar, there were huge metal balls every ten meters, and the surface was constantly flashing.

The citizen leader and the others had entered this building and had been staying there for a long time.

Tang Zhen stepped into the building with the door opened. He discovered that it was extremely spacious inside. With the help of the fluorescent light on the wall, he could see that there was nothing inside the building except for a metal pillar that led to the ground.

The civilian leader who had entered this place earlier had long disappeared.

After searching all around, Tang Zhen finally found a trace on the ground. It seemed that this place had been opened by someone before!

Tang Zhen used his mental energy to sense it and confirmed that this was the hidden entrance. The question was, how would he enter?

Tang Zhen started the [all-purpose electronic kit] and began to scan the surroundings in an attempt to find a way to enter this place instead of using violence to destroy it. This was to prevent the monster City from retaliating!

The results of the scan showed that the mobile application had never disappointed him, and it was the same this time.

Following the instructions, Tang Zhen extended his hand and groped the surrounding floor for a while. Very quickly, he stopped at a fist-sized spot. After which, he extended his hand and pressed down with all his might.

A transparent operating panel that was running appeared, prompting him to enter the password.

Of course, Tang Zhen didn't know what the password was, but he could crack it through the mobile application.

He skillfully operated the mobile application and the password of the entrance was quickly cracked. Soon, a deep passage appeared in front of him, which seemed to be unfathomable.

Tang Zhen leaped in and continued to advance along the dark tunnel. He was getting further and further away from the ground.

After walking for a distance, the wreckage of the armed robots began to appear in the passage. There were also obvious traces of battle in the surroundings, but there was nothing else.

Tang Zhen observed for a moment before continuing forward. In the end, he saw a badly mutilated corpse of a citizen that was casually thrown at the edge of the passageway.

On his remaining limbs, there were some metal parts, which were obviously taken from the armed robot and then assembled into a weapon similar to power armor.

Beside the corpses of the citizens, there were also the remains of a few incomparably exquisite mechanical creatures. Compared to the giant mechanical guardians that Tang Zhen had killed, these small mechanical creatures were undoubtedly more perfect!

As for the origin stones inside these mechanical creatures, they had already been dug out and taken away. It was obvious that this was the doing of the citizen leader and the others.

...

Chapter 1240

1240 The metal brain

After seeing this scene, Tang Zhen immediately kept the remains of the mechanical creature and quickly rushed toward the tunnel in front.

As he got closer, the sound of fighting could be heard, mixed with the screams of humans.

They had already reached the end of the tunnel. A brightly lit underground hall suddenly appeared before Tang Zhen's eyes!

After slowly walking into the hall, Tang Zhen saw the giant origin stone floating in the middle with a glance. His face also revealed an expression that said "as expected."

Upon closer inspection, one would realize that the giant origin stone was not complete. It was made up of many small origin stones, but under the constraint of a special force field, the many origin stones were always condensed together.

However, in that case, its value would be greatly reduced.

Under this huge origin stone, there were countless metal threads floating up. They kept dancing in the air like the roots of a plant, constantly absorbing the energy overflowing from the origin stone.

Looking down along the metal wires, one would see a huge transparent vessel filled with an unknown liquid. A Superbrain the size of a car was soaking in it!

From the light that flashed from time to time on the sulci of the brain, he could confirm that it was not a real biological brain, but man-made.

The metal threads that were absorbing the origin stone's energy extended out from the metal brain. The shimmering light on the grooves was clearly the origin Energy that had been absorbed!

Tang Zhen had reason to believe that the operation of the entire Monster City was completed through the control of this metal brain!

At this time, in front of the sealed transparent vessel, there were dozens of smooth white armed robots standing. A row of antenna-like objects extended from the back of their heads like a Peacock spreading its tail.

Compared to the armed robots of the citizens, these white robots looked more like humans, and their facial features were also very similar.

The White robots held strange-looking weapons in their hands and fired at the armed robots in the hall. The energy beams shot out from the weapons burned holes in the metal walls, and molten iron dripped down.

The armed robots were riddled with holes, but they still continued to attack. From time to time, a white robot would be shot and fall to the ground with smoke billowing out of its body, a pained expression on its face.

At the edge of the hall, the citizen leader and the other two in their exoskeleton armors were approaching the metal brain under the cover of the armed robots.

It was obvious that their goal for this trip was related to this metal brain!

Upon seeing this, Tang Zhen turned his attention back to the metal brain. He wanted to see just what the citizen leader and the others were looking for by spending so much effort to enter this place.

After carefully observing it for a moment, Tang Zhen discovered that there was actually a smaller container beside the container that contained the metal brain. There was also a metal brain that had been shrunk countless times inside!

Tang Zhen's eyes immediately brightened after seeing this miniature metal brain. He finally knew why the citizen leader and the others had come.

If he could get his hands on this miniature metal brain, then use the origin stone to activate and cultivate it, and invest enough resources, a brand new monster City could be built!

The so-called Monster City was actually a Metal City designed and built by the metal brain without its control. The floating city where the citizens lived could build specific buildings according to the requirements of the citizens!

As long as it was modified through special means, this metal brain could completely build a brand new floating city that would continue to grow and expand!

The value of this item was extremely high. Not only was it extremely valuable to the citizens, but it was also something that Tang Zhen was determined to obtain.

Other than the towers that could be upgraded, the construction of Holy Dragon City had always been completed by human labor. However, if he obtained this metal brain, he could hand over the construction work to the metal brain. Tang Zhen only needed to provide sufficient raw metal materials!

According to the terrifying rate of division and consumption of the monster City, the resources of the entire world could not be maintained for long. This world, which was on the verge of collapse due to the depletion of resources, was the best proof!

However, for Holy Dragon City, which could continuously invade other worlds, there was no worry of resource exhaustion. After One world's resources were exhausted, they could simply switch to another world to continue harvesting.

In the past, the Holy Dragon City would only collect the world's natural source and heavenly and earthly treasures. With this metal brain, the items collected would include various Special Metals, thus ensuring that the metal City built would be incomparably strong!

Tang Zhen no longer hesitated when he thought of this. His figure flashed as he rushed toward the center of the hall and headed straight for the miniature metal brain.

When they saw Tang Zhen suddenly charge into the battlefield, the citizen leader and the White robot's expressions changed. At the same time, they made him their target and dense bullet comments instantly enveloped him.

"You're looking for death!"

Tang Zhen coldly snorted. He casually took out a pile of spirit Jade talismans from his storage space and shot them out in all directions.

"BOOM!"

A violent explosion was heard. Flames, frost, poison gas, and lightning burst out of the exploded jade talisman, enveloping all the enemies who were attacking him.

The Jade talismans were so powerful that even a Lord-tier cultivator wouldn't dare to touch them. The robots were no exception, and explosions kept coming.

The originally dense gunfire suddenly disappeared at this moment.

In that short instant, Tang Zhen had already arrived at the edge of the metal brain. He extended his hand toward the miniature metal brain at the side.

The moment he stretched out his hand, two special spiritual forces appeared and launched a sneak attack on him at the same time.

Tang Zhen sneered. He maneuvered his mental energy that was as vast as the ocean to launch a counterattack and directly destroyed the two mental energy that had ambushed him!

At the same time, a scream came from the edge of the hall. The two comrades of the citizen leader had fallen to the ground and were completely unconscious.

These two fellows had overestimated their own abilities and launched a sneak attack on Tang Zhen. In the end, they went for wool and came home shorn. Who knew if they would become idiots because of this?

As for the civilian leader, he was looking at him with a cold gaze, but he did not attack.

Clearly, he had already realized that he was not Tang Zhen's match. If he were to act rashly, his ending might not be any better than his companions.

Tang Zhen ignored the citizen leader. Instead, he extended his hand and beckoned. The vessel containing the miniature metal brain fell into his hand.

As the storage space could not transport living things, Tang Zhen took out a backpack and carefully placed the container inside. He then turned to look at the giant metal brain beside him.

Through his spiritual power, Tang Zhen confirmed that it had a consciousness. However, it had fallen into a dormant state for some special reason.

However, if Tang Zhen were to take the opportunity to launch a sneak attack, the terrifying mental energy contained within the metal brain would react reflexively and kill all the enemies who tried to attack it.

By the same logic, if someone took the opportunity to destroy the city of monsters, they would also be counterattacked by the hidden weapons and eventually die together with the enemy!

Since he had already obtained what he wanted, Tang Zhen didn't intend to provoke the controller of this Monster City. He didn't want to implicate the residents of his Tower City by snatching the origin stones that maintained the operation of the metal brain.