

Alternate 2071

Chapter 2071 Area 1533 defense (1)

That believer also stopped there and didn't speak too deeply.

The words that he had said to Tang Zhen earlier were all because they were both from the human race and he had acknowledged Tang Zhen's strength.

Otherwise, the conversation between the two of them would at most be some polite greetings and would not contain any other content.

After giving a piece of advice, the believer continued, "I've finished dealing with my business. Next, I'll return to my defensive area. We'll meet again."

!!

The believer cupped his hands at Tang Zhen and turned around to leave in a straightforward manner.

"Please wait a moment."

Tang Zhen stopped the other party and prepared to find a helper.

He was about to go to a new defense area. Although he could turn the tide by himself, if he had a suitable assistant by his side, it would undoubtedly make things much easier for him.

Perhaps it was because he was used to having someone to command his subordinates. Therefore, Tang Zhen would subconsciously recruit some followers no matter where he was. This habit had never changed.

Under the other party's puzzled expression, Tang Zhen told him that he was going to the new defense area and would be the commander.

"If you're willing to trust me, you can follow me to the new defense area. Although it's very dangerous there, I can turn the situation around.

What I can guarantee is that your future achievements will far exceed your imagination."

That believer's expression was a little surprised when he heard that Tang Zhen had become the commander of the defense area. Moreover, it was the most dangerous section of the defense area.

"I'll have to think about it."

He raised his head and seriously sized up Tang Zhen, revealing a faint pondering expression.

Tang Zhen was also not anxious. This was the first time the two of them had met and did not understand each other. It was normal for them to have some misgivings.

Moreover, the place where he worked was a very dangerous and high-risk defense area. He really needed to think about it carefully before deciding to go.

Although each section of the defense area would be attacked by sea monsters, the intensity of the battle was different due to various reasons.

While the high-risk areas could earn a lot of military merits, they would also face far more danger than other areas. The casualty rate was frighteningly high.

This kind of high-risk defense area was called the line of death, and basically, there was no return.

The Veterans would not take the initiative to go to the high-risk defense area. Only the newbies who knew nothing would be sent to the death defense line in a confused situation.

They weren't going to earn battle merits, but they were going to die. They were going to use their lives to reduce the number of sea monsters.

Therefore, for some believers who liked to play it safe, it was more secure to fight in a common defense area with more people.

Although the number of monsters killed would be fewer, at the very least, they would be able to ensure their own safety. They wouldn't lose their lives in a battle that was too intense.

It was precisely because of these reasons that Tang Zhen was unable to be certain whether the other party would agree to his invitation.

After thinking for a while, the believer raised his head and looked at Tang Zhen. He had obviously made up his mind.

"I can follow you to the high-risk defense area, but I'll be Frank. If the defense area is destroyed by the sea monsters, I will retreat from the battlefield without hesitation.

This wasn't because I was afraid of death, but rather because I didn't want to lose my life so easily. It wasn't worth it to do so for some Bullsh * t faith.

After wandering outside for so many years, I still hope that I can return to my hometown one day and see my old friends again."

When he said this, there was a slight fluctuation in the cold eyes of the other party. It was obvious that he was not calm.

Tang Zhen looked at the other party and suddenly laughed softly.

I'm afraid it's going to be very difficult to achieve this goal. Do you know how many Battle Points it will take to leave this place? "

I know. It'll cost 100 million battle credits.

The other party nodded and said. It was obvious that he had already inquired about this information before.

"If you're on your own, how long will it take for you to gather enough battle credits?"

The believer laughed bitterly and shook his head.

Tang Zhen had killed countless monsters, including some giant sea monsters, but he had only obtained a few hundred thousand Battle Points.

From this, it could be seen that obtaining military merits was not as easy as one might think, and it was even more so for ordinary believers.

If he really wanted to gain battle merits quickly, the best way was to kill sea monsters of higher levels.

In order to do this, he had to improve his own strength, and in the process of improving his strength, it was inevitable that he would use up his hard-earned battle achievements.

If he was not careful during this period of time, all his previous efforts might be wasted.

It could be said that it was almost impossible to leave this place, and there were only a few ordinary believers who could do it.

The persistence in the other party's heart might just be an illusory dream.

"Let's go. I believe you won't regret the choice you made today."

That believer hesitated for a moment. In the end, he still followed behind. Tang Zhen's tone earlier was filled with confidence, and it had unconsciously influenced him.

The truth was indeed as Tang Zhen had said. If he continued to muddle along for Battle Points like in the past, only the heavens knew when he would be able to possess a powerful strength and obtain the qualifications to leave this place.

The battlefield was constantly changing, and even the most cautious person could fall at any moment.

Instead of living in fear like this, it was better to take a risk. Maybe there would really be an unexpected harvest.

The believers who survived hundreds of battles did not lack courage. What they lacked was a capable leader who shared the same ideals.

Tang Zhen's appearance had allowed the other party to see a trace of hope. This was why he had chosen to follow him.

It could only be said that both sides had the spirit of adventure and were not willing to be ordinary, so they hit it off.

After arriving at the honeycomb building, Tang Zhen summoned the six-winged bird and rode it together with the believer named Sun Jun. They headed directly to defense area 153.

On the six-winged bird, the two of them faced each other and did not communicate much with each other.

The reason why Tang Zhen brought Sun Jun along, other than his strength being not bad, was because the other party was an old bird and was quite familiar with all sorts of things.

...

With such an old bird by his side, Tang Zhen could ask him in time when he encountered something he didn't understand and avoid making some low-level mistakes.

The six-winged bird flew for a very long time. When a boundless coastline appeared in front of them, Tang Zhen knew that they had arrived at their destination.

Compared to the other defense areas, defense area 153 was indeed a little special. This was because there were countless giant beast skeletons on the vast beach between the ocean and the city wall.

The skeletons of the giant beasts were half-hidden in the sand and rocks, looking like a forest of white bones. Each rib was several meters in diameter.

In addition, there were also huge sea monster skulls scattered on the coast like Hills.

It was because of the existence of the skeleton that every battle in this section of the defense area was extremely difficult.

When the sea monsters attacked, these giant skeletons would act as natural bunkers, greatly reducing the attacks from the city walls.

At the same time, the sea monsters could also use the skeletons to climb to higher places to attack, further weakening the advantage of the city wall.

On the brutal battlefield, even the slightest advantage could determine the outcome of the entire war.

It was not strange for the monsters to break through the defense line of area 153, which was not advantageous in terrain.

Although the city wall had been broken through, it was impossible for these monsters to go deep into the hinterlands. This was because, in addition to the ordinary believers, there was the temple as the second layer of defense, which could hold the monsters back.

The believers in the other defense areas would also quickly send reinforcements and attack the monster from the left and right sides until it was completely driven back to the deep sea.

Although the sea monster was repelled, area 153 was in chaos. The tall city wall was damaged everywhere.

When he looked down from above, he could see many figures busying themselves on the city wall, clearly repairing the damaged area.

The steam ballistae placed on the high platform were all in a long-distance mode to prevent monsters from suddenly attacking.

In the ocean ahead, there were huge sea monsters flashing from time to time, and they might rush ashore at any time.

Chapter 2072 The troublemakers die (1)

When the six-winged bird descended from the sky, the believers on the city wall looked up for a moment before lowering their heads again expressionlessly.

Most of the believers were unmoved by Tang Zhen's arrival.

If it was a four-winged bird, it meant that there was a newcomer. This scene happened every day.

The six-winged bird was rarely seen. After all, it was a special means of transportation, and those of lower levels had no right to use it.

!!

But what did that have to do with them? no matter who came, their fate had already been decided. There was no way to change it.

Perhaps it was because of this that the entire defense area was filled with a pessimistic atmosphere.

The six-winged bird landed on the open space in front of the temple with an ear-piercing chirping sound. Tang Zhen and the other man jumped down.

A large group of believers stood in front of the divine temple. There were more than ten people in the lead. They used cold gazes to stare at Tang Zhen and his partner. They were somewhat unscrupulous.

The other believers were repairing the city walls, but they did not participate in it. This matter itself was very abnormal.

It seemed that without a commander, this defensive area was in chaos. If it wasn't for the fact that they couldn't survive in this world without any military achievements, they might have already rebelled and fled.

And that was indeed the case.

These believers were all newbies. They had just arrived here and had learned about the famous defense area from the Veterans who helped with the defense.

The words "death zone" weighed on their hearts like a heavy rock. They felt that their future was dark.

They had participated in the divine trials with Great Expectations, but they didn't want to be sent to such an extremely dangerous place. It would be strange if they could feel balanced.

If they had a choice, these believers would rather leave this place immediately and not stay for a moment longer.

Compared to the Veterans, the new recruits had almost no experience, which was extremely fatal on the battlefield.

Many newbies were able to survive the first few battles because of the guidance and care of the Veterans, and then they would slowly mature.

However, all the Veterans in the current defense area had died in the last battle. The Veterans who were operating the steam ballista were only transferred from the nearby defense areas to help.

After the new commander was appointed, the Veterans would return to their original defense area instead of staying here.

Seeing that others could avoid danger, but they had to stay here and wait for death, these believers felt more and more unbalanced.

As a result, more than a dozen believers jumped out and used threats and promises to win over a group of believers, wanting to demand an explanation from the commander.

These guys had already made up their minds to teach the new commander a lesson. It was best to hold him in their hands and get some benefits for themselves.

After all, they had the advantage in numbers, and the commander who did not have much real power would not dare to go against them for the sake of the overall situation.

Under the unfriendly gazes of the surrounding believers, Tang Zhen walked toward the temple and prepared to activate his token.

Although they could tell that Tang Zhen wanted to enter the divine temple, those ten plus believers did not make way. Instead, their eyes were filled with provocation. Some of them even let out a cold laugh.

When they saw Tang Zhen's armor of the lowest grade, they subconsciously treated him as a newbie and were prepared to take him down.

As for Sun Jun, he was treated as the newly appointed commander.

"Brat, you can't enter this place. Get out of my way!"

Among the dozen or so believers who took the lead to cause trouble, a strong believer blocked Tang Zhen and said in an arrogant tone. At the same time, he proudly swept a glance at Sun Jun who was following behind.

This was a blatant provocation.

&Nbsp; one should never treat these believers as good people. They had experienced too many things and some of them had twisted hearts. They wanted to destroy everything.

There were even people who had already drawn their blades. If Tang Zhen continued to advance, they would slash him with their blades.

"Looking for trouble? I think you're tired of living."

Without waiting for Tang Zhen to speak, Sun Jun spoke first.

He followed behind Tang Zhen and his cold gaze swept across those believers. The cheerful enthusiasm he had when he was chatting with Tang Zhen had completely disappeared.

There was even a layer of black mist that gushed out of his face, squirming like a living creature.

"Bastards, go to hell!"

The smell of death mixed with corrosion quickly spread out, and the air was suddenly filled with the smell of corpses.

However, in the blink of an eye, the dozen or so troublemaking believers in front of Tang Zhen let out blood-curdling screeches as their faces were covered in blisters.

After the bubbles burst, thin red worms crawled out, wriggling and biting on the believers' bodies.

When the other believers saw this scene, they quickly dodged to the side in fear, afraid that the bugs would climb onto their bodies.

When he looked at Sun Jun again, there was a trace of fear in his eyes. He was afraid that he would use such a method to deal with him.

From the beginning to the end, Tang Zhen did not pay attention to those believers. After the other party moved out of the way, he stepped into the temple.

Not long after, the sound of drums could be heard from the temple. This was a message to the believers in the defensive area that the new commander had been appointed.

When the believers outside the temple heard the drum sound, their expressions changed. They didn't expect Tang Zhen to be the commander.

Although under normal circumstances, a commander had no right to kill a believer, it was too easy to kill a person.

After realizing this, the believers looked at the troublemakers with a hint of mockery in their eyes.

After these guys came to the defense area, they used their strength to bully the weak. They didn't expect to finally get their retribution today.

The problem was that they had also participated in the trouble-making, and their leader had already been punished. Would they be able to escape?

Just as this thought emerged in his heart, he saw Tang Zhen walk out of the temple. The original armor on his body had already disappeared and was replaced by a brand new rune armor.

This was the exclusive equipment of the defense Area Commander, and it was very eye-catching in the crowd. In addition, this armor was not solid, but condensed from pure energy.

Be it physical or energy damage, it can be absorbed effectively to protect the wearer.

When a commander died or stepped down, this armor would automatically disappear and appear on the new commander.

When the commander wore this armor and stood on the city wall to command the battle, it would play a great role in stabilizing the morale of the army.

...

However, it would also lead to the enemy's crazy attack, which caused the death rate of the defense Area Commander to be quite high. They might be talking and laughing today, but they would become cold corpses the next day.

In addition, the symbolic significance of a commander was more significant than its practical use, so the believers did not have much respect for the commander. Sometimes, the believers did not even know who the original commander was, and the new commander had already taken office.

It was just that the believers in the defensive area had just arrived and did not know much about this. In addition, Sun Jun's ruthless means had made these believers behave.

As if they were intimidated by Tang Zhen's aura, the gazes of the surrounding believers flickered. Some of them had already quietly retreated to the side.

"Drag these guys out of the city, hang them on the sea monster's skeleton after hanging them. I want everyone to see their dried corpses when they climb up the city wall."

Tang Zhen stood at the entrance of the divine temple. He swept his eyes over the ten plus believers who were rolling on the ground as he spoke in an indifferent tone.

After hearing Tang Zhen's order, the expressions of the surrounding believers changed. The ten plus believers who were rolling on the ground turned pale.

you can't kill me. Even if you're the commander, you don't have the right to do so!

A believer's entire face was completely ulcerated. At this moment, he looked like an evil Ghost as he roared at Tang Zhen.

The other ten plus believers, whose bodies were festering, also had unwilling expressions on their faces. They did not expect that Tang Zhen would actually be so ruthless and directly kill them!

Tang Zhen completely ignored the howls of the ten plus believers. Instead, he turned his head to look at everyone and spoke with a cold tone, "From now on, I'm the highest commander here. Anyone who dares to cause trouble will end up like this.

If you are not satisfied, you can choose to appeal, but I can tell you clearly that it is useless.

So the only thing you can do is to obediently listen to the command, or else the only outcome will be death!"

Upon hearing Tang Zhen's warning that was filled with killing intent, the surrounding believers felt their bodies turn cold. They had a feeling in their hearts that this newly appointed commander was definitely not joking.

Chapter 2073 Intimidating (1)

When Tang Zhen gave the order, Sun Jun had already stepped forward without the slightest hesitation. He raised his leg and continuously kicked the bodies of those believers.

Now was the time to establish his prestige. Tang Zhen's order must be carried out thoroughly. Among the people present, he was the most suitable person to take action.

If Tang Zhen were to personally take action, he would undoubtedly become a laughingstock. He was a commanding officer, yet he had no subordinates to use.

A series of screams rang out as the troublemakers were kicked on the body after being attacked by rotten bones and heart.

Sun Jun's strength was far higher than these believers. The other party did not have the chance to struggle and resist at all, and was directly kicked to the ground unconscious.

Looking at the dozen or so troublemakers on the ground, the surroundings were silent, and the gazes of the surrounding believers became more and more complicated.

The new commander and his followers were obviously not soft-hearted people.

If they wanted to do something under his eyes, they had to be prepared to pay the price. These guys in front of him were the best proof.

what are you waiting for? are you all made of wood? take them out of the city and hang them to death!

Sun Jun swept his cold eyes around, and black mist rose from his hands again, as if he was ready to attack at any time.

After hearing Sun Jun's words, the believers nearby hesitated for a moment. In the end, they gathered in front of the fainted rioters and tied their bodies with ropes.

These rioters were already badly mutilated. Under the bite of the bugs, there was not a single part of their skin that was intact.

The bugs were crawling around in the rotten meat. It seemed that if they didn't find a way to save them, they would be eaten by the bugs sooner or later.

No one dared to touch it with their hands, in case the bugs crawled onto their bodies and burrowed into them.

After the incident in front of the temple, it had already attracted the attention of many believers, and their eyes were fixed on this place.

They watched helplessly as the rioters were tied up and dragged to the city wall like dead dogs. They were then dragged out of the city wall through the gap.

The rioters who woke up from the drag struggled, cursed, or begged, but no one spoke on their behalf.

These people were not good people to begin with. Because no one had restrained them before, they had been domineering in the defense area, causing many people to wish they were all dead.

Moreover, Tang Zhen was currently a new official. It was the time for him to establish his might. No one would dare to touch bad luck under such circumstances.

A long rope was hung on the sea monster skeleton, and the despairing troublemaker was lifted up one after another. After struggling a few times, he stopped moving.

Looking at the stiff corpses swaying in the wind, the top of the city wall was silent, so quiet that it was a little scary.

At this moment, the fear that Tang Zhen brought to the believers had even surpassed the fear of the sea monster that could attack at any time. They no longer had the slightest contempt.

Tang Zhen was extremely satisfied in his heart when he saw this.

Only by making them feel fear would they be able to unconditionally obey Tang Zhen's commands and not be like the other defense areas where they would obey the commander's orders on the surface but disobey in secret.

Tang Zhen did not know how this kind of command system was formed in the defense area. However, it would definitely not work in his place.

Looking at the expressions of the believers, it was clear that his method had begun to see results. At least on the surface, they had become obedient.

Even if there were negative effects, as long as these believers saw the surge in military achievements, all their complaints would disappear, and they would even obey his orders.

Turning his head to look at Sun Jun who was standing beside him, Tang Zhen nodded his head. He was extremely satisfied with Sun Jun's performance earlier.

"From now on, you will be in charge of training these soldiers. I guarantee that you will execute every order.

I'll prepare some weapons for you to deal with sea monsters later. What you need to do is to get familiar with them in the shortest time possible."

Sun Jun nodded in agreement. At the same time, he was also curious about what kind of item Tang Zhen would prepare to deal with the sea monster.

Could it be that after Tang Zhen exchanged for the memory fragments, he recalled some kind of extraordinary ability, which was why he was so confident?

Just as the two of them were conversing, a group of veteran soldiers wearing advanced armor walked over and bowed to Tang Zhen.

Your Excellency, since you've come to take up your post, we'll return to our respective defense areas as requested.

Compared to those newbies and rookies, these veteran soldiers were not too respectful of Tang Zhen. Their faces, which were used to seeing life and death, were also filled with calmness.

First, they didn't belong to this area, and second, they were used to the frequent change of commanders. They didn't need to show too much respect to someone who could be killed by sea monsters at any time.

Tang Zhen had yet to open his mouth when a new recruit who had followed him shouted, how can you leave now? we're still not familiar with the steam ballista. If the sea monsters suddenly attack, it will be very dangerous.

After hearing the words of the new recruit, the Veterans sneered and showed a disapproving expression.

“We’re just following orders. We’ve already done what we can. As for whether you’re skilled in the operation, it has nothing to do with us.

If you want us to stay and teach you, you’ll have to pay extra battle merits. Otherwise, we can’t do anything.

This isn’t extortion. After all, if we delay our return to the defense area, our battle achievements will also be deducted.”

After he said that, the leader of the Veterans chuckled and said in a calm tone, “In fact, even if you learn it, it won’t be of much use. It’ll only be a waste of time.

They’re just a bunch of noobs, and with a serious lack of manpower, the possibility of them being able to withstand the sea monster’s attack is next to nothing.”

The other party’s words were very rude, indicating that they did not think highly of area 153. They even believed that the sea monsters would break through the city wall again.

“Do you think that area 153 has no hope?”

Tang Zhen did not care about the other party’s attitude. Under normal circumstances, it would indeed be very difficult for the heavily damaged defense area under their feet to resist the assault of the sea monster.

Perhaps his only hope was to pin his hopes on the sea monsters and hope that they would launch their attack later.

This way, defense area 153 would have more time to develop and repair. If they could withstand one or two attacks from the sea monsters, the defense area could recover its vitality.

Upon hearing Tang Zhen’s question, the wily old soldier who was the leader shook his head and said, “To be honest with you, although we don’t belong to this area, we don’t want to see such a scene.

When the defensive line was broken and we were in charge of providing support, all we saw were corpses all over the ground. It was a terrible sight.

A few of my friends all died in that battle, and their bodies were devoured by the sea monsters.

Compared to the previous batch of veterans, the strength of these new recruits is not just a little bit weaker. How can they withstand the attacks of those sea monsters?”

When the surrounding new soldiers heard this, they all revealed a depressed look, because the other party’s words were reasonable and not alarmist.

In fact, it was not only the Veterans who did not think highly of them, but the new recruits themselves were also uncertain. The blood that seeped into the city wall during the last battle had not yet dried, and their blood might soon be spilled all over the city wall again.

“Don’t worry, what you’ve said is already history. From now on, no monster will be able to cross this wall.

The blood of the dead believers would not be shed in vain. The sea monsters had to be multiplied by hundreds or even thousands of times to repay the sins they had committed.

I’m going to say this today. Everyone, you can wait and see if I can do it!”

After hearing Tang Zhen’s words, those wily old soldiers softly laughed. Clearly, they did not take it too seriously.

They had seen commanders who were more ruthless than Tang Zhen. Similarly, there wasn’t just one commander who could speak even more arrogantly. However, on the battlefield, everything depended on one’s strength. One’s battle achievements were the only touchstone to test everything.

If he couldn’t do what he said, he would only be a joke.

After cupping their hands together and bowing to Tang Zhen, those wily old soldiers did not say anything else. They walked to the four-winged birds near the divine temple and rose into the sky in unison.

Chapter 2074 Modified defense area (1)

When they saw a large group of four-winged birds rise into the sky and fly in different directions, the recruits looked disappointed.

With the presence of these veterans, at least he could feel a little more at ease. Other things aside, at least the other party had enough combat experience.

By following such a veteran in battle, when he made a mistake, there would be someone to stop and remind him in time.

However, with the departure of the other party, the entire defense area was filled with newcomers. Who knew how they would deal with the sea monsters when they attacked?

At this moment, a horn sounded above the defense area. It was a signal to gather everyone.

The new soldiers who knew that Tang Zhen had just been appointed seemed to have guessed that such a thing would happen. Hence, they put down the things in their hands and gathered at the bottom of the city wall.

Looking from the city wall, there were actually quite a few people, at least three to four thousand.

However, the walls of the defensive zone were more than 1000 meters long, and there were countless sea monsters. These few thousand people were nothing.

With just these few thousand recruits, it was no different from a fool’s dream to resist the attack of the monster.

The new recruits also knew this, so at this moment, they were like walking corpses, without any aura to speak of.

a bunch of useless cowards. I'm sure that you'll all die when the sea monsters attack the city!

A figure appeared on top of the city wall. It was not Tang Zhen, who the new recruits had thought, but Sun Jun, who had a murderous look on his face.

The new soldiers who were scolded were a little indignant. However, after thinking about Tang Zhen and Sun Jun's ruthless methods, they all obediently shut their mouths.

Otherwise, they would not be able to use it. They were worried that their bodies would also be hung outside the city.

It was just that in their hearts, a trace of fighting spirit had been aroused. Even though they knew that Sun Jun was goading them, they did not want to admit defeat.

Sun Jun, who saw this scene, immediately described his origin and the military achievements he had obtained. He wanted to let these new recruits know that he did have the capital to reprimand and despise them.

The new recruits' expressions began to change. After knowing Sun Jun's battle record, they no longer dared to underestimate him.

In many aspects, Sun Jun was indeed much stronger than them.

In fact, after staying in the God's kingdom for so many years and killing sea monsters all day long, Sun Jun's military achievements had already accumulated to a certain extent. He was more than enough to be the commander of the defense area.

However, just like the other veterans, he never took the initiative to take up a position, even if the proportion of military merits he received was higher.

The key was to stay alive. Otherwise, it would be useless no matter how many battle achievements he earned.

The content of the training was nothing more than passing on some combat experience. When facing the attack of sea monsters, how to kill the monsters more effectively while protecting themselves as much as possible.

It could be said that a few simple words of guidance could allow more newbies to survive and have the opportunity to grow into experienced veterans.

When Sun Jun was explaining, the new recruits all perked up their ears and listened carefully. They only lacked experience in fighting sea monsters, but they were not weak.

To be able to pass the initial test and obtain the pass to enter here was enough to prove their ability.

Therefore, when Sun Jun was lecturing about his experience, these believers' attitudes were very serious, for fear that they would miss out on anything.

Sun Jun was teaching the new soldiers while Tang Zhen was wandering around.

He walked around the city wall and first checked the damaged area to make sure there were no hidden dangers.

As it concerned their own safety, none of the new recruits were sneaky or cunning when repairing the city wall.

When he confirmed his identity in the temple, Tang Zhen also received the information of this defense area and found that this place was indeed worthy of being a high-risk defense area.

The defense area was only about a kilometer long, with steep mountains on both sides, which the sea monsters could not climb.

The mountains that were destroyed in the past were not completely razed. Instead, they were full of holes like saw teeth.

The sea monsters had entered through these gaps, intending to attack the Grand temple in the hinterlands and completely destroy it.

It was said that the gods used their divine power to build defense areas around these gaps, completely blocking the gaps and preventing sea monsters from entering the mainland.

From Tang Zhen's point of view, this was merely another form of creation.

Tang Zhen's focus wasn't on the city walls, but the mountain peaks on both sides.

Although it was easy to defend with a one-kilometer long line of defense, it would also limit their performance. It was impossible to effectively attack the monsters that came like waves.

Therefore, Tang Zhen was prepared to expand the defensive line. This way, they could attack the sea monster from a better angle and more advantageous terrain.

In fact, in other defensive areas, there were also examples of people chiseling mountains and attacking monsters from above.

However, the rocks of these peaks were comparable to steel, so it was extremely difficult to excavate them. Because the platform area was too small, only archers could be arranged most of the time.

Even steam ballistas were difficult to install, so the mountain didn't play much of a role in battle. In the end, most of the defense areas gave up on this place.

Tang Zhen, however, took a fancy to this place. To others, it might be extremely difficult to excavate a mountain peak. However, it was not a difficult task to him.

The memory fragments exchanged from the spirit envoy made Tang Zhen recall his life experiences in the original world, as well as some trivial matters during the construction of the Holy Dragon City.

It was this part of the memory that made him remember the magical applications that he had not used for a long time. One of them could be used to change the terrain.

After observing for a while, Tang Zhen closed his eyes and activated the [terrain transformation plug-in] that was still sealed.

An indescribable, mysterious aura suddenly enveloped the sky above the defense area. The air seemed to have become much heavier.

Even the raging ocean suddenly became abnormally calm, as if it was being suppressed by an invisible force. It was as if it had become a mirror.

The believers who were repairing the city wall were stunned at the same time. There was a trace of fear in their eyes. They kept looking around, trying to figure out what had happened.

But at this moment, the ground seemed to start shaking. Then, someone noticed that the mountains on both sides of the defense line had changed.

It was like a soft dough being kneaded by an invisible hand, and then it began to change at a speed visible to the naked eye.

A path that looked like a giant staircase appeared in front of them in an instant, and it continued to extend toward the peak of the mountain.

At every set distance, there would be a huge platform, enough for thousands of people to move freely.

When they reached the peak of the mountain, the path stopped extending. Then, they saw a tall tower made of stone rising from the ground.

Because the tower was located at the top of the mountain, it could be seen from a very long distance, making it the best place to observe the enemy.

However, the sea monsters were all in the deep sea, and they would use the water as cover when they attacked, so the tower's scouting effect should not be very effective.

Tang Zhen clearly had another use for building the tower.

The transformation of the mountain continued. When the road appeared, the side facing the ocean became even more precipitous, almost as smooth as a knife.

Then, rows of holes began to appear on the smooth cliffs, like neat Windows.

The invisible interior of the mountain was also changing, and layers of huge space began to appear.

One could enter these spaces directly from the passage below the city wall, and finally reach the top of the mountain.

It sounded very complicated, but the transformation process was completed in a very short time. When the mountain stopped changing, many believers had not even recovered from the shock.

Looking at the completely changed defense area, the believer's eyes were full of shock, even thinking that he was in a dream.

In their eyes, the scene just now was completely a miracle!

Chapter 2075 Weapons and equipment from my hometown (1)

After witnessing the great changes on the two sides of the mountain peak and seeing Tang Zhen, who had already started floating in the air, how could everyone not guess that these changes were related to him?

The believers, who had been disheartened and thought that they were dead for sure, were now reignited with the fire of hope.

Perhaps under the leadership of this new commander, they would be able to resist the attacks of the sea monsters and survive longer?

No matter how loud his words were, they were not as convincing as actual actions. The process of Tang Zhen transforming the mountain peak had already completely convinced these believers.

Suddenly, the sound of waves rang out, and everyone was jolted awake. They realized that their surroundings had been too quiet.

The sound of exclamations and discussions suddenly erupted, mixing with the sound of the waves hitting the shore, making the defensive area unusually lively.

This was the first time such a lively scene had appeared since the arrival of these new recruits.

The originally dull and negative atmosphere seemed to have disappeared.

A hint of excitement flashed in Sun Jun's eyes. At this moment, he finally knew why Tang Zhen was so confident.

Just this mysterious method alone was sufficient to prove Tang Zhen's powerful strength. He had been cultivating for some years, but he had never seen or heard of such a scene.

And he had a feeling that this was only the beginning.

Perhaps in the future, this man, whom he had met by chance and pulled him into the chariot, would show more magical abilities.

Sure enough, just as this thought rose in his mind, he saw a huge metal object appear on the platform above the mountain peak. The long metal pipe pointed diagonally into the sky.

"This is the bi 'an cannon!"

After seeing this familiar item, Sun Jun was stunned for a moment and did not recover from his shock for a long time.

When the reminiscence in his eyes faded, Sun Jun looked at Tang Zhen again with a faint trace of familiarity.

Wandering alone in the other world, to be able to suddenly see things related to his hometown, Sun Jun's heart had long been stirred.

It seemed that not only was Tang Zhen's methods mysterious, but his background was also very interesting.

At this moment, looking at the place where Tang Zhen was pointing at, large-caliber cannons continuously appeared. The empty space beside them was filled with piles of cannonballs.

The mountains on both sides had been lined up with hundreds of giant cannons. Once they opened fire at the same time, it would be as terrible as an earthquake.

The reason why Tang Zhen chose to conjure a cannon and not any other weapon was because compared to weapons like missiles and rocket cannons, cannons were more convenient for those believers to control.

Facing a group of sea monsters, it was still powerful enough, even if it was a monster in the sea.

After the mountains on both sides were filled with cannons, Tang Zhen slowly turned around in midair and looked at the city wall under his feet.

That place was empty, and it also needed to be set up.

The current Tang Zhen was like a god that had descended, causing people to not dare to raise their heads to look at him in detail. It was as if doing so was equivalent to blasphemy.

Tang Zhen had long since ignored everything around him. At this moment, all of his attention was placed on the object he was conjuring.

If he was distracted when he was conjuring an item, there would be an error, causing the item to become a pile of scrap iron.

A few breaths later, Tang Zhen once again extended his hand and pointed at the city wall. Numerous anti-aircraft machine gun-like weapons continuously appeared on the city wall.

This kind of defensive weapon conjured by Tang Zhen could adjust the height of the muzzle by lowering the arm and completely block the beach with a dense barrage of bullets.

Just by looking at those long and sharp bullets, one could guess that when they hit the sea monster, they would definitely be able to easily tear the monster's body.

He was not done conjuring items yet. With a flash of light, a pile of weapons appeared in front of everyone.

There were bombs, all sorts of firearms, and a small mountain of ammunition. It was like a huge Armory.

Tang Zhen conjured the weapons in his memory as much as possible. His killing power had also increased accordingly.

Compared to godly weapons, the cost of these firearms was lower, but they could effectively kill monsters.

The main reason why such weapons did not exist in the divine Kingdom was that the believers were all from a cultivation civilization. There were no killing weapons like firearms that required the support of a large industrial system to be manufactured.

Being able to create a rune steam ballista was already the limit of what he could do, and it was almost impossible to go any further.

The biggest problem with firearms was that they needed to replenish their ammunition in time. However, with Tang Zhen here, even if the ammunition was completely depleted, they could still be materialized at any time.

The most important thing was that the believers could easily learn how to control these weapons, and there were not many requirements for their own cultivation.

When the sea monsters attacked, the most common weapons in the technology plane would definitely be able to shine.

In order to encourage Tang Zhen to earn battle merits, the spirit envoy not only gave him the authority that ordinary commanders didn't have, but also wasn't stingy with the rewards.

When the soldiers in the defense area killed a monster, he would also receive the same reward. The more monsters the soldiers killed, the more Battle Points Tang Zhen would earn.

After the last pile of ammunition had been conjured, Tang Zhen slowly descended from the air and turned to look at Sun Jun who was standing beside him.

if I'm not wrong, you should be very familiar with these weapons. In that case, you'll be teaching them how to use them in the following time.

After hearing Tang Zhen's words, Sun Jun smiled and nodded in agreement.

The moment Tang Zhen conjured the cannon, Sun Jun knew that Tang Zhen might have come from the technology plane or had been to the technology plane before.

In the past, Sun Jun often felt a sense of loneliness, because the believers around him were all from the cultivation civilization, while he was the only believer from the technology plane.

This situation might have something to do with that God. The dimensions where its clones were located were all cultivation civilizations.

The energy of heaven and earth in the technology plane was extremely barren, and 99% of the residents did not have the qualifications for cultivation, so they were not within the scope of the gods' absorption of believers.

Sun Jun picking up the statue could only be considered a special accident, and it was almost impossible.

Therefore, he was not considered a believer, but an accidental intruder. It was for this reason that he felt an inexplicable sense of loneliness.

However, Tang Zhen's appearance made Sun Jun suddenly realize that he was not alone.

In this God's kingdom, there was actually a companion with the same origin as him, who also possessed great strength.

although I haven't come into contact with all of these things, the simple operation won't be difficult for me. Please rest assured, Sir, I will get these soldiers to become familiar with them as soon as possible.

Sun Jun's face was filled with anticipation as he spoke.

Similar to Tang Zhen's position as a commander, after accepting the position of an officer, he would also receive an additional reward when the soldiers killed the monsters.

Although the ratio was not as high as the commander's, once the numbers were accumulated, it would still be a considerable income.

The defensive area had undergone earth-shaking changes, and at the same time, there were powerful weapons available for use. The only flaw was that there was still a huge shortage of manpower.

At this moment, what Sun Jun hoped to see the most was that there would be more soldiers in the defense area. This way, there would be more soldiers killing monsters to help him earn battle merits.

The problem was that the replenishment of soldiers in the defensive area was all randomly assigned, and it was not as much as he wanted.

As if he could see through Sun Jun's thoughts, Tang Zhen smiled and said, "When I was at the Grand temple, the spirit envoy gave me the authority to transfer manpower. Although it wasn't a lot, it was enough to solve the current predicament."

"When I first started my new profession, I had already used this authority to randomly select people from various defensive areas."

In the following time, the chosen believers will arrive one after another. Your mission is to subdue them.

If anyone disobeys your command, you can punish them however you want. I don't care even if the sea monster skeletons outside the city are filled with corpses."

Since Tang Zhen had given up his power, Sun Jun naturally would not have any more scruples. He nodded with a solemn expression.

Chapter 2076 Pre-war preparations (1)

After receiving Tang Zhen's appointment, Sun Jun's status changed and he became the Deputy commander.

In this defensive area, he had the most power other than Tang Zhen.

Due to the repeated intimidation from before, the new recruits already knew of Tang Zhen's ruthless methods. Therefore, when they learned that Sun Jun was in charge of the training, they were very obedient.

Other than the awe in their hearts, they also wanted to see what kind of weapons Tang Zhen conjured.

With Sun Jun's order, all the believers in the defense area climbed up the city wall and then divided into teams to learn how to operate the guns and weapons.

Sun Jun walked up to the top of the city wall and touched these familiar yet strange weapons with his own hands. He could not help but sigh in his heart.

He didn't expect to use a weapon from his hometown in this special God's kingdom. It was a strange feeling.

In fact, in the cultivation civilization, there were many weapons that were far more powerful than guns and cannons, but the manufacturing cost was quite high.

This also caused many cultivators to be unable to obtain a matching weapon despite having a body full of strength, which made it impossible for them to display their full combat power.

Otherwise, even with ordinary weapons like swords, the believers could still penetrate the enemy's formation and kill the sea monsters.

However, while the believers were suppressed, the sea monsters were also suppressed, or they would have been even more ferocious.

Due to the unique rules of the world, both sides could only use the most primitive method to fight each other inside and outside the city wall.

In this special situation, guns and weapons with considerable lethality would be useful. If used properly, even if they faced hundreds or thousands of enemies, they could still easily win.

At this moment, the believers still didn't understand the power of the guns. They were only shocked by Tang Zhen's method of creating things out of thin air and the exquisite mechanical structure of these guns and weapons.

They were still skeptical about its specific power.

After the five believers successfully fired a Cannonball under sun Jun's command, the onlooking believers all opened their mouths in horror.

Listening to the Thunder-like sound and looking at the huge water pillar on the sea, the believers could not help but feel terrified.

He imagined that if he were to be hit by such a weapon, even if his body was made of iron, he would probably be blown to pieces.

After the shock, it turned into ecstasy, because with this weapon in their hands, the target of the bombardment would also be the enemy.

The thought of the scene of flesh and blood flying in the air during the explosion made the believers extremely excited. They wished they could operate the cannon themselves.

After firing a few more shells, the recruits had understood the general operation method. Then, under the command of Sun Jun, they were divided into artillery squads.

Each squad was responsible for operating and maintaining one cannon. Then, under sun Jun's command, they practiced the basic movements step by step.

Only by being familiar with all the movements could he ensure that there would be no accidents when the real battle began.

From now on, these believers would become full-time artillery soldiers and would not need to fight sea monsters in close combat.

During the artillery drill, Sun Jun also checked the firearms conjured by Tang Zhen, and then taught the other believers how to use them.

Lowering the muzzle of the anti-aircraft machine gun and locking onto the sea monster bones on the beach, Sun Jun suddenly pulled the trigger.

Under the continuous gunshots, the sea monster's skeleton was hit and dust kept splashing up. Even though the skeleton was as hard as steel, it was still full of holes.

The believers who saw this scene once again opened their mouths in shock.

After they came to the defense area, they had already asked why they didn't clean up the bones on the beach to avoid being used as a cover by the sea monsters.

The answer he got was that these bones were too hard and couldn't be destroyed easily.

Even though they had been through countless battles and the ground was dyed red with blood, they still stood tall.

However, looking at the state of the sea monster skeletons being shot by the anti-aircraft machine guns, if they continued to attack, these sea monster skeletons would be destroyed sooner or later.

If the bullets landed on a sea monster or a teammate, even if they were wearing advanced armor, they probably wouldn't be able to withstand a few shots.

After experiencing the power of the cannons and anti-aircraft machine guns, the believers were full of fighting spirit, and their eyes even flashed.

With these guns and weapons, if the sea monsters still broke through the city wall, they could only be said to be a group of complete trash.

under such circumstances, even if they were all killed by the sea monsters, they could not blame anyone.

Just like the previous arrangement, Sun Jun once again drew out some believers and let them be responsible for operating the anti-aircraft machine gun.

On the defense line of the city wall, which was more than a thousand meters long, there were 100 anti-aircraft machine guns arranged. Once they opened fire at the same time, they would have extremely terrible lethality.

If the battle had lasted long enough, the entire beach would have been covered in shrapnel sooner or later.

The ammunition consumption of a machine gun position of this scale would be extremely terrifying. However, to Tang Zhen, who had the ability to create things with his mind, this was not something that required much effort.

It could be said that Tang Zhen alone was able to support the operation of the entire defensive area. If they left him, these guns and weapons would become scrap metal.

After arranging the artillery and machine gunners, Sun Jun began to arrange infantry, snipers, and Grenadiers.

This section of the city wall would withstand the main attacks of the sea monsters, so it was necessary to have perfect firepower coordination to ensure that they could effectively suppress the sea monsters.

The cannons on the mountains on both sides could bombard the surface of the sea, and the anti-aircraft machine guns could block the coast and the diving area.

As for the riflemen and snipers, as well as the Grenadiers and other units, they were responsible for mid-and short-range attacks to deal with those who managed to break through the fire blockade.

It was conceivable that under such a dense fire blockade, the sea monsters could not even get close to the city wall.

As long as the attacks from the city walls did not stop, the sea monsters would die no matter how many they came.

After all the believers had been properly arranged and familiarized with the weapons in their hands, the first round of cooperation training officially began under sun Jun's command.

A series of muffled Thunder-like sounds rang out as the cannons on both sides of the mountain roared at the same time. On the ocean in front of them, huge water pillars shot up into the sky.

When sea monsters attacked, the sea area at this distance would basically be occupied by giant sea beasts.

The sea monsters were huge monsters. They were mainly responsible for transporting sea monsters from the deep sea. Their nature was similar to troop-carrying vessels.

Sometimes, at critical moments, these sea monsters could even forcibly come ashore and force their way to the bottom of the city wall.

Fortunately, these sea monsters could not leave the ocean for too long, or they would suffocate to death. The bones on the beach in the defense area were the remains of giant sea monsters.

In the past, due to the distance, even if the believers on the city walls saw giant sea beasts, I would always say that their hands were cheap.

However, with the large-caliber cannon, everything within 50 kilometers could be considered as an attack range.

As long as the sea monsters dared to appear, they would be immediately attacked by the cannons and blown into a pile of rotten meat.

After the cannon fire ended, the anti-aircraft machine guns on the city wall began to fire, and countless bullets were fired at the beach and shallow water.

Due to the believers' lack of experience, the bullets' trajectories collided from time to time, and the bullets were constantly broken in the air.

Hundreds of anti-aircraft machine guns did not fire at the same time, but split into two batches and fired in a staggered manner, so that the attack would not be interrupted.

Then, another order was given, and the believers lined up at the battlements of the city wall began to shoot. Their weapons were machine guns, and the output of the firepower was also extremely fierce.

The thrower standing at the back picked up a fist-sized high-explosive grenade and threw it into the distance, blowing up the gravel on the beach.

The believers who witnessed this scene were all extremely excited. They couldn't wait to fight the sea monster and see the real lethality of these guns and weapons.

Not only were the believers in the defensive area shocked by the power of the guns and cannons, but even the four-winged birds that appeared from time to time in the sky were also shocked by the terrifying scene.

More and more of them gathered, hovering over the defense area, not daring to land on the ground.

Chapter 2077 The shock of the veteran (1)

The four-winged birds hovering in the air were believers randomly selected from other defense areas after receiving the transfer order.

It was because of the randomness that no matter how strong one was, they could be chosen.

After all, killing on the battlefield could not be treated as child's play. After familiarizing themselves with the environment and companions, they could be more at ease in battle.

The sudden change to a new environment was no longer a matter of adaptation, but a lot of trouble.

Especially in a place like defense zone 153, none of the Veterans would take the initiative to move into that area. That was no different from seeking death.

Even though they were extremely unwilling, after receiving the dispatch order, they had to immediately rush to the defense area at the stipulated time.

Otherwise, every minute of delay would deduct their battle merits, and the longer the delay, the more severe the deduction.

Perhaps in order to make the believers more willing to work for their lives, the Grand temple appeared to be very tolerant in some aspects. Even the commander of the defensive area did not have the right to easily execute the believers.

But in some ways, the Grand temple was extremely harsh. Once the temple gave an order, it must be strictly carried out.

If believers disobeyed orders, their battle achievements would be continuously deducted, and when their battle achievements reached a negative number, they would be punished by the Grand temple.

At this time, the Grand temple would show its terrifying power. No matter where they were hiding, the Grand temple would have a way to find and punish them.

It could be said that in the God's kingdom, all believers were under the control of the Grand temple. It was absolutely impossible to hide and escape the war.

More and more believers rushed over on the four-winged birds. Because they were on high ground, they could see the entire defense area.

The more they looked, the more shocked they were.

Under the bombardment of the artillery, the beach was overturned again and again, and the sea in the distance was boiling like a pot. The feelings in their hearts could no longer be described with words.

They had been complaining in their hearts that they were unlucky enough to be transferred to such a high-risk defense area. It was obvious that they had been sent to their deaths by the Great Temple.

However, when they saw the scene of the cannon fire, the believers suddenly realized that things were not as bad as they had thought.

If the defensive area could maintain such a terrifying attack when the sea monster attacked, then the sea monster would not have the chance to show off its strength.

They were all veterans, and they knew very well what sea monsters looked like when they attacked. Although they were extremely fierce, they were still made of flesh and blood.

No matter how many of them there were, they couldn't withstand such a terrifying attack and were destined to be torn into pieces!

While paying attention to the guns and weapons, the Veterans also noticed the changes in the mountains on both sides. Compared to the shock brought by the gunfire, the changes in the terrain were more incredible.

Only they knew how hard the rocks of these mountains were. Otherwise, they would have been crushed and hollowed out by the sea monsters over the years.

The mountain peak had collapsed for a special reason, and it had nothing to do with the sea monster.

As the mountain peak was too hard, there were even believers who specially excavated the rocks of the mountain peak and then thought of ways to extract the metal inside to make weapons.

The forged weapon was black and shiny. Although it was not a divine weapon, it could still easily break the sea monster's scales.

If the user's strength was strong enough, they could even cut a sea monster into two. If the user engraved a runic magic circle on it, it would be as easy as cutting through iron.

Although weapons were easy to use, they required a large amount of ore to be refined. At the same time, they also needed to pay a sufficient amount of time or a considerable amount of battle merits to obtain.

This also led to the believers having another way to get rich in their spare time, which was to excavate ores and sell them to other believers who needed them.

The believers who could do this were mostly in areas where Wars were not frequent, so they had the free time to mine.

In a place like the 153rd defense area, even if one wanted to make some extra money, they had to ask if the sea monsters agreed.

After being shocked for a while, the old veteran started to think of a way to land.

They didn't dare to stay in the sky for too long. If the four-winged bird were to escape in fear, who knew how long it would take for them to return?

Perhaps on the way back, the battle credits they had accumulated with great difficulty would be directly deducted into a negative number.

He controlled the frightened four-winged birds and forced them to land on the ground, finally gathering in the open space in front of the temple.

At this time, the defense area was busy, and no one paid attention to these transferred believers. They were tactful and took the initiative to enter the temple to report.

As time passed, more and more believers arrived on the four-winged birds. A large group of people had already gathered in the open space, listening to the continuous sounds of gunfire in a daze.

Oh my God, what's going on in the 153 battle area? why is it so different from the legends? "

A believer who had just arrived said. He looked at the smoke rising into the sky with an expression of disbelief.

"I was also wondering about it. The 153rd defense area was just destroyed some time ago, and all the Veterans died.

The soldiers in the defensive area were all newcomers who had just entered the kingdom of God. It could be said that they had no combat experience at all.

Normally, in the 153rd defense area, it was impossible to withstand a single attack from the sea monster. They didn't even have the most basic ability to resist.

However, looking at the scene in front of us, this 153 defense zone is clearly very fierce. Even the top ten defense zones don't have such a powerful attack method, right?"

Another believer shook his head as he spoke. It was obvious that the scene in front of him had given him a great shock, and he wondered if he had entered an illusionary array.

"I've heard someone mention that the commander of area 153 is also a newcomer.

However, this newcomer is terrifyingly powerful. In his first battle, he obtained more than 100000 Battle Points with just a normal bow!"

Everyone's expressions changed at the same time when they heard this. Such a number of Battle Points was simply terrifying. Even if all of them were to join forces, they might not be able to match Tang Zhen's killing speed.

In the temples of the various defense areas, believers could pay battle credits and inquire about the basic information of any believer.

After many believers received the transfer order, they specially inquired about Tang Zhen's experience in an attempt to figure out his background.

They had thought that a newcomer, no matter how strong he was, might not be able to control them.

However, when they saw the terrifying scene in the 153 battle area, these veterans suddenly lost their confidence and even started to panic.

The changes in the defensive area were so huge that anyone with eyes could see it. The new players definitely couldn't do it.

Therefore, all the changes were definitely related to Tang Zhen, including the weapons that were emitting loud noises and raging flames, as well as the mountains on both sides of the defense area.

After realizing this point, those wily old soldiers did not dare to be presumptuous. They clearly understood that Tang Zhen, who was able to do this, definitely had extraordinary means.

If he was blind and wanted to stir up trouble, it was extremely likely that he would be taken as the bird that stood out by Tang Zhen. Then, he would be punished as a warning to others.

Therefore, even if they had complaints, they could only suppress them in their hearts. They would only think about what to do after they figured out the specific situation.

From this point, it could be seen that the Veterans were undoubtedly more cunning than the rookies.

They would definitely not do something reckless like those who were hanged. Instead, they knew how to weigh the pros and cons.

In the defense area, such veterans were not favored by the commander, and they had to be closely watched to prevent any trouble.

After waiting for a while, the sounds of gunfire on the city wall gradually subsided, and then a figure slowly walked over.

When they saw the figure's face clearly, some believers' expressions changed slightly. They lowered their voices and reminded the people around them, "Be careful of this guy. His name is Sun Jun. He's usually very low-key, but no one dares to provoke him in his defense area.

Those who had offended him had all died inexplicably and miserably.

Although everyone knew that this matter was definitely related to him, no one could find any evidence.

Looking at the armor on his body, he should have already become the commander's Deputy. I advise you to be obedient, or else you might not even know how you died!"

Hearing their companion's warning, the Veterans around them were shocked and immediately became well-behaved.

Chapter 2078 Area 153 that attracts attention (1)

Sun Jun walked to the front of the wily old soldiers and swept his cold eyes around, as sharp as a knife.

At this moment, his body was shrouded in a gloomy aura. His face was still shrouded in black gas, which made his bright eyes very obvious.

He was like an evil Dragon sizing up its prey.

Seeing this, the Veterans all looked away, not daring to meet his eyes.

The veteran who knew Sun Jun was secretly surprised. How did he become like this in the blink of an eye?

He didn't know that after he made up his mind to follow Tang Zhen and was prepared to fight, Sun Jun had already started to do his best.

As the commander's Deputy, he had to have enough means to intimidate everyone.

Strength was one aspect, but momentum was equally important. To be able to intimidate people was already half a success.

Sun Jun's strength was not weak, and he had some fortuitous encounters. However, he was usually very low-key and always tried to hide his edge as much as possible.

Among the believers who came from different planes and believed in the incarnations of different gods, if one was too flamboyant, one would only become a target in the eyes of others.

They would secretly spy on the target like hungry wolves, and then look for an opportunity to attack, swallowing the target until not even the bones were left.

In the major defense areas where cooperation was needed to resist the sea monster's attack, such dirty things were common, and the victims were countless.

In order to protect themselves, the Veterans formed factions and divided their forces according to the God they believed in.

Sun Jun had never colluded with other believers, because while he was using the power to protect himself, he would also bear the corresponding hatred.

But even so, there were still some ignorant guys who tried to scheme against him, and the methods they used were very sinister.

Every time he encountered such a situation, Sun Jun would always quietly look for an opportunity, and then secretly kill the other party.

He would not give up until he killed the other party.

The most he had killed was seventy-five believers. He took advantage of the sea monster's attack and killed all of them with its fangs and claws.

It was after that one attack that Sun Jun's reputation spread. No one in the defense area he was in dared to provoke him easily.

The various defense areas of the God's kingdom seemed independent, but in reality, information was communicated very frequently. As long as something worthy of attention appeared, it would be completely spread in a very short time.

In other areas, more and more believers knew about him and warned themselves to be careful when they met Sun Jun.

There were even some busybodies who made a list of the powerhouses of each defense area, and Sun Jun happened to be on it.

Under such circumstances, it was quite normal for him to be recognized by the Veterans.

Looking at the performance of the Veterans, Sun Jun's mouth curled into a sneer. He knew this group of people very well and knew that they were only being honest for the time being.

Obviously, the power of guns and weapons, as well as his own reputation, made these veterans and Wanderers afraid, and they did not dare to be too presumptuous.

However, this was only temporary. If he didn't use some means to completely intimidate them, then it wouldn't be long before these wily old soldiers started to stir up trouble.

However, Sun Jun was not afraid. In fact, he could not wait for someone to cause trouble. Then, he would have a reason to make a move.

I know that you are all very dissatisfied and complaining that you have come to a high-risk defense area, which has forced you to fight with your life on the line.

However, all of this had already become a fact and could not be changed, so there was no use in complaining.

The only thing you need to do is to listen to my commands obediently and do your best to stop the sea monsters when they attack.

I don't expect you to be very brave, but at the very least, you should advance and retreat together. Don't play the same tricks in front of me.

If I find out about this, you'll end up like those corpses hanging on the beach!"

Hearing Sun Jun's cold and murderous warning, the Veterans felt a chill in their hearts. If someone else had said that, they would have only sneered.

Trying to intimidate them was simply courting death. Who knew who would live longer?

However, the person who said those words was Sun Jun, so they had to be on guard. According to Sun Jun's style of doing things, he would definitely do what he said.

The rules were dead, but people were alive. With Sun Jun's methods, he could definitely kill them without breaking any rules.

Since that was the case, it was better to be honest so as not to cause trouble for himself.

After sun Jun gave a warning, he scattered these veterans. Although they were not easy to manipulate, they had rich combat experience.

To be able to survive one extremely dangerous city defense Battle after another, there would not be a single weakling. They would not lack strength and luck.

With the guidance of the Veterans, the new recruits would quickly mature, until they could face endless monsters.

Don't think that these veterans would be stingy in sharing their experience. They knew very well that no matter how strong an individual was, they couldn't beat the strength of a team.

Therefore, they would try their best to impart their experience to the newcomers, allowing them to display stronger combat power. While improving the team's combat power, it was also equivalent to protecting themselves.

The addition of these veterans gave the new recruits a little more confidence. While they were training, they also listened to the Veterans talk about their experience in fighting sea monsters.

As time passed, the Veterans from the other defense areas were all in position. As the monsters could attack at any time, the training never stopped.

While he was shocked by the might of the guns and weapons, he also developed a strong interest in Tang Zhen himself.

Everyone was waiting to see what would happen when the sea monster attacked.

Creating such a sensational effect was in line with Tang Zhen's intentions. He believed that if he had companions, they would definitely notice this matter.

Of course, the premise was that they had already entered the God's kingdom and were assigned to various defense areas.

While the soldiers in the defense area were busy training, Tang Zhen had entered the Grand temple again to inquire about the information of various sea monsters.

It was only then that he realized that the sea monsters that attacked the city walls were of the lowest level, and could only be regarded as cannon fodder.

Apart from that, there were also a variety of special sea monsters. They had different abilities, but because of their small numbers, they would not appear in every battle.

The last time defense area 153 was destroyed, it was because of the appearance of a large number of special sea monsters. The believers in the defense area were caught off guard and eventually lost.

Although these special monsters were not easy to deal with, the points they could earn from killing them far exceeded that of ordinary cannon fodder.

If he had a choice, Tang Zhen hoped that the more special sea monsters he could attack, the better. Only then would he be able to kill them happily.

However, he had no other choice. The special monster would not come to him just because he wanted it.

Therefore, if he wanted to kill the special sea monster and obtain more battle merits, he might need to use some other methods.

Chapter 2079 Beast lure (1)

If he wanted to hunt special sea monsters, he could use a method similar to bait to attract them to defense area 153.

No matter what kind of creature it was, it could be driven by desire and fall into simple or complicated traps.

Once trapped, one's life and death would be in the hands of others, completely out of their control.

Tang Zhen had done this more than once. The most recent time was when he disguised himself as an ancient demon nest to hunt evil demons.

Although this memory had not been restored for the time being, Tang Zhen still had similar thoughts due to his habit.

However, he needed to carefully study what to use as bait. After all, he didn't know the habits of sea monsters, and he couldn't make a move in a hurry.

To deal with this kind of monster, there was no need for complicated arrangements at all. As long as an item similar to a monster lure was created, the sea monsters would swarm like moths to a flame.

That was why he had spent his battle credits to look up the detailed information of these sea monsters, and from there, he had chosen the most reasonable and effective formula.

Although he had the ability to create things with his thoughts and could directly use his thoughts to create bait, the scope of this thought was too large. To materialize it, the consumption was even greater than materializing guns and weapons.

This kind of exchange was not worth it. After Tang Zhen thought about it, he did not choose to conjure it with his will in the end. Instead, he personally prepared it.

Once it was successful, the cost of capturing sea monsters would be greatly reduced, and he could use it without any scruples.

After studying it for a long time, Tang Zhen gradually had an idea and was prepared to try it out as soon as possible.

It required a lot of materials, but they were basically all ordinary items. The consumption of using the ability to create things with one's mind was almost negligible.

At the same time, there was another advantage to creating things with one's will. It could conjure the purest items and use them to mix.

Instead of obtaining a certain raw material first and then extracting it for a second time, resulting in 99% of the items being waste.

To do this, one had to be familiar with the basic elements that made up all things. No matter if they were simple or complicated, they had to be remembered by heart.

For ordinary people, this was harder than ascending to heaven.

However, to Tang Zhen, who had absorbed the saved memories of countless terobo people, this was not a difficult task.

After leaving the temple, Tang Zhen entered the space that was opened up inside the mountain peak. As his thoughts rose, experimental equipment appeared in front of him one by one.

Soon, another long table appeared, and on it were all kinds of colorful items that were pure and free of impurities.

After Tang Zhen swept his gaze over it, he randomly picked up a few items and began to mix them according to the thoughts in his heart.

Sun Jun had come by during this period. However, after seeing Tang Zhen frowning in deep thought, he immediately left so as not to disturb him.

When he saw those experimental equipment, Sun Jun had already realized that Tang Zhen was definitely working on something extraordinary.

After witnessing Tang Zhen's magical ability, Sun Jun couldn't help but have a trace of anticipation in his heart. He wanted to see what kind of surprise Tang Zhen would bring to everyone after the end of the experiment.

There was no day or night in a divine Kingdom, so anyone who arrived here for the first time would feel very uncomfortable.

It was as if time had stopped, and there was no end to it. It made people feel a sense of suffering.

However, Tang Zhen, who was completely focused, did not feel any discomfort at all. On the contrary, his expression became more and more relaxed as time passed.

Looking at him, it was clear that the experiment would be successful soon.

The soldiers on the city wall were still training, but the ocean in the distance was slowly changing.

After the previous bombardment, the sea was filled with the remains of many fish and some monster corpses.

Soon, the monsters nearby were attracted by the smell of blood and gathered in the ocean in front of the defense area, constantly devouring the floating flesh.

Their heads and bodies would pop out of the sea from time to time, causing the sea water to boil like a pot. It was a very shocking sight.

The snipers on the city wall saw this and immediately set up their huge sniper rifles at the battlements, aiming at the sea monsters and launching attacks.

This type of heavy sniper rifle was a modified version. It was nearly 2.5 meters long and used armor-piercing bullets of the same caliber as the anti-aircraft machine gun.

Even an ordinary armored vehicle would not be able to withstand the attack of such a bullet and would be easily penetrated.

Although the sea monster's scales were thick, they could not be compared to metal armor. Naturally, they could not withstand the attack of a heavy sniper rifle.

Under normal circumstances, ordinary people would not be able to control such a weapon at all. The recoil alone was enough to make people collapse.

However, after Tang Zhen's modification, the recoil of this special sniper rifle was greatly reduced. In addition, the believer himself was not weak, so he could completely control it.

Following the sounds of gunshots, the monsters in the ocean were hit one after another. The blood that spewed out dyed the sea red and set off waves.

The monsters that were hit in their vital parts soon stopped struggling, and their bodies floated around with the waves.

The sea monsters that were injured and not dead were roaring and struggling in the ocean. Some of them even rushed up to the shore.

Looking at their appearance, it was clear that their ferocity had been triggered, and they wanted to attack the believers on the city wall.

Even when they were out of the sea, these sea monsters were still as fast as flying, which shocked the soldiers who were seeing sea monsters for the first time.

The machine gunners, who had been waiting for a long time, immediately opened fire and tore the sea monster into pieces the moment it landed on the beach.

Under such intense firepower, no matter how fast the sea monster was, it was impossible to avoid it. everyone, get ready. I'm afraid that it won't be long before more sea monsters attack.

The monsters in the ocean were the most bloodthirsty. Every time a battle broke out, countless low-level sea monsters would be attracted by the smell of blood.

They were not the kind of cannon fodder that participated in the siege. They were mutated fish and sea beasts, so they were in large numbers and were similar to wild monsters.

Every time they were attracted by the smell of blood, the wild sea monsters would attack crazily. The more blood flowed out of the killed monsters, the more wild sea monsters would be attracted.

They would come in an endless stream, and their attacks would not stop unless all the sea monsters nearby were killed in one breath.

Fortunately, compared to the organized humanoid sea monsters, these wild monsters did not like to attack the city walls. They basically only moved in the sea.

However, there were still some ferocious wild monsters that would suddenly rush to the beach and attack the city wall.

If the number was small. The believers could easily take care of them, and they didn't even need to sound the war drums to gather manpower.

However, if there were too many sea monsters, the entire defense area would enter a state of war to avoid any accidents.

It was for this reason that if it wasn't necessary, the players in the defensive areas wouldn't easily kill these monsters to avoid trouble.

Tang Zhen wanted to earn a sea of Battle Points. Hence, he dared to fire at the ocean and attract the sea monsters nearby.

Those veteran soldiers had already guessed Tang Zhen's thoughts. However, they did not have the ability to stop it. as they cursed in their hearts, they also made preparations for battle.

However, it was only then that they realized that their weapons were only suitable for close combat. The sea monsters did not even have the chance to rush up the wall before they were killed one after another on the beach.

Chapter 2080 The attack of sea monsters (1)

Seeing the sea monsters being shot and killed one after another, the recruits didn't even have the chance to rush over. Their faces were full of excitement.

The fear he had for the sea monster had long disappeared. He even felt that the sea monster was nothing.

Looking at the weapons in their hands, they actually had a feeling of love.

It was obvious that everyone knew that without these weapons, the battle would not have been so easy.

The seasoned soldiers who had thought of how to protect themselves in the event of danger were all dumbfounded at this moment.

If this situation continued, they might not be able to get any battle merits until the end of the battle.

If they couldn't get any battle merits, it was equivalent to cutting off their source of income, and they couldn't get anything from the temple.

"There's no way we can fight this battle. Are we just going to watch from the side?"

The seasoned soldiers who never suffered losses immediately looked for Sun Jun, wanting to ask for an explanation.

Although he was a little afraid of Sun Jun's means, he still had to fight for his rights and interests. Otherwise, he would be the only one who would suffer.

In the end, Sun Jun told them that the battle merits for killing monsters would be distributed after the war. At the same time, it would be increased or decreased according to individual performance.

The more capable one was, the more battle merits they would receive.

Even if they didn't use any weapons or kill sea monsters, as long as they participated in the battle, they would still receive the corresponding battle merits after the battle.

At the same time, Sun Jun also warned the Veterans not to think that they could play tricks just because they were distributed uniformly. He would always patrol on the city wall and watch everyone's performance.

Once he found someone who dared to be passive and slack in the battle, he would record it down and deal with it when it was time to distribute the battle merits.

If the veteran wanted to cause trouble, he would not be polite.

After hearing Sun Jun's words, the Veterans did not say anything more, because the other party's explanation was clear enough.

When they returned to their respective platoons, the Veterans seemed to have changed into different people. They stared at the sea in front of them.

At this moment, they were actually like the new soldiers, hoping for more sea monsters to come. These scattered wild monsters were no longer able to satisfy their appetites.

In fact, after thinking about it carefully, this method of not having to fight sea monsters in close combat but being able to distribute battle merits was indeed much more comfortable than before.

The atmosphere on the city wall also became more relaxed. From time to time, everyone would raise their voices and chat, estimating how many sea monsters they could kill.

This kind of state of fighting wholeheartedly was very rare in other defense areas, especially in high-risk defense areas. It was a situation that had never happened before.

Under normal circumstances, the believers would avoid the attacks of sea monsters as much as possible. After all, every battle would cause a large number of casualties.

In the end, it was guns and weapons that gave them confidence. Their desire for battle merits had surpassed their fear of sea monsters.

The gunshots on the city wall were still going on. Sea monsters were killed one after another, and there were only a few monsters left in the sea.

A layer of blood-red, greasy foam had already accumulated on the shore. The corpses of the sea monsters were laid all the way from the shore to the ocean, rising and falling with the waves.

The sea water was bright red and gave off a pungent smell of blood that could be smelled from far away.

Although the believers had killed a large number of sea monsters in a short period of time, once it was evenly distributed, each person would not get much battle merits.

It seemed that only the attack of a real sea monster army would provide enough military merits. Although it would take a huge risk, the return was equally satisfactory.

A wily old soldier looked at the ocean in front of him with a hint of doubt on his face, as if he could not understand why there was no army of monsters appearing.

It was the same for the other believers. They felt inexplicably irritated when they did not see more monsters appear.

Just as the believers were discussing animatedly, a black line suddenly appeared slowly at the horizon.

The Sentry in charge of observing the enemy immediately sent out a warning. Then, they heard the muffled sound of war drums from the temple.

The sound of the war drums meant that the sea monster army was coming. The believers who had been confused before immediately became excited and nervous.

They tried their best to keep their eyes wide open, constantly observing the intersection between the sky and the sea, trying to see how big the sea monsters were.

At this moment, something that looked like sails suddenly appeared in front of them, as if a giant fleet of ships was pushing forward.

Oh my God, how could it be this kind of monster? I'm afraid we're in trouble now!

that's right. The number of monsters is at least hundreds of thousands, or even more!

When the seasoned soldiers saw the sail-like object, they all revealed shocked expressions, looking somewhat incredulous.

The new recruits around them immediately asked in a nervous tone, wanting to know the origin of this sea monster.

The veteran didn't hide anything and immediately told the recruit about the origin of the sea monster.

The thing that looked like a sail was actually a dorsal fin of a giant sea beast. Its size was huge, comparable to a moving Island.

The main function of the giant sea beast was to send the sea monsters to the shore so that they would not be exhausted from the long journey.

The base camp of the sea monsters was located in the deep sea and moved often, in case they were discovered by the believers and targeted by the temple.

In addition to being responsible for transportation, the giant sea beast itself also had a very strong attack power. Its dorsal fins could shoot out acid balls to attack the city wall in the sea.

This type of acid ball was extremely corrosive, and it was not easy to recover from an infected wound. If not treated in time, it could even cause the body to fester.

Once they encountered such a situation, the believers could only pay battle credits and rely on the healing function of the temple to help them heal.

Because the giant sea beast's attack ability was impossible to guard against, and it would also carry a large number of sea monsters, most of the Veterans did not want to see its figure.

The main reason was that the feeling of being beaten up by others and not being able to fight back was extremely sullen.

In fact, in the temple, there were also weapons that could launch long-range attacks, and they were quite powerful.

However, in order to activate a long-range attack, the defending area had to pay a certain amount of war glory before the temple would fire a beam attack.

no matter how powerful the monster was, it would instantly turn into ashes under the light beam that was similar to the runic magic circle.

However, the attack range of the light beam runic magic circle was only one kilometer in diameter, so it was a rather crucial matter to choose the attack Position.

The entire attack process had to be controlled by the commander. As for how many monsters could be killed in a single attack and whether they could recoup their costs, it was entirely up to luck.

The problem was that when using this kind of attack, it was at the moment of life and death, so even if it was a loss, he had to brace himself to do it.

As for the battle merits consumed by the attack, they did not belong to the believers, but the battle merits earned by the defense area itself.

Such military merits could not be used by believers. They could only be used to upgrade the temple, exchange for city defense weapons, and repair the materials needed for the city wall and daily consumption.

If the damage was too great, the temple would automatically be downgraded, causing some items to be unable to be exchanged.

If he wanted to redeem it again, he would have to work hard to kill sea monsters and then level up the temple again.

Although many believers complained about this, they could not go against the rules set by the Grand temple.

what are you afraid of? we have guns and cannons in our hands. We can use these sea monsters as practice!

Sun Jun's voice rang out. When the believers on the city wall heard it, they immediately laughed.

"That's right, kill these sea monsters!"

A new recruit shouted excitedly, and the people beside him immediately echoed, shouting one after another.

The experienced soldiers were the same. Although they were shocked by the number of sea monsters, they were no longer as panicked as before.

He just didn't know if the cannons that were pointed at the sky could cause any damage to this giant sea beast, or even kill it directly.

If he could really do that, the battle merits he would get from killing the giant sea beast would probably make all the believers happy.