

Alternate 2091

Chapter 2091 The newcomer (1)

After Tang Zhen went to the city wall, a man suddenly appeared in the temple that had just been upgraded not long ago.

He was wearing a gorgeous robe, and his face was full of confusion. He didn't understand why he was here.

All the memories in his mind disappeared, and the man in luxurious clothes tried hard for a long time before he remembered his name.

Other than that, he could not remember anything else.

This feeling was not good. It made him flustered and helpless, not knowing what to do.

He looked around vigilantly and found himself in a temple. It was decorated with gorgeous items and mysterious and exquisite murals, which made people subconsciously feel a sense of awe.

The most eye-catching object was the majestic statue. The man in luxurious clothes took a few glances and confirmed that it was the God he crazily believed in.

After seeing the statue, the luxuriously dressed man's heart calmed down slightly.

After a few more glances, he found that the statue seemed to be alive. It was staring at him, full of Majesty.

The worship of gods had been deeply rooted in the bones of the man in fine clothes. He subconsciously walked to the statue and bowed.

Who knew that at this moment, a voice would come from behind him.

"Newcomer, don't dawdle anymore. Come and get your equipment immediately and go to the city wall to take the test.

Now listen well, as a newcomer, and a person who has directly entered Scandinavia, there are some things you must know.

Before you pass the test, you are not allowed to leave the defense area. Otherwise, you will be punished, and in serious cases, you may lose your life.

During the test, you will not be qualified to obtain battle merits, nor will you be qualified to exchange for resources.

However, this is only temporary. After you pass the test, you will still receive the benefits you deserve.

Other than that, I have to say that you're very lucky to have come to defense area 153.

Although the environment here is dangerous, it's also a place where you can realize your dreams. As long as you can live, the future will be limitless."

As the voice rang out, a hunchbacked man with a weathered face and scars all over his body slowly walked over.

He should be extremely tall. Even if he was bending his back to be parallel to the ground, he could still look at the man in luxurious clothes.

All kinds of earrings and pendants hung on his organs, which made him look mysterious and strange.

Although one of his legs had disappeared and was replaced by a metal leg clamp, it still couldn't hide his murderous aura.

"This is a brutal man who has been on the battlefield and climbed out of a pile of corpses!" He said.

Looking at the stranger in front of him and hearing his words, the man in luxurious clothes thought to himself.

The other party's words made the man in luxurious clothes feel confused, but from the content, he could determine that this was not a peaceful place.

Although he wanted to ask a few more questions, the hunchbacked man's expression was cold and he was not in the mood to explain.

He only threw over a set of armor and a saber, then waved his walking stick and sent the man in luxurious clothes flying.

"Hurry up and get out of here. Don't take up space. If there's anything you really don't understand, go ask your companions.

This damn mission is so boring, even if it's just carrying shells up the city wall, it'll be good!"

Listening to the hunchbacked man's complaints, the man in luxurious clothes carefully walked out of the temple with his armor and sword.

Then, he saw something blocking his way. When he looked up again, the man in luxurious clothes opened his mouth in surprise.

"Oh my God, is this a tree?"

The moment he saw the giant tree, the man in luxurious clothes was shocked. Even though he had lost his memory, he was sure that he had never seen such a giant tree.

Some people would definitely believe that it was a mountain.

There was a strange smell in the air. It had a strong fruit fragrance that made people feel relaxed and happy.

There was also a strange burning smell, which made people associate it with war and killing.

Upon closer inspection, there was actually the smell of blood floating in the air.

"Is this a battlefield?"

Just as he had this thought, a group of people, who were also wearing armor, ran past in front of the man in luxurious clothes.

When they saw the man in luxurious clothes, one of them shouted to him, "newcomer, don't just stand there in a daze. Hurry up and work with me on the city wall.

Although he wanted to refuse, when he saw the strange-looking strangers staring at him, the man obediently put on his armor and followed them up the city wall.

The continuous gunshots made him a little dazed, and there were busy figures everywhere on the city wall.

The numerous flame-spewing anti-aircraft machine guns made him feel an indescribable fear from the bottom of his heart. He felt that these things could easily tear apart any living creature.

He then looked outside the city wall and saw a group of monsters swarming up from the ocean.

As they approached the city wall, the monsters' bodies were torn apart as if they were torn to pieces by invisible hands.

The smell of blood he had smelled earlier was from the monsters that had been killed. If it wasn't for the fragrance of the fruits, the smell of blood would have been even stronger.

The man in luxurious clothes was dumbfounded. He was afraid that the ferocious sea monsters would rush up the city wall. At the same time, he was also stunned by the killing efficiency of the anti-aircraft machine guns.

The people on the city wall had all kinds of strange appearances, and it was obvious that they were not of the same race, which was an eye-opening experience.

"What is this place?"

Questions popped up in his mind again, but before he could think about it, someone pushed him back and shouted for him to quickly load the bullet chain.

The man in luxurious clothes did not dare to delay. He quickly learned from the other believers and poured out the bullets in the box.

Touching the cold and heavy bullets, the man in luxurious clothes secretly guessed that the mechanical devices that spewed fire should be shooting these things.

This was a simple and efficient weapon, a Reaper of life!

As he buried his head in loading the bullets, the man in luxurious clothes was in a mess, constantly trying to find the reason why he was here.

"Brother, do you feel lost and don't know what you've encountered?"

There was another believer loading bullets at the side. Seeing the man in luxurious clothes frowning, he asked with a smile.

The man in luxurious clothes hesitated for a moment, then gently nodded.

“To tell you the truth, this is the divine Kingdom. Those who can enter here are all fanatical believers of the God.

What we need to do is to clear out the monsters that have emerged from the sea and resolve the crisis of Scandinavia.

Of course, the gods won't let us pay for nothing. As long as we kill the sea monster, we will be rewarded with battle merits, which can be exchanged for all kinds of items.

Even if you want to increase your strength, you can also exchange for it with battle merits. The more sea monsters you kill, the more rewards you can get.”

Hearing the other party's explanation, the luxuriously dressed man's mouth opened wide in shock. He didn't expect such a thing to actually exist.

“Is what you said true? I can exchange for anything?”

The luxuriously dressed man's voice trembled slightly. If that was the case, it would be a great opportunity.

If killing sea monsters could really fulfill his dream, he would not hesitate even if it meant risking his life.

no one would lie to you. In fact, everyone is the same. We were all summoned here. It's just that we came earlier.

As the two of them were talking, a few fanatical believers who had just been summoned walked out of the temple with blank faces.

Looking at the huge tree in front of them and the continuous sounds of gunfire, the rookies could not calm down for a long time.

Chapter 2092 The great battle begins (1)

After the manpower issue was resolved, area 153 was like a huge meat grinder that began to reap the lives of the sea monsters.

Sea monsters appeared all the time, which also meant a steady stream of battle merits.

Looking at the rapid increase in battle merits, the believers were filled with excitement, and they were all full of fighting spirit.

With Tang Zhen's meticulous arrangements, it was simply too easy to obtain battle merits. If they were to defend another area, they would not even be able to think about such a thing.

Even if the believers risked their lives and fought the sea monsters, they might not get so many battle merits.

The importance of a platform could be seen from this. Compared to it, one's own efforts were even somewhat insignificant.

Although the number of sea monsters was increasing, it was still not the time of true danger. The believers also had enough time to rest.

The sea monsters that appeared at this time were basically wild monsters that swam in the coastal areas. As for the high-level monsters in the depths of the ocean, there were no traces of them yet.

It would take some time for the fruit to reach the deep sea. The Army of sea monsters that arrived first might not be attracted by the fruit, but they would definitely be unable to resist the temptation of the fruit and devour it.

At that moment, the battle would truly begin.

Ever since Tang Zhen had climbed up the city wall, he did not go down. Instead, he sat cross-legged on the stone tower at the peak of the mountain and looked down at the entire defense area.

He would not easily intervene in the battle. Instead, he handed the command over to Sun Jun, and he was only responsible for replenishing ammunition.

In a divine Kingdom without night, it was easy for people to lose their sense of time, and they didn't know how much time had passed.

As time went by, the believers could no longer remember how many sea monsters they had killed. They only knew that the discarded bullet shells had piled up like a mountain.

The fanatical believers who had been summoned here now had a new mission, which was to transport the bullet shells to the temple in exchange for military credits.

Defense area 153 was not short of war credits. This was just to dispose of the garbage so that the defense area would not be covered by bullet shells.

The things that Tang Zhen didn't care about were rare good things to others.

The metal used to make the shell was an excellent forging material that could be completely recycled.

After the temple was recycled, it could be smelted again and exchanged for believers in other defense areas.

Everything in the divine Kingdom needed to be conjured with energy. Without the exchange of battle merits, even spiriters had no right to conjure.

Therefore, the Grand temple had been in business for a long time, and the recycled sea monster materials were proof of this.

As defense area 153 was madly farming for Battle Points, the other defense areas turned their attention to this area again. They had watched the entire process through the live broadcast of the transmission stone.

Looking at the madly increasing Battle Points, the spectators were both envious and jealous. They secretly made up their minds that they had to find a way to imitate this fighting style.

There were many talented people in the various defense areas. Even if they could not do what Tang Zhen did, they could try their best to imitate him.

In the past, they were just lacking in thought, and 99% of the time, they were on the defensive. They had never been like Tang Zhen, who dared to take the initiative to attack the sea monster.

Those who dared to do so were all super experts, and ordinary believers had no chance to participate at all.

Now that they had a target to imitate, it wouldn't take long for each defense area to develop the corresponding means and hunt more sea monsters.

After about three days, the temple, which had just been upgraded not long ago, began to upgrade again.

According to Tang Zhen's settings, as long as the battle merits reached a certain standard, the temple would automatically upgrade.

This was a good thing. Every time the temple automatically upgraded, it would bring a huge boost of confidence to the believers.

Sure enough, when the temple expanded again, the believers who witnessed the scene cheered, as if all their fatigue was swept away.

Tang Zhen saw the upgrading process of the temple but did not care too much. According to his understanding, the temple's upgrade seemed to have no end.

As long as they had enough battle merits, they could continue to level up. This way, the believers would maintain a competitive mentality.

However, leveling up a temple was not as easy as one might imagine. The higher the temple's level, the more difficult it would be to level up. When the temple reached a certain level, the leveling requirement would be in the hundreds of millions.

Some areas spent decades and still couldn't accumulate enough battle merits to upgrade the temple again.

At the same time, the level of the temple directly represented the strength of the defense area.

Originally, area 153 could only be considered as the weakest area. However, with the recent upgrades, it had gradually entered the intermediate area.

The spectators were already mentally prepared for the continuous leveling up of area 153. With such a terrifying hunting method, it would be strange if their levels didn't increase rapidly.

Under the attention of countless gazes, the battle continued.

Countless sea monsters were killed, and their corpses were all devoured by the giant trees, leaving a layer of grayish-white residue on the beach.

The beach, which was originally covered with gravel, was now a vast expanse of white. It looked much more pleasing to the eye than before.

Even the seawater had turned into a clear blue color under the filtering of the roots. It was exceptionally beautiful under the sunlight.

It was a pity that the sea monsters that kept appearing destroyed this beautiful scenery, so no one was in the mood to appreciate it.

After a long wait, the sea monster army finally appeared.

The first monster that appeared in his field of vision was still the giant sea beast that transported the sea monsters. It could be seen from far away.

They almost filled up the ocean and flew towards the shore, setting off waves that were dozens of meters high.

Upon closer inspection, one could see that these sea monsters moved in almost no order, and they were in a state of competition.

On the bodies of these giant sea beasts, there were countless sea monster soldiers. Their eyes were blood red as they stared at the giant tree behind the city wall.

One look at their state and one could tell that they had obviously swallowed the fruit and fallen into a state of madness.

Behind these giant sea beasts, there were countless sea monsters. They were not as fast as the giant sea beasts, but they were desperately swimming forward.

Not all of these sea monsters belonged to the sea monster army. There were also wild monsters that came from nearby, and because they were moving in the same direction, they eventually gathered together.

The entire ocean seemed to have been dyed black by ink, but in fact, there were sea monsters everywhere.

The believers who had been waiting for a long time immediately perked up at Sun Jun's roar, and the cannons that had been silent for a long time began to roar again.

All of a sudden, countless water pillars rose from the sea. The charging sea monsters were hit by cannonballs, and the broken flesh and blood of the corpses and the waves of the sea were flying wantonly.

Even in the face of the heavy fire and countless casualties, these sea monsters continued to charge forward, not caring about the threat of death at all.

In the face of the sea monsters that filled their vision, the attack power of the cannons began to show signs of weakness. Even though the believers fired with all their might, they still could not intercept the sea monsters.

Tang Zhen's brows were slightly knitted when he noticed this scene.

Although he knew that these sea monsters were not enough to pose a fatal threat to the city wall, he could not ignore them.

As the beast lure fruit played its role, high-level sea monsters could attack at any time, and the current number of cannons could no longer meet the needs of war.

Tang Zhen turned around and entered the interior of the mountain peak when he thought of this. He arrived in front of those reserved gaps in the rock wall.

The opening in the rock wall faced the sea. As long as the cannons were placed there, they could completely block the sea in front of the defense area.

There was no need to aim or adjust the angle. As long as the sea monster army entered the predetermined area, they could harvest the sea monsters.

As this thought rose in Tang Zhen's mind, many weapons similar to multi-barrel rocket cannons blocked the position where the gap was.

These cannons were fixed in place and connected to each other, making it easy to control and fire.

It didn't require a lot of manpower to load the shells, but a complicated device to complete it to ensure the continuity of the firepower.

When the multi-barrel cannons on both sides of the mountain were activated, the entire sea surface would be covered, and the sea monsters would have no chance of returning!

Chapter 2093 A difficult victory (1)

The sea monsters that broke through the cannon blockade were once again shot by the anti-aircraft machine guns. Many sea monsters were torn apart before they could even reach the shore.

More and more sea monsters rushed up to the shore and rushed toward the city wall with a crazed look on their faces. They swept over like raging waves.

Many giant sea beasts were also approaching the coast. Under the push of their huge bodies, the water level suddenly rose and surged toward the city wall.

In the blink of an eye, the bottom of the city wall had been soaked in seawater, and it was still rising.

The city wall, which was dozens of meters high, might not be able to withstand the impact of such waves. Perhaps it would not take long for the city wall to be level with the waves.

If this situation was allowed to continue, the city wall would be flooded by the sea and the entire defense area 153 would be swallowed.

If that really happened, even if the believers had thousands of abilities, they would not be able to stop the sea monster's attack.

Seeing this unexpected turn of events, Sun Jun secretly thought that he had miscalculated. He had not considered this point before.

In fact, he couldn't be blamed. After all, it was rare for giant sea beasts to come ashore.

With such a huge body, once it landed on the beach, it would be a moving target and would be easily attacked.

However, under the effect of the beast-luring fruit, the giant sea monster no longer had any concept of danger. It just moved its huge body desperately, constantly twisting on the beach like a big fish that had been stranded.

The sea monsters that had difficulty walking after landing also used the impact of the waves to rush to the city wall. In the blink of an eye, they had already reached the bottom of the city wall.

The situation was precarious. All the believers on the city wall were red-eyed and desperately opened fire. At the same time, they kept throwing all kinds of explosive throwing objects down the city wall.

Waves, flames, and violent explosions, as well as the roars of sea monsters and believers, made the scene chaotic.

The believers' eyes widened when they saw the sea monster in front of them, baring its sharp fangs. There was only one thought in his mind, and that was to keep killing, killing, killing!

It was either you die or I die, there was no third path.

Sun Jun held a machine gun in one hand and continuously swept at the sea monsters that climbed up the city wall. His other hand kept shooting black light balls, and the monsters that were hit instantly turned into blood.

He had never displayed this kind of attack in front of outsiders. Now that he was in a life and death situation, he no longer had the mood to continue hiding.

If they couldn't resist the sea monster, everyone would die, so what was the point of hiding their skills?

The other believers did the same. They used all their strength to stop the sea monsters on the wall from moving forward.

But even so, it still couldn't stop those crazy sea monsters. They climbed up the city wall and were about to rush into the anti-aircraft machine gun position.

At this critical moment, countless tentacles suddenly stretched out from the sea below the city wall and danced in the Furious waves.

In the blink of an eye, the tentacles pierced through the sea monster and sucked it dry.

The boiling seawater quieted down almost instantly, and the sea monsters were swept into the water. After struggling a few times, they never surfaced again.

The believers were stunned, then let out a deafening cheer and subconsciously turned to look behind.

They had all recognized that those tentacles were the roots of the giant tree. As expected, at the most critical moment, the giant tree had resolved the crisis for them.

There were even believers who knelt on the ground and paid their respects to the giant tree. At this moment, in their hearts, the giant tree's status was almost the same as that of gods.

After the giant tree resolved the crisis, the believers regained their confidence and focused on attacking the sea monster again.

Just as the new wave of sea monsters was about to approach, countless tongues of fire suddenly spurted out from the steep rock walls of the mountains on both sides, almost covering the entire sea surface.

The surface of the sea was almost completely overturned, and the sea monster's fierce attack was once again resolved. The believers also had a chance to breathe.

Although they didn't know why there were cannons inside the mountain, it wasn't the time to worry about that. With enough firepower, the believers finally regained the initiative.

After stabilizing their minds, the believers' cooperation became more and more tacit, and the efficiency of killing became higher and higher.

During this period, he had consumed a lot of ammunition, but his gains were equally huge.

The real-time refreshed Battle Points rose like a rocket, and countless spectators were dumbfounded.

After fighting the sea monsters for so long in the defense area, this was the first time they had seen something like this. It made their blood boil.

Even if they were not at the scene, through the live broadcast of the image transmission stone, the spectators could still feel the tense yet excited mood.

There were even some believers who took a day off and rode their four-winged birds to the 153rd defense area just to witness such a rare battle.

There were many believers who did this. For a time, four-winged birds kept appearing in the sky above the 153rd defense area, hovering in the air and watching from a distance.

It wasn't that the spectators didn't want to climb the city walls, but they were absolutely not allowed to do so without permission, or they would be severely punished.

However, from a high altitude, they could see it more clearly. One could imagine the shock in the hearts of the spectators as they watched countless sea monsters being killed.

Everyone knew that after this battle, the rise of area 153 had become unstoppable.

While he was watching the battle, the temple was upgraded again. It now occupied more than 1000 square meters, which was equivalent to the height of a six-story building.

No matter if one looked at it from a distance or up close, it was filled with a sense of mystery, making one feel intimidated.

Although they had witnessed the temple's upgrade with their own eyes, the spectators didn't have much of a reaction. After all, this situation had long been within their expectations.

Everyone's attention had been drawn to the battle, so how could you have the mood to pay attention to the changes in the temple?

The battle went on for a long time, and the believers were already numb to it. They only came back to their senses when the sea monsters were completely killed.

At this moment, the world was deathly silent, and there was only blood-red in front of him.

As the waves churned, the corpses of sea monsters could be seen from time to time, being pulled to the bottom of the sea by the tentacles.

Because of the giant tree's crazy devouring, the sea monsters disappeared without a trace after the battle ended, as if they had never appeared.

After confirming that the crisis had been averted, the believers on the city wall heaved a sigh of relief and collapsed to the ground.

An indescribable sense of fatigue washed over them. All they wanted to do now was to lie on the ground and have a good sleep.

Sun Jun, who was in charge of commanding the battle, saw this and did not berate them. Even with his strength, he felt unusually tired, let alone these believers who had been involved in the battle the entire time.

It was not easy for them to survive until now and kill all the sea monsters.

This was the terrifying thing about fanatical believers. With the support of their beliefs and military achievements, they could completely erupt with shocking power.

Even in such a difficult battle, he gritted his teeth and persevered to the end, not retreating even half a step.

Tang Zhen's voice was transmitted into Sun Jun's ears. Following that, an item fell from the sky and flew into Sun Jun's hands.

Sun Jun took it and took a look. He found that it was a formula for a potion, and the main ingredient was the fruit of the giant tree.

send someone to concoct the medicine. After taking it, it can quickly restore physical strength. The sea monster may rise at any time, so we can't take it lightly.

Sun Jun nodded slightly and immediately headed to the temple to exchange his Battle Points for the required supplementary medicinal herbs.

The number of battle achievements in the defensive area was extremely high, so he did not care about this bit of consumption. Moreover, compared to the total number of battle achievements, this was only a drop in the ocean.

After the exchange of herbs was completed, Sun Jun called for the believers who were in charge of logistics below the city wall. He asked them to pick the fruits from the giant tree and mix them into juice to distribute to the tired believers.

After the concoction was successful, Sun Jun took a sip, and his eyes suddenly lit up.

He found that the effect of this medicine was quite magical. After drinking it, it would be rapidly absorbed by the body.

Then, he could feel traces of energy flowing out of his body and spreading to his limbs.

The most important point was that the medicine was not only for recovering physical strength, but it was also extremely helpful for improving cultivation.

This was especially true in a situation where one's physical strength was exhausted. If one were to take this potion, it would be able to achieve twice the effect with half the effort.

Sun Jun was not an ignorant person. After feeling the effects of the potion, he immediately concluded that this potion was hard to get.

If it was exchanged through the temple, one would probably need to consume a lot of battle merits to obtain it. However, it was currently being distributed by Tang Zhen as a benefit.

Clearly, Tang Zhen did not only focus on battle achievements. He also took great care of his subordinates and gave them extremely generous rewards.

To be able to follow such a strong person, it was undoubtedly an extremely lucky thing for Sun Jun and the believers.

Chapter 2094 The first exploration of the deep ocean (1)

After the battle, the 153rd defense area had a short period of peace, and the believers were able to catch their breath.

The spectators had already retreated one after another, their faces full of longing, as if they were hoping that the battle would last longer.

Although the battle had ended, the gunshots did not stop. They would suddenly ring out from time to time.

Although there were still sea monsters attacking, they were only scattered. It might take some time for a large Army of sea monsters to arrive.

The believers seized the time and went to the temple one by one to exchange for supplies, changing all their armors to light high-quality leather armor.

There was no need to fight the sea monsters at close range while defending the city wall. If he wore heavy metal armor, it would undoubtedly increase his physical strength.

In the last battle, many believers were so tired that they could barely move because their armors were too heavy.

Although it was only leather armor, its exchange price was not much cheaper than metal armor, and its defense was better.

You get what you pay for. The materials of the Grand temple were genuine, and there was no exaggeration.

Although the price was not cheap, after the battle, the believers had all received a large amount of battle credits, which was more than enough to buy advanced armor.

At the same time, the believers also exchanged for cultivation resources and seized the time to improve their cultivation.

No matter when, one could not ignore the improvement of one's own strength. The true path of cultivation was to have strong skills and sharp weapons.

With enough battle credits and the fact that they could eat a giant tree's fruit every day, the strength of the believers in the defense area began to increase rapidly.

However, the problem of insufficient manpower had not been effectively alleviated. Although fanatical believers were summoned every day, it was only a drop in the bucket.

According to the length of the city wall of the 153rd defense area, it would take at least 10000 people to be considered a full force, but now there were only half of them.

As for the other defense areas, the number of people had long been overstaffed by more than several times. In the face of an endless sea monster, no commander would complain about having more people.

On this point, area 153 was clearly at a disadvantage.

If they could not solve the problem as soon as possible, when more and more powerful sea monsters attacked, area 153 would be in danger.

On the huge teleportation formation in the divine temple, a hundred people would appear every time. Their faces were filled with confusion and excitement as they kept looking around.

The dwarf, the horned helmet, and the others who had followed Tang Zhen had all arrived at this moment. They immediately greeted Tang Zhen.

Looking at the huge city wall and the endless number of believers, the despaired people were very excited.

They originally thought that they would not be able to meet each other again after the last time they parted, but they did not expect Tang Zhen to actually send someone to pick them up.

The midget and the others were not surprised when they heard that Tang Zhen had become the commander of the defensive area. With Tang Zhen's strength, he would be the most dazzling existence no matter where he went.

Even though the veteran who had carried out the mission had made it clear that there was a certain risk in entering the kingdom of God, the despaired people did not hesitate at all.

Staying in the city of despair was also dangerous. Even if he controlled a city, he would still have to face the threat of the remnants of the kingdom.

Since that was the case, he might as well enter the divine Kingdom. At least he would have the chance to earn battle merits to improve his strength.

Moreover, for the desperators, obtaining a pass to go to Scandinavia had always been their goal. It was just that they had been controlled by the remnants of Scandinavia in the past.

As long as one had a brain, they would not miss this once-in-a-thousand-years opportunity. Otherwise, it would be too late for regrets.

As for those who missed the opportunity, they would probably have to spend the rest of their lives in the city of despair. As the dimensional portal was closed, no fanatics would ever enter there again.

This was only the beginning. With Tang Zhen's sneer and face-slapping last time, he believed that the spirit envoy would definitely not let the remnants of Scandinavia off easily.

If no fanatic believers entered the city of despair, this small world that received believers would be useless. The Grand temple would shut down the energy supply, and the God's stone mine would slowly disappear.

Without the protection of the God's stone, the runic magic circle on the city wall would slowly lose its protective function and would no longer have the effect of intimidating monsters.

In a small world where monsters ran rampant, it was simply a disaster without any means of defense against monsters.

Perhaps it wouldn't take long for the city of despair to become a paradise for monsters. As traitors, the survivors of the kingdom of God would also be hunted down by the monsters in fear.

Good and evil would always be rewarded at the end. Because of Tang Zhen's participation, the remnants of Scandinavia finally began to suffer their own consequences.

After Tang Zhen met up with the dwarf, Xiao Wu, and the others, he chatted with them to appease them. Then, he let Sun Jun arrange tasks for them.

After the horned helmet and the others arrived, the temple's teleportation formation started to operate continuously, sending over batch after batch of despaired people.

By the time the last batch of desperators arrived, the number of believers in the defense area had already exceeded 10000, and the problem of insufficient manpower was barely solved.

It was obviously impossible to have tens of thousands or even hundreds of thousands of believers in a short time like the other defense areas.

Tang Zhen made his move again, using the magical ability of the map Modification plug-in to increase the height and width of the city wall.

Even if the sea water rose and spread, it would not be able to drown the city wall, which eliminated a big hidden danger.

When the spectating believers saw this, other than being endlessly shocked, they were increasingly convinced that Tang Zhen was an extremely strong person.

After this matter, Tang Zhen's prestige was even higher. It could be said that he had hundreds of people responding to his call.

After everything was settled, Tang Zhen called Sun Jun over and seriously advised him.

After that, he quietly left area 153 and headed straight to the deep sea on a small boat.

He planned to go out for a while and kill high-level sea monsters to gain battle merits before returning to the defense area.

Only by doing two things at the same time could he ensure that he would obtain more battle merits. This was the plan that Tang Zhen had long since made.

As the ship went deeper and deeper, sea monsters appeared one after another and launched crazy attacks at Tang Zhen.

Every time this happened, Tang Zhen would use his mental energy to drive the flying sword-like weapon to kill those sea monsters in an instant.

These were all low-level sea monsters, and killing them would not reward them with many battle merits. Occasionally, some special sea monsters would appear, but the number was not satisfactory.

This situation could only mean that he had not reached the real deep sea area. Otherwise, there would have been groups of high-level sea monsters.

This situation lasted for a few days before Tang Zhen finally saw a giant skeletal warship on the vast sea.

The skeletal warship was 50 meters long, and no one knew what kind of monster it was when it was alive. After some simple modifications, it became a moving Island in the ocean.

Under the drive of the runic magic circle, the skeletal warship moved very fast. Otherwise, it would be impossible to track the moving sea monster nest.

On the skeletal warship, there was a group of believers wearing all kinds of armor as they looked at Tang Zhen silently.

“Brother, are you looking for a sea monster nest? If you are, why don’t you join us?”

On the skeletal warship, a tall man with hideous tattoos all over his body roared at Tang Zhen.

Tang Zhen gently nodded. After which, he leaped and landed on the skeletal warship.

Looking around, there were about 300 to 400 believers. Each of them was quite powerful and could be a commander in each of the major defense areas.

No matter if it was his personal strength or his armor and weapons, they were not something that ordinary believers could compare to.

“Brother, we’re currently tracking down a sea monster’s lair, and I reckon that a great battle will break out soon.

If you have companions, you can call them to act together. With one more person, our chances of winning will increase!”

The tattooed man sized Tang Zhen up before asking in a muffled voice.

“I’m moving alone. I don’t have any companions.”

The tattooed man did not say anything after hearing Tang Zhen’s words. He only asked him to find a place to rest and reminded him not to disturb other people’s training.

When Tang Zhen saw that those believers had closed their eyes to cultivate and had no intention of communicating with others, he learned from them and found an empty space to sit down.

He had just entered the deep sea and was not particularly familiar with the situation here. Following these believers was naturally the best choice.

Chapter 2095 Sea monster Lair _

The sailing process was dull and boring, and there was no other sound except the sound of the waves.

The creator of the skeletal warship was obviously an expert. He could lock onto the sea monster's nest and keep tracking it through a special method.

As for the power of the skeletal warships, the believers had to input energy at a fixed time to pay for the ride.

The believers did not communicate at all. They just cultivated quietly, as if everything had nothing to do with them.

They had gathered together only because they couldn't destroy the sea monster nest alone.

Compared to the truly strong, the strength of these believers was still a certain distance away, and the area of activity was only close to the deep sea.

As for the true depths of the ocean, they did not dare to approach it easily because the monsters there were too powerful.

Even if they increased their manpower by several times, they were still no match for the fierce sea monster. They could only be crushed one-sided.

Since no one was talking, Tang Zhen was unable to obtain more information. He only knew that the warship was tracking a sea monster's nest.

Tang Zhen was very interested in the sea monster's lair. This was because he could obtain tens of millions of Battle Points just by successfully destroying a sea monster's lair!

Although the amount of battle merits was shocking, it was enough to prove the difficulty of clearing the sea monster nest. Otherwise, there would not be such a reward.

The believers on the ship also knew this, so they still wanted to recruit more companions even though they had hundreds of people.

Even in such a situation, the believers might not be able to destroy the sea monster nest. Most of the time, they would kill high-level sea monsters and look for opportunities to destroy the sea monster nest.

Since there was no one to communicate with, Tang Zhen simply closed his eyes and cultivated. He would naturally sense it when the sea monster's nest appeared.

A few days later, the sea monster's nest was finally revealed.

In the pitch-black ocean, a large area of clouds and mist appeared, and lightning flashed around it.

From afar, it looked like a crack in hell, displaying a terrifying power.

In the ocean below the clouds, there were countless sea monsters rolling and jumping, but they were only one-third the size of normal sea monsters.

They greedily devoured the clouds and mist, and their bodies grew rapidly. In a very short time, they had become the size of normal sea monsters.

After a batch of sea monsters grew up, they would dive into the nearby Sea area, and new sea monsters would immediately appear.

It was like a monster-making factory, constantly producing cannon fodder with shocking efficiency.

Obviously, the cloud was not simple. It had the strange ability to make sea monsters grow in a short time, which was somewhat similar to the power of the origin.

The problem was that sea monsters spawned by such extreme means were actually a kind of deformed product, and they would die suddenly after a short time.

Therefore, after the sea monsters were born and gathered enough numbers, they would go straight to the major defense areas without wasting any time.

The followers did not hesitate any longer after they had found out the result of their pursuit. The moment they got close to the sea monster's nest, the followers were all ready for battle.

The sea monsters also discovered the skeletal warships. With a wave of anger, giant sea monsters appeared one after another from the bottom of the sea.

Their bodies were huge, and their heads were completely covered in hard bone shells, with long, sharp horns growing all over them.

Once hit by such a monster, even a city wall that was more than ten meters thick would be pierced through.

At the bottom of the sea near the skeletal warship, countless black shadows also appeared. They hit the warship from time to time, making dull sounds.

"Kill!"

At this moment, there was no need for extra words. The believers attacked the sea monsters around them one after another.

Instead of staying on the warship, they flew into the ocean and cut through the hordes of monsters.

Compared to ordinary believers, these believers already had the ability to walk on the waves, which was the most basic requirement for entering the deep sea to hunt sea monsters.

Otherwise, in the ocean where there was no place to land, once they encountered sea monsters, they would almost certainly die.

If it wasn't for the suppression of the divine Kingdom's rules, preventing cultivators from using their full strength, these believers would have been able to fly in the sky and burrow underground with their cultivation.

The battle had already begun. Tang Zhen was naturally unwilling to fall behind. He similarly leaped and flew towards the surface of the sea.

While he was still in the air, several streams of light appeared around him and shot toward the sea monsters like lightning.

As the streams of light danced and shuttled back and forth, they exuded an indescribable sharp aura. Just one look was enough to make one's scalp go numb.

The sea monster's hard scales couldn't resist Liu Guang's attack at all. They were instantly cut into pieces, leaving only broken corpses and remains wherever he passed.

Compared to the other believers. Tang Zhen's killing efficiency was over ten times higher. This caused him to immediately become the focus of the battlefield.

Those believers who originally did not care about Tang Zhen had their mouths wide open in shock. Their faces were filled with surprise.

It was only now that they realized that the human cultivator who had boarded the ship halfway was actually a super powerful being!

Many believers were secretly regretful. If they had known that Tang Zhen was so powerful, they would have interacted more with him back then. Perhaps they might have been able to obtain some guidance.

It was a pity that after Tang Zhen had displayed his true strength, it would inevitably cause others to feel disgusted if they befriended him again. Tang Zhen might not even pay attention to them.

Sighing in their hearts, the believers threw away their messy thoughts and continued to deal with the sea monster in front of them.

More believers were surprised and glad. After confirming Tang Zhen's strength, they were more confident in destroying the sea monster nest.

The believers' morale was greatly boosted. Even when they were faced with a large number of sea monsters, they did not retreat at all and slowly moved closer to Tang Zhen.

Tang Zhen did not care about the changes in his surroundings. Instead, he placed all his attention on controlling his weapon and continuously harvesting the sea monster's life.

When all the sea monsters in front of him were cleared, Tang Zhen stared at the misty area in front of him and headed straight for the misty area alone.

In the blink of an eye, he had entered the clouds and heard the roars of sea monsters.

Tang Zhen appeared and disappeared from time to time within the clouds. No matter how the tentacles attacked, he was completely unscathed. He merely continued to attack.

An earth-shattering roar was heard. Then, the sea level rose, and a piece of land rose from the ocean.

There were countless purplish-red flesh tubes on this strange blackish-gray land, and small sea monsters that were one foot long kept crawling out of them.

This was the nest of sea monsters. It was constantly breeding sea monsters, and it was completely a malignant tumor of the God Kingdom, a moving diseased cell.

There were countless similar sea monster lairs in the sea, and it was impossible to kill them all.

The giant tentacle headed straight for Tang Zhen. It was obvious that the sea monster nest had already realized that Tang Zhen was the biggest threat among all the believers present.

As long as he was killed, the other believers would not be a threat at all.

Tang Zhen's eyes gleamed the moment the sea monster's lair appeared. He had already flown high up in the sky in an instant.

"If you don't want to die, leave this place quickly!"

After hearing Tang Zhen's warning, the believers hesitated for a moment before they returned to the skeletal warships and quickly retreated to the periphery of the battlefield.

Although they were somewhat reluctant to part with their battle achievements, these believers were extremely clear in their hearts that Tang Zhen was likely going to immediately unleash a big move after this warning.

If you don't want to be affected and lose your life, run as far as you can without any hesitation.

Tang Zhen extended his right hand forward after the group of believers had left. A spherical object suddenly appeared. Its surface was covered with dense runes.

The moment the ball appeared, the sea monster nest seemed to feel a fatal crisis. After letting out a strange long roar, it wanted to dive into the sea to hide.

Unfortunately, its movements were still a step too slow. The moment it was about to enter the water, the spherical object broke away from Tang Zhen's control. It was like a red-hot iron ball falling into butter as it directly entered the body of the sea monster's nest.

After a dozen breaths, a loud noise came from the bottom of the sea, and a huge cloud rose into the sky.

The waves set off by the violent explosion swept in all directions, and it took a long time before they slowly subsided.

The sea monster's nest had been destroyed, and the surrounding sea was full of corpses, all killed in the explosion just now.

The believers who had witnessed the entire process were all dumbfounded. They could not believe that there was such a terrifying attack.

By the time the believers recovered their senses and went to look for Tang Zhen's traces, they discovered that he had already disappeared without a trace.

Chapter 2096 Ship building plan (1)

After the waves of the explosion subsided, the believers drove the skeletal warship to the area where the battle had taken place.

The sea monster's nest had been completely destroyed, turning into burnt meat that was scattered everywhere in the sea.

Such a terrifying destructive power left the group of believers dumbfounded. At the same time, they were secretly glad that they had evacuated in time. Otherwise, they would probably be scattered and drifting along with the tide at this moment.

Although the sea monster Lair was completely destroyed, there were still some valuable materials that could be extracted and exchanged for a large amount of battle credits when brought back to land.

Tang Zhen looked down on these things. In the end, those believers benefited from them and could be considered as making up for their losses.

In fact, even if Tang Zhen did not participate in the battle, it was impossible for these believers to destroy the sea monster's nest. At most, they would clear the monsters on the periphery and find a suitable opportunity to try and destroy the sea monster's nest.

If they were a little careless, they might be completely annihilated. They would not be like now, where they could easily make a fortune while cleaning up the battlefield.

After Tang Zhen destroyed the sea monster's lair, he continued to search in the ocean for a new one.

Perhaps it was because his luck had run out, but apart from a few high-level sea monsters, Tang Zhen did not discover anything else.

It could only be said that the area of the sea was too large, and the sea monster's nest was in a roaming state. Sometimes, one might not be able to find traces of the sea monster even after searching the sea for several years.

Fortunately, he had already destroyed a sea monster's nest, so this trip was not in vain. The battle credits he had obtained were enough for him to exchange for one-tenth of the memory fragments.

Since he could not find the sea monster's nest in a short time, there was no need to stay any longer. He had been out for a while, and it was time to return to the defense area to replenish his ammunition.

Without him, the guns and cannons in area 153 would be useless. They would not be able to stop the sea monsters.

Compared to hunting sea monsters alone, area 153 was a long-term and stable source of points. He had to ensure that there were no problems.

After making up his mind, Tang Zhen immediately returned.

On the way back, Tang Zhen recalled the skeletal warship and felt a little touched.

The believers could only rely on the city walls to defend passively because they had no one to rely on in the boundless ocean.

For ordinary believers, there was almost no hope of survival once they left the warship.

Furthermore, the sea monsters were ferocious and fearless when they attacked. Some of the giant sea monsters were even bigger than the skeletal warships.

Under such circumstances, only when the believers had enough cultivation would they dare to enter the ocean to hunt monsters, and they had to form groups.

If he could build a giant warship so that ordinary believers could also sail on the ocean, would he be able to obtain more military achievements?

As long as the warship's defense and attack power were strong enough, Tang Zhen could completely promote it to all defense areas.

Guns and weapons had already become famous, and warships carrying the same weapons that could gallop across the sea would definitely attract the interest of those believers.

As long as the ordinary believers knew that they could also use warships to destroy the sea monster's nest, there would definitely be many people who would try.

Although this idea was good, if he wanted to successfully implement it, he needed to make sufficient preparations.

Even if Tang Zhen could use his will to materialize objects, a battleship was different from a gun. It would definitely consume a great amount of energy in order to successfully materialize it.

Moreover, he didn't just want one warship. He would make it according to his needs. Perhaps he would only have a few, or even a few hundred.

As for the specific situation, it would depend on the situation.

Tang Zhen made up his mind. After he returned to the defense area, he would immediately prepare for this matter.

Tang Zhen did not waste much time after locking onto the position of defense zone 153. He returned to the defense zone.

At this time, a battle had just ended in the defense area. The sea was filled with a pungent smell of gunpowder, but because the roots of the giant tree had devoured and cleaned up the sea, there were not many corpses on the sea.

After the believers on the city wall noticed Tang Zhen, they immediately greeted him loudly with joy on their faces.

Although Tang Zhen didn't have much contact with these believers, he had already become an existence of faith in their hearts.

Some time ago, when Tang Zhen left the defense area, although the believers were still fighting the sea monsters under sun Jun's command, there was always a kind of worry in their hearts.

Through all kinds of magical means, the believers already knew how strong Tang Zhen was. They believed that with him in charge, the sea monster would definitely not be able to rush up the city wall.

When he was not in the defensive area, the believers felt that they had lost a safety guarantee, and their morale during the battle was never high.

There were even some believers who speculated that Tang Zhen might have encountered danger in the deep sea, which was why there was no news from him for so long.

Therefore, when they saw Tang Zhen return from the deep sea, the believers immediately felt as if they had a backbone and felt extremely at ease.

This degree of popularity was extremely rare in other defense areas. It was enough to see how high the prestige Tang Zhen had accumulated during this period of time.

Tang Zhen's gaze swept across everyone. After which, he nodded gently and flew into the divine temple.

After checking the battle merits that he had exchanged for recently, Tang Zhen had a private conversation with Sun Jun. Then, he rode the six-winged bird to the Grand temple.

This time, other than exchanging for memory fragments, he was also prepared to communicate with the spiriters to see how much support his ship-building plan would receive.

Tang Zhen had already understood the rules of the spiritual envoy. As long as he could kill sea monsters on a large scale and his request was not too excessive, he would obtain the spiritual envoy's greatest support.

Of course, this kind of treatment was only for people like Tang Zhen. Even if ordinary believers had similar thoughts, they might not get the support of the spiriters.

The reason for this was nothing more than a lack of strength, unable to support his dreams.

They didn't speak along the way. After Tang Zhen arrived at the Great Temple, the spirit envoy appeared to meet him again.

Tang Zhen first exchanged his Battle Points for memory fragments. After he completely absorbed them, he raised the idea of building a warship.

He described the warship as a mobile defense area on the sea, which could effectively attack high-level sea monsters and clear out their nests.

In this way, they could make use of the spare combat power. If they could form a certain scale, the effect of the attack would even exceed the defense area.

"Building a battleship requires a large amount of materials. Whether it's through battle credits or through my own conjuring, it's not very appropriate.

That's why I'm planning to use the mountain as a material for the ship. Its quality far surpasses metal, and it's a pretty good material for building ships.

In the sea near the defense area, there are many huge rocks that have collapsed and fallen into the water. We can make use of them.

In order to increase the warship's defensive power, I'm preparing to inscribe a runic magic circle on it to give it a stronger defensive power and a higher speed.

I'll provide all the necessary materials for the battleship and the weapons on the battleship, so the ownership will naturally belong to me.

the only problem now is that we can't guarantee the supply of supplies, so I hope to build a temple on the warship.

In this way, the believers can directly exchange for supplies on the warships, and at the same time, they don't have to return to the shore to replenish their supplies. It will become a real mobile defense line on the sea."

After hearing Tang Zhen's story, the spiritual envoy fell into silence. It was obvious that he was considering the feasibility of this.

"It's not difficult to build a temple on the warship. I can promise you right now.

The various ammunition required by the warship can also be traded through the temple. I will only take a small amount of battle merits.

Now, I just want to know how to use these warships.

Are you planning to use it in the defensive area, or are you going to promote it so that other believers have the opportunity to use it?"

Regarding the spirit envoy's question, Tang Zhen simply expressed that he could share the warship with other believers.

The more believers who used the warship, the more benefits Tang Zhen would obtain. If only defense area 153 used it alone, it would undoubtedly affect the speed at which he could harvest his battle merits.

The truth had already proven the power of guns and cannons. The warships that Tang Zhen had meticulously built should have even more powerful offensive capabilities. They would definitely shake all the major defensive areas of the entire divine Kingdom.

Chapter 2097 Deja vu (1)

According to Tang Zhen's plan, after the warship was completed, the believers could buy it through battle merits.

Because the manufacturing process required a huge cost, if one wanted to buy a warship, they had to pay a huge amount of battle credits.

Tang Zhen wasn't prepared to earn too much in this area. Instead, he would give a reasonable price to prevent interested buyers from being scared away by the huge price.

In fact, after careful calculation, it was clear that compared to the possible benefits, it was completely worth it no matter how much battle merits they paid.

After the believers bought the warships, they needed to buy ammunition from Tang Zhen through the temple on the ship. This was another long-term stable income.

If one didn't want to buy the warship in full, they could also choose to cooperate with Tang Zhen. After paying a small fee, they could obtain the right to use the warship and distribute the battle merits of killing sea monsters according to proportion.

This method was the easiest to be accepted by the believers. After all, there was no need to pay a price, as long as one had enough courage.

This was also the method that Tang Zhen hoped to promote the most. After all, the majority of the believers were unable to take out such a large number of battle merits. This kind of cooperation was undoubtedly more suitable for them.

According to Tang Zhen's plan, the believers who cooperated to use the warship had to pay him at least half of the battle merits.

If he could release a hundred battleships, Tang Zhen would be able to collect a continuous share of the profits. If everything went smoothly, he should be able to recover his capital soon.

In addition to this, there was another method, which was to accept custom orders from believers, and Tang Zhen would collect the manufacturing fees.

As long as he paid enough battle credits, Tang Zhen would be able to build whatever kind of warship the believers needed.

After hearing Tang Zhen's plan, the spiritual envoy said that Tang Zhen could start at any time and he would provide as much support as possible.

The spiritual envoy was also filled with anticipation for Tang Zhen's warship plan. If it was confirmed that this path was feasible, then Scandinavia would have another effective way to eliminate sea monsters.

According to Tang Zhen's request, the spirit envoy would release a message through the temple to recruit believers who were proficient in runic magic circles and other skills.

As long as they felt that their strength was up to the task, they could apply to the temple and then obtain the qualification to go to the 153 defense area.

There were many talents in the divine Kingdom, but because of the special environment, they did not have the opportunity to show their talents.

Now that Tang Zhen was willing to pay military merits to recruit helpers, he believed that there would definitely be many believers who would actively respond and head to the 153rd defense area.

Anyone with a discerning eye could see that after Tang Zhen's transformation and arrangement, the 153rd defense area was no longer a high-risk area. It could even be said to be impregnable.

In addition to the fact that they could earn battle merits continuously and receive many benefits, the believers in area 153 were getting more and more envious.

For those believers who were capable and liked stability, how could they miss such a good opportunity?

After everything was discussed, Tang Zhen left the Grand temple and prepared to ride the six-winged bird back to the defense area.

Time waits for no man. The battleship plan had to be carried out immediately. Moreover, with his strength, he could definitely think of doing it.

Who knew that just as he left the Grand temple, someone would block his way. Although the other party did not speak, Tang Zhen could still confirm that the other party was waiting for him.

Tang Zhen frowned slightly as he looked at the cultivator in front of him. He kept feeling that the other party was familiar.

This feeling made him very uncomfortable. Being unable to make an accurate judgment on a matter could easily make him make the wrong decision.

At the same time Tang Zhen frowned, the other party sized him up seriously, as if he was confirming something.

After seeing Tang Zhen's expression, that cultivator smiled and explained, "Recently, your defense area has become very famous. From time to time, I can watch the live broadcast on the transmission stone, and I also happened to see your face.

If I'm not wrong, we should have known each other before we entered this place, and we might even be companions."

Tang Zhen nodded. He also had such a guess.

Although this scene gave him the feeling of meeting an old friend in a foreign land, Tang Zhen did not feel the slightest joy. His mood was still as calm as an ancient well.

It didn't matter to him whether they knew each other or not.

Even though they had entered this place as a group, their current goal was to improve their strength as much as possible. They were all competitors.

If they wanted to obtain it successfully, they had to rack their brains and use all kinds of methods. In the face of such a great opportunity, no one would choose to give in.

It would be best if they could cooperate, but if they couldn't, it was best not to drag each other down.

If such a thing really happened, even if they were once companions, there was a possibility that they would become enemies.

Furthermore, there was another possibility. The other party was actually his enemy, so he felt familiar.

It was only because of the loss of memory that he had forgotten some key points, which was why he had such a familiar feeling.

Therefore, Tang Zhen did not plan to have too much contact with the other party before he recovered all of his memories. This was to prevent any unforeseen events from happening.

"I also feel like I've seen you before, but what business do you have here?"

Tang Zhen didn't want to waste too much time. Therefore, he directly asked the other party why he had come. Only then would he make his next plan.

"I've found a sea monster Lair gathering place. The initial judgment is that there are at least hundreds of sea monster lairs, and even a mother nest of sea monsters under the sea.

If we can destroy it, we'll be able to obtain at least a few billion, or even tens of billions of Battle Points!"

The cultivator couldn't hide his excitement at this point. He said excitedly, "This is a great opportunity that I can't miss, or else it'll be too late for regret.

However, there are too many of them, and I can't destroy them all by myself. So, I'm going to gather a group of experts to join in the operation.

Your strength is beyond doubt, so I would like to invite you to participate in the operation. I wonder if you are interested?"

Tang Zhen frowned when he heard that there were hundreds of sea monster lairs and even mother lairs.

If the other party was not lying, this piece of information was undoubtedly extremely important, even priceless.

If they could successfully destroy that gathering place, they would definitely be able to obtain a huge amount of battle credits. Even if it was a cooperative operation, the benefits would definitely satisfy the participants.

Although he said this, Tang Zhen was not overly excited. This was because he was different from the other believers.

According to the current speed of obtaining Battle Points, it wouldn't be long before Tang Zhen's memory would be completely restored.

Next, he could either choose to leave this place or continue to accumulate battle achievements until he had ten billion battle achievements and completed the upgrade of his strength.

Tang Zhen was more inclined to the latter. After all, he was unable to be certain if he would be able to re-enter the divine Kingdom after leaving.

At his level of cultivation, it was extremely difficult to improve further. Now that the opportunity was in front of him, he would not miss it easily.

Obtaining 10 billion Battle Points was not something that could be done in a day. Now that such a good opportunity had appeared in front of him, it was a pleasant surprise.

I don't want to participate for the time being. You'd better find someone better. Goodbye!

After leaving behind these words, Tang Zhen directly turned around and left. He did not have the slightest hesitation.

Although the information provided by the other party was extremely tempting, Tang Zhen did not agree easily. Instead, he planned to make a decision after he had recovered his memory.

If the information was true, he would be able to find some clues as long as he investigated carefully. Then, he would be able to determine the exact location of the sea monster gathering place.

If it was possible, Tang Zhen wanted to enjoy these battle merits alone and not share them with everyone.

As he watched Tang Zhen's departing back, that cultivator's eyes slightly narrowed as an invisible cold glint flashed across his eyes.

"could it be that he sensed something and didn't dare to participate?"

tang zhen, oh tang zhen, you're really cautious. however, i believe that you'll still go sooner or later.

Because for someone like you, you can't resist this kind of temptation. As long as you get the news, you'll rush to Xuanji like a moth to a flame."

Chapter 2098 The plan begins (1)

Tang Zhen was unable to see through a person's heart without using any means. Naturally, he didn't know what the cultivator that he seemed to know was thinking.

However, the other party gave him a very uncomfortable feeling, which made him secretly vigilant. Perhaps someone had already set their eyes on him and was ready to take action.

This situation was not unexpected. After all, he had been in the limelight during this period of time, and almost everyone knew about him.

However, this was the result that Tang Zhen wanted. Regardless of whether it was to find companions or to carry out his own plan, he needed to have enough fame and support.

As for those who tried to have crooked ideas, if they really provoked Tang Zhen, they might soon regret it.

There was not a single person who had been able to take advantage of Tang Zhen in the past hundred years.

Moreover, Tang Zhen didn't have the time to care about anything else. He had to obtain more Battle Points as soon as possible. Otherwise, he would definitely figure out the background of the other party.

After returning to the defense area, Tang Zhen gathered Sun Jun and the others and announced his plan.

When they heard that Tang Zhen was preparing to build a warship that believers could drive into the ocean to kill monsters, everyone immediately showed an interested expression.

Accustomed to relying on the city wall to passively resist sea monsters, the believers had never thought that one day they could collectively march into the sea and kill their way into the territory of those monsters.

This kind of thing, just thinking about it made one's blood boil with a kind of feeling, wishing to personally try it.

Although it seemed very dangerous, if the warship could really be as Tang Zhen said and was comparable to a mobile defense area on the sea, so what if they entered the deep sea?

As long as they had sharp enough weapons, there was no need to worry about logistics. The warships could stay on the beach for a long time.

The most important point was still the acquisition of battle merits.

Compared to passively waiting for the sea monsters to attack, taking the initiative to search on the warship would undoubtedly give him more battle merits.

It could be said that as long as one entered the ocean, they did not have to worry about not being able to find the monsters. Instead, they had to worry about whether they could withstand the endless attacks of the sea monsters.

Although there had been cases of believers collectively entering the sea in the past, those believers were all experts. It was only because the battle achievements obtained in the defense area could not meet their expectations that they chose to take the risk of entering the sea.

These believers also had things like boats, or simply taming sea monsters. Although there were many ways, there had never been a warship.

This matter was quickly settled. In the following time, the entire defense area would be in service of this plan.

After enjoying the many benefits, those believers would not say anything. Moreover, when had Tang Zhen ever shortchanged them?

In terms of personnel arrangements, Sun Jun had to command the battle, so he could not participate in this matter.

Therefore, Tang Zhen arranged for the dwarf, the horned helmet, and the others to assist him. Whoever they followed Tang Zhen, they would unconditionally execute his orders.

These few people alone were not enough to run the entire plan, so Tang Zhen asked Sun Jun to select a group of trustworthy assistants from the Veterans.

What Tang Zhen wanted to do was to be in charge of opening up a dock and collecting the materials needed to build the main body of the warship.

He was the only one in charge of this matter. Whether it was the terrain transformation or the transportation of the giant rocks from the bottom of the sea, none of these were things that ordinary believers could do.

After the meeting ended, everyone immediately got to work.

The first task that Tang Zhen had to complete was naturally to open up the dock for the battleship. He was prepared to open up a passage on the mountain peak near the defense area before guiding the seawater into it.

The purpose of this was to send the boulders into the dock, and then drain the seawater for construction.

Under normal circumstances, the construction process of a warship would take a long time, otherwise it would be impossible to complete it.

However, in Tang Zhen's plan, the battleship he built would not take too long. It would take at most a month before it could be used normally.

Such a fast speed was the basic guarantee for the formation of a large warship. Otherwise, if one warship was produced every few years, it would not affect the overall situation at all.

In order to achieve this, the initial preparation work was of utmost importance.

When Tang Zhen was shaping the warship, he had to try his best to consider all the details and strive to shape the hull in one go.

After Tang Zhen's work was completed, the believers would then set up the runic magic circle and complete the remaining work.

After arriving at the peak of the mountain, Tang Zhen carefully observed the nearby terrain. Finally, he chose a wide area to be used as a dock.

As the [ Map Modification plug-in ] was activated, huge pits immediately appeared on the flat ground.

This was the dry dock used to build the warship. After Tang Zhen fished up the huge rocks that had sunk to the bottom of the sea, he would place them in there for construction.

At the same time as the dock appeared, a huge passage appeared in the mountain, leading directly to the sea.

When the passage was connected, the sea water kept pouring in, filling up all the big pits.

This passage wouldn't be open all the time. Tang Zhen would further deal with it to prevent the sea monster from landing on land.

Even though they had seen Tang Zhen's methods more than once, the believers were still endlessly amazed. Their eyes were filled with envy and admiration.

At the same time, they also secretly swore in their hearts that they would definitely work hard to earn battle merits and strive to reach Tang Zhen's realm one day.

After the construction of the dock was completed, Tang Zhen went to the nearby sea to search for the huge rocks after the mountain peak had shattered.

Due to the special material of this stone, it showed no signs of corrosion even after being soaked in seawater for countless years.

The search process was actually very easy. He only needed to find the reefs above the water, and there would definitely be huge rocks under the sea.

Tang Zhen only used a very short amount of time to find the materials that satisfied her. Then, she began to modify it.

The giant rock hidden under the sea was like a dough, stretched and hollowed out by a pair of invisible hands. Then, it floated to the surface of the sea with the help of spiritual power.

It was as if a ferocious giant sea beast had suddenly risen from the bottom of the sea. Its surface was covered with the remains of sea grass and various sea creatures, giving it a rather ferocious look.

When the believers who were watching from a distance saw this, they let out an exclamation in unison. They really could not understand what Tang Zhen had done. He was actually able to fish out such a huge rock that was nearly a hundred meters in length?

At this moment, Tang Zhen was fully focused on controlling the huge rock. His spiritual sea was vast and boundless. The strength he possessed was even more terrifying.

This was because the ocean itself had such buoyancy. Coupled with some special techniques, it was not particularly difficult to lift a huge rock from the ocean.

After the huge rock was fished out from the sea, Tang Zhen would move it and send it to the dock through the cave.

In the following period of time, Tang Zhen continued to salvage huge rocks until all the docks were filled.

The seawater in the dock was forcefully pushed into the ocean under the pressure of his mental energy. Soon after, Tang Zhen once again sealed the opening of the sea. The first step of the preparation work was already completed.

After resting for a while, Tang Zhen started to build the rough prototype of the warship according to his thoughts.

The shape of the battleship was naturally streamlined, so it was more convenient to accelerate and could hold on to the sea monster.

Four walls were erected around the warship, making it convenient for the believers to fight against the sea monsters.

Cannons and anti-aircraft machine guns could be installed on the warship. If all of them were installed, they would form a very terrifying net of fire.

In the middle of the battleship was the activity and rest area, which could also be used to store supplies, followed by the statue.

According to this design, the interior of the entire warship looked like the staircases of a Stadium, One Ring after another.

There were also many round windows in the underwater part of the warship, through which the believers could attack.

Under normal circumstances, it was impossible to leave such a hole at the bottom of a warship.

This was because seawater would rush in through the holes, filling the warship completely and causing it to sink to the bottom of the sea.

However, under the effect of the runic magic circle, something similar to a transparent barrier would appear at the window position, which could prevent seawater from entering. At the same time, it would not affect the attacks inside the warship.

If the sea monster attacked from underwater, the weapon placed on the window would give the sea monster a fatal blow.

Chapter 2099 Famous all over the world (1)

During the process of building the warship, Tang Zhen didn't pay too much attention to the appearance. Instead, he basically maintained the original shape of the huge rock.

From a distance, the appearance of the warship was like a floating island, full of deception.

If the believers could conceal their auras and conceal themselves with the help of the runic magic circle, the sea monsters would not be able to discover them even if they drove into their nest.

Many measures would be deployed on the warship. After all, it was related to the safety of the believers and the long-term implementation of the plan, so it was natural to ensure safety and concealment as much as possible.

The battleship's close-range attack would undoubtedly greatly increase the success rate of a sneak attack. This was extremely important in battle.

In war, extreme measures were used in every possible way. Moreover, Tang Zhen planned to let the warship serve for as long as possible. Therefore, he would definitely not be perfunctory in the design and construction.

It was believed that with the flow of time, these unsinkable moving islands would definitely cause Tang Zhen's reputation to grow even more resounding.

After all, he had personally initiated and completed this plan. He had built a moving defense line on the sea for his God's kingdom, turning the original passive defense into an active attack.

Of course, it was still too early to mention these things. Even if he would leave behind an immortal legend in Scandinavia, Tang Zhen would not take it to heart.

If he only cared about his reputation, he would not be able to see the road ahead and even his movements would be affected.

Just as Tang Zhen was busy, four-winged birds kept appearing in the sky above defense area 153.

After circling a few times in the air, the four-winged bird landed on the ground. It then impatiently bit down on a beast-luring fruit and swallowed it into its stomach.

This was a habit they had developed in the Grand temple. Fortunately, the beast-luring fruit only worked on sea monsters, otherwise these four-winged birds would have gone crazy collectively.

As for the passengers on the four-winged bird, they were all believers who had accepted a mission from the temple and had come from other defense areas.

Tang Zhen's reward was very generous and far exceeded the rewards from killing sea monsters. The believers who had long been tired of killing and wanted to change their environment naturally wouldn't miss this opportunity.

These believers were only the first batch. In the following time, more believers would arrive one after another.

After the believers landed, someone was in charge of receiving them and leading them to the dock.

Seeing the huge rocks in the docks and imagining the sight of such behemoths sailing in the sea, the believers began to become eager to try.

To be able to turn huge rocks into moving fortresses and gallop on the ocean was undoubtedly a very satisfying achievement.

As the ones who had participated in the construction, the believers felt honored.

At this moment, Tang Zhen came to the front of the believers who had accepted the mission and asked a few professional questions.

On the other hand, the believers became nervous, which was a rare sight. After all, Tang Zhen's reputation was too great. They had also witnessed Tang Zhen's methods through the image transmission stone and confirmed that he was a true super expert.

After Tang Zhen asked a few questions, he handed a stack of drawings to the believers to let them study and familiarize themselves with it to prevent any mistakes during work.

The contents of the drawings were all related to runic magic circles, and the hired believers only needed to construct according to the drawings.

After the believers received the drawing, they studied it carefully and were quickly attracted by the contents of the drawing. They could not help but exclaim in surprise.

The runic magic circle on the blueprint was too delicate and efficient. Both its stability and power had far exceeded their imagination.

At first, they thought that they were making money with their skills, but it was only at this moment that they realized that they were the ones who took advantage of the situation.

Even if they were not given any military achievements, these believers would not leave easily and miss the rare opportunity to learn.

What made them depressed was that although everyone could see the exquisiteness of the runic magic circle, it did not mean that they could learn and master it.

The most valuable thing in the runic magic circle was not the content on the drawing, but the concept and technique of constructing the runic magic circle.

“Sir Tang Zhen, I wonder if you can explain to us the theory behind the arrangement and operation of these runic magic circles?”

A believer was unable to suppress the joy and curiosity in his heart. He hesitated for a moment before he asked Tang Zhen.

His request was rather rude. After all, special runic magic circles were extremely valuable to cultivators.

If it wasn't for the construction needs, they wouldn't even be able to see the drawings, let alone learn from them.

The other believers also looked at Tang Zhen. They were afraid that this request would cause him to be dissatisfied and lose the rare opportunity to learn.

I don't have time to teach you these things now, but if you have any questions, you can find me at any time, and I will try my best to answer them.

Tang Zhen did not have a heart of arrogance and contempt just because his strength and knowledge far exceeded these believers. After all, he had also experienced the process of seeking knowledge and learning. He knew what that feeling was.

After hearing Tang Zhen's words, the group of believers revealed a grateful expression at the same time. They saluted and thanked him one after another. Their attitudes appeared to be extremely respectful.

With Tang Zhen's promise, their trip was not in vain.

Tang Zhen gently nodded his head as he looked at the believers who were holding the blueprint and looking at it seriously. They would occasionally surround the ship and discuss it.

The arrangement of the runic magic circle on the warship in the future would all require these believers to complete. If they were taught some knowledge and skills appropriately, it would undoubtedly greatly improve the progress of the project.

Tang Zhen never minded letting more people know about his knowledge, especially those who were in the same camp as him. Moreover, these believers simply could not obtain the true essence.

The amount of work required to build a warship was huge, and it was impossible to complete the arrangement of all the runic magic circles by relying on these believers.

Therefore, after Tang Zhen seriously thought about it, he transferred a large number of people from the believers in the defense area and got them to work with him.

Because they were all cultivators, the believers were the best labor force, and their work efficiency was by no means comparable to that of ordinary people.

Now that the manpower was in place, the construction of the warship had officially begun. A large group of believers began to busy themselves around the ship.

All of a sudden, the entire defense area was in a busy state, like a super large construction site.

The materials required by the believers to inscribe the runic magic circle could be directly exchanged in the temple. The battle credits spent would be directly deducted from Tang Zhen's name.

Although he had exchanged for a large number of memory fragments, Tang Zhen still set aside some Battle Points as backup. In addition, his believers were constantly hunting sea monsters, so he was not worried that he would not have any Battle Points to use.

Tang Zhen would also enter the deep sea from time to time to search for sea monster nests to hunt. As long as he successfully found one, it would mean that he would obtain ten million Battle Points.

In terms of the speed of obtaining Battle Points, perhaps no believer in the entire God's kingdom's defense area could be compared to Tang Zhen.

While the 153rd defense area was busy, the news of Tang Zhen Building a warship had already spread rapidly.

Because of the existence of the image transmission stone and the temple, there were no secrets between the major defense areas. Once something happened, the believers would know at the first moment.

After learning the specific data of the warship and its abilities, many believers were tempted. Even the officers of the defense area were wondering if they should spend military credits to order one.

Everything else aside, just the guns and weapons on the warships were enough to stimulate their desire to buy.

As long as there was such a warship guarding the defense area, no matter how many sea monsters attacked, there was no need to worry about the defense area being broken through by force.

If they could select a group of believers to enter the deep sea, they would definitely be able to kill more sea monsters and obtain more military achievements.

The commanders of the major defense areas were the same as Tang Zhen. After the believers killed the sea monsters, they could get a certain percentage of the shares, but the amount was far less than Tang Zhen's.

But even so, with the accumulation of time and effort, it was still a rich income of battle achievements.

Therefore, the commanders of these defense areas paid the most attention to the battleships built by Tang Zhen. They had been observing and studying the transmission stone from the beginning.

Not long after the construction of the warship had begun, commanders from other defense areas had arrived to discuss the purchase of the warship.

Chapter 2100 Visitor (1)

After these commanders arrived at area 153, they went straight to the dock to see how strong the warship was.

In fact, before they arrived, they had been paying attention to the defense area for a long time. They were very obsessed with guns and weapons.

There would always be a group of people who were obsessed with this kind of cold weapon that spewed fire. If they saw it but couldn't get it, they would always feel uncomfortable.

After landing, under normal circumstances, they were not allowed to wander around, not even as the commander of the defense area.

However, Tang Zhen had already issued an order earlier that any visitor could head to the dock under the guidance of a special person to watch the entire manufacturing process of the warship.

Of course, the visitors could only see what they were supposed to see. As for some hidden core information, they would not have the opportunity to see it.

A group of commanders came to the dock. When they saw the scene in front of them, they could not help but be stunned.

As the dock was located beyond the perimeter of the defense zone, the believers in the other defense zones could not see it through the image transmission stone.

It was also because of this that there were people who were in a hurry to rush over, wanting to see Lu Shan's true appearance.

In the end, all they saw was a huge pit and black rocks the size of small mountains.

In these huge pits, a group of believers was busy moving back and forth. They used cables or scaffolding-like tools to surround these boulders.

Materials like bamboo poles were quite cheap to exchange in the temple. Even if they surrounded the entire rock, it would not cost much battle credits.

Although it was lively when they were working, this was not what the commanders wanted to see.

this is a warship? are you kidding me? they're just some broken stones. Is area 153 lying? "

A commanding officer of the defensive zone looked at the black stone with a surprised expression and said to his companion beside him.

There was a hint of disappointment in his tone.

The other commanders were also at a loss. Tang Zhen had used the temple to make an advertisement and described the warship as a God. This was also the reason why they were in a hurry to come.

In the end, when they arrived at the scene and saw the real thing, they found that it was too different from what they had imagined, which was difficult for them to accept for a while.

what's up with this Tang Zhen? does he want us to ride a pile of rocks to hunt sea monsters? if that's the case, then there are as many sea monsters in front of our housing area as there are.

Someone took the opportunity to make sarcastic remarks. During this period of time, Tang Zhen's limelight was at its peak, causing the jealousy of many people. These people were eager to have the opportunity to ridicule him.

However, most of the commanders just watched coldly from the side. They were not in a hurry to make a conclusion. Instead, they carefully observed.

In fact, this group of commanders had already seen that the huge rock in front of them was just a rough base, and there was still a huge gap between it and a real warship.

However, they were too anxious and had rushed over when the battleship was just built, afraid that they would not be able to get anything if they were late.

Even though their words were filled with disapproval, the information they obtained after careful observation still shocked them.

Everything else aside, just hollowing out the inside of the hard and tough giant rock was definitely a very difficult task.

This was because the material of this stone was far superior to steel. Otherwise, it would not have been able to withstand the damage of sea monsters. It could be said that there was no problem at all in using it as the main material of a warship.

If they were to do it, they would need at least eight to ten years to achieve this.

Just these modified boulders alone were already extremely valuable. Without enough battle merits, they could not be exchanged.

Of course, the commanders didn't want the hollowed rocks, but the completed warships. However, the cost of the hollowed rocks would definitely be included when they were sold.

The commanders were somewhat unwilling to spend a large amount of battle credits to purchase such common stones.

While they were conversing in low voices, the commanders were still carefully watching the process of the believers inscribing the runic magic circle, only to find that they could not understand it at all.

Some of the commanders present were also proficient in runic magic circles, but the runic magic circles engraved on the warship were completely different from those they had encountered before.

It seemed like it wasn't a simple matter to secretly learn.

"Commanders, I wonder if you have any thoughts? you can bring them up to me at any time. I will try my best to convey them to His Excellency Tang Zhen."

A veteran was in charge of receiving these commanders and answering all kinds of questions they asked. If they had any special requests, they could also raise them during the visit.

Although he was smiling on the surface, he was actually quite disdainful of these zone commanders.

This group of people was different from Tang Zhen. They were a group of vicious wolves that would not let go of any fat meat they saw. If they were the commanders of area 153, the believers would not be able to obtain many benefits.

"Tell me, what will this warship look like after it's completed?"

A commander thought for a moment and asked the veteran.

In fact, what these commanders were most concerned about was what kind of guns and weapons the warships would carry and how much lethality they could have.

According to their thoughts, the more the better, so that they wouldn't feel like they were making a loss.

It was just that warships were different from real city walls, after all. They needed to consider the rationality of the weapon layout, and it was not possible to have as many as they wanted.

Even so, when the commanders saw the finished drawing of the warship, their eyes were still shining.

At this moment, they all made up their minds at the same time. No matter how high the price of the warship was, they would get it back and search it!

While these commanders were discussing, the four-winged birds continued to appear in the sky. The passengers on them were either believers who had been hired or customers who had a meaningful intention of buying the warship.

The constant flow of people also made Room 153 extremely lively. As far as the eye could see, there were moving figures everywhere.

Tang Zhen did not come into contact with these believers. Instead, he focused on modifying the warship and deploying some necessary facilities on it.

In addition to the weapons, the most important part of a warship was naturally its power system.

The power system of a normal warship required a large amount of fuel and special fuel. It was obvious that this method was not suitable for the believers of the God Kingdom. Therefore, Tang Zhen still used the runic magic circle to power it.

When he was modifying the hull, Tang Zhen had already reserved space to arrange the power system. He only needed to inscribe and activate the runic magic circle to push the warship forward.

As for the mechanism of the power system, it was actually very simple.

The front and both sides of the warship had an inlet. When water entered the inlet, it would be accelerated by the runic magic circle and then sprayed out from the stern.

The power of the water current was extremely strong, more than enough to push the warship. The believers could also directly control the strength of the water current to achieve the function of acceleration and turning.

As for the divine stones used to operate the power system, they could be exchanged in the temple. There was no need to worry about losing power and being unable to move.

Other than the power system, Tang Zhen also had the most important weapon system of the warship.

In addition to the necessary guns and weapons, the warships would also be equipped with weapons that were specifically aimed at underwater. After all, the monsters were basically moving underwater and did not attack on the shore.

Without such underwater attack weapons, no matter how many guns the warship carried, they would not be able to effectively kill the monsters.