

Alternate 2101

Chapter 2101 Brainstorming (1)

The resistance of the sea was so great that even a bullet that could break gold and stone would become soft and powerless in the water.

It would be very difficult to deal with the underwater monsters with guns and cannons alone. Once the monsters got close in groups, no matter how strong the hull was, it would not be able to withstand their damage.

In this case, special weapons were needed to eliminate the sea monsters.

Tang Zhen would arrange a device similar to a rocket launch nest at the bottom of the warship. It could launch a cross-shaped spear with a length of about five meters. It could attack the underwater sea monster with extremely high speed.

At the same time, there would be runic magic circles on the weapons to enhance their penetration and destructive power, achieving the effect of large-scale killing.

Such a weapon alone was not enough to ensure the safety of the hull underwater, so the hull itself would also become like a Hedgehog at the right time.

If the sea monster tried to charge, it would only turn itself into a hornet's nest.

Tang Zhen also allowed his believers to participate in the research of methods to fight against the sea monster. If the suggestion was reasonable and adopted, they would receive the corresponding reward.

Hearing that their ideas could be deployed on the warship, the believers were very excited. If that was the case, it would be a great sense of accomplishment.

Therefore, in the process of construction, the believers constantly explored and analyzed the feasibility of various methods.

Soon, someone suggested that they could use some methods to harass the sea monsters during battle, even preventing them from approaching the warship.

As long as the chances of sea monsters approaching were reduced, the number of times the ship would be attacked would be greatly reduced, allowing the believers to launch attacks more calmly.

This idea seemed unrealistic, but it was actually not impossible. One had to know that this was not an ordinary world. The use of World Energy was everywhere.

can we use the runic magic circle to completely freeze the seawater around the warship? this way, it can become a natural barrier to isolate the sea monsters.

There was solid ice underwater, so it was impossible for sea monsters to attack from underwater. This way, the threat could be reduced by at least half.

If the sea monsters want to get close to the warship, they must be on the ice, so that we can use our weapon advantage to attack effectively.

If the warship wants to move, it can also use the runic magic circle to quickly melt the upper ice layer and move freely on the ice Land, thus ensuring enough mobility!”

The one who made the suggestion was a recruited believer. After carefully studying the blueprint, he spoke of his idea.

The other believers felt that what he said made sense. This way, they could take the initiative and kill the sea monsters efficiently while ensuring their own safety.

that’s a good idea, but it’s not easy to achieve. It takes a lot of energy to freeze the ocean in a short time. Can the runic magic circle on the warship do that? ”

Someone raised an objection. If this problem could not be solved, then everything would be a fantasy.

“I can inscribe a type of runic magic circle. After the disk array is released, it can instantly freeze an area with a diameter of 100 meters.

However, a formation disk required a large number of divine stones and could only be used once. He felt that it was not worth it.

If we want to seal off the waters around the warship and force the monsters to land, we need a better way.”

When the believer said this, he showed a hint of helplessness. It was obvious that he regretted that his idea could not be realized.

At this moment, a figure suddenly appeared and came to the side of the believers.

“The method you mentioned is not impossible. Since one runic magic circle can’t do it, then we’ll put in ten or a hundred!

If the runic magic circle could be improved and enhanced, then the consumption would be greatly reduced. Perhaps it could be done with a very small number of disk arrays.

You don’t even need to use a formation disk. You can just engrave the runic magic circle on the warship to complete this.”

The believers turned around when they heard the voice that suddenly sounded, only to discover that Tang Zhen had appeared without them knowing.

“We pay our respects to Your Excellency Tang Zhen!”

The believers didn’t have much respect for the commander of the defensive area. Some of the more arrogant believers even ignored the commander.

However, the believers still maintained a sufficient amount of respect for the truly powerful. Moreover, these believers had long been shocked by Tang Zhen’s attainments in runic magic circles. Their hearts were filled with admiration.

After hearing Tang Zhen's words, the believers' eyes brightened. The problem that they could not solve did not mean that Tang Zhen could not solve it.

The believer who made the suggestion was even more short of breath. If his suggestion could be adopted, not only would he be rewarded, but it would also bring him a great sense of achievement.

Tang Zhen looked at the surrounding believers and spoke in an indifferent tone, "I actually know of a type of runic magic circle that can instantly freeze an area with a diameter of a thousand meters. It doesn't consume too much energy.

Moreover, the effects of this runic magic circle could be stacked. As long as there was enough control from the spell caster, the frozen area could be expanded infinitely.

Of course, the prerequisite is that the spell-caster's strength must be high enough, and their mind power must be strong enough. Otherwise, there's no way they can support such a massive mobilization of natural energy."

When the believers heard this, they could not help but feel disappointed. If that was the case, where would they find enough powerhouses to support the operation of the runic magic circle?

After seeing the disappointed expressions of those believers, Tang Zhen smiled and said, "Don't forget that there's a temple on the warship. When the time comes, you can pay for the temple to power the runic magic circle.

As long as you have enough battle merits, not to mention sealing off the sea area near the warship, even if it's a hundred times larger, you can easily do it!"

Upon hearing this, the believers immediately came to a realization.

"That's right, why didn't I think of that earlier!"

"Sir Tang Zhen's method is completely feasible. You should know that the temple can provide auxiliary attacks, and it's more than enough to activate the runic magic circle."

the most important thing is that after the temple controls the runic magic circle, there's no need to specially look for experts. Even ordinary believers can fly warships out to sea!

"Although it may consume a lot of Battle Points and affect the temple's upgrade, it's nothing compared to the gains. As long as we win the battle, we can easily make up for it!"

The group of believers became more and more excited as they spoke. After solving the problem of energy supply, many bold and imaginative ideas emerged one after another.

For example, if a sea monster was caught in a fire that was inextinguishable in water, it would be burned to ashes.

For example, extremely thin and tough metal threads could be used to connect objects with super thrust and spin them rapidly in the ocean.

As long as the sea monster touched the metal wire, it would be cut in an instant. There was no chance to Dodge at all.

Another example was to control a metal wheel with a sharp blade and shuttle back and forth in the ocean, attacking everything in its way.

Some people even suggested releasing poison directly, turning the area around the warship into a dead zone. Once the monsters got close, they would die without a doubt.

Suggestions to use runic magic circles to shoot icicles and water arrows, or sound wave lightning attacks, were endless.

From the suggestions of the believers, it was clear that they were no longer satisfied with using guns and weapons to attack. They wanted to use more ferocious and direct means to attack.

If it wasn't for the suppression of the rules of the divine Kingdom, low-level energy attacks would have no effect at all. Then, according to the design of these believers, the warship would have become a magical style sooner or later.

Unfortunately, some of his ideas were destined not to be realized. Energy attacks with too much destructive power could not be used in a divine Kingdom.

The temple was like a super battery, storing all the energy of the entire God's kingdom, maintaining the operation of the God's kingdom, and conjuring all kinds of items, but it would never be easily obtained by the believers.

If the cultivators could get it, the sea monsters could also get it. By then, the mountain defense area would not be able to resist the attacks of the sea monsters.

If the cultivators' strength wasn't limited and they didn't lose their ability to fly, how could cannons and battleships shine?

Chapter 2102 The warship enters the sea (1)

As time passed, the first warship was finally completed under the anticipation of many believers.

Everyone happily accepted Tang Zhen's invitation and rushed over at the agreed time.

They had long wanted to see the actual combat results of the warship. Now that Tang Zhen had taken the initiative to invite them, they naturally would not miss this opportunity.

The entire defense area became unusually lively. Not only did the invited guests arrive on time, but many believers who did not accept the invitation also came uninvited.

Although this scene could be seen through the image transmission stone, many believers were not satisfied with watching the silent images. Instead, they wanted to experience it for themselves.

Anyone who came was a guest, and the believers in the defense area would receive them warmly.

The guests were lucky enough to taste the beast-luring fruit and were full of praise for its taste. In addition, they were also very envious.

It was because of the beast-luring fruit that the sea monsters kept coming to defense area 153. They could still hear the gunshots from the top of the city wall, which proved that the hunting of sea monsters had never stopped.

The number of wild monsters might not be as large as when the sea monster army attacked, but with this kind of non-stop killing, the battle merits gained were far greater than the rewards of normal battles.

Moreover, this kind of battle was quite safe. The believers in the defense area could even chat while hunting sea monsters, looking very relaxed.

It seemed that in their eyes, hunting sea monsters had become a simple task that could be completed with their eyes closed.

There was no need for the believers to die under the fangs of the sea monsters every time they fought with the sea monsters, like the believers in other defense areas.

When the other defense areas were attacked by sea monsters, they were all on guard, but the believers in defense area 153 were overjoyed.

This was the difference between them, and it made people envious and jealous.

Although there were also losses in the process of fighting, the items consumed by the believers were weapons conjured by Tang Zhen. Strictly speaking, there was no cost at all.

After all, Tang Zhen's consumption could be replenished. As long as time allowed, he could materialize as many ammunition as he wanted.

Even if the other believers wanted to do this, they could not do it at all. After all, they did not have the strength of Tang Zhen.

There was another reason. The cultivation method of the world of loucheng was very special. It was a collection of the essence of ten thousand worlds, which was incomparable to the cultivation methods of ordinary planes.

Tang Zhen was able to conjure any object with a single thought. However, cultivators of the same rank from other planes might not be able to do so. Even if they were able to do so, the process would be rather difficult.

At the end of the day, it was still a difference in cultivation level. It was also because of this that the world of loucheng could dominate the myriad world.

While the believers were envious and jealous, they also had a rough guess of Tang Zhen's strength. Perhaps, he was at the top level in the entire Scandinavia.

Such a super expert must not be easily provoked, or else it would be seeking death.

Many of the believers who harbored evil thoughts toward Tang Zhen earlier had now quietly stopped their actions in order to avoid causing trouble for themselves.

At the same time, these believers also made up their minds to be on good terms with Tang Zhen as much as possible. When they encountered something good in the future, they might be able to be guided.

The four-winged birds in the sky were still rushing over. When all the invited believers arrived, the warship launching ceremony officially began.

At this moment, not only were the gazes of the entire defensive area focused on one spot, but even the image transmission stones of the other defensive areas were also packed with spectators.

The believers all wanted to see the first show of the warship. They wanted to see if it could really become a mobile maritime defense area as Tang Zhen said.

Tang Zhen's figure slowly appeared under the attention of tens of thousands of people. He was wearing a set of gorgeous battle armor and the Cape behind him was Scarlet like blood.

The surroundings were extremely quiet, with only the sound of low breathing and the occasional gunshot.

Many believers had only heard of Tang Zhen's name but had never seen him.

Now that they finally had the chance to see him, they couldn't help but widen their eyes. They wanted to see what was so different about this human cultivator whose name shook the divine Kingdom.

Tang Zhen walked to the front of the completed warship under the gazes of many people and gently waved his hand.

The scaffolding suddenly collapsed, and then, as if controlled by an invisible hand, it was neatly placed on an open space not far away.

The half-covered battleship was now revealed. Its surface was covered with a layer of white paint, completely covering the original color of the Boulder.

The huge ship's ruler was nearly 200 meters long, and it was not inferior to the largest sea monster. At least in terms of size, it was definitely not at a disadvantage, and it would not easily capsize after being hit.

As the warship was surrounded by walls, it was impossible to see the specific layout from below. However, they could still see objects like towers and flagpoles.

Just as the guests were watching intently, a command was heard. A group of believers in uniform armors gathered together and boarded the warship.

About ten minutes later, when all the selected crew members were in place, Tang Zhen invited the guests to board the ship.

The already impatient believers immediately climbed up the city wall along the deck and looked around impatiently.

After boarding the warship, they found that the surface area was far larger than they had imagined, and it was definitely not crowded during the battle.

The flat deck was not only filled with artilleries and anti-aircraft machine guns, but there was also a temple and some buildings for observation and command, which caused the believers to constantly discuss and speculate.

Many parts of the ship were covered with various runic magic circles, which were cleverly concealed at the same time. It was impossible to notice them without careful observation.

At the same time, the visitors realized that the interior of the warship was definitely not so large. There must be more space under the deck.

The visitors were surprised as they calculated in their hearts. This warship alone could indeed accommodate thousands or even tens of thousands of believers.

Based on this point alone, it was not an exaggeration to say that the warship was a mobile sea defense area.

Although they really wanted to take a look below the battleship, the visitors did not dare to act rashly without Tang Zhen's permission.

Just as the believers were talking in low voices, Tang Zhen had already come to the command cabin of the warship and issued the order to open the floodgates.

The waterway leading to other docks was sealed, and the waterway connected to the warship under their feet was opened. At the same time, a loud rumble came from the inside of the mountain ahead.

Immediately after, a glimmer of light appeared in the passage on the mountain peak, and rolling sea water gushed in, filling the dock in an extremely short time.

The huge battleship swayed a few times before floating in the water. All the visitors felt very strange about this feeling.

"Activate the runic magic circle!"

As an order spread throughout the entire warship, a strong current suddenly sprayed out from the stern of the warship. A transparent barrier appeared around the warship, pushing the seawater that surrounded the warship away slightly.

In this way, the resistance of the warship would be greatly reduced, and the speed of the warship would be faster.

"It's moving!"

It was unknown which believer shouted, but the huge warship was like a sea beast that had just woken up. It began to move slowly along the waterway and soon drove into the huge cave.

In the blink of an eye, the warship had already rushed out of the passage under the mountain and sailed into the vast sea.

"Full speed ahead!"

Another order came, and the slowly moving warship was like a roaring giant beast, pushing out a huge wave from the tail, and like an arrow leaving the bow, it flew toward the distant ocean.

The believers on the city wall fired their guns to send them off, wishing the warship a successful first voyage and a great victory.

Through the live broadcast of the transmission stone, the believers in the other defense areas also saw the scene of the battleship leaving the defense area.

At this time, everyone's heart was full of anticipation. They wanted to see what kind of performance this warship, known as a moving defense area on the sea, would have.

Chapter 2103 A change in perception (1)

On the blue-black Sea, a huge warship was like a Super Monster, cutting through the White waves and flying forward.

This novel sailing experience put the visitors in a good mood.

To the believers of the kingdom of God, the sea had always been a forbidden zone in their hearts. No one would set foot in the sea unless it was necessary.

However, at this moment, they took the initiative to charge into the sea, barging in to find sea monsters.

This made the believers' chests fill with lofty sentiments, and they couldn't wait to immediately take up their swords and fight with the sea monster.

The admiration he felt for Tang Zhen increased a little.

Putting aside the power of the warship, just the courage to March into the ocean was worthy of everyone's admiration.

Just like the visitors, the selected believers were also very excited. They were the First Fleet pilots in the entire divine Kingdom.

Riding the wind and Breaking the Waves, sweeping across the enemy's nest, this was how a man should be!

They felt an indescribable sense of accomplishment when they had the opportunity to control this moving fortress to hunt sea monsters.

As they moved forward, the believers kept searching the surface of the sea, trying to find traces of the monster.

However, the result was disappointing. There was no trace of sea monsters in this Sea area. It was so calm that it was terrifying.

In the waters of other defense areas, it was absolutely impossible for such a phenomenon to occur. They would almost be attacked by sea monsters before they could go far.

While the believers were disappointed, they were also full of doubts. They couldn't understand why.

“It’s actually very normal. The monsters in the nearby sea have long been cleaned up by the 153rd defense area under the attraction of the monster luring fruit.

If you can see sea monsters, it can only mean one thing: these sea monsters were attracted from other areas.”

The commander of the area said in a low voice. He had been paying attention to area 153 for a long time and naturally knew what was going on.

In fact, even if he didn’t explain, the other Area Commanders had already guessed the answer. After all, the wild monsters were different from the sea monster army. After they were wiped out, they needed a long time to replenish and grow.

In fact, compared to the sea monster army, these sea monsters were more normal sea creatures. The problem was that they were often swept up by the sea monster army, so they were also in the clearing range.

it seems like we’ll have to wait for a while before we can see the battleship unleash its power!

a commander said with a smile. at the same time, he sighed in his heart. the speed of killing sea monsters in defense area 153 was really shocking.

The other Area Commanders nodded. If it weren’t for the beast luring fruit, area 153 would probably be the safest of all areas in the kingdom.

this was a warning sign, which meant that the sea monster had appeared.

When they heard the sound, the crew members who had been relaxed changed their expressions and quickly entered combat mode.

“Our luck is pretty good, we actually encountered the sea monster army!”

A commander with good eyesight looked at the sea in front of him and said in a serious tone. However, there was a hint of excitement in his expression.

He had thought that it would take a long time for the battle to happen, but he didn’t expect to be attacked by the sea monster army. It could only be said that it was a coincidence.

However, this was even better. A large-scale encounter battle would be able to test the true power of the warship.

No one would be afraid of the arrival of the sea monster army. Putting aside the strength of the believers themselves, Tang Zhen’s presence on the warship was enough to ensure their safety.

The reason why these defense Area Commanders were so confident was that some believers had returned from the deep sea some time ago and spread the news that Tang Zhen had destroyed the sea monster’s nest alone.

As the other party had stayed in the sea for a long time, he did not know who Tang Zhen was. Therefore, he inquired around.

Who knew that he would immediately receive an answer after asking this question. After all, Tang Zhen was currently in the limelight and many believers were clearly aware of his appearance.

After this matter spread, it allowed the believers to completely confirm Tang Zhen's strength. They were shocked and envious in their hearts.

It was for this reason that the commanders of the warships dared to follow the warships out to sea after being invited.

With Tang Zhen's strength, he could even easily destroy the sea monster nest. Why would he be afraid of a mere sea monster army?

Even if he couldn't win, he could easily retreat.

Under the gazes of the group of believers, the overseas Army was getting closer and closer. From afar, it looked like a huge black Wave was sweeping over.

Just like in the past, this Army of sea monsters was still made up of giant sea beasts as carriers. The ferocious sea monster soldiers hung on the bodies of the giant beasts, their sharp claws gripping the scales of the sea monsters tightly.

"Discovered 50 giant sea monsters, unknown number of special sea monsters, unknown number of wild monsters,"

On the Watchtower, a believer reported the sea monster Army's data loudly after counting.

If one giant sea beast carried two thousand sea monster soldiers, the number of sea monster soldiers on these sea beasts was at least one hundred thousand.

If they included the special sea monsters and the wild monsters along the way, the total number would probably be close to 150000.

To the various defensive areas, this number of sea monsters was only a small scale, but they still needed to fight hard to defeat them.

If they were not careful, the sea monsters would rush to the top of the city wall and cause great casualties.

prepare the left side's cannons. Start the coverage attack!

With the order, deafening sounds of cannons were heard, and cannonballs flew to the sea in the distance.

There was no need to deliberately aim. The cannonballs accurately fell into the sea monsters, and water pillars mixed with minced meat soared into the sky.

The cannonballs conjured by Tang Zhen were extremely powerful. Moreover, the smoke was almost invisible. Therefore, the vision of the spectators was not affected.

Seeing the sea monsters being blown into pieces and the entire sea turning red and turbid, the believers were so excited that their breathing quickened.

Although he had witnessed the cannon fire more than once through the image transmission stone, those silent and blurry images were not as exciting and shocking as watching it live.

In the face of these metal monsters that spewed flames, the sea monsters that were made of flesh and blood were simply vulnerable.

Even if they had sharp fangs and claws, they could only pose a threat to the believers who were also made of flesh and blood. In the face of these steel-cast weapons, they were still unbelievably fragile.

if the defensive area I was in could also be equipped with artillery, the brothers I knew back then wouldn't have died so easily,

*****

Seeing the sea monsters being torn apart, a commander of the defense area sighed with emotion.

The other commanders also had grave expressions on their faces. Now that they had seen the cannons firing at the same time, they once again realized the gap between them.

At the same time, they also secretly swore in their hearts that even if they were unable to obtain these firearms from Tang Zhen, they would find someone to research similar weapons after returning to the defense area and slowly change their past war habits.

Only this kind of long-range and efficient shooting was the most suitable way for them to defend. The scene of waiting for the sea monsters to reach the city wall before attacking would probably become a thing of the past.

From now on, all the defense areas of the God's kingdom would slowly replicate weapons like cannons until they were completely popularized.

On the vast blue ocean, countless warships would appear, completely changing the previous passive way of war.

Chapter 2104 Worthy of the name _The monsters swimming in the ocean were far more difficult to kill than the monsters on the ground. In addition, there were many of them, so it was impossible to kill them all with cannons alone.

As long as the sea monster hid at the bottom of the sea, the damage would be greatly reduced, and it might not even be able to hit the target.

Fortunately, most of these monsters would expose their bodies to the sea when they advanced and attacked. Otherwise, Tang Zhen might have changed to a new weapon to deal with them.

Soon, the sea monsters broke through the cannon blockade and approached the warship. They were everywhere.

The entire warship had been surrounded.

!!

Just as the spectators were feeling worried, they suddenly felt a chill as if they were in an ice cave.

Then, with the warship as the center, white ice suddenly appeared and spread in all directions.

The ice spread extremely fast, and the sea monsters that were rushing toward the warship could not Dodge in time. They were instantly frozen in the ice, still maintaining their ferocious posture.

“What a powerful runic magic circle!”

The spectators couldn’t help but exclaim in shock.

It was spring all year round in the divine Kingdom, so it was impossible for the sea to be frozen. This could only mean that the runic magic circle was at work.

The spectators did not expect the runic magic circle on the warship to be so powerful that it could freeze such a huge area in an instant!

The ocean was originally a paradise for monsters, as they could move freely in the water. However, with the appearance of ice, their advantage was no longer there.

To attack the warship, the sea monster had to climb up the ice surface, but this was equivalent to becoming a moving target.

Even their attack speed would be slower, making it easier to kill.

This method alone would greatly increase the safety of the warship, and it would be easier to kill sea monsters.

The surface of the ice was covered with countless ice blades that were as sharp as knives. They were scattered all over the surface of the ice, making it difficult to move.

If the sea monsters tried to attack through the ice, they would be cut by the ice blades. They might be cut all over before they could reach the warship.

amazing! He actually has such a technique!

The group of commanders sighed, and then someone explained to them the reason for the appearance of the ice. When they heard that the energy to activate the runic magic circle came from the temple, the spectators sighed again.

This method was very useful. If possible, could they also arrange a similar runic magic circle in their own defense area?

At the critical moment, he could use the temple’s function to block the sea monster’s attack?

In fact, this method had existed for a long time. It was just that no one would use it unless it was a critical moment.

Compared to relying on the temple to hunt sea monsters, simply activating the runic magic circle would not consume too many battle merits.

Compared to the possible battle merits, it was even more insignificant. This deal was a sure win.

However, the key to the problem was that not everyone could set up such a powerful freezing runic magic circle.

This was one of the advantages of a warship. Even if others wanted to replicate it, they might not be able to do so.

In fact, it was not impossible for these believers to build warships if they really wanted to. They could even build larger hulls.

However, an empty shell did not have much meaning. The key was the weapons and runic magic circles on it.

Unless they could set up runic magic circles of equal power, as well as guns and weapons of equal power, it would be a joke to replicate such a warship.

If he really wanted it, he would obediently use battle merits to trade for it.

It could be said that for a long time, this would be an exclusive monopoly, and others would not be able to snatch it away even if they wanted to.

As the surface of the sea was frozen, the sea monsters could no longer approach the warships through the water. Under the command of the sea monster army, the monsters climbed up the ice.

The sharp ice blades cut them all over, but even so, the sea monsters continued to rush toward the warship.

Sea monsters were abnormal war weapons. They didn't have much intelligence and were completely obedient to their leader's command.

Even if there were mountains of daggers and seas of flames in front of them, they would still attack recklessly after receiving the order.

If they had feelings and knew fear, perhaps there would not have been such a protracted war in the country.

As for the commanders of the legions, they were also war maniacs. They were cruel and persistent, and didn't care about the casualties of the sea monsters or themselves.

Every time they fought, they would go crazy and try their best to deplete the number of believers.

This also led to almost every battle ending with the death of one party. Only in very rare cases would the sea monsters choose to retreat.

This time, it was the same as before. The sea monsters charged at the warship recklessly, not caring about the number of casualties.

When the sea monster rushed up to the ice layer, the anti-aircraft machine guns on the deck fired one after another. The sound of the gunfire was deafening.

The believers had long been prepared to stuff cotton-like objects into their ears. Otherwise, they would not be able to hear any sound for a long time after a battle.

The sea monsters on the surface of the ice were cut into pieces and fell to the ground. The following sea monsters stepped on the bodies of their companions and continued to rush toward the warship.

Everyone had seen similar scenes before. The only difference was that the venue had been changed from the beach to the ice of the ocean.

What followed next was a boring and dull killing. As long as there were no major changes, these sea monsters would be eliminated sooner or later.

However, the group of commanders were not satisfied with this. They were eager to know if the warship had other functions.

After all, Tang Zhen had once said that even a single warship had the ability to fight against a sea monster nest.

However, if he were to rely on these guns and runic magic circles, it would be somewhat difficult to deal with the sea monster nest.

The size of the mother nest was comparable to a moving Island, and there were a large number of sea monster guards nearby. It was not something an ordinary sea monster army could compare to.

Since Tang Zhen had guaranteed that the warship could deal with the sea monster nest, it meant that there were definitely other means on this warship that they did not know about.

It was only because there was no suitable opportunity that Tang Zhen did not display it.

A weapon that could deal with a sea monster nest was definitely not an ordinary gun, and its cost must be more expensive.

Therefore, no one opened their mouths to ask Tang Zhen to display it. After all, that would mean the consumption of a large number of Battle Points. Unless someone was willing to pay the bill, they could only wait patiently.

While the believers were blocking the sea monsters, Tang Zhen stood in the command cabin and silently watched the boiling sea in front of him.

An invisible spiritual force spread out from his body, constantly searching in the sea, as if searching for something.

After around ten minutes or so, Tang Zhen suddenly opened his eyes. However, his gaze was firmly locked onto a Sea region in front of him.

you've hidden yourself well. However, since you've been exposed, you're doomed to die today!

tang zhen's body had already flown out of the command cabin and shot into the sea in front of them like an arrow that had left the bow just as he finished speaking.

However, in the blink of an eye, it had already disappeared without a trace.

Just as everyone was feeling baffled, Tang Zhen had already charged out from the ocean. However, he was carrying a monster that was covered in scales in his hand. It was currently emitting a terrified howl.

Chapter 2105 The sea monster leader (1)

“What kind of monster is this? why did Sir Tang Zhen catch it?”

When the believers saw the sea monster in Tang Zhen’s hand, they had a trace of doubt on their faces. However, they also knew that there must be a reason for this.

Could it be that there was something special about this sea monster that caused Tang Zhen to specially enter the sea and personally capture it?

Just as everyone was secretly guessing, Tang Zhen had already flown back to the warship and threw the monster on the deck.

The believers immediately gathered around, wanting to see what was going on.

!!

After escaping from Tang Zhen’s control, the monster wanted to get up and escape. However, there were believers everywhere, so there was no possibility of escaping.

“Si si si ...”

A strange sound came from the monster’s throat. It was like a poisonous snake surrounded by its natural enemies, and its eyes showed a trace of fear and ferocity.

After rolling its Scarlet eyes, it suddenly raised its palm and stabbed it into its own neck.

The monster’s nails were as sharp as knives. Once they pierced the neck, death was certain.

The monster had obviously seen that it could not escape, so it was preparing to commit suicide to avoid any torture.

“It’s not that easy to die!”

Tang Zhen coldly snorted. A rope appeared out of thin air. Not only did it bind the monster’s hands and feet, but even its mouth was also wrapped a few times.

Even if the monster wanted to bite off its tongue, it would not be able to do so. It had completely eliminated the possibility of suicide.

The monster struggled a few times, but after realizing that it couldn’t break free, it gave up.

However, the eyes that he used to look at Tang Zhen were filled with a substantial amount of hatred and killing intent that could not be concealed.

The surrounding believers saw this and pondered. They looked at the monster with a serious expression.

They had seen countless sea monsters with similar appearances, but all of them were simple-minded, no different from crazy wild beasts.

However, the monster in front of him was different. It clearly had extremely high intelligence and knew fear and hatred. This was enough to prove that this monster was not simple.

Some of the believers already had a guess in their hearts, and their eyes became more and more surprised.

“There’s a commander in the overseas Army who secretly commands the battle of the sea monsters. However, they’re very well hidden and rarely discovered.

However, no matter how well it’s hidden, compared to those brainless sea monster cannon fodder, this guy’s eyes and expressions are too rich. As long as you observe carefully, you can distinguish it.”

Tang Zhen casually explained when he saw the puzzled faces of everyone.

“As expected!”

Everyone revealed a look of sudden realization as they exclaimed in a low voice at the same time. No wonder Tang Zhen was able to capture this sea monster. It turned out that its identity was actually so special.

An ordinary sea monster and a sea monster leader were two completely different concepts.

It was the first time that the group had seen the commander of the sea monster army, so they all gathered around curiously and sized him up.

However, to their disappointment, apart from the monster’s rich expression, there was no other special reaction.

If Tang Zhen had not revealed its identity, no one would have recognized it even if it was thrown in front of them.

It was obviously impossible to remember the characteristics and specifically kill them.

The most important point was that the value of an ordinary sea monster was completely different from that of a commander. Just this sea monster leader alone was worth tens of thousands of ordinary cannon fodder soldiers.

In the past battles, they would occasionally accidentally kill the sea monster leader, but most of the time, it would successfully escape

It was the first time that he was captured alive.

Perhaps, only a super expert like Tang Zhen could accurately find the hidden sea monster leader among hundreds of thousands of monsters.

This required extremely pure and vast spiritual power to sense every position on the battlefield and observe all the sea monsters.

Just by imagining it, one would know how terrifying this ability was. As long as Tang Zhen was willing, even the slightest movement in the surroundings would not be able to hide from his perception.

He had to be careful with his words and actions in front of such a cultivator, or he would not know when his secret would be exposed.

While they were secretly on guard, the believers were also thinking about whether they could get the location of the sea monster nest by interrogating the sea monster leader.

Perhaps Tang Zhen captured the sea monster to command it for this purpose.

Just as this thought rose in his heart, he saw Tang Zhen suddenly make a move and directly absorb the overseas sea on the ground into his palm.

The sea monster seemed to have sensed danger as it struggled with all its might in an attempt to escape. However, Tang Zhen's hand was like an iron pincers that firmly locked its head.

Soon, the sea monster leader's body twitched. After shaking for a few times, it no longer made any sound and became as soft as mud.

When they took a closer look, they realized that the leader of the sea monster army was dead.

you're indeed a monster that only knows how to kill. Your memories are brutal and chaotic.

As Tang Zhen spoke, he casually threw the corpse out of the window. After which, he turned his head and looked into the depths of the ocean as if he was thinking about something.

The believers at the side revealed looks of anticipation. They had already vaguely guessed that Tang Zhen must have used a special method to forcefully search the sea monster leader's memory.

This method of searching memories was not rare, but when used by people of different cultivation, the effect was completely different.

When a cultivator at Tang Zhen's level acted, they could ensure that the memories of the person being searched would not be left out. Even the things that they could not remember would be completely searched out.

Although they really wanted to know the results of the search, no one dared to disturb Tang Zhen at this time to avoid interrupting his thoughts.

Fortunately, it didn't take long for Tang Zhen to end his thoughts and turn to look at everyone.

"I've just searched through the memories of this sea monster leader and found that it's a little too simple. Other than the scenery I saw during the journey, there are no other additional memories.

This situation is very abnormal. Obviously, the sea monster's memory has been erased by some kind of method to prevent the location of the sea monster nest from being traced after the memory has been searched."

The believers could not help but look disappointed.

The sea monster Lair was indeed extremely cunning. While it was constantly moving, it even erased the memories of the sea monster leader to avoid exposing its own traces.

Such carefulness was enough to prove that they were also very afraid of their believers, afraid that the true strong would find them.

Whether it was the temple or the sea monster Lair, they all had the habit of erasing memories, which was really helpless.

From Tang Zhen's point of view, these sea monsters must have some connection with the master of the divine Kingdom. After all, the entire world was created by him, and the sea monsters might be the same.

The difference was that they were viruses or plagues, and the only meaning of their existence was to completely destroy the entire God's kingdom.

Compared to the disappointed believers, Tang Zhen already had a countermeasure. Perhaps he could find the location of the sea monster's nest.

Through the exchange of memory fragments, he had gradually recalled the special techniques he had mastered in the past.

One of the methods was a spell obtained from the Magus world, which could be traced back to the source by blood.

Even though the sea monster nest had erased its memory, the sea monster leader was born from it, and The Blood Connection could not be cut off.

Next, Tang Zhen would use this method to try and lock onto the location of the sea monster's nest and see if it would be effective.

If they could successfully find it, they would be able to display the special weapons on the warship.

Chapter 2106 The art can not be passed down easily (1)

don't worry, everyone. Since I've invited you to watch the battle, I must let you see the destruction of the sea monster nest with your own eyes.

Tang Zhen suddenly spoke just as the group of commanding officers of the defensive zone were feeling deeply regretful. From his tone, he seemed to be very confident.

Everyone's spirits were lifted when they heard this.

When he read the sea monster leader's memory, Tang Zhen had already extracted its blood essence and it was now in his palm.

However, he wasn't in a hurry to try. After all, the sea monsters hadn't been wiped out yet, so it was better to slow down.

!!

If he rashly used this method, once the nest of the sea monsters sensed it, it was very likely that he would beat the grass and alert the snake.

If the sea monster's nest dived into the deep sea, even if Tang Zhen could go deep into the sea to kill it, he would not have the opportunity to show off the weapons on the warship.

Furthermore, he did not want to be seen by other believers when he was doing this, so as not to let them benefit.

The commanders of the defensive area were anxious. They wanted to see how Tang Zhen would do it. This was extremely important to them.

However, Tang Zhen only said a sentence before he shut his mouth. The believers were anxious and angry in their hearts. However, they could only be patient and turn their gazes back to the battlefield.

However, their mood became more and more anxious and they were unable to concentrate at all. Their minds were constantly thinking about what method Tang Zhen would use to find the sea monster's nest.

Could it be that when he searched through the memories just now, he had already grasped the exact information and knew where the sea monster's nest was?

After thinking about it, it was impossible. The sea monster's nest was always moving, and there was no regular pattern at all. It was impossible to determine the exact location by searching the sea monster's memory.

After thinking for a long time without any clues, he decided to give up and focus on watching the battle.

Perhaps it was because the leader of the sea monsters had been captured, but the attacks of the sea monsters began to become chaotic, and they were attacking based on instinct.

Although it still looked fierce, compared to the previous momentum, it clearly felt less pressure.

The believers seized the opportunity and immediately increased their attack output to prevent the sea monster from turning around and escaping.

In addition to the cannons and anti-aircraft machine guns, many believers held up light machine guns and fired at the monsters approaching the warship.

The encirclement of the sea monsters, which was already very close, began to slowly expand. This meant that the attack momentum of the sea monsters was obviously not enough, and they were beginning to be suppressed by the warships.

It was only a matter of time before the sea monster army was eliminated.

"Brother, can you let me try too?"

Soon, more than a dozen defense Area Commanders walked to the center of the deck and looked at the guns on the weapon rack.

Seeing the believers in area 153 madly attacking, they all felt an unbearable itch in their hearts and couldn't wait to experience it.

"No problem. Do you want me to tell you how to do it?"

As he had been informed earlier, the soldier nodded in agreement and handed over a weapon.

With heavy weapons in their hands, the group of commanders walked to the edge of the warship and began to pull the trigger.

After firing a few bullets, the commander of the defense zone learned to control his strength and held the muzzle firmly.

Seeing the sea monsters being torn apart by the bullets and feeling the recoil from the weapons in their hands, the commanders couldn't help but feel excited, even shouting subconsciously.

Although steam-powered ballistas could also provide such an effect, they were huge and cumbersome, far less flexible to operate than these firearms.

If it were not for the limitation of bullets, these guns would be the best weapons against sea monsters. If they were used well, a believer could fight against thousands of monsters.

The commanders, who were not satisfied with the fight, asked for more ammunition boxes and continued to shoot at the sea monster.

At the same time, there were also commanders who came to the artillery and anti-aircraft machine guns, hoping to operate them personally, and they were also allowed by the soldiers.

The purpose of this voyage was to display the performance of the warship. Since the customer wanted to experience it, how could Tang Zhen refuse?

The scene of the commanders testing their weapons was also broadcasted live on the transmission stone, and all the believers in the defense area could see it immediately.

The audience on land was envious as they watched the excited commanders firing at the monsters.

To be able to ride a warship out to sea, witness the scene of killing sea monsters, and at the same time have the opportunity to personally operate weapons, this series of experiences made them yearn for it.

Unfortunately, this opportunity was not available to everyone. Any guest who could board a warship basically had the ability to buy a warship.

Without enough strength, many opportunities would pass by, and it was useless to complain.

If one's strength was sufficient, opportunities would come unexpectedly. This was the principle that was applicable everywhere.

In the end, one needed to be strong to forge iron.

The battle was still going on, and the battleship had the upper hand, forcing the sea monster to retreat.

The longer the battle lasted, the more people there were. Although the battle scene was dry and bloody, the believers in front of the image transmission stone still watched with great interest.

The believers only heaved a sigh of relief when all the sea monsters were killed.

The intense battle scene just now gave them a feeling of satisfaction, and they wished they could personally experience it.

At this time, the surface of the sea was full of corpses, floating in the waves. The huge ice surface was piled with corpses like a mountain.

The believers heaved a sigh of relief. Although the battle was not very dangerous, they were even more nervous.

After all, they were on the sea and had no one to rely on. They could only rely on the warships under their feet.

If the defensive zone failed, they might still have a chance to escape, but if the warship was captured, they would not even have a chance to escape.

The believers were well aware of this, which was why they resisted the monsters with all their might, lest they became the monster's snack.

Fortunately, it had been proven that the warship's offensive power could completely withstand the sea monster Army's attack and defeat them in a direct battle.

Being able to do this proved that Tang Zhen's words earlier were not an exaggeration. These warships were mobile sea defense areas.

After personally witnessing the combat power of the warship, no one would have any more concerns. From now on, more warships would appear and gallop in the turbulent sea.

clean up the battlefield immediately. Be careful of the sea monsters that aren't completely dead!

Another order was given, and the believers jumped off the warship one after another, starting to pick the more valuable sea monsters to collect materials.

The believers' original purpose of hunting sea monsters was to obtain indispensable military achievements. Now that there were piles of sea monster corpses in front of them, they could not miss it easily.

The commanders had already gathered together and started discussing in low voices, as if they wanted more.

Now that they had personally witnessed the actual combat ability of the warship, they no longer had any concerns in their hearts. The only problem they needed to consider was how to obtain the warship at a lower price.

Tang Zhen had previously provided three plans for the believers to choose freely. He would definitely not interfere.

To these commanders, the first plan was naturally more suitable for them. That way, they would feel that they didn't lose out.

If he paid all the battle Points to purchase the warship, then all the profits would belong to him. He would not need to pay half of the profits to Tang Zhen like the second option.

There were also some commanders with rich family backgrounds who were more inclined to the third plan. They hoped to build ships according to their wishes and build more powerful warships.

The main reason was that they were not satisfied with the size of the warship. The commanders wanted longer and larger warships so that they could carry more weapons.

A larger warship could carry more believers, and even if they encountered an Army of sea monsters of an astonishing scale, they would still have the confidence to win.

Any commander who had such an idea had a strong defense area, and there were many believers in the defense area.

They would not just buy one, but they hoped to buy more warships and form a fleet on the sea, striving to make a fortune when the new change came.

Chapter 2107 A special weapon with an astonishing price (1)

By the time the battlefield was cleared, the group of commanders had finished their discussion and would place the order when they returned to land.

Since he had already made up his mind, there was no need to waste time. If he was one step slower, he would likely fall behind everywhere.

There were also some anxious commanders who wanted to place orders now, but the battleship was busy, and no one had time to pay attention to them.

It was impossible for Tang Zhen to stay here for too long. The collection of the spoils of war had to be completed within a limited time. This also caused the believers to be extremely busy.

A waste of time was a waste of money, and this was the best example.

The collected spoils of war were sent to the temple and exchanged for battle credits directly, so there was no need to waste the limited space of the warship.

In terms of battle credit transactions, there was almost no difference between warships and the land defense area. It might even be more convenient.

This was also a praiseworthy point. If there was no temple on the warship, the combat power would be greatly reduced.

Putting aside everything else, just the handling of the spoils of war was a rather troublesome matter.

Seeing this, the commanders of the defense area could not help but discuss among themselves. They seemed to be very satisfied with this function.

To be able to carry the temple on every warship was enough to show the support of the Grand temple to Tang Zhen. Obviously, Lord Spiritual envoy was also very optimistic about this plan.

With the strong support from the government, this plan would definitely be promoted. In the future, there would probably be more resources.

After all, compared to land, hunting monsters at sea was more difficult and dangerous, so he should enjoy more care.

After the battle ended, the temple immediately gave the total number of battle merits, which received another round of exclamations.

More than 100000 ordinary sea monsters, in addition to the giant sea beast and the sea monster leader that was killed by Tang Zhen, the total battle Points had exceeded 200000.

This terrifying speed of reaping military merits made the commanders determined once again. They no longer had any concerns.

In their eyes, the battleship had become a reward for whoever got it.

Although they had to use their lives to earn it, the believers were already used to it, not to mention that they had no choice.

After the battlefield was cleared and all the believers returned to the warship, the hidden runic magic circle was activated again.

A piercing light beam shot out from the front of the warship, and the ice and the piled up sea monster corpses turned into ashes in an instant. Then a wide waterway appeared.

The stern of the warship shot out water again and rushed through the waterway. In the blink of an eye, they had entered the ocean.

The huge ship crushed the sea monster's corpse and dragged the White waves forward in the direction pointed by Tang Zhen.

Judging from the speed of the warship, it was obvious that Tang Zhen had already locked onto the location of the sea monster's nest. That was why he was moving at full speed.

If they were able to see the method Tang Zhen used to track the sea monster's nest, they might be able to learn from it. However, it seemed like they would not have the chance now.

Tang Zhen clearly did not intend to disclose this method. Perhaps, the believers would have to pay a certain price in exchange for the method to lock onto the sea monster's nest.

This approach was actually very fair. After all, there was no free lunch in the world, especially in a special world like the divine Kingdom, where everything had a corresponding value.

It would be a fool's dream to get it without paying a price.

After the disappointment, the commanders made up their minds. They must think of a way to obtain the method to lock onto the sea monster's nest from Tang Zhen later. Only then could they maximize their benefits.

Compared to the sea monster army, the sea monster nest was the most tempting target. No believer could stay calm in the face of the reward of 10 million battle merits.

However, there was still a doubt in the hearts of the commanders. If the warship could really destroy the sea monster nest, would Tang Zhen do such a loss-making business?

After all, as long as they successfully destroyed a sea monster nest, they could get back double the investment. After that, whether it was hunting sea monsters or hunting down the sea monster nest, it was a business with no loss.

It was impossible for Tang Zhen to make such a low-level mistake. Therefore, the commanders secretly guessed in their hearts that there must be some conditions waiting for them.

After realizing this, the commanders couldn't stay calm anymore. They were all thinking about this question.

In the end, someone couldn't help but have doubts in his heart. After getting permission, he met Tang Zhen and asked this question.

Tang Zhen originally planned to explain in detail to these Area Commanders after successfully hunting down the sea monster nest. It would be more convincing with the battle record as an explanation.

However, since the other party wanted to know now, he could take the opportunity to explain so that they could be mentally prepared.

"The weapons used to deal with the sea monster nest are not included in the warship, but must be purchased separately.

I set the price at five million battle credits because the cost of making such weapons is extremely high, far higher than the cost of the warship itself.

If such a weapon were to be sold together with a warship, the price would be frighteningly high. It was likely that not many of the people present could afford such a price.

Don't think that you've suffered a loss. After all, everyone knows how generous the rewards for successfully hunting a sea monster nest are.

Although the price of special weapons was high, it was definitely worth it.

as for whether you want to buy this special weapon, the choice is entirely up to you. It will not be sold together with the warship.

What I'm going to do now is to take this opportunity to show you how powerful this weapon is.

I can guarantee that as long as we can successfully lock onto the sea monster's nest, the special weapon I'm selling will definitely destroy it!

Five million Battle Points can be exchanged for ten million Battle Points, and you'll get half of it. Are you still not satisfied?"

After hearing Tang Zhen's explanation, the surrounding commanders all had different expressions. Clearly, they were still unwilling in their hearts.

It was really painful for them to take out five million Battle Points in advance to buy special weapons. They would probably have to sell everything they had to gather that amount.

However, it was just as Tang Zhen had said. The reward for hunting the sea monster nest was too generous. Tang Zhen would not let them take advantage of it for nothing. Moreover, they did not want to miss out on such a reward.

Daring to go out to sea and hunt sea monsters was nothing more than wanting to obtain more battle achievements. How could there be such a good thing in the world if one wanted to get a rich return without paying enough?

“Sir Tang Zhen, we can understand what you’re saying. Why don’t you tell us the specific operation method?”

A commanding officer of the defensive zone asked. He seemed to have a very high authority among the group of spectators.

The other side’s defense area had more than 100000 believers, which was one of the top areas in all the battle areas. They were also determined to buy warships.

It was precisely because he wanted to buy it with sincerity that he paid special attention to the related issues. He had to figure out all the details.

“After you buy the warship, if you need this kind of special weapon that is specifically used to deal with sea monster nests, you can directly buy it from defense area 153 or you can replenish it through the ship’s temple.

If we choose to cooperate, then we only need to pay 40% of the price to obtain this special weapon. I will bear the remaining 60%.

Moreover, this 40% could be owed on credit. After the sea monster nest was successfully killed, it could be deducted from the reward.

As for the battle merits obtained from killing sea monsters, we’ll still split it 50 – 50. There’s no room for discussion on this.”

Tang Zhen naturally hoped that his believers would choose to cooperate with him. This way, he would be able to obtain more battle achievements. Therefore, he gave his partners a discount of 500000 battle achievements on the price of this special weapon.

Even so, after careful consideration, the defense Area Commanders still felt that it was more cost-effective to buy the warships.

The things that Tang Zhen could think of, they could also think of it. The biggest beneficiary who knew the cooperation method could only be Tang Zhen.

Under the circumstances of choosing to cooperate, although they only needed a small amount of battle merits to obtain the right to use the warship, they felt very unwilling when they thought of sharing half of the harvest with Tang Zhen.

Tang Zhen was naturally able to guess the thoughts of these commanding officers. Hence, he did not force them. There would likely be many people fighting to do something that they were unwilling to do.

Chapter 2108 A new plan (1)

While the warship was moving forward, Tang Zhen replenished his ammunition once again.

They had used up a lot of ammunition and it was not enough to support the next battle. It was crucial to replenish their supplies in time.

Fortunately, there was a temple on the warship, and the believers could use the battle to sustain the battle, so they did not have to worry about supplies.

What was certain was that as the number of warships sold increased, ammunition consumption had become a problem that had to be solved.

It was impossible for Tang Zhen to always be the one to materialize these resources. First of all, there was not that much time. Second, it was not suitable for long-term planning.

!!

Perhaps he should build an Arsenal that specialized in producing weapons and ammunition to replenish the daily consumption of the warship?

Tang Zhen thought about it and felt that it should be feasible.

The environment of the God Country was very special. It contained terrifying heaven and earth energy, but it was controlled by the Grand temple, which greatly suppressed the strength of cultivators.

It was precisely because of this that the weapons of the technology plane could stand out.

Since that was the case, why didn't he go all out and make the matter bigger?

He made up his mind that this matter could not be delayed for too long. He would deal with it immediately after returning to land.

Tang Zhen also had another idea. He wanted to temporarily leave the divine Kingdom to deal with some matters that he felt were extremely necessary.

He already knew that he was the leader of his own Warzone, and that he had countless cultivators under him. He also knew that among the thousands of warzones, the sacred Dragon Warzone was ranked at the bottom.

When the war zone was just being built, everything had to start from scratch.

Therefore, he wanted to make good use of this opportunity to let his Lou Cheng subordinates enter the divine Kingdom and obtain rewards by killing sea monsters.

As long as the Holy Kingdom wasn't destroyed, the sea monsters would be endless. There was no need to worry about that.

Ten billion Battle Points to increase his strength was only for Tang Zhen and not for other cultivators.

Perhaps 10,000 battle merits would be enough to raise an ordinary person's strength by one level.

If Tang Zhen managed it properly and turned the divine Kingdom into a training ground, he would be able to obtain unimaginable benefits.

Other things aside, at least the strength of the cultivators in Lou Cheng would increase rapidly, making the sacred dragon battle zone even stronger.

To accomplish this, there were a few prerequisites.

First of all, he had to find the plane world connected to the 153rd defense area. After successfully occupying it, he would find a way to control the plane transmission channel.

Once he had control of the teleportation channel, he could disguise the cultivators of Lou Cheng as fanatics and enter the 153rd defense area after being summoned.

This way, he could save 100 million battle credits and use them all to raise his cultivation. This would undoubtedly increase his strength rapidly.

Although the Lou Cheng cultivators would lose all their memories after entering the God Kingdom, they would enter their own territory directly, and all problems would be solved.

Tang Zhen would send someone to receive them and tell Lou Cheng the whole story so that they would no longer be confused.

After that, the cultivators of Lou Cheng only needed to follow the instructions and participate in the hunting of sea monsters to obtain as many battle merits as possible.

As time passed, the Lou Cheng cultivators would take control of all the defensive areas and even slowly infiltrate other defensive areas.

&Nbsp; at that time, Tang Zhen would have more authority in Scandinavia and it would be easier for him to obtain battle achievements.

The introduction of an industrial manufacturing system and the construction of factories in the God's kingdom would also solve the problem of the supply of firearms and ammunition.

However, there was one thing that he had to pay attention to. When the believers left the God's kingdom, all their memories would disappear, and they would not be able to remember what they had experienced.

If he could not solve this problem, Tang Zhen would not be able to determine what he wanted to do even after leaving Scandinavia.

Even if they asked for help from a spiritual envoy, there would probably be no solution. After all, a spiritual envoy's power was limited, and they could not change the world laws of God's kingdom at all.

Even if he had carved down what he wanted to do, he might still be erased by an irresistible power when he left the God's kingdom.

This was the suppression of one's cultivation realm. The strength of the deity who created the divine Kingdom far surpassed Tang Zhen. Even if Tang Zhen's strength was extraordinary, he was simply unable to contend against the rules that he had set.

However, Tang Zhen still wanted to give it a try. This was because there was still a special scale within his body.

As long as the price was high enough, one could exchange for anything they wanted. This was very similar to the temple's battle credit exchange.

Tang Zhen was prepared to give it a try. He wanted to exchange for an item that would not be changed by the rules of the divine Kingdom. This way, he would be able to record what he wanted to do and bring it out.

The sale of the warship was already in the bag. Therefore, Tang Zhen would put all his energy into planning this matter.

After the warship sailed for half a day, Tang Zhen suddenly ordered the ship to stop.

The hearts of the believers, who had been waiting silently, began to beat wildly. They guessed that Tang Zhen had most likely discovered the traces of the sea monster's nest.

It was finally time for the special weapon that they had pondered for a long time and couldn't figure out what it was.

At this moment, the warship was completely silent. Only the sound of the waves hitting the ship could be heard.

Some of the believers with good eyesight had already seen that there seemed to be a large patch of dark clouds floating on the surface of the sea far away.

Seeing this scene, the believers were even more certain that there was a sea monster nest ahead.

The sea monster lairs, which were sick forms of the divine Kingdom, constantly stole the energy of the divine Kingdom to nourish and breed sea monsters.

The process of stealing energy could not be concealed, just like the symptoms of illness were bound to show. This was also one of the proofs of the existence of a sea monster nest.

When they thought about the ten million Battle Points in front of them, the commanders of the defense area began to lose their composure. Their eyes flashed with greed.

However, they also knew that even if there were 10000 of them, they would not be a match for the sea monster nest.

If one didn't have enough strength, they would definitely die if they encountered a sea monster nest.

However, things were different now. After obtaining warships and special weapons, they would also have the ability to destroy sea monster nests.

therefore, the commanders of the defense area were eager to see what form the special weapon would take and how it would destroy the sea monster nest.

Just as they were looking forward to it, a crack suddenly appeared on the deck.

Vaguely, everyone seemed to see a long cylindrical object standing in the hole under the deck. It was covered with dense runes.

Tang Zhen, who had been staying in the command cabin, also walked to the deck and looked at the location of the sea monster's nest.

"This special weapon requires the captain to operate it personally. It locks onto the target's location with spiritual power and then launch a precise attack.

It has an automatic lock-on and tracking function. Even if a sea monster nest is in the deep sea, it can still hit the target after entering the water!"

Tang Zhen's voice slowly rang out. While he was explaining to the group of defense Area Commanders, he activated the runic magic circle that controlled the special weapon.

At this moment, he seemed to have become one with his weapon, sharing the same field of view, and could adjust the direction and speed of his weapon at any time.

The special weapon was actually a modified version of a missile. The power of the warhead was equivalent to that of a nuclear weapon, and it was engraved with many runic magic circles, which had super destructive power.

Even a real Island could be directly razed to the ground. The sea monster nest was only made of flesh and blood, and it was impossible to resist the attack of such a super missile.

As the runic magic circle in the silo was activated, the runic missile that was nearly ten meters long rose into the air. After drawing an arc in the air, it directly landed on the defenseless sea monster nest.

In the blink of an eye, a pillar of clouds shot up into the sky, and the world seemed to be collapsing. It was a terrifying sight.

Chapter 2109 Eye transplant (1)

The doomsday-like scene caused the believers to fall into a daze. No one could believe that a special weapon could have such a terrifying attack power.

If its target was a certain defense area, the entire defense area would probably be razed to the ground after an explosion!

The commanders felt chills all over their bodies when they thought of that terrifying scene. They knew that they would not be able to Dodge such an attack.

Fortunately, the price of such a special weapon was extremely high. Even if there was a madman who wanted to make it, he would not be qualified to get it.

After the violent explosion, there was a huge wave that came. The wave was like a cliff.

As the huge wave swept over, the warship began to shake violently, as if it could capsize at any time.

Fortunately, the whole process was dangerous. Even though the waves were continuous, the warship was still fixed in one place as if it was bound by invisible chains.

The believers on the warship, however, felt terrible. They had never experienced such a scene before. They could only hold on to the items around them, afraid that they would be swept into the sea by the waves.

At this moment, they suddenly realized how difficult it was to kill monsters in the ocean. The huge waves alone were enough to make them collapse.

Fortunately, this was only a special case. In most cases, such waves would rarely appear in the ocean.

The only thing the believers could do was to wait silently and pray that the waves would calm down as soon as possible.

Fortunately, after the fiercest wave passed, the aftermath began to gradually weaken, which made the believers secretly heave a sigh of relief.

After the huge waves dissipated, everything returned to peace. The dark clouds that covered the sky in the distance had long disappeared without a trace.

The surrounding sea surface was filled with scattered corpses and remains. From their appearance, one could tell that these sea monsters that were killed were extremely large in size. They were not comparable to ordinary sea monster cannon fodder.

The commanders secretly guessed that these huge corpses and remains should have come from the sea monster nest.

There was no doubt that the sea monster's nest had been completely destroyed by the attack just now!

"It's over?"

A commanding officer of the defensive zone could not help but say. His face was full of confusion and suspicion. When he turned to look around him, he found that the other commanding officers had the same expression.

The hunting process was too fast and simple, completely beyond their expectations. This also made them feel that it was unreal.

However, the commanders were also clear that it was impossible for Tang Zhen to lie in this matter. Otherwise, the consequences would be extremely serious.

Soon, a believer sent a message that the crystal slab used to record battle information in the temple had indeed just been increased by ten million battle credits.

With the data from the temple as a witness, the group of commanders no longer had any doubts. After a moment of silence, they began to discuss enthusiastically.

However, thinking about it carefully, it was only natural.

First of all, the price of the special weapon used to deal with sea monsters was as high as five million battle credits. Such a high price must have the corresponding power.

To be able to kill a sea monster in one hit was not something to be surprised about.

The second was precise positioning. In a battle formation, being able to accurately lock onto the enemy's position was equivalent to winning half the battle.

The sea monster nest probably didn't expect that Tang Zhen would directly lock onto its position and launch an attack with a special weapon.

This was also very important. It was meaningless to have the Dragon slaying saber but not find the giant dragon.

Of course, the most important point was that they could enter the deep sea through the warship and not be limited to land.

If he stayed on land, he would never have the chance to earn this sum of battle merits.

After thinking through these key points, the commanders were no longer surprised, and even faintly felt that it was natural.

It would be truly unbelievable if the sea monster nest still couldn't be destroyed even with so many harsh conditions.

After successfully destroying the sea monster's nest, the purpose of this voyage had been achieved. Tang Zhen did not need to waste any more time.

When the believers finished cleaning up the battlefield, the warship would return to land, and he would not be following anyone else when it set sail again.

Tang Zhen returned to the command cabin and tried to communicate with the scale in his mind.

After several attempts, Tang Zhen finally received a response. The scale hidden in the world of his mind slowly appeared.

I hope to obtain an item that can record what I want to do. When I leave this world, it can ensure that it will not be erased by the world's laws.

Under Tang Zhen's expectant gaze, one end of the scale slowly sank, proving that the item he needed had been conjured.

The world in his mind also stored destiny gold coins. Tang Zhen kept throwing them to the other side of the scale until there were not many destiny gold coins left. Only then did he finally meet the conditions for exchange.

It was obvious that it was not easy to go against the world rules of the divine Kingdom. If he had exchanged for other items, he would not have to pay such a high price.

After removing the item conjured by the scale, Tang Zhen discovered that it was an eyeball-like item that looked a little strange.

When the item was in his hands, the method to use it also appeared.

Everything the eyeball saw would be recorded forever, and even the world laws of the divine Kingdom couldn't erase it.

When Tang Zhen tried to recall, it would automatically display the recorded scene without any omission.

Of course, this was only one of the functions of the eyeball. Other than that, it had many other special abilities. Otherwise, it would not have required so many gold coins of destiny to exchange for it.

What Tang Zhen had to do was to remove one of his eyeballs and replace it with this special eyeball.

This method seemed strange and bloody, but for cultivators, limb replacement was a common thing.

When Tang Zhen had just become a cultivator in Loucheng, he had given himself a pair of monster wings. However, as his strength increased, the pair of wings had become useless.

Moreover, his body was made of energy. Even if he lost an eyeball, it would grow back in an instant without causing any harm to his body.

Since he already had a solution, Tang Zhen did not hesitate any longer.

With a thought, one of his eyeballs disappeared without a trace like a spark blown by the wind, leaving behind a dark eye socket.

Tang Zhen, who was left with only one eyeball, looked rather sinister.

Tang Zhen stuffed the eyeball in his hand into his eye socket. He felt as if there was a worm-like thing slowly wriggling and fusing with his body.

At the same time, there were also traces of something similar to meridians that extended into his mental space and began to slowly absorb energy to nourish himself.

Tang Zhen gently blinked his eyes. He did not feel any discomfort. It was as though his eyes had never moved.

However, Tang Zhen was very clear that the world seen by this eyeball was extremely different from the normal world.

Regardless of whether it was a human or a plant, he could see through their essence with a single glance.

It would be more appropriate to call it the eye of truth.

Chapter 2110 Knowing the origin (1)

The returning battleship braved the wind and waves to reach area 153.

Compared to the scene of tens of thousands of people sending them off when they left, the current 153rd defense area was even more lively. The number of outsiders far exceeded the number of believers in the defense area by several times.

These believers had all rushed to area 153 after seeing the live broadcast on the image transmission stone, hoping to get their own battleship as soon as possible.

The scenes of warships crushing the sea monster army and rune missiles destroying the sea monster nests made the believers extremely excited. The believers who did not want to miss the opportunity to make a fortune rushed over as fast as they could.

In addition, there were also a large number of believers who were hired. They were full of anticipation and excitement to be able to participate in such a great project.

!!

Most importantly, participating in the warship manufacturing process would give them more learning opportunities, and they might even be able to build their own warship one day.

When the warship returned, the land was filled with thunderous cheers and the scene was spectacular.

The return of the battleship this time was an announcement of the arrival of a new era. In the days to come, there would be more battleships departing from the 153rd defense area to the boundless ocean.

After the warship stopped, the believers who came from the major defense areas rushed to the coast and boarded the warship with permission.

The various weapons on the warship were also allowed to be operated, so that the believers could feel the power of these weapons more clearly.

Tang Zhen returned to the defense area and directly found Sun Jun.

The two of them chatted for a while when they met. Tang Zhen asked, are there any survivors in area 153? are there any who are powerful enough to know which plane they are from? ”

Tang Zhen was prepared to give it a try. He wanted to see if he could find the believers who originally belonged to area 153 and figure out the dimension they were in.

As long as he had a certain amount of information, Tang Zhen would be able to travel in the opposite direction to the other party's world and then open up a transmission channel to the tower world.

If he couldn't find any surviving believers, Tang Zhen could only spend his military merits to exchange for the memories of those believers who died in battle from the temple and slowly find clues from them.

Sun Jun shook his head. He didn't know much about this matter, so he said that he could find someone to inquire about it.

From the beginning to the end, he didn't ask Tang Zhen what he wanted to do and was very dutiful.

Tang Zhen frowned slightly. Previously, due to the sea monsters attacking the war zone, all the believers in defense area 153 had died.

Under such circumstances, it wasn't an easy matter for Tang Zhen to figure out the dimension where his believers were located.

However, the believers in the defense area had a high mobility. When their strength reached a certain level, they could apply to enter the sea to kill higher level monsters, or enter the safe area where the Grand temple was located.

There would definitely be such believers in area 153.

There was another way, and that was to negotiate with the spiritualist and ask him to provide information about the planes that were connected to area 153.

However, it was still unknown if spiriter had such authority. After all, those planes were places that the gods had painstakingly managed and were the foundation to maintain the operation of the divine Kingdom.

If there were no believers, then the kingdom of God would face the crisis of no one being able to use it, and sooner or later, it would be destroyed by the sea monsters.

After the conversation between the two, Sun Jun immediately contacted his old acquaintances to inquire about the information in this area.

Tang Zhen went to the Grand temple again.

He had gained a lot of battle credits from the drill, and his first choice was still to exchange for memory fragments.

If he were to use them to increase his strength, these battle merits were just a drop in the ocean. They would not be of much help to him.

Therefore, recovering all his memories was the most important thing at the moment.

As for the believers who tried to buy the warship, there would naturally be someone in charge of entertaining them. It was impossible for Tang Zhen to appear for everything.

After arriving at the Grand temple this time, the number of believers who greeted him along the way increased. Some even took the initiative to stop Tang Zhen and discuss the issue of purchasing a warship.

Tang Zhen gave a unified reply to the believers who raised these questions and asked them to go to defense area 153 for a detailed discussion.

After all, the content of the conversation involved a large amount of battle achievements, and both the buyer and the seller had to take it seriously. How could it be explained in a few words after meeting on the street?

After explaining to these believers, Tang Zhen went straight to the Great Temple this time without making any stops along the way.

&Nbsp; his fame had spread throughout the divine Kingdom, and countless people knew him.

If he didn't cover his tracks properly, there would probably be even more believers who would want to talk to him in the following days.

Under such a famous situation, if he really had a companion, they should have contacted him long ago, but why hadn't they seen him yet?

Although he had not fully recovered his memory, Tang Zhen could now confirm that he was definitely not the only cultivator who had entered the divine Kingdom.

Where did the cultivators of Lou city go? It had also become one of the things that Tang Zhen was most concerned about.

Was he in the defense zone, or was he heading to the deep sea? or did he not obtain an entry pass and have yet to enter the divine Kingdom?

When he went to the Grand temple the last time, there was a believer that he seemed to know who had come into contact with him. However, the other party made Tang Zhen feel very uncomfortable, so he did not pay much attention to it.

If he could meet the other party again, Tang Zhen would definitely figure out the other party's origin. If they were enemies, he would kill them directly.

After entering the temple, Tang Zhen summoned the spiritual envoy and exchanged the battle Points he had just obtained for memory fragments.

Currently, he had already recovered 20% of his memories. However, these memories were extremely scattered. However, they were still extremely useful to Tang Zhen.

Perhaps it was due to luck, but the memory fragments that he had exchanged this time actually contained all the things he had experienced in the demonic plane, as well as the reason why he had entered the divine Kingdom.

Only then did Tang Zhen figure out the cause and effect of the matter. It turned out that the purpose of him entering the crack was to find the secret of the demon plane's master becoming a creator.

At the same time, Tang Zhen also knew that more than half of the remaining 80% of his memories were from the torobo people that he had absorbed after destroying the torobo star system.

These memories had been sealed in his mind and would only be retrieved when he used them. Now, he needed to spend a lot of battle merits to regain them.

If it was just these memories, Tang Zhen wouldn't care even if he gave up. After all, the technology of the special wave people had been mastered by the cultivators of loucheng. There wasn't much valuable information in those scattered memories.

The problem was that some of the teroboros' memories were mixed in with his, and he could not abandon them.

Therefore, he had to continue paying the 80 million Battle Points until he could exchange all the memories back.

After absorbing the memory fragments, Tang Zhen asked if he could inquire about the information of the planes related to the 153rd defense area. As expected, the Oracle shook her head to indicate that she was unable to do so.

This was within Tang Zhen's expectations. Therefore, he was not too disappointed. Fortunately, he still had two other methods to use.

then can you help me check if there are any surviving believers in area 153, and if they have obtained enough memory fragments?"

Tang Zhen thought for a moment before asking the spiritual envoy.

This time, the spirit didn't let him down. After collecting the inquiry fee, he directly gave him a list.

The names on the list were all believers who used to belong to the 153rd defense area, and there was also detailed information about them.

Tang Zhen took a glance and memorized all the information. Then, he bade farewell to the spiritual envoy.
