

Alternate 2261

Chapter 2261 One against three

The sea race's experts were most skilled in using their innate abilities to launch attacks and charge forward.

Many years of attack and defense had proved that the sea tribe was an expert in destruction!

A strong physical body was the strongest weapon of the oceanic species 'experts. They could tear the void apart with just a raise of their hand.

Therefore, among the sea Race, armors and weapons were extremely rare items, and very few sea monster experts would use them.

In this way, the sea Race saved a lot of energy, and in exchange, their population continued to increase.

Otherwise, with the shallow foundation of the sea tribe, they would not be able to support this mode of war at all. Just the daily consumption of resources and equipment was enough to cause the sea tribe to fall into a state of collapse.

Not only did the sea tribe pay attention to physical strength, but even the believers were also restricted by the rules of the divine Kingdom. They focused on the development of physical strength and were not very interested in the use of energy.

The two continents of the God's kingdom were barren of energy. The situation on the ocean was slightly better, and the energy that escaped from the hole could be extracted, but it was also extremely thin.

Even if the sea monster wanted to absorb energy, it would use a special method to do so. It would absorb energy through holes, not from the world.

In such a special environment, focusing on the improvement of the physical combat power naturally became the mainstream cultivation of both sides.

Of course, when comparing the two, the physical strength of the sea Race was still better.

This was their specialty, and after they advanced to the creator level, they were able to display it to the extreme.

In fact, these five masters of creation from the sea tribe all had a secret that no one knew about. They didn't have the ability to create.

He had the aura of a creator, but he didn't have the power of a creator. He was a strange existence.

As the Lord of the sea monsters, the sea Emperor only had an incomplete ability to create things. The descendants that he had raised naturally could not surpass him in this aspect.

In fact, this was also deliberately done by Neptune. The five masters of creation were only responsible for the battle and did not need to participate in other matters.

If these five masters of creation held power and participated in the affairs of the sea Race, then the sea Emperor's supreme authority would be affected, which was definitely not the result he wanted.

Thus, these five puppet-like Masters of creation of the sea tribe were pure war machines, and they lived up to their names.

The most important point was that the difficulty of cultivating five true Masters of creation was far greater than the incomplete version.

However, it was precisely because of this that these oceanic species 'experts were even more terrifying. Their seemingly crude and brutal fighting style actually had a rather terrifying offensive power.

Especially when they were working together to attack the same opponent at the same time, no one would be able to take it.

The battle fanatic Lord was not afraid at all. In the instant they exchanged blows, he had already made an accurate judgment of the enemy's situation.

The battle fanatic Lord had encountered countless enemies, and among them were enemies like the sea Race. He had accumulated a lot of experience.

Against these creator-level enemies who didn't have the strength of a creator, battle maniac Lord was 100% able to kill them in a one-on-one battle.

From the beginning of the battle, it had already entered a state of white heat.

The battle fanatic horde leader held a malevolent-looking broad-bladed axe in his hand as he continuously hacked at the three oceanic species 'experts.

The creator goddesses were extremely powerful, and they no longer relied on weapons. However, the battle maniac Overlord still preferred this kind of combat style where he wielded a weapon.

The giant axe seemed to be swinging wildly, but in fact, it was very organized. The sea monster experts kept attacking, but they couldn't hurt him at all.

On the contrary, when he tried to attack, he was swept by the giant Axe's blade, and his wound was like smoke, wriggling and unable to recover.

This was the battle maniac Lord's ability. Once the enemy was struck by his giant axe, they would not be able to recover.

In the end, they would be cut into eight pieces and then be at his mercy.

hahaha, you three are interesting. I didn't wait for so long in vain!

Zhan Kuang horde leader's killing spree was getting more and more intense, and the three marine race experts were equally ferocious.

The three masters of creation of the sea tribe launched a suicidal attack because of Neptune's order. They tried to create an opportunity for their companions by sacrificing one of them.

However, they didn't know that the battle fanatic Lord was the type of person who grew stronger when he encountered a stronger opponent. This was also the origin of his title. In a desperate situation, he could explode with combat power that far exceeded his usual combat power.

During the battle, a marine race expert took advantage of the fact that his comrades were holding off Zhan Kuang horde leader and launched a sneak attack from behind.

Zhan Kuang tribal Lord sensed the sneak attack and was about to Dodge it. However, another marine race expert suddenly rushed forward and blocked his path.

The coordination between them could be considered flawless, and they had actually managed to trap the battle maniac Lord.

“Haha, you want to take me down with you? you’re not qualified!”

Even after such a sudden turn of events, Lord Zhan Kuang’s expression did not change, and he continued to mock the enemy.

This was obviously his habit. Not only did he attack his enemies in battle, but he also mocked them with his words.

Not only did they have a good time talking, but the enemy could also be furious and lose their composure in the battle.

Perhaps, as long as he had a chance, he could turn defeat into victory.

Although the Berserker Lord’s words were unforgiving, he would never be the slightest bit careless when he was in action.

Compared to his rough appearance, they were two extremes.

If the enemy were to make a deduction based on his performance, the conclusion would definitely be ridiculously wrong, because this was also a method that the battle fanatic Lord used to scheme against the enemy.

Zhan Kuang Lord laughed coldly. Since he couldn’t avoid it, then he might as well not avoid it.

It was a good opportunity to launch a fatal attack and end this battle as soon as possible.

The longer the battle dragged on, the more disadvantageous it would be for the cultivators in loucheng.

“Go to hell!”

The battle-ax in his hand slashed horizontally, splitting the body of the sea tribe expert in two. Then, he swept with his backhand, beheading the enemy.

The Marine race expert’s head was filled with shock, as if he didn’t expect to be killed so easily.

Fortunately, his sacrifice had paid off. The Marine race expert who had launched the sneak attack had successfully pierced the battle maniac Lord’s body with his forearm bone blade.

The bone blade pierced through the battle maniac Lord’s body, causing black smoke to rise from the wound.

Black Venom seeped out from the bone blade and entered the battle fanatic Lord’s body through the wound, causing continuous damage.

Even if the battle maniac Lord didn't die, it would still leave behind endless hidden injuries. The longer it took, the more difficult it would be to heal.

The battle maniac Lord groaned, and a fierce light flashed in his eyes. Then, he suddenly turned his body to face the sea monster that had ambushed him.

The sea monster was shocked to see the War Lord suddenly face him, but it still gritted its teeth and launched a second attack.

The bone blade on his other arm also pierced into the battle fanatic Lord's body, almost cutting it in half.

The other oceanic species 'expert at the side followed closely behind and moved forward, wanting to launch an attack with his companion.

The battle fanatic Lord's situation had become extremely dangerous.

However, at this moment, the Berserker Lord laughed out loud. The wound on its body instantly closed, and it bit down on the sneak attacker's arm.

Then, he suddenly opened his mouth, revealing a mouthful of sharp teeth. He grinned hideously and bit at the oceanic species 'expert.

"Crack!"

A crisp sound was heard. The sea monster that had its arms locked was swallowed by the Berserker Lord and chewed on.

Chapter2262 Void creature

In the blink of an eye, the two marine race experts had been killed by Zhan Kuang tribal Lord as if he was chopping vegetables.

There were no invincible existences in the world. The reason why one felt that some existences were undefeatable was because they did not have the corresponding strength.

If they were evenly matched, there was a possibility of defeating him. If they had the upper hand, they could easily kill him!

Even the Masters of creation weren't immortal. Of course, there weren't many existences that could kill them, and the battles between Masters of creation were even rarer.

Therefore, only by becoming the strongest and no longer having any enemies could one be eternal!

Seeing his companion being bitten to death by Zhan Kuang, then chewed and swallowed, the remaining oceanic species expert's expression changed. He retreated without hesitation.

Even the brutal and bloodthirsty oceanic species 'experts were frightened by Zhan Kuang's appearance. They felt that he was a complete lunatic.

This form of Zhan Kuang Lord had indeed exceeded the expectations of the sea Race. At this moment, they suddenly realized that perhaps the cultivators of loucheng were far more brutal than they had imagined!

After the shock, it was a wave of fear.

The three creators had worked together, but they were still unable to kill Zhan Kuang. Instead, Zhan Kuang had killed two of them.

Now that he was the only one left, it was impossible for him to be Zhan Kuang Lord's opponent. If he didn't retreat now, when would he?

"Damn bastard, who told you to retreat?"

The ocean Emperor, who was watching from a distance, was so angry that he shouted and ordered the Marine race expert to continue attacking.

The Marine race expert ignored him and continued to retreat. If he continued to attack, it would be the same as courting death.

Although he was controlled by Poseidon, he was not a real puppet. He would not do such a stupid thing.

"Bastard, attack with me!"

After Neptune cursed, his huge body suddenly moved forward, and at the same time, he spat out a stream of flames from his mouth.

In an instant, the area around the Berserker Lord turned into a sea of fire. The flames were so thick that they were like liquid.

This was a real sea of fire. Any object thrown into it would instantly turn into ashes.

"Small tricks!"

Zhan Kuang Lord laughed coldly as he advanced through the sea of fire. The flames could not harm him at all.

His target was the powerful sea monster who had just left the battlefield and was now fighting with the sea Emperor.

However, Poseidon was faster than him. Before the Berserker Lord could get close to him, Poseidon had already rushed over.

Zhan Kuang Lord roared. The giant axe in his hand actually exploded with a thousand Zhang of light, forming a semi-transparent axe blade.

Wherever the axe passed, it left a black mark, as if it had cut the void.

Neptune could not Dodge in time, so he could only brace himself and charge at the giant axe shadow.

In Neptune's opinion, this attack might not be able to hurt him, so he just wanted to test the strength of the battle maniac Lord.

"Bang!"

The giant axe shadow and Poseidon's huge body collided. Poseidon did not move, but the battle fanatic Lord was like a bullet that was shot out, and he was knocked back a long distance.

The toughness of Poseidon’s body had already surpassed the level of a divine weapon. The battle maniac Lord’s axe should not have caused much damage.

However, this was not the case. At this time, a huge wound had appeared on Neptune’s head, which looked shocking.

The giant axe contained a strange energy that prevented the wound from healing. At the same time, it would bring indescribable pain.

hahaha, you’re the first one to receive my axe with your head. You’re really stupid!

The battle fanatic Lord that had been sent flying had already rushed back while laughing loudly. At the same time, his body was rapidly growing.

If he relied on his current size, he would not be able to fight Neptune normally. It must be known that no matter how sharp a sewing needle was, it could not be used to kill a giant dragon.

However, upon closer inspection, one would notice that the body of the battle maniac Lord was flickering, as if it would collapse at any moment.

It was obvious that the previous attack had caused him a lot of damage, and he could no longer suppress it.

However, Zhan Kuang was just like his name. The more dangerous the battle, the more serious the injuries he suffered, and the higher his combat strength.

In the blink of an eye, the two sides clashed again.

The Berserker Lord, who was thousands of meters tall, was fighting with Poseidon. The battle was so intense that even the void around them was torn apart.

Countless cracks of different sizes appeared in the sky above the Grand temple. Then, countless lava Dragons fell from the sky.

This scene was like the end of the world.

The cultivators and sea monsters who were fighting all dodged by accident. Otherwise, they would be turned into ashes instantly if they were hit by the heavenly Fire.

The sky and the ground were in chaos. The battle was getting more and more intense. Space was being madly torn apart and was developing towards chaos.

This was a sign that the battle was too intense, and space was about to collapse. Such situations often occurred in the planar battlefield.

If the damage was too severe, the broken planar barrier would simply be unable to be repaired, and it would ultimately leave behind a permanent injury.

Such a plane could collapse at any moment or be attacked by void monsters.

The void monsters were the truly terrifying things. Ordinary creatures were no match for them at all. The thing that these monsters were best at was to devour an entire plane bit by bit.

What he was afraid of happened.

Just as Zhan Kuang horde leader and the ocean Emperor were fighting, and Star Spirit horde leader was being held back by the other two sea monsters, a strange fluctuation suddenly came from far away in the void.

The two sides that were fighting in the void subconsciously released their spiritual power to scan the area, and then their expressions changed at the same time.

“You bunch of idiots, what have you done?”

Zhan Kuang horde leader cursed. He no longer had the heart to continue fighting, and at the same time, he quickly retreated to reinforce Star Spirit horde leader.

Compared to these sea monsters, what they were going to encounter next was the real trouble.

Poseidon was also stunned. He had no time to pay attention to Zhan Kuang Lord. His huge single eye was staring into the void in the distance, and there was an indescribable depression in his eyes.

“Damn it, how did I encounter these things?”

Although the void in front of him was dark, Neptune could sense that countless special creatures were approaching.

These things that were wandering in the void were the void monsters that made cultivators pale. They left only a void in their wake.

Under normal circumstances, it was impossible for a void monster to discover the existence of a plane, just like how a fish could not see water and a human could not see air.

However, when the dimensional barrier was shattered on a large scale, the void energy would mix with the dimensional barrier and produce a special aura.

At that time, the originally hidden dimension would be completely exposed to the void, and then it would be detected by the void monsters.

What happened next was needless to say. The void creatures would devour the exposed planes like piranhas.

At that time, even if Neptune really obtained the body of the indigenous God, he would lose the entire God's kingdom.

Having lost the most crucial God's kingdom, the body of the indigenous God was almost useless, even worse than his current deformed body.

At the thought of the trouble that would follow, Neptune felt a headache. He had thought that he had stolen the good luck of the indigenous gods, but now it seemed that he was not.

First, the cultivators of Loucheng City had interfered and completely disrupted his plan. He had no choice but to attack.

Neptune used his incomplete authority to open up a passage to the deep sea and directly killed his way into the core hinterland of the Grand Temple.

Because of his previous plan, both the cultivators in Loucheng and the believers in the major defensive areas had fallen into Neptune's trap.

Although there were some unforeseen circumstances when he fought Lou Cheng, Neptune still thought that he had won.

But now, it seemed that the situation was still very bad. It was not what he thought at all.

How was this good luck? It was clearly bad luck, the extremely unlucky kind!

Chapter 2263 Common enemy

Although the void monsters had yet to approach, it was certain from their way of moving that these monsters had discovered the location of the Divine Kingdom and then gathered by following the aura.

The entire void was filled with monsters.

The sea monster race's greatest advantage was their large numbers. They could slowly weaken the Grand Temple's power by fighting a war of attrition.

However, compared to the void creatures, they were insignificant and not even worth mentioning.

The reproduction of void creatures could easily reach billions. They relied on the plane as their food and could grow into extremely huge bodies in a very short time.

Neptune's body was over 10,000 meters long, which was already quite terrifying. However, in front of a truly mature void monster, he could only be a grandson.

For example, the biological battleship that Holy Dragon City had modified was a Super Beetle that looked like a moving land.

However, among the void creatures, there were many monsters of this size, but they could not be modified.

The reason for this was that the void was boundless, and there was no limit to the size of the monster. As long as it did not die, it would not stop growing.

From this, it could be seen how abnormal the void monster was.

In fact, it was quite normal to think about it. The void was a land of death. How could an ordinary creature survive in the void?

Every time they devoured a plane, it would be the time when the void monsters would reproduce. In the process of continuous devouring and reproduction, the population of the void monsters would grow larger and larger.

It was precisely because he understood how terrifying void creatures were that the battle maniac Overlord was so angry and even a little helpless.

He had thought that he would be able to defeat Poseidon easily with proper planning.

Neptune was just a frog in the well and did not understand the power of Lou Cheng's cultivators. He was too arrogant.

The scheme that he had racked his brains for was extremely laughable in the eyes of Tang Zhen's group.

Neptune's ultimate goal was to take down the Grand temple and then snatch the body of the indigenous God.

As long as the cultivators of Lou Cheng knew this, they could make the corresponding arrangements and win.

However, the world was unpredictable. This sentence could not only be used to describe the ocean Emperor, but also the cultivators in Lou Cheng.

They thought that victory was already in their grasp and did not even need to use their trump cards. However, they did not expect these void creatures to interfere.

With that, the situation was completely out of their control, and even the cultivators of Lou Cheng were caught off guard.

At this moment, the cultivators of Lou Cheng were still fighting the sea monster, and it was difficult to tell who was winning.

Even when he had been heavily injured by the two marine race experts, he had not revealed such an expression. From this, one could see the severity of the situation.

Just as he was looking around, a figure appeared in front of Zhan Kuang's horde leader. It was Star Spirit horde leader, who had previously fought with the two sea monsters.

At this time, he was still elegant and graceful, and there was no trace of fighting on his body. There was not even a bit of dirt on him.

Only the long sword in his hand was stained with a trace of dirt. It was obvious that it had drunk the blood of the enemy.

On the other hand, the battle fanatic Lord's body was covered in blood and filth. There was still some juice flowing out from the corner of his mouth as he chewed, making him look quite ferocious.

what's going on? why did the void monsters suddenly appear? "

The star Spirit Lord's expression was also unfriendly. The appearance of these void monsters completely disrupted the original plan and made things more critical.

These void monsters were not sea monsters. If they invaded the divine Kingdom, the Grand temple would be swallowed by these monsters.

These monsters weren't picky with their food. They ate whatever they encountered. The cultivators of Lou Cheng city and the sea monsters were also on their menu.

How would I know? It's probably related to these sea monsters. Otherwise, how could these monsters appear so coincidentally in such a big void?"

The star Spirit Lord said indifferently. It was obvious that he also thought that this matter was related to the sea monster.

The two of them had the same idea. After all, Lou Cheng's cultivators were very experienced and knew the dangers of the void monsters.

Therefore, during the process of teleportation and movement, they would try their best to take defensive measures to avoid attracting the attention of such monsters.

On the contrary, these sea monsters did not realize how dangerous the void monsters were, so they might have done something stupid.

In the end, he harmed both himself and others, causing the God nation to encounter a real crisis.

Let's make preparations first and stop the void creatures from attacking the Grand temple. At the same time, inform Tang Zhen to make preparations.

The star Spirit horde leader's expression was still calm, but his brows were slightly furrowed. It was obvious that he was thinking of a way to deal with this.

"I'm afraid that Tang Zhen already knows about it. However, he definitely won't be able to return. After all, those martial artists are also a problem.

That's why we still need the three of us to guard the Grand temple. If we really can't do it, we'll ask for reinforcements. We can't let anything go wrong with the quest!"

After the two masters of creation finished their discussion, they immediately began to act.

The situation has changed. The void creatures are attacking. Get ready to face them!

The Lou Cheng cultivators who were fighting the sea monsters suddenly heard the notification and their expressions changed.

Compared to these sea monsters, the void creatures were obviously more terrifying. They were also one of the most powerful opponents that the cultivators of Lou Cheng often encountered.

They were like a swarm of flies, following the Lou Cheng cultivators and appearing on the opposite battlefield from time to time.

Cultivator Lou Cheng even suspected that these void creatures had a special ability that could sense where he was.

Perhaps the void monsters also knew that as long as they followed the cultivators of Lou Cheng, they would not have to worry about food shortage.

Of course, most of the time, the cultivators in Loucheng City were too lazy to care about these void monsters. Most of the broken planes that they had conquered were left to these non-picky guys.

However, it was different now. The God Country could not be lost, and it could not be devoured by the void monster.

Since that was the case, he could only fight them head-on and get rid of these void creatures that were trying to invade.

As for these sea tribes, if they continued to pester him, he would just exterminate them all.

Lou Cheng's cultivators retreated while keeping a close eye on the sea monsters to prevent them from taking the opportunity to invade the Grand Temple.

But at this moment, the sea monsters suddenly stopped their attacks and turned their eyes to the cracks in the sky.

Because at this moment, Neptune had also issued the same order to stop the battle with the cultivators in Loucheng and stop the invasion of the void monsters.

The ordinary members of the sea tribe had limited knowledge and naturally did not know what void creatures were. However, Neptune was very clear about it.

Encountering this kind of sudden event, he could only admit that he was unlucky, and the matter of taking over the Grand Temple had to be put aside.

Although Neptune was determined to obtain the bodies of the indigenous gods, he also knew the importance of this. This was his divine Kingdom, and he would not allow these monsters to destroy it.

The intense and bloody battle suddenly stopped in the blink of an eye. It was so abrupt that it made people feel a little strange.

However, everyone knew that they would soon face even more powerful monsters, and the battle would be even more intense.

At the same time, cultivator Lou Cheng also informed his believers and explained the information about the void monsters.

Void monsters were different from ordinary monsters. After entering a plane, they would appear invisible.

If the monster didn't move, you wouldn't be able to discover its existence.

However, if you discovered it, it was very likely that it would have already rushed in front of you and swallowed you in one bite.

After being devoured by a void monster, the chances of survival were close to zero. After all, this was an existence that could even devour a plane.

Moreover, this kind of monster could not be detected, and could only be observed and searched using a relatively stupid method. Once a large area of space collapsed and disappeared, it meant that there was a void monster nearby.

At that time, he could mobilize energy to attack and use special means to force the sea monster to reveal itself until it was killed.

It was easy to say, but it was very difficult to do. According to known records, almost no plane that had been invaded by void monsters had survived.

The real danger had suddenly descended upon the divine Kingdom without any preparation.

Chapter 2264 Heavy losses?

The void crack near the Grand temple had become larger and larger. At the same time, because the shattering was too serious, it had reached the point of no recovery.

This was the source of disaster. The void creatures were attracted by these broken gaps and then swarmed in.

As the star Spirit Lord had speculated, the culprit of this incident was actually Neptune, who had a screw loose in his head.

His self-righteous surprise attack method actually had a fatal hidden danger. It was just that Poseidon was so eager for success that he did not pay attention to it.

Of course, there was another possibility. He had no experience in this area and did not know what his actions meant.

Experience and knowledge would never appear out of thin air. The hidden dangers of the greater world were definitely beyond imagination.

Neptune had high standards but low standards. He had shot himself in the foot by lifting a stone.

To put it bluntly, it was actually very simple.

As he was one with the indigenous gods, Neptune also had a certain authority to change the rules of the divine Kingdom.

Because he was not the real owner, the process was extremely difficult, and the success rate was not very high.

Creating an ocean in the divine Kingdom was already the limit of his ability, and this was because the indigenous gods had not repaired it. Otherwise, the ocean in the divine Kingdom would not have existed at all.

Before the indigenous gods were asleep, Neptune rarely used this ability for fear of exposing too much and causing trouble.

At most, they could use this ability to steal the energy to maintain the operation of the God's kingdom and increase the number of the sea tribe.

Neptune knew very well that the God's kingdom was the territory of the indigenous gods. If he angered them, they would definitely hunt him down at all costs.

The wisest way was to obediently hide in the deep sea and become a " pig " for the indigenous gods, making them mistakenly think that they could be slaughtered and harvested at any time.

But in reality, they were secretly accumulating power and looking for a way to kill the indigenous gods.

When the indigenous gods fell into a deep sleep, Neptune began to slowly let loose and used this ability more and more often.

In this surprise attack on the Grand temple, Neptune had used this ability to build a transmission channel between the deep sea and the Grand temple.

The cultivators of loucheng city had put a lot of pressure on Neptune, so he had no choice but to launch a surprise attack in order to end the battle as soon as possible.

The key problem was that the transmission channel could not be built inside the God Kingdom. It could only be built on the outer layer.

The outer layer of the divine Kingdom was naturally a void.

Neptune had quietly built the passage, thinking that he had hidden it from everyone, but he did not know that there were great hidden dangers in his method.

The void monsters had an abnormal sense of smell. Even if they were extremely far away, they could still capture the unique aura of a plane and quickly gather and approach.

Unfortunately, from the beginning to the end, Neptune did not notice this. When he began to move, the void monster was already close to the area where the divine Kingdom was.

At this time, Neptune had also realized that it was his stupid behavior that had led to this change.

Neptune was conceited and would never admit that he had done something wrong. However, when he discovered Lou Cheng's behavior, he immediately issued the corresponding order.

The sea Race gave up on attacking the Grand temple and focused on defending against the attacks of the void creatures!

The intense battle came to an abrupt end the moment the leaders of both sides gave the order. The cultivators of the Lou Cheng clan were professional, while the sea monsters were absolutely obedient to their mother.

The surroundings became extremely quiet. Everyone looked at the sky above their heads, at the fire Dragon lava that fell from the sky.

Compared to before, the cracks were getting bigger and bigger. Some of the cracks were like waterfalls of lava falling from the sky.

They fell into the turbulent ocean, and when they came into contact with the sea water, mist began to boil and spread everywhere.

After the boiling hot lava cooled down, it turned into a Black Mountain and continued to grow.

Or it could be said that islands appeared out of thin air, rapidly expanding under the impact of the waves, and then connected into a whole.

Neptune had spurted lava in the void and accidentally tricked his subordinates again.

The sea water was boiling due to the high temperature, turning into a big pot of boiling water. The sea monsters that couldn't stand the high temperature jumped out of the sea one after another.

Most of the sea monsters were not strong enough and did not have the ability to stay in the air. After leaving the sea for a short time, they quickly fell back.

The weaker sea monsters, including those who were dead or heavily injured, had their shells turned red from the heat. They floated on the surface of the sea in layers.

The nauseating smell after being cooked, mixed with the mist and the smell of blood, seemed to be the most effective emetic, making people feel nauseated.

Many of the believers had ugly expressions on their faces, and some had already started to vomit. They dared to swear to the native gods that they had never smelled such a disgusting smell.

At this moment, another change occurred.

A wave-like fluctuation suddenly rippled near the crack in the sky. Then, the sky, which was originally riddled with holes, completely shattered.

Violent fluctuations spread out like an earthquake, causing people to be unable to stand steadily.

The originally clear sky had become too horrible to look at. The void outside the divine Kingdom could be seen with the naked eye.

The planar barrier in this area had already lost all possibility of being repaired, and it would only get worse as time passed.

The value of such a damaged God's kingdom had been greatly reduced, and it was possible that it would be attacked by outer world creatures at any time.

Lou Cheng didn't mind. Their mission was to protect the native God. As long as this guy didn't die, it wouldn't be considered a violation of the contract.

The ones who had truly suffered losses were the believers of the divine Kingdom and the countless members of the sea tribe led by the sea Emperor.

Even Tang Zhen would suffer huge losses. The divine Kingdom that was in ruins would only cause his original plan to fall through.

I'm afraid Tang Zhen has already gone mad with anger after knowing that the void monsters have invaded!

Seeing the changes in the sky, the star Spirit Lord said in a calm tone, and it was hard to tell if he was happy or worried.

Zhan Kuang Lord nodded his head. He also felt that Tang Zhen's luck wasn't good.

It was important to note that the operation this time was the work of the cracked territory, which was the price for the benefits.

He had already obtained the benefits of the cornerstone platform. However, the benefits that Tang Zhen wanted could only be obtained bit by bit after he had pacified Scandinavia.

However, looking at the current situation, it was likely impossible for Tang Zhen to reap the expected benefits.

Even if the sea monster was annihilated and the void monster was successfully intercepted, they would have to pay a considerable price.

At that time, the divine Kingdom would also be shattered and would no longer have any value to speak of.

Although Tang Zhen had suffered losses, he could only silently endure it. After all, this matter itself carried a great risk.

“Actually, Tang Zhen didn’t suffer any losses. At the very least, he completed his advancement in his divine Kingdom and became a creator.

Only by becoming a creator would one be qualified to participate in the real Affairs of the fifth battle area. Otherwise, one would never be valued and would never be able to come into contact with the real secrets.

Moreover, based on my understanding of Tang Zhen, he’s the best at finding opportunities in adversity and obtaining unexpected benefits.

Similar things had happened more than once. Tang Zhen had relied on this heaven-defying luck to rapidly rise from being insignificant and have the qualifications to stand side by side with you and me.

I just don’t know how he’s going to resolve this crisis. Will he be able to obtain unexpected benefits like before?”

The star Spirit Lord turned to look at the ocean with a hint of anticipation in his eyes.

After calculating the time, Tang Zhen should have already arrived at his destination and had officially started fighting with the martial artist Alliance.

There was no need to mention the strength of the cultivators in the loucheng Kingdom. With the cooperation of the loucheng Kingdom, defeating the Allied martial artists, who were only acting as bait, was simply an easy task.

Perhaps it wouldn’t be long before Tang Zhen would appear in the Grand temple and think of a way to solve this real crisis.

Chapter2265 The void monster’s arrival

The lava that was rolling down from the sky was suddenly stopped and disappeared into thin air.

The members of the sea tribe who had been tortured by the boiling lava but had nowhere to hide heaved a sigh of relief at the same time. They felt as if a heavy burden had been lifted off their shoulders.

If this situation continued, they would end up being cooked by the boiling water.

To be boiled by the boiling sea water and made into soup, such a bizarre way of dying was really terrible to the extreme.

However, the sea monster didn't know that this wasn't the end of the disaster, but the beginning of a new one.

The true catastrophe that belonged to the divine Kingdom had now officially arrived, not far above their heads.

everyone, be careful! The void monster is here!

It was unknown who shouted this, but soon after, a strange phenomenon appeared in the sky. As if it was being painted by an invisible brush, it began to disappear in patches.

The void was revealed, like an abyss, making people tremble.

If one looked from a distance, one would be able to clearly see the traces of insects crawling, winding and spreading in all directions.

That was the void monster devouring. Everything in the God Kingdom was a delicacy for the void monster, and they were fighting for it crazily.

At this moment, the void monster was like a pack of wolves, crazily devouring everything it encountered.

Due to the large number of monsters, the speed at which the monsters devoured was astonishing. Every second, a large area of space would disappear and then be replaced by the void.

It gave people the feeling that an exquisite painting was being destroyed one after another, revealing pieces of the void.

The void monster was huge, and its appetite was also huge. Although there were times when it was full and rested, it had to wait for a long time.

It was obviously not a good idea to wait for the void monsters to rest and then besiege and kill them.

Therefore, the wisest thing to do was to lock onto the void monsters and launch an area-of-effect attack when they swarmed over.

He would kill as many as he could!

Once they missed this opportunity, it would be much more difficult to focus on eliminating the void monsters.

everyone, listen up. Attack immediately. Don't care if you can see the target. Just attack the sky!

The battle maniac Lord's voice resounded in the air above the Grand temple. His voice was firm.

At the same time as he gave the order, the battle maniac Lord swung his battle axe with all his might, slashing towards the crack in the sky.

It was like a giant rock falling into the water, constantly splashing waves, and in the meantime, countless sea monsters were hit and killed.

In this battle, the ordinary members of the sea Race were really unlucky. They had been tricked by the sea Emperor.

Cannon fodder was cannon fodder. In this chaotic situation, no one cared about their lives.

The cultivators of Loucheng city, who had been prepared for a long time, immediately began to shoot at the position that the void monster said. Energy beams swept across continuously.

It was as if countless fireworks were shooting up from the ground at the same time. It was an exceptionally beautiful sight.

In particular, the light beams shot out by the heavy warships were as dazzling as the sun, forming a sharp contrast with the dark void background.

However, this beautiful scene represented a fatal killing intent that was enough to destroy any living creature.

Although the monsters in the void were terrifying, the attacks of the cultivators in the city were even more powerful. The weapons created by the combination of the cultivation civilization and the technology civilization were created for destruction from the very beginning.

Very quickly, a water-like image appeared in the sky. The beam attack was blocked by an invisible object.

There were countless monsters in the air. After they were hit by the energy beams, they revealed their huge bodies as if they were electrified.

It was like a jellyfish in the deep sea that was illuminated by strong light. Although it was faintly visible, it could still be seen clearly.

In fact, there was no way to describe the appearance of the void monsters with words, because every monster had a different body shape and appearance, and they were growing freely.

It was obvious that these monsters didn't rely on their appearance to determine their identity, but on their unique auras.

No matter what they looked like, these monsters all had one thing in common, which was that they had a terrifying mouth that was like a vortex.

Its mouth was full of runes, and it kept swimming in the vortex, flashing with a flickering light.

It was by relying on this special mouth that the void monster could devour everything it encountered, not even leaving a speck of dust behind.

As the cultivators of Lou Cheng attacked, these void monsters immediately became flustered. The sky was like a boiling pot, as if it would fall down at any time.

They were like a flock of sheep that had been hunting for food and had suddenly run away in all directions when they encountered danger.

Seeking advantages and avoiding disadvantages was the instinct of living creatures, and so was the void monster.

Although they could live in the void and treat the plane world as food, it didn't mean that they couldn't be killed.

They also experienced life, aging, sickness, and death, but the process was very long. After all, to the void, time was actually the most worthless thing.

Although they had special physiques and long lives, they had not reached the level of super life.

When they start devouring a plane, the form of their bodies will change and gradually assimilate with the devoured plane.

Therefore, the void monsters that destroyed countless dimensions were not truly invincible. They also had flaws and weaknesses.

At this time, energy and physical attacks could also be used to kill them. Of course, the premise was that the power of the attack was enough. Otherwise, to the void monsters, it would be just like scratching an itch.

After all, their size was obvious. The large void monsters were like Giant Mountains, and they were not afraid of ordinary attacks.

However, the number of void monsters and the aftereffects of their devouring of the plane were the real headache.

There were many dangerous things in the void, and when a plane world was exposed to the void without any protection, it would face these dangers directly.

If they were unlucky, they might only need a void storm to sweep through the dimension and kill all the creatures in the entire dimension!

Under the constant devouring of the void monsters, the native creatures were like trapped on an isolated island, and their living space would become smaller and smaller.

As time passed, the environment would worsen, and survival would become more difficult.

At that time, even if the void monsters did not eat them, the indigenous residents would die on a large scale for various reasons.

That was why the planes that were attacked by the void monsters were destroyed one after another. It was because of this series of aftereffects.

Even a special Kingdom like a God's kingdom would also face a rather dangerous situation after being attacked by void monsters.

Of course, most of the time, the God nations created by the Masters of creation would never be attacked by void monsters.

&Nbsp; this was because the owners of divine kingdoms would think of all sorts of ways to hide themselves, or perhaps find a way to move to a safe place when danger came.

As the indigenous God had already fallen into a deep sleep, he could only bear the attacks of the void monsters and could not move at all.

This also made the cultivators in Lou city extremely passive. If it weren't for the restrictions of the contract, they would have abandoned the divine Kingdom long ago to avoid meaningless sacrifices.

They would not be like now, risking their lives to attack the void monsters in order to slow down their devouring speed.

The only thing the cultivators of Lou Cheng could do was to delay and then think of a way to move the Grand temple. They could not drive away the void monsters completely.

This was because their past experience told them that it was as difficult as ascending to the heavens to achieve this!

Chapter2266 The fierce battle in front of the Grand temple

The void monsters had a unique talent. Ordinary cultivators could not sense them with their eyes or spiritual power, so they naturally could not judge how many there were.

However, through other methods, he could still make a rough judgment.

At this time, the sky near the Grand temple was disappearing at a speed visible to the naked eye, and what replaced it was a dark void.

It was pure black and glossy, rolling and wriggling like a living creature.

When the void came into contact with the aura of the plane, such a situation would occur. One look and one would know that it was dangerous.

The God's kingdom, which had never had a dark night, was now beginning to turn dark. However, this darkness was different from the dark night. More often than not, it represented destruction.

The dark night would be replaced by light sooner or later, but once the darkness of the void appeared, it would never dissipate.

Although it was impossible to accurately determine the number of void monsters, one could tell that there were a lot of them based on the speed at which they devoured.

From the looks of it, there were at least 100000 of them, and they were all mature.

In the void, who knew how many more monsters were coming.

The most worrying thing was that after these void monsters entered the God's kingdom, they did not just stand there and wait to be beaten. Instead, they scattered in all directions.

Firstly, they could avoid the attacks, and secondly, they could snatch food. All the void monsters were gathered together, so they were too slow to eat at all.

The God Country was huge, and it allowed these void monsters to move freely, going wherever they wanted.

Due to the ability to become invisible, the void monsters would instantly disappear without a trace once they left the battlefield.

This was the real headache, and it would cause endless trouble.

If he caught up with the void monster, who had eaten and drunk to its heart's content, and hid in a corner to rest, it would be as difficult as ascending to the heavens to find the monster again.

Although he knew the disadvantages, he had no way to prevent it and could only let the situation develop.

This was something that could not be helped. After all, the battlefield was in a mess and there were countless void monsters. Even if the cultivators of Loucheng wanted to kill them, they could not.

As for those believers, he could not count on them at all.

The things they could do now. As for how many void monsters they could kill, no one cared at all.

In fact, with the current density and number of void monsters, as long as they attacked the hole in the sky, they could guarantee that they would hit the void monsters 100%.

Of course, most of the attacks would only hit the target, but they would not kill it.

Among the monsters that were killed, 90% of them were killed by the cultivators in Loucheng city, and less than 10% were killed by the believers.

In the sea near the Grand temple, there were already a large number of void monster corpses piled up. At the same time, there were many half-dead monsters struggling in the sea.

The Marine race members took the opportunity and began to attack the void monster. They were like a group of ants, fearlessly killing their way up.

From the moment they attacked the Grand temple, they had been suppressed and were beaten by the cultivators of Loucheng.

The brutal sea monster had been suppressing its anger for a long time, and it was on the verge of exploding.

Now that they had found a target to vent their anger on, they naturally attacked crazily, not caring about the difference in their body sizes at all.

Void monsters could devour planes, so their strength was naturally not weak. Ordinary sea monsters could not be compared to them.

Therefore, even if it was an injured void monster, it was still like a sick Tiger that could easily bite the wild dog to death.

At this moment, the entire ocean was boiling, and there were scenes of killing and fighting everywhere. The void monsters that had revealed their traces due to their injuries were covered with sea monsters.

Because of their special physiques, the void monsters appeared and disappeared from time to time, which also made the sea monsters seem to be suspended in the air.

As the void monster rolled and turned, countless sea monsters were crushed into meat paste, and the sea water had become completely viscous and turbid.

The huge Eye of the Sea that was originally suspended in the sky was still flowing out seawater continuously. However, it was discovered by a few void monsters. When they approached, they opened their big mouths and swallowed continuously.

The sea monsters that came along with the sea water were swallowed by the void monsters, and they lost their lives inexplicably.

The source of the seawater was cut off, and the seawater that was about to drown the Grand temple began to drop.

The scattered corpses that had been floating before had piled up as the sea water receded, layer by layer like a Hill.

The sight of corpses strewn across the ground and blood flowing was simply shocking.

As if they had sensed the smell of the corpses, the void monsters actually rushed to the ground and began to devour again.

On the muddy ground, a pitch-black Mass began to appear, indicating that there was nothing left.

Such an area was extremely dangerous. It didn't have any conditions for normal life to survive, and the temperature was frighteningly low.

If one accidentally fell into it, there was a 90% chance of losing one's life, even if one was a cultivator.

This was also the most detestable aspect of the void monsters. They simply devoured everything and left behind traps, causing countless natives to lose their lives.

In the chaotic battlefield, this kind of void trap was even more impossible to guard against, and one would fall into it if they were not careful.

If they were lucky, they would be able to return in a short time. However, if they were unlucky, they would be Lost in Space.

In such an extremely special environment, trespassers would lose their sense of direction and then lose their lives in a short time.

After death, they would become mummies and wander around in the void. The soul was the same, and eventually, it would wear down and collapse over a long period of time.

For low-level cultivators, the void was a forbidden place. If it was not necessary, they would not step into it easily.

This forbidden land would always be a playground for the strong. For example, Zhan Kuang and the others could come and go as they pleased.

The Lou Cheng cultivators knew about this situation, so they would try their best to avoid the traps. Otherwise, even with their skills, they would have to spend a lot of effort to leave.

The void monster turning from the air to the ground was expected, but the Lou Cheng cultivator's expression became more and more serious.

Based on the current situation, it would not take long for these void monsters to approach the Grand temple and swallow it whole!

To void monsters, be it air or other things, they were all one of their food. They were not picky at all.

Depending on the food it devoured, it would receive different nutrients. If a void monster devoured a native God, it would probably become a demigod-level existence directly.

Of course, the possibility of such a thing happening was very small. No matter if it was the cultivators of Lou Cheng or the divine servants guarding the Grand temple, they would never allow such a thing to happen.

As more and more void monsters approached the ground and the defensive line of the cultivators in Lou Cheng kept shrinking, the Grand temple, which had been silent for a long time, finally moved.

A blinding light flashed, and then a loud noise suddenly came from the temple in the central area of the Grand temple.

The shrine bloomed like a lotus flower, and the light was coming from it. What was surprising was that the light was as thick and dazzling as honey, as if it contained infinite vitality.

This was a pure energy that was close to divine source. To cultivators, it was definitely the most precious treasure.

The surrounding believers were attracted by the aura and turned around in surprise. When they saw the strange phenomenon in the Grand temple, their faces were filled with shock and desire.

They knew very well that as long as they could snatch and absorb this energy, they would be able to reach the heavens in a single step.

Some of the believers who already had no thoughts began to become restless, and their eyes became dangerous.

Chapter 2267 The transfer of the underground palace

The scene in front of them was shocking, but if one had some understanding of the Grand temple's defense system, they would know what was going on.

When they encountered an irresistible crisis, the core underground Palace of the Grand temple would be moved to a safer place.

As for the underground palace where the Aboriginal deity was sleeping, it was actually a huge coffin hidden at the bottom of the underground palace.

As for the power to arouse the greed of the believers, it was not a deliberate show-off, but to prove that the state of the indigenous gods was extremely bad.

Under normal circumstances, the omnipotent experts would not leak any energy at all.

The stronger one was, the more this was the case.

However, because the Aboriginal God was injured and in a deep sleep, the divine source generated in his internal world would inevitably lose control and leak.

Unless divine source was specially preserved, once it left the body, it would be transformed into the purest form of World Energy.

After a cultivator consumed it, it could directly increase their cultivation strength and could be called a true treasure of heaven and earth.

It was the energy that was constantly leaking from the underground palace that made the Grand temple a Holy Land for cultivation. Believers would come here to comprehend and cultivate as long as they had the opportunity.

Because it could not be controlled, it could only be regarded as a benefit for the believers. Of course, the biggest beneficiaries were the divine servants who guarded the underground palace.

Under the nourishment of the energy for many years, they all had quite powerful strength, and they were only one step away from becoming a creator.

However, without the help of the native gods, they would always be divine servants and would never be able to take the last step.

The dissipated energy that could not be absorbed also accumulated more and more, and finally changed to a shocking degree.

That was why when the earth Palace appeared, there would be such a strange phenomenon, attracting many greedy eyes.

Of course, they only thought about it, and not many of them dared to take action. This was because the guards of the underground palace were too strong, and it was not easy to break through them.

A few slender and majestic strange creatures surrounded the huge underground Palace. They were clearly Guardian beasts raised by the native gods.

In addition to The Guardian beasts, there was also a group of divine servants in golden armor. Their bodies were completely wrapped up.

They looked like metal puppets, neatly arranged around the underground palace, not leaving any opportunities for the enemy.

These were the true core guards of the Grand temple, extremely loyal to the native gods, and would never betray them.

In front of the underground palace, this was the image that the spiritualist had transformed into. He was originally one with the underground palace, so at this moment, he naturally had to move along with it.

The moment the earthly Palace appeared, the defensive circle of the cultivators in the city Tower shrank again, covering the sky and the ground tightly, providing cover.

The concentrated attacks were like a heavy downpour, spraying in all directions. They did not aim to hit the void monster, but to prevent it from approaching.

Void monsters had an extremely keen sense of smell for things like treasures. When they were devouring, they naturally chose such items first.

With the appearance of the underground palace, the void monsters seemed to have gone crazy as they swarmed over.

Their goal was the same, which was to devour the underground palace.

The sudden increase in pressure made the defending believers cry out in pain, but they could only brace themselves and resist.

However, their firepower was limited and could not be compared to the cultivators in the city. Their defensive formation was like a cake that was continuously gnawed at by the void monsters.

The Marine race was even more unlucky. From the moment the battle began, they had been suppressed.

Faced with the void monsters that were rushing over madly, they were even more powerless to resist and could only use their lives to stop them.

However, the sea monster was fearless. It continued to rush toward the void monster like a moth to a flame. It was not afraid no matter how many casualties there were.

This alone was enough to make them qualified cannon fodder.

.....

Sitting in the sky, Neptune looked coldly at the Grand temple with his huge blood-red eye.

Of course, he knew that this was the scene of the Grand temple preparing to move when it encountered danger.

If not for the appearance of the void monster, he would have sent people to intercept at the first moment, not allowing the Grand temple to leave his sight.

However, at this moment, he did not dare to do so.

This was because after snatching the body of the indigenous God, it would take a period of time for conversion and fusion. During this process, he had almost no defensive ability.

Before he could do that, he had to defeat the cultivators and believers of loucheng and take control of the entire Holy Kingdom.

Otherwise, if there were any changes, his losses would be irreparable.

The original opponent had yet to be dealt with, and now there were void monsters, the plan that had been planned for many years was completely ruined.

Neptune was so depressed that he almost vomited blood.

Now, he could only let the underground palace move. He would not stop it, and he would think of a way after this matter was over.

No matter how the underground palace was hidden, it would eventually be within the boundaries of the divine Kingdom, so there was no need to worry about not being able to find it.

The most important thing at the moment was to find a way to eliminate these void monsters or cover the transfer of the underground palace. They must not be devoured by the void monsters.

When he was done with the matter at hand, he could look for the location of the underground palace again and continue to snatch the bodies of the indigenous gods.

.....

The cultivators of loucheng and the sea tribe began to work together to fight against the void monsters. The same was true for the believers, who did their best to protect the Grand temple.

However, in the center of the Grand temple, a group of believers was hidden, staring at the slowly rising underground Palace.

While the other believers were fighting for their lives, they were hiding like cold venomous snakes.

These believers were the traitors who had sneaked into the Grand temple and were waiting for an opportunity to assassinate the indigenous gods.

According to their original plan, they would take advantage of the battle between the cultivators of loucheng city and the sea monsters to enter the underground palace and complete the assassination.

However, no one had expected that the void monster would suddenly interfere when the cultivators of Lou Cheng and the sea monster had just started fighting.

In order to resist the void monsters, Lou Cheng's cultivators and the sea Race stopped fighting and began to fight against these void monsters together.

The opportunity that the traitors had been waiting for had disappeared.

The change came too suddenly, and it was beyond the expectations of the rebels, catching them off guard.

If things were allowed to continue, not only would they not be able to realize their original plan, but they might even all die at the hands of the void monsters.

I have to act as soon as possible without any hesitation. Otherwise, if I miss this opportunity, it'll be too late for regrets!

The rebel leader's eyes were filled with determination as he looked at the huge underground Palace that rose slowly like a crystal.

"Everyone, get ready! Once you hear my order, attack the underground palace at the same time!"

After hearing the orders of the rebel leader, the organization members could not help but hesitate. Their plan was to loot a burning house, not to take the initiative to attack.

With the strength they had, it was impossible for them to complete such a difficult task. Taking the initiative to attack a divine servant was no different from courting death.

Unless they used some special means, but if they really did that, they would probably lose their lives.

However, if they chose to disobey, the consequences would be very serious.

The leader of the rebels might personally kill the members of the organization who dared to disobey the order, thus ensuring that the order would be strictly carried out.

However, if they didn't do it, the organization members would be very unwilling. After all, they had paid a huge price for it.

The leader of the rebels frowned. He could tell that everyone was worried, so he continued to explain in a low voice, "Let's put aside all the distracting thoughts and only think about how to act. We don't have a choice anymore, so we can only choose to take a gamble.

I have a way to attract the divine servants' attention. You just need to hold them back so that I can take action.

This is our only chance. Everyone must do their best, or else you should know better than me what kind of ending you will have!"

After hearing the warning from the rebel leader, the members of the organization no longer hesitated and nodded in agreement.

"If that's the case, then let's start immediately!"

Chapter2268 A strange move

In such a chaotic environment, it was undoubtedly a difficult task to attack the heavily guarded underground Palace.

Regardless of whether it was the cultivators in the city or the sea monsters, although they were blocking the void monsters, they still paid a bit of attention to the rising underground Palace.

Everyone knew that the Aboriginal deities were sleeping in the underground palace, and guarding the underground palace was equivalent to guarding the Aboriginal deities.

None of the three parties would allow anything to happen to the underground palace, or all their efforts would be in vain.

It would be much more difficult to assassinate a native God now, and it was easy to be hunted down by three parties.

He had to make a decision.

The rebel leader had no other choice. If he missed this opportunity, it would be too late to regret it.

Since the rebel leader dared to make a move in such a situation, he naturally had a trump card. He had originally planned to use it to save his life and would not use it easily.

But now was different. If he didn't use it, he would never have the chance to use it again.

After giving the order, he took the lead and rushed into the underground palace. At the same time, he threw out an item.

It was time to show the Trump cards that he had accumulated over the years!

The item looked like a bottle with runes all over it. It exploded as it flew towards the underground palace.

An item jumped out of it. It was like a black meatball that would grow rapidly upon contact with the wind.

In the blink of an eye, it had already expanded by who knew how many times and smashed towards the underground palace.

The divine servants in charge of guarding the area immediately launched an attack. As a result, the black meatball easily exploded and turned into countless powders.

In the next moment, the powder absorbed the energy overflowing from the underground palace and turned into countless black meatballs, completely enveloping the area near the underground palace.

The more they attacked, the more numerous they became.

Seeing this, the rebel leader raised his hand and threw out another crystal ball filled with purple fluorescent powder.

The crystal ball exploded, and the fluorescent powder inside scattered out, contaminated by the black meatball.

After the two came into contact, there was an intense reaction. The true function of the black meatball was revealed.

From these black meatballs, threads shot out and floated in the air like spider webs.

The silk thread looked thin, but it was super sticky. Once it was attached to an object, it would stick firmly.

Just sticking it was not enough. The spider silk would continue to extend its branches and firmly wrap around the stuck object.

The function of this black meatball was to hide and hide, and the effect was quite good.

In the blink of an eye, the surroundings of the underground palace were engulfed in darkness, and nothing could be seen.

Not only couldn't he see it, but he also couldn't sense it. The only thing safe was darkness and chaos.

It was not an easy task to move around in these black balls. As long as one entered them, they would be wrapped up by the silk threads into a sticky ball.

If he attacked, it would be completely useless. On the contrary, it would make the situation worse.

How could the mission items that the rebel leader had prepared for many years and carefully selected perform badly?

At least in the short term, no one would be able to get rid of these black meatballs, and he could take the opportunity to complete his mission.

The moment the rebel leader launched his sneak attack, the members of the rebel organization also moved at the same time, attacking with all their might.

They didn't need to attack the divine servants, they only needed to attack the black meatballs to ensure that their numbers would increase rapidly.

As long as those divine servants were guarding the underground palace, they would inevitably be attacked and then trapped by the black ball.

If the divine servant left the underground palace, he would be able to create an opportunity for the rebel leader. If he didn't leave, he would only be passively beaten.

In the blink of an eye, the center of the Grand temple was in a mess, which attracted the attention of the surrounding believers.

Seeing countless dark things wrapping around the underground palace, the believers immediately realized that something had happened.

"Hurry up, send reinforcements!"

&Nbsp; some believers shouted. After all, the goal of their battle was to protect the gods of the natives. They could not afford to lose.

However, the situation was urgent, and most of the believers were held back by the void monsters. Only a small number of believers rushed over and fought with the rebels.

"Follow me in, hurry up!"

The Defiants' leader waved his hand at his subordinate and threw out a handful of powder. He then sneaked into the area covered by the black ball and moved forward silently.

The other traitors also squeezed into the black ball. Because of the powder on their bodies, the black ball automatically gave way, and the thin threads could not stick to their bodies.

The group of rebels was overjoyed. They protected the expressionless executioner and quickly moved forward.

The leader of the rebels was the vanguard. He held a black short sword in his hand, which squirmed gently like a living creature.

A figure flickered in front of him, and a believer rushed into the black ball, stopping right in front of the rebel leader.

Because of the threads' entanglement, his movements were hindered. He was tearing and burning with flames, but it had no effect.

Without any hesitation, the leader of the rebels attacked immediately. His black short sword was thrust at the believer.

The other party did not even have time to react before he was hit in his vital spot. Then, the black Dagger expanded like a tree root, spreading countless roots in his body.

In the blink of an eye, the believer's blood essence was sucked dry, and he became a dried corpse.

The corpse had turned into ashes, but vein-like patterns appeared on the black Dagger. A part of the hilt had already been connected to the body of the rebel leader.

Just by looking at it, one could tell that it was definitely not an ordinary item.

This was indeed the case. This weapon was the rebel leader's Secret weapon. Back then, he had snatched two fragments of the Super plane's item.

A shard was carefully refined and implanted into the executioner's body. It was then nourished by the executioner's own flesh and blood, constantly accumulating power.

It could be said that from the moment the executioner was chosen, he was forged as a human weapon. In order to ensure that there were no unforeseen circumstances, he was not allowed to kill sea monsters.

The daily battle Points required were also provided by the organization. At the same time, various materials to improve strength were also given to the executioners at all costs.

In the rebel organization, the executioner was the most important person. He must not be harmed in any way.

This was because it was a one-time use weapon, and its mission was to launch a fatal blow to the indigenous gods at the critical moment.

However, to be on the safe side, the rebel leader had secretly crafted a spare weapon without anyone knowing.

He couldn't let anyone know about this, and he couldn't sacrifice himself to be an executioner, so he sacrificed one of his arms to cultivate this spare weapon.

He didn't dare to show it on normal days and only fed it with his blood essence in secret to avoid suspicion from the organization members.

As for the reason for using it now, one was to let the weapon drink fresh blood, so that it could burst out with the strongest power when used.

In addition, the black ball could provide the best cover, so that his companions could not find out his secret. No one knew that he had another hidden hand.

At a critical moment, the leader of the rebels who had this weapon could very possibly turn the tables!

The rebel leader was looking for a target to kill, and the members of the organization were still moving forward. It didn't take long for them to reach the edge of the underground palace.

The divine servants in golden armor immediately sensed someone approaching and attacked the traitors.

The bodies of these divine servants were also covered in sticky silk threads, making their movements extremely inconvenient.

The black ball blocked the threads, so he couldn't use his spiritual power to sense it. He couldn't see the enemy's direction at all.

These divine servants were originally a whole and could cooperate with each other in battle, but because of the black ball, they were completely separated.

But even so, these divine servants still remained in their original places, not moving at all.

Their duty was to protect the Aboriginal deities, and the underground palace was the most important place, so no one was allowed to approach it.

Even the most loyal of believers would be attacked mercilessly by the divine servants when they approached the underground palace.

Chapter 2269 A series of unforeseen events

The black meatball was indeed extremely difficult to deal with. Even fire, ice, corrosion, and suppression could not destroy it easily.

The stronger the attack, the faster the black meatball reproduced. It was simply abnormal to the extreme.

Even a world Overlord cultivator wouldn't be able to get rid of this thing in a short time.

Although it didn't have much offensive power, it was perfect for delaying the enemy on the battlefield.

The group of divine servants were also affected. It was as if they had fallen into mud and couldn't use their full strength.

The more they struggled to get rid of it, the more they were bound and squeezed, and in the end, they couldn't even move an inch.

The believers who had come to help were also trapped in it. Those who came later did not dare to continue approaching and could only watch from a distance.

It didn't take long for the entire grand temple to be enveloped by the black meatball, and it began to spread in all directions.

Under the sea of black meatballs, a large number of cultivators were hidden. The battle between them became more and more intense.

Because of the special powder, the members of the rebel organization were not affected much. They could move freely in the black meatball.

Using the special environment, they actually had the upper hand and gradually suppressed the divine servants guarding the underground palace.

There were many trapped believers, and once they encountered traitors, they would be killed directly.

After they chose to betray, they became abnormally crazy. At this moment, their eyes were red with killing intent.

The operation was getting smoother and smoother, and the traitor was overjoyed. If this situation continued, they might really be able to achieve their goal.

However, at this moment, a long howl was heard.

The Guardian beasts surrounding the underground palace started to devour the black meatball under the command of the spiriters.

Since he couldn't attack the black meatballs, and the more he attacked, the more meatballs he got. He might as well just eat them.

As long as the vicinity of the underground palace was cleaned up, the group of six-winged bird Kings hovering above would be able to drag the underground palace out of the Grand temple.

The Guardian beast's devouring speed was extremely fast. In the blink of an eye, it cleared out an empty space, revealing the underground palace that was covered by the black meatball.

The circling six-winged King Bird rushed down and grabbed the metal chain that shot out from the underground palace, flapping its wings fiercely.

There were nearly a hundred six-winged bird Kings, enough to pull up the house-sized underground Palace and carry it away easily.

The rebels would not allow such a thing to happen. While they fought against the divine servants and believers, they also attacked the six-winged bird King, trying to stop it from leaving.

The black meatballs continued to bounce towards the flock of birds, shaking off more black smoke and threads.

Just as the two sides were locked in an intense battle, another unforeseen event suddenly occurred.

A huge hole suddenly appeared in the seemingly invincible underground Palace, and viscous energy spread out in all directions as if it was free.

It turned out that a void monster had quietly approached and bit the corner of the underground palace, swallowing the nearby rebels and divine servants.

After succeeding, the void monster fled, avoiding the attack that followed closely.

More and more energy gushed out of the gap, and it was as thick as liquid.

Within the liquid energy, there were many insect-like things. These were the embryonic forms of advanced life forms.

If they had enough time, they would evolve into a complete life form, and it would be a very special kind.

To cultivators, it was also a great supplement and was often sought but not obtained.

However, at this moment, no one paid any attention to these bugs, because everyone was attracted by the scene at the gap.

Through the missing corner of the underground palace, one could see countless treasures piled up inside. They all exuded a dense aura, and each of them was worth a city.

These rare treasures were all accumulated by the Aboriginal deities in the past. They were not ordinary items, but good things with magical effects.

This was something that only God level experts could get their hands on. Even a sector Lord cultivator wouldn't be able to get it, and wouldn't even have the chance to take a look.

However, at this moment, the treasures were piled up in the underground palace, as if they were garbage that could be thrown away at will.

Such a situation was not because the Aboriginal deities were showing off their wealth, or because they wanted to use these treasures to accompany them in their graves.

The purpose of his actions was to absorb the spiritual Qi of the treasure to nourish his broken body.

To put it bluntly, the purpose of these treasures was to prevent corrosion, in case the indigenous gods woke up one day and found themselves rotten into bones.

Under normal circumstances, a divine level expert's body would be near immortal, and they would not fear being burned by fire or submerged in water.

However, the situation of the indigenous gods was special. They were seriously injured and in a deep sleep. The injuries and illnesses were still corroding their bodies, so they had to find a way to suppress it.

But even so, it was still unable to completely stop the deterioration of the injuries and illnesses. This was because after the underground palace was damaged, a rotten stench drifted out.

The source of the stench was naturally the body of the Aboriginal deity.

If one looked closely, they would see that there was a crystal dragon coffin in the underground palace, carved with countless runes.

Inside the crystal dragon coffin lay a Man in Black armor. He was tall and sturdy.

On his face, there was a large cloud of black Qi circling, as if countless black insects had gathered together.

The black gas had roots that were connected to the holes on the faces of the native gods, and it was trying to dig deeper.

When he saw the black gas, he could feel an extreme evil and an indescribable coldness. It seemed to be swimming on his back and scalp.

He didn't need to think too much to know that it wasn't anything good.

This black mist was the source of the injuries of the indigenous gods.

The Aboriginal deity used a special method to turn his injuries into black gas and force them out of his body.

The injury he suffered was not a real illness, but had an extremely strange ability to hurt. However, the indigenous gods could transform it into a physical state, which was enough to prove the strength of the indigenous gods.

However, the black gas was extremely stubborn. Even though a part of it had been driven out, it still refused to leave the body of the indigenous God.

Furthermore, there was even more black Qi in his body, causing his injuries to be unable to heal.

Inside and outside of his body, there were many festering places that emitted a foul smell.

However, no matter how pathetic the Aboriginal deity was, he was still the creator of the divine Kingdom, the true master of the entire divine Kingdom.

If it existed, the divine Kingdom would also exist. If he died, the divine Kingdom would instantly collapse.

The traitor's eyes turned red. He rushed to the gap in a frenzy, trying to enter.

They were originally worried about how to break through the defense of the underground palace, but they did not expect the void monster to break through the defense directly and help the traitors solve their biggest problem.

All they needed to do now was to enter the underground palace, rush to the Aboriginal deity, and kill him.

The divine servants guarding the underground palace quickly gathered and blocked the gap, desperately trying to stop the rebels.

Unexpectedly, at this moment, the hidden void monster floated over again and opened its mouth to bite the underground palace.

The bite just now had given the void monster a taste of sweetness, and it could not wait to devour the underground palace.

“Bastard, go to hell!”

The spiritual envoy standing in front of the underground palace suddenly roared. Then, he directed The Guardian beasts of the underground palace to bite the void monster.

The believers who quickly gathered also launched their attacks at the same time, locking onto the faintly discernible void.

This void monster was hundreds of meters long. Among the void monster population, it could only be considered the smallest.

It was because of its small size that it was able to break through the blockade of the cultivators in Lou city and sneak into the core area of the Grand temple without being noticed by anyone.

However, it was also because of its small size that the bite just now did not completely swallow the underground palace.

Otherwise, the Aboriginal deity would have entered the stomach of the void monster at this moment, and there would be no possibility of awakening.

Countless cultivators would risk their lives to protect them, and that would become a complete joke.

Chapter2270 Treasure beast in the void

The void monster was just that terrifying. There was nothing it couldn't gnaw with its vortex-like mouth, and it could ignore defense.

If it took another bite, the Aboriginal deity would die without a doubt, and it would be impossible to save him.

This matter concerned the survival of their God nation, so how could the cultivators allow it to continue gnawing at them? the moment the void monster appeared, they all launched an attack at the same time.

The void monster was quite alert. Sensing the approaching danger, it quickly entered stealth mode and fled into the distance.

It was obvious that this void monster's intelligence wasn't low. After realizing that it was being attacked, it immediately fled the battlefield.

However, the void monsters were only temporarily retreating. They would soon return with their companions and devour the underground palace!

With this thought in mind, the void monster ran faster and faster, afraid that if it came back late, the underground palace would disappear.

Who knew that at this moment, a figure would suddenly appear and block the path of the void monster.

When the void monster saw this, it opened its mouth and bit without hesitation, trying to destroy the insects blocking its way.

To it, these insect-like things were not a threat at all.

In the end, a silver light flashed and slashed at the void monster at an unbelievable speed.

The void monster could not Dodge in time and was directly struck by the silver light. It then let out a shrill scream and tried to ask for help from its companions.

Although it did not die immediately, the body of the void monster had actually been split into two.

The attacks from all directions kept hitting the body of the void monster, as if whipping its corpse.

"BOOM!"

The void monster's body suddenly exploded, and countless light balls shot out, scattering in all directions.

The surrounding cultivators immediately locked onto the ball of light. However, when they saw the true appearance of the ball of light, they couldn't help but be stunned.

It turned out that the scattered light balls were all colorful energy gems. At the same time, there were also treasures that fell into the monster's stomach after devouring the underground palace.

From the aura these items exuded, one could tell that they were all valuable items that could only be found by luck.

But now, it was like rain, falling from the sky above the Grand temple, making the ground crystal clear and bright.

"There seems to be something wrong with this void monster!"

The star Spirit horde leader was sniping the void monster. Seeing this, he was slightly stunned and asked in a slightly puzzled tone.

"I've seen a similar void monster a long time ago."

He was in the dark, and the outline of his body could not be seen clearly. Only a pair of purple-gold eyes seemed to be able to see through everything.

His name was Golden Eye, and he was an old master of creation in the fifth battle area. He usually kept a low profile.

When the sea monster army and the void monsters attacked, he didn't do anything. He just watched quietly.

This was because he knew that with his current defensive power, he could completely solve the crisis.

He was the final hidden trump card. He must not act rashly unless it was a critical moment.

When the rebel organization attacked the underground palace, he still did not make a move, but he was ready to fight.

He had already sensed that the rebel organization was not friendly and was likely to cause a fatal crisis to the indigenous gods.

In the end, before the traitor could make a move, the void monster bit the underground palace first, and even he didn't notice it.

This made the Golden-eyed Overlord feel a little embarrassed. After all, it was his mission to guard the underground palace, but now something unexpected had happened.

Although it was not fatal, it greatly increased the danger factor. The originally invulnerable underground Palace was now in imminent danger.

Under such circumstances, the Golden-eyed Overlord naturally couldn't continue to hide. Instead, it immediately attacked the void monster.

The Golden Eye Lord was stunned when he saw the void monster explode and the treasures scattered all over the sky. A hint of reminiscence flashed in his eyes.

Hearing Star Spirit Lord's question, Golden Eye Lord answered and stared at the underground palace below.

The battlefield was in chaos, but the two masters of creation were chatting leisurely, as if victory was already in their hands.

"Oh, then why don't you tell me what's going on?"

The star Spirit horde leader casually grabbed a few energy gems scattered on the ground and took a quick glance.

To a creator, this kind of gemstone that was condensed from pure energy wasn't of much use.

As long as they were willing, the creator could create any manifestation at will, at most consuming some energy.

However, to low-level cultivators, it was a rare treasure. It was used to assist in cultivation and an excellent material for forging divine weapons.

"This kind of void monster can be said to be very rare. It is called the void treasure beast.

After devouring treasures, they would accumulate in their bodies instead of growing in size after digestion.

Although they weren't very big, they were extremely fast and cunning, far smarter than ordinary void monsters.

If one were to pick the smartest void monster, then the void treasure beast would definitely be ranked at the top.

When a certain number of treasures were accumulated in its body, this void monster would go into hibernation and then absorb the energy contained in the treasures to evolve into a more powerful creature.

If you could see a light in the void, it was very likely to be this monster.

They were looking for food everywhere, specifically looking for treasures to devour. Ordinary planes could no longer satisfy them.

However, I must remind you that if you encounter such a monster, it's best to run as far away as possible.

Because in the eyes of this monster, a creator was also a treasure, and it was the kind of treasure that was extremely valuable.

Once you were targeted by them, you had to be prepared to escape for a long time, because they would never give up on their target easily.

If we're even more unlucky, it's not impossible for us to be killed by this monster."

Hearing the Golden Eye Lord's explanation, the star Spirit Lord frowned and took another look at the energy gem in his hand.

according to what you said, the void treasure beast is very powerful after evolution. Is there an evolved body among this group of void monsters? ”

If there was such a terrifying evolved monster among this group of void monsters, he had to make preparations in advance to prevent an even worse situation from happening.

The Golden Eye Lord shook his head. He didn't know much about the void treasure beasts, so he couldn't be sure if they would appear.

“I've also encountered such a void monster by chance, and I inquired about the relevant information through the cornerstone platform.

According to my guess, that evolved being is of a higher level and will only be with its own kind.

The ones attacking the God's kingdom are all ordinary monsters, so there shouldn't be any evolved ones. However, nothing is absolute, so it's best to be careful.”

The star Spirit Lord nodded. This was a matter of great importance, and he would not let his guard down.

As a result, just as the two sides were chatting, another void monster broke into the vicinity of the Grand temple and was directly blown up by the heavy warship.

Treasure light filled the sky. It was another void treasure beast!

The star Spirit Lord was stunned when he saw the dazzling gems on the ground. He turned to look at the Golden Eye Lord.

Your Excellency Golden Eye, do these special treasure beasts also appear in groups? ” maybe something like this will happen, but the probability is not high. The situation in front of us is probably just an accident, ” Wang Yao said.

Before the Golden Eye Overlord could finish his sentence, he saw another flash of treasure light. Two void treasure beasts were blown up by the heavy battleship.

“This bi an ...”

The Golden Eye Lord was speechless. He had just said that void treasure beasts were rare, but they appeared one after another.

“In my opinion, the void treasure beasts must have sensed the aura of the treasure, so they swarmed over.

It seems that before they evolved, these void treasure beasts also liked to live in groups and had the ability to find treasures!”

The star Spirit horde leader looked at the energy gemstones scattered all over the ground, his eyes filled with surprise. He slowly revealed his guess.

Hearing this, the Golden Eye Lord nodded. This should be the reason. Otherwise, there was no other way to explain the situation.

Perhaps it was really attracted by the treasures in the underground palace, which was why the void treasure beasts kept appearing and then being blown up by the heavy battleships.

On the ground near the Grand temple, there were countless energy gems scattered. If it were not for the intense battle at the moment, the believers would have been fighting for them.
