981 Little Bird's Choice (1)

The rules of the valley prison had completely polished the self-esteem and pride of the native cultivators, and they were forced to make a choice between life and death.

The Holy Dragon City had used such methods to make these native cultivators yield!

The tower had yet to descend, and there were some things that the Holy Dragon City cultivators could not accomplish alone, such as collecting soul stones, investigating the movements of the enemy forces, and creating chaos in the rear.

If these native cultivators joined in, things would become much simpler.

The Holy Dragon City had used the natives to serve them more than once, so they were already very familiar with it.

As long as these native cultivators chose to surrender, under the constraints of contracts, wealth, and power, the possibility of them rebelling would be very low.

The Holy Dragon City actually had a lot of methods to deal with them!

Using these methods, Holy Dragon City could guarantee that they could gather a large number of available manpower in a short period of time. This way, the unfavorable situation for Holy Dragon City would be improved.

At this moment, the fight in the cage had ended. The bird had already run to the limp Tigermen Captain and the others, kneeling on the ground and crying as it hugged them.

Although the companions of the adventurer team were covered in wounds, they still smiled with relief when they saw the little bird standing in front of them.

They treated the little bird as their own sister. As long as the little bird was not dead, their sacrifice was worth it!

Even though they were injured in the process of fighting for it, no one objected to using the proof stone cards that they had risked their lives to obtain to exchange for healing medicine.

This kind of friendship formed after going through life and death was especially precious.

After crying for a while while hugging the Tigermen Captain, the bird turned to Robert and asked how to use the stone card.

Following Robert's instructions, the little bird grabbed the stone card certificate and walked to a huge rock at the edge of the valley.

There was an object as smooth as a mirror hanging there. The material was unknown, and it looked like a disc. The pattern on it was the coat of arms of the extraterrestrial demon race.

The bird looked at the domineering coat of arms with a complicated expression, but it did not hesitate and quickly approached it.

She stuck the stone card to the gap on the plate and a cold woman's voice sounded in her ear.

[ the voucher is valid. Please choose the item you want to exchange for! ]

As soon as he finished speaking, a holographic image popped up from the disc. The object on it was so lifelike that it seemed to be in front of him.

However, if one were to extend their hand, they would realize that it was just an illusion.

The little bird was surprised. The methods of the heavenly demon race were indeed amazing. Not only were their cultivators powerful and their weapons and equipment excellent, but even their daily use items were also amazing.

If such a powerful enemy were to invade the snow City, it would undoubtedly be a disaster. It was likely that no one would be able to stop their Army!

The bird was in a daze for a moment before it came back to its senses and said softly, "I choose the food!"

[ choose food, confirm? ]

The cold female voice sounded again. The bird did not hesitate and made its choice.

The injuries of the Tiger man Captain and the others were actually not serious. The Holy Dragon City cultivators' attacks did not land on their vital points, and the cultivators' strong bodies could still withstand it.

However, in order to exchange for medicine for the little bird, they had not eaten for a long time. Their physical strength could not be replenished, which was the most terrible thing.

Therefore, the thing they needed the most now was naturally food to sustain their lives.

Little bird was secretly glad that he had woken up in time. Otherwise, after the Tiger men Captain and the others had obtained this voucher, they would probably exchange it for medicine for him again.

If it lived, but its companion was crippled, then the little bird would never forgive itself!

Under the bird's expectant gaze, a metal monster suddenly flew down from the sky. When it approached the ground, it dropped a package.

The little bird reached out and the package fell into her hands.

There was food and water inside, enough for one person to have a full meal. If it was divided equally, it was enough for the members of the adventurer team to eat a few mouthfuls.

Even though there weren't many of them, they were extremely precious in this situation.

Under countless envious gazes, little bird walked toward the Tiger men Captain and the others, and she was greeted by the helpless and gratified gazes of her teammates.

“Let’s eat something first, then we’ll think of a way!”

The little bird took out food and water and put them into the mouths of his exhausted teammates with a gentle smile on his face.

as long as we don’t give up, we’ll always find an opportunity. Do you still remember that time when we were trapped in the underground cave? we thought we were dead for sure, but didn’t we escape later?”

The little bird’s smile seemed to have a trace of strength, encouraging the rough men and they all laughed.

those damn otherworldly demons! They think I’ll surrender? in their dreams!

The blood-covered dragonkin was chewing on an egg-sized ration, his eyes filled with arrogance and disdain. Even now, this violent man had not given in.

Death was better than freedom!

Even though his other teammates were also hurt, they laughed and scolded him after hearing this.

The Tigermen Captain laughed when he saw this. Seeing that his team members had all gathered around him, even though he regarded the Holy Dragon City as an enemy, he still felt a hint of gratitude.

If it wasn’t for the other party showing mercy, it would be a problem if they could even survive.

As for the other party’s request for forgiveness, the Tigerman Captain instinctively resisted. As an adventurer, freedom was extremely important, and no one wanted to become a puppet at the mercy of others.

It was also for this reason that they had been persevering and waiting for the situation to turn around.

However, just the thought of the slim chance of success made him feel despair.

Taking a deep breath, the Tigerman Captain struggled to stand up. Just as he was about to speak to his team members, he felt his vision go black, as if his head had been hit by an iron hammer.

This man, who did not even make a sound when the blade landed on him, suddenly fell to the ground like a collapsed mountain.

“Captain!”

The members of the adventurer team were shocked. They all rushed forward and surrounded the Tigerman Captain.

d * mn it, Robert, quickly take a look at what’s wrong with our Captain?”

The dragonkin man roared and pulled Robert over, his face full of unconcealed worry.

Robert, who was also the team doctor, was also anxious. He quickly began to examine the Tigerman Captain. However, as time passed, his expression became worse and worse.

Robert raised his head and looked at the crowd. His tone had a rare sense of solemnity and urgency.

“Captain’s injuries are too serious. If we don’t treat him quickly, I’m afraid he’ll die.”

Robert didn’t continue, but everyone understood what he meant.

If this dragged on, the Tigermen Captain would lose his life.

ah, how could this be? isn’t our Captain the one with the highest cultivation level here? how could this be? ”

The dragonkin man waved his fist in frustration, his face filled with unwillingness.

Oh right, we’ll lose the certificate again later. Let’s go grab it and change captain’s medicine!

The dragonkin man’s face lit up with hope and eagerness as he spoke.

...

“No, if this continues, you’ll all be crippled!”

Robert looked at the dragonkin and shouted with a determined tone.

“Pretty boy, do you want to see Captain die?”

You ungrateful brat, if it wasn’t for the fact that the captain saw that you were weak and didn’t allow you to snatch the certificate, you would have been beaten to death long ago!

Do you even have a conscience when you say that?”

The dragonkin jumped up, grabbed Robert’s collar, and scolded him loudly.

Robert faced the dragonkin’s bloody mouth, but he did not back down. He raised his head and roared, ”
“You brainless idiot, look at what you’ve become!

With your current state, I’m afraid you’ll be killed before you can get the proof!

At that time, not only will we not be able to save the captain, but you will also die. It’s fine if you die, but what about the captain?

Will you be satisfied if we all die together?”

The enraged dragonkin was stunned for a moment before slowly letting go of Robert’s collar.

then what do you think we should do now? are we just going to watch captain die? ”

After hearing this, the members of the adventurer team fell silent. In fact, they already had an answer in their hearts, but no one was willing to say it.

The bird remained silent, but at this moment, it reached out and stroked the Tigerman captain’s thin face. It slowly stood up and walked towards the huge rock in the valley under the gaze of its teammates.

“Little bird Qianqian”

Robert opened his mouth but stopped. His extended arm slowly drooped down, and it turned into a long sigh.

The other team members had complicated looks in their eyes as well. The dragonkin man slammed his fist on the ground in anger and let out an indignant roar.

Chapter 982

982 Never to be apart (1)

The Tigermen Captain was the soul of this adventurer team. Without him, this team would have long since ceased to exist!

In the team, perhaps due to the differences in personality and race, the relationship between the members could be close or distant. However, towards the Tigerman leader, they only had respect and obedience.

It could even be said that he was the Savior of the entire adventurer team. Every member had once escaped death with his help.

Now that the Tigermen captain's life was in danger, it was not that they really had no way to save him. It was just that they would have to sign a slave contract with the otherworldly demons!

They would lose their freedom and be at the mercy of others. This was definitely not the result that everyone wanted.

This was also the reason why they had persisted but refused to surrender. Even if they were imprisoned and their heads were bleeding, they did not care.

However, at this moment, they were faced with a painful choice. Should they surrender to save their leader, or should they continue to persist in their pursuit of freedom?

Only the little bird stood out without hesitation and made its choice.

She wanted to use her freedom and future to exchange for a chance for the Tigerman Captain to continue living!

I want to sign a contract, but you have to give me enough medicine to heal my Captain!

Under the complicated gazes of hundreds of cultivators, the little bird stood on the Boulder, gently reached out to brush the long golden hair hanging down from its forehead behind its ear, and shouted to the sky.

A minute later, a Lord of Holy Dragon City appeared and slowly landed beside the bird.

He looked at the bird and nodded, "As you wish, but only this time!"

The bird nodded and thanked him.

"If that's the case, then follow me."

The Lord of Holy Dragon City reached out and grabbed the little bird's arm, getting up to leave.

Little bird turned around and looked at his teammates with a look of nostalgia. Finally, his eyes fell on the Tigermen captain's face, and a trace of tenderness flashed in his eyes.

"Help me take care of Captain, don't tell him about me, just say I'm dead Yingluo"

Tears flashed in the little bird's eyes. It wanted to say something, but the Lord of Holy Dragon City pulled it back and flew towards the top of the valley.

"Little bird!"

Seeing the little bird's figure disappear into the distance, the members of the adventurer team all stood up and looked up at her departing figure.

Their expressions were complicated. There was reluctance, unwillingness, and a strong sense of self-blame.

However, the little bird standing on the top of the valley only turned back to look at them, revealing a sad and beautiful smile, then turned around and disappeared.

All the team members were silent. They just sat on the ground dejectedly, their eyes empty. No one knew what they were thinking.

A rough voice suddenly sounded in their ears.

"Damn it, a bunch of trash. In the end, they're not even as loyal as a woman. Bah!"

A cultivator the size of a giant bear walked over and glanced disdainfully at the dejected crowd. His eyes were full of disdain.

He walked in front of the Tigermen Captain with a hint of respect in his eyes. The other party had dragged his injured body and snatched the proof stone card from his hands twice.

Even though they were enemies, the Tigerman Captain had won his respect.

"This is the medicine I got last time. It's quite effective.

Such a good man should not die like this!"

After throwing out an item, the brawny man waved his hand at the few local cultivators standing behind him, and a cold smile appeared on his face.

brothers, we should go. It doesn't matter who we follow, it's better than dying here like dogs!

As soon as he finished speaking, the burly man and his companion walked to the Boulder and shouted loudly.

A minute later, a remote-controlled aircraft that looked like a hover car landed. The native cultivators jumped on it and slowly rose into the sky under everyone's gaze.

Robert sighed and examined the pill that the burly man had thrown over. After confirming that there was no problem, he turned around and fed it to the Tigermen Captain.

After doing all this, he walked to the edge of the valley alone and sat down facing the huge rock, not moving for a long time.

When the medicine for the Tigermen captain's injuries was delivered, Robert began to deal with it in silence, his movements quiet and meticulous.

alright, remember to eat three times a day. Don't let the captain participate in the voucher fight anymore, or he'll die!

Robert warned the green-eyed man. He then took a deep look at the crowd and smiled.

"Goodbye, my brothers who have gone through thick and thin with me!"

After saying this, Robert turned around and walked toward the Boulder.

Robert, you pretty boy. You can't hold on anymore and want to surrender? "

The dragonkin man's weak voice was heard. He looked at Robert with disdain and a hint of reluctance.

Robert slowly turned around and shook his head with a smile as he looked at his comrades who had gone through life and death with him.

"I'm sorry, I'm worried about little Niao. I have to look after her to be at ease.

You can look down on me, hit me, scold me, it's up to you, but I'm leaving no matter what!"

Robert's tone was very calm, but it was extremely determined.

"I gave up my dignity and my freedom because there was something more precious that I needed to protect. My brothers, please don't hate me. I'm not afraid of death, but I'm afraid of the people I care about the most suffering alone.

Although I might not be able to change anything, at the very least, before I die, I can do my best to fight for that tiny bit of hope. That way, I will die without any regrets."

After saying that, Robert turned around silently and walked toward the huge rock alone.

Soon, he was also taken away, and the request was to give his teammates enough food to fill their stomachs.

After Robert left, the crowd remained silent. They watched the native cultivators fight for the proof stone cards as if they were watching a boring opera.

The silence was only broken when the Tigerman Captain woke up.

Looking at his silent team members, the medicine and food on the ground, and the missing Nightingale and Robert, the Tigerman Captain was silent for a moment before suddenly laughing.

"We brothers have gone through so many ups and downs, but we have never been separated. We are always happy.

They endured pain together, shared joy together, faced danger together, and looked down on death together!

We should be together no matter when and where, right?"

Hearing this, everyone turned to look at the Tigermen Captain, a carefree smile appearing on their faces.

what are you waiting for? I'm so hungry that my stomach is rumbling. I'm going to eat a whole roasted pig later, hahaha!

The dragonkin man, who was the most against surrendering, was the first to stand up, waving his fist and shouting.

Sometimes, compromise was not necessarily for oneself. Men could bear some hardships, but they could not watch their friends and family suffer the same.

Therefore, compromise was not necessarily cowardice. It was more of a contribution without any regrets!

Everyone laughed and helped each other up. They dragged their tired bodies and walked towards the huge rock.

...

"Bastards, come and pick me up, you've won!"

The dragonkin man stood on the Boulder and roared. He gave a thumbs up and then spat on the ground.

The aircraft landed again, and the Tiger Captain made a request to the Holy Dragon City cultivator, "Our team members must not be separated. This is our common request."

The Holy Dragon City cultivators nodded.

"As you wish!"

Chapter 983

983 Shocking (1)

The aircraft slowly rose up and brought the Tigerman Captain and the others to the sky above the valley.

This feeling of looking down at the Earth from above was very novel to everyone, but no one was in the mood to appreciate the scenery at this moment.

They were shocked by the scene outside of cage Valley and could not come back to their senses for a long time.

At this moment, under their feet was the huge Valley where they had been imprisoned. It seemed that the original Valley terrain had been transformed and was located behind the dense forest.

However, the problem was that there was not only one cage Valley, but ten of them, forming a long line!

There were also a large number of flustered native cultivators in these cage valleys. At this moment, there were even native cultivators in two of the cage valleys who were fighting for the identity stone cards with all their might!

Among these native cultivators, they even saw many familiar figures. They were all adventurers like them or believers of some God!

The Tiger-Man Captain had thought that the otherworldly demons had only imprisoned a few hundred native cultivators, but it seemed like there was an additional zero behind this number!

Suppressing the shock in their hearts, the Tiger man Captain and the others were extremely puzzled. They didn't know what kind of method the otherworldly demonic tribe had used to capture so many people.

If Tang Zhen knew the doubt in the Tiger captain's heart, he would definitely give an answer.

In fact, ever since countless gods had issued their oracles and the news of the otherworldly demons had spread, the whole of timriel had begun to be in turmoil.

Countless believers followed the Oracle and organized themselves, forming large and small demon Slayer legions, and began to gather in the direction of the Tianji province.

Even though the journey was long, the fanatical believers still persevered.

Due to a common goal, the number of people in this group increased, and their shocking momentum was known by countless people along the way. This also made the appearance of the otherworldly demons known to almost everyone.

However, these devout believers were too far away from Snow City. By the time they arrived, Holy Dragon City would have already descended into this world.

At that time, they would have to face a terrifying war machine that would make the entire timriel tremble!

Although the demon slayers from the other provinces were determined and had a large number of people, it was a pity that distant water could not put out a nearby fire.

However, the cultivators and believers of Tianji province and the xueman territory were constantly approaching Riverview Village day and night. The more time passed, the more people gathered.

There were many adventurers who had accepted missions, explorers of rebellious forces, and speculators who took the opportunity to profit.

They didn't gather with the main force, but took the risk to enter the vicinity of hewang village, wanting to achieve their respective goals.

Then, tragedy struck.

Ten Special Forces made up of the Holy Dragon city's elite cultivators galloped in the forest around the river view Village. Relying on their powerful strength and technological equipment, they easily toyed with these native cultivators.

If it wasn't for Tang Zhen's order to increase the number of indigenous servant army and to capture as many as possible alive, the mountain forest around Hewang village would have been filled with rotten corpses!

At the same time, in order to tame these rebellious native cultivators, Tang Zhen, who was guarding Stone City, used the [ Map Modification plug-in ] to build these ten prison valleys to lock and tame these native captives while enduring the huge backlash from the world's will.

Judging from the current effect, this method was not bad. As long as they threw the captives into the valley and sent a few cultivators to guard them, they could continuously harvest the tamed indigenous cultivators.

After a simple rest, they would join the team led by the Holy Dragon City cultivators and participate in their own missions.

The situation was getting more and more tense, and these Aboriginal servants came in handy!

The werecreature Captain and the others who were on the flying transport naturally didn't know about this, and they didn't have time to think about it.

They had just been shocked by the ten prison valleys connected together, and then they were stunned by the huge vortex that kept spinning above their heads. Looking at the dimensional portal that seemed to tear a hole in the sky, they could no longer describe their feelings at the moment.

No matter how one looked at it, this scene was an ominous sign. No wonder this group of people was called the otherworldly demons. As expected, everything related to them would reveal a trace of demonic Qi!

The native cultivators naturally associated the technological equipment that they didn't understand and all sorts of unusual phenomena with the demons.

Only such an explanation would make them feel reasonable!

While they were still in shock, the aircraft landed on the huge square of Stone City, and the Tigerman Captain and the others jumped off.

At this time, the square was very lively. There were hundreds of native cultivators in different attires, occupying different corners, and resting and healing their injuries.

In the middle of the square, a tall tower filled with the aura of the demon race was standing tall. A huge rune Halo slowly rotated around it, looking extremely beautiful.

"You guys follow me, don't wander around!"

The Holy Dragon City cultivator who had brought the Tigermen Captain over ordered coldly before leading them to the edge of the stone city.

Arriving in front of a stone house, a Holy Dragon City Lord was sitting there. He swept a glance at the Tigermen Captain and the others who were walking over, and casually took out a stack of contracts.

“Sign it, then find a place to rest. You’ll start accepting missions in five days!”

After the Holy Dragon City Lord said this, he stared at the Tigerman Captain with a sharp gaze, his expression neither sad nor happy.

Now that things had come to this, the Tigerman Captain and the others had completely let it go. They reached out and pulled the contract over, then bit their fingers to sign their names or fingerprints.

After the contract was signed, the black paper flashed, and a mysterious power appeared, seemingly merging into the Tiger captain’s soul.

An Unknown Binding force also descended on the Tigermen Captain and the others.

This kind of magical method made the Tigerman captain’s heart turn cold, and at the same time, he was secretly amazed.

Fortunately, their previously sealed cultivation was slowly recovering. It would not be long before they could regain their previous strength.

That familiar feeling of fulfillment made everyone feel much safer, and a hint of joy finally appeared on their faces.

Letting out a long breath, the Tigermen Captain turned to look at the Holy Dragon City cultivator who was leading the way.

“I’ll have to trouble you, Sir. I’d like to see my team members.”

“They’re in area No. 5. You’ll see them when you get there!”

The Holy Dragon City cultivator pointed. Compared to before, his complexion was much better.

The Tigermen Captain thanked him and led his team towards area No. 5.

After walking for a while, they saw the little bird sitting on the ground with its arms around its knees, and a dejected Robert.

...

“Pretty boy, you’re dead this time. Watch how I’m going to deal with you later!”

The dragonkin’s loud voice was heard. Although it sounded like a threat, the joy and emotion in his voice could not be concealed.

Robert jerked his head up and looked at his teammates, who were standing not far away, in surprise and joy. He even rubbed his eyes in disbelief.

The little bird, who was sitting on the ground, had already rushed toward the group. It ran directly into the arms of the Tigermen Captain and buried its head in it, crying loudly.

The Tigermen Captain patted the bird’s shoulder, then let his hands hang down, letting the bird vent its suppressed emotions, his face always wearing a gentle smile.

Robert, who was following closely behind, saw this scene and smiled awkwardly. An inexplicable emotion flashed in his eyes.

“Haha, pretty boy, shouldn’t we hug too?”

The Wyvern laughed as he walked forward and hugged Robert. He pulled him into his arms and began to punch him.

As a mage, Robert’s Constitution was no match for these muscular creatures. He immediately let out a loud cry after being trampled on by the dragonkin.

After hearing Robert’s shrill cry that sounded like a pig being slaughtered, everyone laughed and quickly gathered together, with the Tigerman Captain in the center.

Inseparable in life, inseparable in death, taking care of each other and never separating!

Chapter 984

984 _

The road leading to hewang village was not easy to walk on. Many places were rugged and the narrow places were barely enough for a carriage to pass through.

When the large group of people from Snow City tried to pass through this road, they had no choice but to risk being ambushed and extend the distance between them. There was no other way.

Fortunately, they had been safe and sound along the way.

On a slope covered in green grass, the armored bargof looked down at the ant-like team, frowning.

He had led the team on a journey of nearly ten days since they set off from Snow City. Now, they were finally about to reach their destination.

The speed of an Army’s journey was not much faster, not to mention the difficulty of the mountain road.

Along the way, the pain of marching made bargof, who had been comfortable for many years, a little uncomfortable. It was not until now that he realized that his brave and tenacious self had been drained by alcohol, women, and trifles.

The invincible bargov who had swept through the battlefield and made the enemy tremble in fear might never come back!

The weakness of his body made him sad, and the information he received along the way also made his expression worse and worse, and his mood became worse.

He was now completely certain that the otherworldly demons were entrenched near River View Village, and there were no traces of them anywhere else.

Perhaps the otherworldly demonic tribe’s forces had already reached other areas of the snow City, but they had yet to be discovered.

This was good news for Bargov, because as long as the otherworldly demon stayed in a fixed place, his Army could march straight in and surround it, thus saving him the trouble of searching all over the mountains and plains for it.

At first glance, it sounded like a good idea. However, this was a war, not a child's play. Since the otherworldly demons dared to stay in a fixed area so brazenly, they must have some special reliance.

They were probably well-prepared for the attack of the Army from Snow City!

Bargov didn't believe that the otherworldly demons, who had caused turmoil on the entire continent and made countless gods send down oracles, would be so vulnerable!

Therefore, he took out a large sum of money and issued missions to the profit-seeking adventurers, asking them to collect information about the otherworldly demons.

As expected, the snowflakes of battle reports that flew in confirmed his previous guess!

All the villagers of Hewang village have gone missing. There's an ambush from the heavenly demon race in the village. Any outsider who enters the village will be subdued and captured!

More than ten scouting troops were ambushed by the otherworldly demons in the dense forest near Hewang village. No one escaped, and their fate is unknown!

A large number of adventurer teams have gone missing near River View Village. It's probably related to the otherworldly demons!

We found a Stone City in the forest, and there's a huge vortex in the sky above. This is evidence of the existence of Dragons. This place is probably the lair of the otherworldly demons!

The otherworldly demons have a large number of battle puppets and sharp long-range weapons. Their lethality is astonishing!

Looking at this information about the otherworldly demons, Bargov felt a headache. After piecing together these pieces of information, he already had a basic impression of the otherworldly demons.

Powerful, mysterious, low-key, and with an unknown purpose!

This was the basic situation that he currently had, and it could be said to be very general and vague. And he would rely on this vague information to fight the enemy!

This was actually not a rational move, because choosing to attack rashly without fully understanding the opponent's strength was undoubtedly a great taboo in the military.

On the battlefield, even a small mistake could lead to failure.

It was a pity that Bargov had no other choice, because once the Allied forces of the various forces reached the snow-covered territory, his rule would be in danger.

Therefore, he had to fight for time and solve the problem of the otherworldly demons before the other forces entered the Xueman territory. Then, he would have to deal with this huge crisis.

In fact, in balguf's eyes, compared to the otherworldly demons, the demon Slayer Legion composed of many forces was more dangerous!

Banishing the chaotic thoughts from his mind, bargof walked down from the hillside grass and mounted his warhorse.

let's hurry up! We must reach River View Village before dark, and then we'll surround and kill the otherworldly demons!

The eagerness in bargof's heart was unconsciously revealed through his words and actions. When the soldiers of the city saw this, they could not help but speed up their advance to avoid angering the ruler of the city!

The warhorses neighed and the wheels rolled as they quickly crossed the most difficult part of the road.

The road that followed was a smooth road paved with gravel. Even if there were some areas that were not easy to walk on, it was much better than the previous one.

Looking at the soldiers who had returned to their normal marching speed, balguf's terrible mood became a little better, and the only smile in a few days appeared on his mouth.

Unfortunately, this smile didn't last long before it was washed away by the chaos in front of the team.

"Go and see what's going on, and deal with it immediately!"

After giving the order to the guard, he mounted his warhorse and quickly went to check.

A few minutes later, the guard returned on his horse and reported to bargof, "The path ahead has been destroyed. At the same time, a stone tablet has been erected with some words carved on it!"

Hearing this, bargof's thick eyebrows twitched, and he asked in a deep voice, "What content?"

The Guard's expression was a little strange, but he quickly replied, "The stone tablet says that this place has already become the Holy Dragon city's private territory. No one is allowed to approach it, or you will bear the consequences!"

To say that the other party's territory had been forcibly occupied in front of Lord xueman was a rather strange scene.

It could even be said that this was a slap to the face of the landlord, balguf!

As expected, after hearing this, bargof immediately sneered, his tone carrying a trace of anger and disdain.

"What kind of place is this Holy Dragon City? could it be related to the otherworldly demon race? They're occupying my territory without permission. They really don't put me, the Lord, in their eyes!"

Although the two sides had not fought yet, they were clearly in a hostile state, so it was normal for them to occupy a piece of land. However, after forcefully occupying it, he erected a monument and wrote it out with a righteous tone. This was a little embarrassing.

No matter what the other party's purpose was, balguf felt that he had lost face.

smash the stone steles and continue forward. I don't believe that the otherworldly demons can turn the world upside down in my territory!

With bargov's order, the stone tablet engraved with words was pushed down by the soldiers and then smashed into pieces by the native cultivators.

Then, the soldier at the front stepped past the stone tablet and continued to move toward hewang village.

However, no one expected that as soon as these soldiers entered the land "occupied" by the Holy Dragon City, a clear voice would ring out.

A series of screams rang out as a dozen soldiers fell to the ground, groaning in pain as they held onto their blood-drenched legs.

...

This sudden scene immediately caused the soldiers who were following behind to panic. They raised the spears in their hands and kept looking around, trying to find traces of the enemy.

However, other than the surrounding trees, there was not a single shadow to be seen!

Chapter 985

985 The terrifying weapon of the alien demonic race

Bargov, who was in deep thought, was also shocked by the sudden gunshot. He reflexively searched for traces of the enemy in order to carry out an effective counterattack.

Unfortunately, there were no suspicious traces around, and he didn't know where the attacker was hiding.

Damn Scouts, they actually didn't find any traces of the enemy. They should be punished!

stop advancing. Stay on guard!

With bargov's order, the advancing troops immediately turned to face the two sides of the road and lined up their shields in order to form a shield wall.

The soldiers at the back also quickly moved forward and built another shield on top of the existing shield wall, thus forming a simple defensive position that could block the rain of arrows.

Other than a portion of the Warriors who were protected by the shield wall with their Spears on the shield wall, the rest were half-squatting on the ground with their swords unsheathed. Their bodies were tense as they observed their surroundings.

The archers and crossbowmen were ready to counterattack if they were ambushed.

"Let's take a look at the front!"

Under the protection of a group of guards, bargov jumped off his warhorse and walked to the front of the team. He quickly saw the dozen soldiers with injured legs.

They were all lying within the boundary of the stone tablet, their faces filled with pain. Some of them were even crawling towards the team with all their might.

The two soldiers saw this and immediately rushed over, trying to help their companion up.

However, just as the two soldiers crossed the boundary of the stone tablet, two more crisp sounds were heard. Then, two blood spurts out from the legs of the two soldiers, and they fell to the ground with a scream!

After seeing this scene, bargov's eyes narrowed slightly. He hid behind the shield wall formed by guards and stared at the forest in front of him.

Although the attack was extremely fast, he could vaguely see a trace and confirmed that the attacker was hiding in the forest ahead.

The other party's intentions were obvious. Just like what was written on the stone tablet, no outsiders were allowed to enter, or they would be severely punished!

It was obvious that these soldiers had violated the warning on the stone tablet and crossed the boundary, which was why they were attacked.

They didn't shoot him directly, so it was obviously a warning.

This strange and sharp weapon made bargov think of the content mentioned in the previous intelligence report, and he could not help but be afraid.

However, in this case, bargov absolutely could not show weakness. Otherwise, if the morale of the Army was damaged, it would be better to just return home.

Furthermore, he had a reason to eliminate the heavenly demon race. No matter how strong they were, he had to try!

"The few of you, hold your shields and go to the front!"

Out of careful consideration, bargov did not order the soldiers to advance by force, but instead ordered the soldiers to probe.

The soldiers who were called out looked at each other. Although there was a trace of fear in their eyes, they immediately raised the shields covered with animal skin in their hands and tried to cover their bodies as much as possible while carefully moving forward.

These soldiers did not dare to disobey bargov's orders, so they could only force themselves to move forward.

However, when their bodies crossed the invisible boundary, the expected gunshot sounded again. Then, under everyone's gaze, the hardwood skin shield that could withstand heavy arrows was directly shattered.

The soldiers hiding behind the shields weren't so lucky this time. Because they were lowered, their heads and chests became the targets. The bullets pierced through their shields and then through their bodies.

A large amount of blood spurted out from their backs and heads, and terrifying bloody holes appeared on the back of these soldiers' bodies. Their bodies limply fell to the ground.

Seeing this, the soldiers of Snow City immediately became restless, and bargov's expression changed.

The power of the weapons of the otherworldly demonic tribe was actually so powerful!

At the thought that he was exposed to the range of such a terrifying weapon, bargov felt his heart tremble. He glanced at the shields raised by the guards around him, as if he felt that it was not safe.

"All troops, retreat two hundred meters."

As soon as the order was given, the troops immediately retreated like flowing water.

When the team stopped, bargov subconsciously took a few steps back to hide behind the crowd.

Immediately after, a group of soldiers raised their shields and formed a semi-circular shield wall in front of him.

Bargov felt a little more at ease, and at the same time, he issued orders.

More than a dozen cultivators who were good at using bows and arrows were quickly mobilized. They stuck sharp awl-head arrows out through the gaps in the shields.

Under the sunlight, the arrows glowed with a faint light. It was obvious that they were enchanted.

"The few of you, put on your metal shields and try again!"

Bargov wanted to test the power of this weapon so that he wouldn't be caught off guard once the battle started.

However, judging from the current situation, this kind of weapon was extremely lethal, enough to pose a fatal threat to ordinary soldiers.

Ordinary wooden shields and leather armors worn by soldiers could not withstand the attack of such weapons at all!

If the otherworldly demons had a large number of similar weapons, then once this battle occurred, bargov's soldiers would definitely suffer heavy casualties!

This was not an outcome that bargov wanted to see.

The few soldiers who were pointed out were already holding their metal shields in fear. Under the watchful eyes of the people behind them, they slowly moved forward.

Most of the soldiers who were shot in the legs had already crawled back. Only a few were still lying in a pool of blood. They seemed to have fainted from the excessive bleeding and looked like they were in danger.

The bodies of the soldiers who had been shot were also lying on the blood-soaked grass, staring at them with lifeless eyes.

The soldiers' legs trembled in fear, but they didn't dare to retreat, because a few of the sharp arrows were also aimed at their backs.

If they disobeyed the order and retreated, they would definitely die. However, if they advanced, they might be able to survive. After all, they were holding metal shields in their hands. They should be able to block the attacks of those strange weapons!

With this in mind, their confidence also increased a bit, and they finally stepped into the land behind the stone tablet.

At that moment, everyone's eyes were wide open as they stared at the soldiers.

"Bang!"

The chilling sound was heard again, but it was much more muffled than the first two times.

...

At the same time, the sound of the metal shield being hit by a heavy blow rang out. At the same time, the bodies of the soldiers stiffened and suddenly sprayed out a large bloody mist mixed with blood, flesh, and broken bones, completely blocking everyone's vision.

It turned out that even a metal shield could not withstand the attack of this strange weapon!

"Whoosh, whoosh, Whoosh!"

At the same time that the soldiers were hit, a dozen enchanted arrows flew out and headed straight for the dense forest.

These enchanted arrows could travel a long distance and had amazing penetrating power. Under the control of the native cultivators, they could also penetrate metal shields!

The only regret was that the cost of this weapon was too high, and only the native cultivators could afford to use it!

The native cultivators, who had been waiting for a long time, had locked onto the position of the sound and launched their attack without hesitation the moment the gunshot was heard.

continue to shoot and suppress the enemy's attacks. You guys charge forward and get their weapons!

Shock and greed flashed in bargof's eyes. He had already developed a coveting desire for such a sharp weapon.

If he could get his hands on such a weapon and mass-produce it, he would not be afraid even if an Alliance of other forces came!

With this weapon, he could even conquer the surrounding provinces, or even the entire timriel continent. It was not impossible!

...

At that time, he would be the king of the entire continent, and everyone would submit to his rule.

Therefore, even if he had to pay some casualties, he had to get his hands on this weapon!

Chapter 986

986 The boundary of death _

After balguv's order was given, dozens of native cultivators holding metal shields immediately jumped out of the team and rushed into the dense forest ahead at an extremely fast speed.

At the same time, the dozen or so archers were also fully focused. They provided cover while waiting for a counterattack.

Compared to the ordinary soldiers, these native cultivators were much stronger and faster.

In the blink of an eye, the dozens of native cultivators had crossed the boundary and rushed into the dense forest without a pause.

At this moment, their hearts were already in their throats.

Although they were far more powerful than ordinary soldiers, they were still made of flesh and blood. There was no way they could withstand the strange weapons that could even penetrate metal shields.

It could be said that at this moment, they were also risking their lives in the hopes of quickly charging through this empty area and entering the forest.

As long as he could enter and use the trees as cover, these otherworldly demons might not be his match!

Now that they had crossed the boundary, the sound didn't appear. This made the native cultivators 'spirits rise, and they sped up again.

In the blink of an eye, another few dozen meters were crossed, and the sound still did not come.

Could it be that the group of sneaky otherworldly demons had been killed by a wave of enchanted arrows from the archers?

In the distance, balguv and the charging native cultivators were pleasantly surprised, and their speed increased a bit.

However, at this moment, the trees at the edge of the forest suddenly flickered a few times.

The trees that had been standing quietly began to twist, like an illusory pattern. At the same time, a huge blurry human figure appeared in front of everyone.

As it stood and moved, the camouflage that had blended into the dense forest immediately disappeared. Then, a monster that was more than five meters tall and had a metallic luster was revealed.

It stood in front of the charging native cultivators and suddenly raised its arms.

An extremely bad feeling instantly struck everyone's hearts.

However, before they could react, the metal monster's arm suddenly spewed out flames. At the same time, a dense rain of bullets covered the sky and earth.

The familiar melody of death was heard, and the charging native cultivators screamed in despair.

These figures that were still leaping forward were instantly turned into clouds of blood mist. The minced meat scattered on the grass as if it had been painted. In the blink of an eye, a blood-red ground appeared under their feet!

In just a few seconds, the dozens of native cultivators completely disappeared from everyone's sight, leaving only their corpses on the ground.

The soldiers of Snow City who were hiding in the distance were also hit by the stray bullets. They screamed and fell to the ground, blood spurting out of their bodies.

Hearing the sound of the metal shield being hit by a stray bullet, bargof was so scared that he quickly bent down. His face was filled with panic, but his eyes were full of anger and a trace of surprise!

This damned otherworldly demon had actually killed the dozens of cultivators that he had painstakingly cultivated. This tragic loss made bargov's heart bleed.

However, this also made him more eager to own such a sharp weapon!

He looked up at the huge figure at the edge of the forest and thought of the war puppet, a mystical item found in ancient ruins.

However, compared to the war puppets he had seen before, the one in front of him was obviously of a higher grade. Not only could it become invisible, but its lethality was also stronger. It was obviously a terrifying killing machine!

Dozens of cultivators were so weak in front of it that they couldn't even withstand a single blow. Compared to the weapon just now, this battle puppet was obviously more tempting to bargov!

"If you can stop a few dozen people, then can you stop a few hundred or a few thousand?"

charge! bargov growled, and a trace of determination flashed in his eyes. He gritted his teeth and gave the order to charge!

He was going to use the corpses to pave a path and rush into the forest to find the otherworldly demons hiding behind!

Of course, his main goal was to obtain the weapons of the otherworldly demons and this powerful battle puppet!

The military Order was like a mountain. As bargov's orders were issued, the soldiers quickly lined up despite their unwillingness and tried to approach the stone tablet.

As expected, the huge metal monster didn't move at all during this time, as if it was closed.

However, all of the soldiers of Snow City knew that the moment they crossed the boundary, the terrifying war puppet would attack and tear them to pieces.

The pile of minced meat and remains on the grass in front of them was a good example!

Unfortunately, under the watchful eyes of the supervision team, they didn't dare to retreat or hesitate. They could only endure the fear of death while moving their feet mechanically according to the command.

The battle would start at the first touch.

Just as the feast of death was about to begin, a cultivator in black armor suddenly walked out of the forest.

The black-armored cultivator didn't flinch at all in the face of thousands of murderous gazes. He walked to the position where the stone tablet was erected.

"Lord balguv, please come out and speak!"

Under the smooth black helmet, a deep male voice sounded, but the tone was a little strange.

Bargov, whose body was firmly covered by the guards, rolled his eyes and said from the back of the team, "If you have anything to say, just say it!"

Although the other party had occupied his territory, his strength made him extremely afraid. So now that there was an opportunity to communicate with him, balguv would not put on airs, but showed an equal attitude.

After all, in this world, one still needed to use one's fists to speak.

"Lord balguv, I've come under orders to inform you of a matter.

From now on, the land around River View Village belongs to the Holy Dragon City. We will attack anyone who dares to approach it without permission.

This is just a warning. Next time, we won't hold back!

Please spread this matter out, it can also be considered as a reminder to those guys who overestimate their abilities, so as not to lose their lives in vain!"

After hearing the Holy Dragon City cultivators' words, balguv sneered, a fierce light flashing in his eyes.

"What a big tone. You have to be clear that this is the land of my xueman territory, and I am the master of this land!

Did you guys ask for my opinion before you took it?"

The Holy Dragon City cultivator heard this and shook his head. He looked at where bargov was, saying, "It doesn't matter to us whether you're the owner of this land or not. We can take it if we want to, and if you're not willing, you can just take it back!

...

However, I have to remind you that we are already showing you respect by occupying this place. Please don't challenge our bottom line!

If you've had enough of being a Lord, then we don't mind having a new Lord in the xueman territory!"

Hearing this, balguv's heart trembled, and the cold light in his eyes became more intense.

are you threatening me? hehe, I'd like to see if you have the ability to do so!

At this point, balguv laughed in anger and pointed at the Holy Dragon City cultivators.

"Now, I only need to give the order and you will be shot like a Porcupine. I'm asking you, are you afraid?"

Facing the dozen or so enchanted arrows that were locked onto them, the Holy Dragon City cultivator shook his head slightly and said in a mocking tone, "Ignorant fellow, since you don't know what's good for you, I have nothing to say.

Just wait and see, if you still refuse to come to your senses, then you won't be able to be the Lord for more than a few days!"

"Is that so? then before that, you can die!"

As soon as bargov's voice fell, more than a dozen enchanted arrows were suddenly shot, heading straight for the Lord of Holy Dragon City.

Just as the arrows were fired, the Holy Dragon City cultivator suddenly tore a card. At the same time, a protective shield quickly appeared around his body, firmly protecting him.

...

After the enchanted arrows came into contact with the protective shield, they fell to the ground after piercing less than half an inch into it.

Seeing this, the mages beside balguv's expression changed. They had recognized the origin of this protective shield. It was obviously a defensive spell that required an experienced mage to cast.

"Since we can't come to an agreement, let's use the battle blade to speak!"

The Holy Dragon City cultivator snorted coldly and quickly retreated.

As he retreated, more than a dozen aircraft slowly flew up from the dense forest and pointed their muzzles at the soldiers on the ground.

At the edge of the forest, a roar sounded. Five huge armed robots also removed their holographic camouflage, revealing their ferocious figures!

Chapter 987

987 Intimidating (1)

The sudden appearance of the war machine made bargov's face turn gloomy.

Just one armed robot had already caused him a heartache, and he had thoroughly experienced the power of these battle puppets.

However, at this moment, there were five armed robots of the same shape in front of him. The same appearance indicated that they were of the same model, and their lethality was the same!

Bargov could imagine the bloody scene that would appear if he chose to charge in the face of such a terrifying war monster!

At that time, the soldiers of Snow City would be like wheat blown by a strong wind, falling to the ground in droves and their bodies torn into pieces.

In just a few breaths, the grass in front of him would be covered with corpses, and blood would flow into a small stream!

Not to mention, in addition to the armed robots on the ground, there were also ten aircraft in the sky, ready to shoot out a deadly Metal Torrent at any time.

The Holy Dragon city's warning formation had truly frightened Bargov!

He wasn't a brainless Lord. He wouldn't choose to face his opponent head-on and start a war that was bound to cost him a heavy price just because he was hot-headed!

As such, even if he won by a narrow margin, he would not be able to face the pursuit of the otherworldly demonic tribe. In the end, he would still be defeated.

In a flash, many thoughts flashed through Bargov's mind, and his expression kept changing. In the end, it turned into a helpless long sigh.

"Pass on my order, all troops stop attacking, retreat one kilometer and set up camp!"

When Bargov gritted his teeth and gave the order, the soldiers who had been praying in their hearts finally heaved a long sigh of relief.

There were even some people who showed a look of joy as if they had just escaped death. They looked at the silent fighting robots with fear and quickly put away their swords and began to retreat.

Compared to the slow and sluggish pace they had when they first arrived, the soldiers of Snow City were now moving at a much faster pace, as if they could not wait to leave this area that made them tremble.

Bargov looked at this scene quietly, his eyes flashing.

"It seems that as long as we don't enter this area, the heavenly demon race won't do anything. This is interesting.

Then what exactly is the reason that caused the otherworldly demons to do this?"

All kinds of speculations flashed through Bargov's mind, but he could not come to a conclusion because he did not have the appropriate information to refer to.

Maybe I can offer more rewards to stimulate those adventurers who put profit above all else, so that they can sneak into Hewang village and find out what secrets the extraterrestrial demons are hiding?"

Although Snow City had issued a mission to investigate the otherworldly demons some time ago, which had indeed attracted many adventurers to accept the mission, in the eyes of bargov, the bounty might not be enough.

With such a huge reward, there would definitely be brave men. He needed a true expert to figure out the true secret of the extraterrestrial demon race. Only then would he be able to decide what his next step was.

Should they engage in a decisive battle, maintain the current situation where they didn't invade each other, or try to negotiate?

A thought flashed through bargov's mind, and he gave himself a shock. But soon, he fell into deep thought, considering the possibility of his previous thought.

Struggle, hesitation, surprise, and suspicion were constantly alternating on his face.

No one dared to disturb bargov at this time. The soldiers just set up camp in an open valley between the mountains.

There was a small river not far away. The water was clear and sweet, just for drinking and cooking.

When the smoke rose, the construction of the temporary camp was also in progress.

The camp was not lacking in anything. Thick wooden stakes were driven into the soil to form a barrier to mark the boundaries of the camp and prevent the enemy from approaching.

Huge trees were cut down to build a simple Watchtower to observe the movements of the dense forest in the distance.

In addition, there were a large number of Scouts in the surrounding forest to guard against any possible enemy attacks.

Even though they already knew that they would not be attacked by the Holy Dragon City if they did not cross the boundary, they still carefully took a defensive posture.

In the face of such a powerful enemy, there was no need to be too cautious!

Half a day later, a military camp appeared on the only road connecting hewang village to the outside world. Anyone who wanted to pass through this road could not escape the eyes of the soldiers of xueman city.

Of course, if they didn't want to go through this road and chose to go through the dense forest in the mountains to get close to hewang village, it was actually not impossible. However, whether they could achieve their goal was hard to say.

Firstly, other than this road, any other way to get close to hewang village would have to face very dangerous terrain. Except for single people and small teams, large groups would definitely not be able to advance.

Secondly, since the otherworldly demons had publicly announced that the land near River View Village was a forbidden area, they would certainly not ignore these areas and would even tighten their defense!

If he were to rush in recklessly, he might not even know how he died!

It was precisely because of this that bargov was not in a hurry to send people to explore the way. Instead, he and his men gathered in front of the map, constantly discussing something.

It was obvious that bargov still hadn't given up on exterminating the otherworldly demons, but he was much more cautious than before.

This was because to him, every decision he made at this moment could have a huge impact on the future of the xueman territory.

The soldiers of Snow City did not know about the complicated thoughts in their Lord's mind. They were simply happy that they would not have to fight the otherworldly demons.

The mysterious and powerful enemy, the terrifying weapons, and the battle puppets all made them feel fear and powerlessness.

In some corners, soldiers were already discussing in private whether they should escape, in case they lost their lives in vain after bargov ordered the war!

In fact, many soldiers had this thought, especially those who had followed their cultivators from all the villages and towns. They were constantly praying to leave this place.

Every minute that they stayed here made them feel tortured.

This was the most normal reaction of the natives when they were faced with a powerful and unknown force. After all, life was precious, and no one wanted to lose it easily!

An oppressive atmosphere filled the entire military camp in Snow City.

At this moment, the soldiers on duty suddenly heard the rapid sound of horse hooves approaching.

It didn't take long for hundreds of fully-armed Knights to appear in front of the military camp, kicking up a cloud of dust.

Seeing the path blocked by the soldiers of Snow City, the Knights stopped and shouted to the soldiers, "quickly get out of the way! Otherwise, don't blame us for being impolite!"

Even when they saw the camp of the city not far away, the attitude of the Knights was still overbearing. It was obvious that they did not take the city seriously.

Even though the flag representing bargov's identity was so obviously erected in the camp, they still ignored it!

...

The cultivator in charge of guarding heard this and glanced at the high and mighty Knights in elven armor. He sneered and ordered the soldiers to withdraw.

When the elite cavalymen saw this, they immediately drove their war horses and galloped in the direction of River View Village.

Hearing the news, bargov walked out of his tent and snorted coldly as he watched the Knights approach the boundaries set by the Holy Dragon City.

“These damn Somers, let’s see if you can still be arrogant later.”

Chapter 988

988 Somersault (1)

The Knights in elven armor were High Elves from the island of summer evening, known as Somers.

Because they had once defeated an Empire on the continent, the Somers had some special privileges and were quite overbearing.

On this continent, there were many things in which the Somers could be seen. They were secretly planning something with unfathomable motives.

Many factions were displeased with the way the Somers did things, but no one was willing to offend them. Putting aside the strength of the summer evening Island, the well-equipped Somers had extraordinary cultivation.

Once you provoke this group of people, you’ll just have to wait for trouble to come!

For example, the 100 Somers in front of him were all cultivators. Each of them had extraordinary strength and could cast spells at will.

Balgov didn’t stop them, not only because he didn’t have any good intentions, but also because he was afraid of their strength, which would make the situation worse.

However, the other party’s appearance still made bargov wary.

The sudden appearance of these people must be related to the rumors of the otherworldly demons. However, the information was not clear at the moment, and he wondered what their attitude toward the otherworldly demons was.

A conspirator and an invader, no matter how one looked at it, seemed to be the best combination of villains colluding together!

In front of the mysterious extraterrestrial demon race, if these arrogant fellows still maintained their usual attitude, would they be slapped in the face?

Bargov wanted to see if these somersaults would receive the same treatment as him after crossing the border of Holy Dragon City.

If the 100 Somers were really killed by the otherworldly demons, it would definitely incur the wrath of summer twilight Island. When the powerful High Elf army arrived, even the otherworldly demons would find it difficult to resist.

After all, this race had once defeated the Empire, so there was no need to talk about their strength!

While bargov was secretly observing, the 100 SOMO cultivators had already arrived in front of the stone tablet.

The grass in front of them was littered with corpses and the strong smell of blood.

Seeing this, the leader, suo mo, revealed a look of disgust and shock. After observing for a while, his gaze fell on the stone tablet that the Holy Dragon City cultivators had erected again.

After reading the content, the leader of the Somers had a grave expression on his face.

“This group of otherworldly demons is very interesting. They actually occupied a piece of land in the snow City and even made the owner of this land helpless!

Bargof had probably already suffered a loss at the hands of the otherworldly demons, which was why he was so honest. He didn’t stop us just now probably because he wanted us to suffer.”

He glanced at the camp behind him, his eyes filled with mockery.

“This cunning old fox, does he really think that we are all brainless fools who don’t know how to judge the situation?”

Hearing this, the SOMO cultivators beside him also sneered. They were obviously dissatisfied with bargov’s attempt to scheme against them.

no matter what, since we’ve received the Oracle, we have to take action. Otherwise, we’ll be missing out on a great opportunity.

At this point, the leader of the Somers waved his hand at the Knights, indicating that they should wait there. Then he took off his sword, jumped off his horse, and came to the stone tablet.

my friends in the woods, I’m a representative of the Somers. I’m here to negotiate with your leader. May I have the honor of meeting him? ”

The leader of the somersaults shouted at the dense forest.

After waiting for about a minute, light footsteps were heard in the forest. Then, a Holy Dragon City cultivator walked out and came to the leader of the Somers.

we welcome our friends, but we show no mercy to our enemies. I hope you understand this.

The Holy Dragon City cultivator looked at the leader of the Somers and said in a cold voice.

The leader of the Somers, who was wearing elven armor, nodded elegantly and smiled. of course we’re friends. After all, as High Elves, we won’t lower ourselves to the same level as those lower races!

As he spoke, the leader of the Somers sized up the armor of the Holy Dragon City cultivators, and the curiosity in his eyes grew.

After hesitating for a moment, he asked the Holy Dragon City cultivators, ” “If I may ask, is your armor made of metal?”

“That’s true, and also not.”

The Holy Dragon City cultivator’s answer was ambiguous, but the SOMO leader did not mind, because he did not think that the other party would tell him the real answer.

The question he asked just now was only because he was very keen on forging and was very curious about the battle armor material that he had never seen before.

At this moment, the leader of the Somers was no longer as arrogant as he had been in front of the indigenous people of the continent. He clearly knew that if he showed that attitude in front of the mysterious alien demon race, things would definitely become worse.

Furthermore, they might not even have the right to be arrogant in front of the heavenly demon race!

I'm a cultivator from SOMO's Embassy. I'm representing the higher-ups of the SOMO people and hope to meet your leader. There's something important to discuss!

The leader of the Somers expressed his intention again and waited for the reply of the Holy Dragon City cultivators.

Under the gaze of the leader of the Somers, the Holy Dragon City cultivator raised his arm and began to speak to an item on it.

It was a language that the leader of the Somers had never heard of. It was obviously the daily language of the otherworldly demons.

Although the SOMO people also had equipment for long-distance communication, it was heavy and complicated, unlike the convenient and light equipment of the Holy Dragon City cultivators, which was actually integrated with the wrist guard.

The leader of the Somers was amazed and envious of such a wonderful method!

Ten seconds later, the Holy Dragon City cultivators raised their heads and looked at the chief of the Somers.

you can go in, but you can only bring one attendant. The others have to wait here!

Hearing this, the leader of the Somers smiled and saluted to express his gratitude. Then, he called one of his subordinates, handed his weapon to his companion, and followed the Holy Dragon City cultivators into the dense forest.

The remaining somersaults began to rest on the spot, waiting for the return of their leader.

Standing in the military camp, bargov watched the whole process from beginning to end. His face was terrifyingly gloomy, and his eyes even flashed with killing intent.

War was raging in Tianji province, and so was the xueman territory. As the main culprit of all these disasters, the Somers were not only happy to see it happen, but they also did their best to muddy the waters.

They, who intended to lay their hands on the continent, naturally hoped that the internal affairs of the Empire would be as chaotic as possible!

The cloak of storm resistance, which was active near Snow City, was secretly supported by these Somers in an attempt to intensify the chaos so that they could profit from it.

These d * mn High Elves sure had a good plan!

Now, these people with unfathomable motives, who had always wanted to occupy the continent, had their eyes fixed on the otherworldly demons. When countless forces saw them as enemies, they chose to contact them.

This bunch of damned guys, what exactly do they want to do? don't they know that this is asking a Tiger for its skin?

After all, according to the Oracle, these otherworldly demons were here to destroy the world!

However, if the somerians really did reach an agreement with the otherworldly demons and work together, then with the power that the otherworldly demons had displayed, there would probably be no power on the continent that could resist the Alliance formed by the high Elves, Wood Elves, and werecreatures.

Suddenly, a strong sense of crisis welled up in bargof's heart.

Looking at the proud Somers sitting on the ground, a trace of ruthlessness flashed in bargof's eyes.

Chapter 989

989 Probing _1

Following the Holy Dragon City cultivators, the leader of the Somers walked into the dense forest.

Before he entered the forest, he looked at the edge of the forest curiously because he felt an aura that was out of place.

However, the other party was in a state of concealment and could not be discovered with the naked eye. In fact, if it were not for his race, the leader of the Somers would not have noticed the abnormality.

According to his guess, those broken pieces of corpses were obviously caused by that hidden thing.

What kind of method did the otherworldly demons use to make the Lord of Snow City not dare to act rashly, and instead chose to set up camp outside the boundary?

It must be known that the strength of Snow City was not weak. This time, it was just an emergency dispatch, and the number of people in the Army had already exceeded 5000. If bargov was given enough time, it would be easy to gather an Army of more than 10000!

As the opponent of the somersaults, bargof was definitely not a simple character!

Therefore, the chief of the SOMO people naturally had a better impression of the otherworldly demons, who had made bargof suffer.

However, at this time, he could not ask for the details. He could only observe carefully and then try to find the answer.

The three of them moved forward, passing through the forest that was obviously full of danger, and came to a road leading to River View Village.

A strange-looking vehicle with six wheels entered the vision of the chief of the Somers.

Judging from the exterior of the carriage, it was obviously made of metal. However, there were no horses leading the carriage, so it was unknown how it moved.

“Please get in the car!”

The Holy Dragon City cultivator leading the way said to the leader of the Somers, then opened the door and let them in.

With questions and curiosity, the two high Elves got into the car and studied the structure.

Looking at the furnishings in the car, the leader of the Somers, who thought he had seen a lot, was confused. He had no idea what they were.

As the engine started, the military SUV began to move quickly along the rugged road.

Looking at the scenery that flew past outside the window, the leader of the Somers was filled with shock. This kind of metal vehicle that could run on its own was definitely of high military value.

Whether it was transporting troops or goods, it had an advantage that livestock couldn't compare to. It was simply a weapon of war!

He wondered how many similar metal cars the otherworldly demons had.

However, judging from their casual attitude, it was likely that this was not a precious item to them. Otherwise, they would not have casually thrown it on the side of the road and let it be covered in dust!

It seemed that the strength of the otherworldly demons could not be underestimated.

However, in that case, the other party would become difficult to control, which was not good news for the Somers.

They needed a knife, but they didn't want this knife to be out of control, because if that happened, they might also be injured.

It seemed that he had to be more cautious about the cooperation!

In fact, compared to the Oracle, the somerians were more concerned about conquering the continent under their feet. Before this great plan, everything else could make way.

Therefore, when the extraterrestrial demons appeared and the people of the continent were in a panic, the Somers sharply discovered something that was beneficial to them.

Compared to the oracles of other gods, the God that the Somers believed in gave more clear guidance.

[ this is a group of plunderers. Wherever they appear, they leave behind a wasteland. [ however, they do not belong to this world. They will eventually leave this place! ]

This was a part of the Oracle. It was obvious that the God had some understanding of the cultivators in loucheng, so he gave such a hint.

Since the otherworldly demons would leave this world sooner or later, there was no need for the people of SOMO to fight to the death with this mysterious enemy like the other forces.

He only needed to sit in the distance and watch them fight to the death. After the Holy Dragon City left, he could just sit back and reap the benefits!

This was the plan of the Somers, but before that, they had to get in touch with the Holy Dragon City to figure out their true strength and what they needed before they could make the next arrangements!

The leader of the Somers had come here with such a mission.

He was going to communicate with the alien evil spirit in order to see if there was a possibility of cooperation.

Along the way, the leader of the Somers did not hide his tracks, because there was already an undercurrent in the vicinity of Snow City. It was impossible to avoid it even if he wanted to.

The spies that belonged to the various factions were constantly active in the open and in the dark. The moment they appeared in Snow City, the major factions would have already known.

Moreover, as High Elves and members of Thomer, they didn't bother to hide their tracks.

However, the proud somersault finally felt that he was a little ignorant, because he had seen several things that he could not understand along the way.

The material of the Holy Dragon City cultivators' armor, the invisible objects at the edge of the forest, the fast-moving metal monster under his butt, and so on.

"Sir, may I ask what this is? How could it be so fast? could it be a puppet you made?"

After a long time, the leader of the Somers finally couldn't help but ask.

To be honest, he was indeed very curious and would definitely not miss the opportunity to understand.

"This is only our transportation tool, not some alchemy puppet."

The Holy Dragon City cultivator sitting in front replied indifferently, then shut his mouth and looked forward.

Judging from his attitude, it was obvious that he was not going to talk to the leader of the Somers anymore.

The more one spoke, the more one would make mistakes. Furthermore, the Holy Dragon City cultivators maintained a trace of vigilance against native cultivators.

The leader of the Somers did not care at all. He only smiled elegantly and expressed his gratitude softly, without the arrogance that he showed in front of outsiders.

With a flash of light from the corner of his eye, the somersault leader immediately saw the drone flying past outside the window, and a thoughtful look flashed through his eyes.

In the following time, the atmosphere in the car became very quiet. No one spoke anymore, and only the roar of the car kept ringing in their ears.

After driving for some time, the off-road vehicle finally arrived in front of hewang village.

The cultivators of the Holy Dragon City jumped out of the car and helped the chief of the SOMO people open the door. Then, they led them toward hewang village.

The current hewang village had already become a temporary resting place for the Holy Dragon city's cultivators. At the same time, a large number of native cultivators who had submitted to the Holy Dragon City had also gathered here, making the place very lively.

...

As far as the eye could see, there were Holy Dragon City cultivators in black armor everywhere, as well as native cultivators who wore different equipment but Holy Dragon City badges.

As the front line of defense for Stone City, the level of defense here was quite high. There were nearly 20 fighting robots that were five meters tall parked around the village entrance.

After seeing the fighting robots, the leader of the Somers was shocked.

Although he had not seen the battle scene of these fighting robots, just by looking at their ferocious appearance and heavy metal shell, he knew that their lethality was definitely extraordinary!

These otherworldly demons actually had such a weapon of war?

What the somersault leader did not know was that he had already been locked on by the armed robots outside the forest the moment he had crossed the stone tablet. If they had made any strange movements, they would have been destroyed!

Fortunately, they still followed the rules, so they managed to keep their lives.

His eyes stayed on the fighting robots for a while, and then the leader of the SOMO people walked toward the center of the village under the gaze of many cultivators in River View Village.

990 Meetup (1)

In the middle of hewang village, there was a Pavilion made of wood. Its original purpose was unknown, but it was a good place to shelter from the sun and rain.

After the leader of the Somers was led here, he saw a young man in armor sitting at the table and sipping tea.

Compared to the black armors around him, this young man's purple-gold armor was particularly eye-catching. Anyone who saw it would know that he had a special status.

The Holy Dragon City cultivator leading the way stopped and waved at the leader of the SOMO people to show him the way into the pavilion.

The leader of the Somers smiled as a way of thanking him for leading the way, and then slowly walked in.

Putting on what he thought was the most appropriate posture, the leader of the Somers spoke loudly and bowed slightly to the young man in front of him.

I, from the island of summer twilight, extend my most sincere greetings to you. I wish you all the best in the world!

The young man smiled and nodded at the leader of the Somers.

"I've already felt the high Elves' sincerity and well-wishes. Please take a seat!"

The leader of the Somers nodded in thanks and calmly sat down on a chair made of wood. Although he was wearing elven armor, the noble temperament he had deliberately cultivated was fully revealed.

Whether it was to respect his status or to show courtesy, his actions were just right.

Tang Zhen handed over a cup of tea on the table and looked at the leader of the Somers with calm eyes. "I've long since heard of the reputation of the summer evening Island. I wonder what brings you here, Sir?"

The leader of the Somers picked up the tea in front of him, sniffed it, and took a sip.

I didn't expect a drink made from tree leaves to have such a long aftertaste. This has really broadened my horizons!

The leader of the Somers praised him. After putting down the teacup, he looked at the young man who looked no different from a normal human being and said slowly, "I've heard that you came from a place outside of this world, is that true?"

that's right. We don't belong to this world.

"Then I wonder if your Excellency plans to be a passer-by or a permanent residence here?"

"So what if you're a passerby, so what if you're a permanent resident?"

"If you're just a passer-by, then as the host, my clan should do our best to entertain you and let you return satisfied.

If you intend to stay here permanently, how can my clan tolerate the harassment of evil guests in our own home? naturally, we will pick up our swords and drive them away!"

The leader of the Somers looked at Tang Zhen and waited for his reply.

There were no absolute enemies in the world. If they could benefit from working together, even if they were enemies, they could put down their conflicts and turn to deal with new enemies!

Tang Zhen's answer would decide the high Elves' attitude.

They might be able to tolerate the Holy Dragon city's existence and stay in a continent that did not belong to them at the moment, but the premise was that the Holy Dragon City would not hinder their plan to dominate the continent.

Otherwise, the SOMO people would not have allowed the Holy Dragon City to exist. They would have done their best to drive the otherworldly demons, who had caused countless gods to send down oracles, out of this world!

Tang Zhen tilted the teacup in his hand and poured out some tea. He then reached out and knocked on the table.

The tea slowly rose from the table and floated in front of the two. Under the control of spiritual power, it quickly formed a map.

The leader of the somersaults looked at the map and muttered to himself for a moment before he said to Tang Zhen, this should be a map of the continent, and it includes summer evening Island. Speaking of which, this is the first time I've seen it!

"That's right, this is the map of your world. What made me curious was that this world didn't seem to be complete. What was the reason? And how do the gods you believe in monitor this world? can their true bodies descend?"

The last sentence was the question that Tang Zhen was most concerned about. It was also something that he had been constantly thinking about ever since he arrived in this world.

If the high and mighty God couldn't directly affect this world, Tang Zhen naturally wouldn't have too many scruples. However, if this God could appear in this world, Tang Zhen would have to be more careful.

After hearing Tang Zhen's question, the leader of the Somers thought for a moment and replied,"This is indeed an incomplete world. I'll have to consult the scholars in my race to give you an accurate answer for the specific reasons.

As for the gods we believe in, in my opinion, they don't exist in real form. They actually represent the will of this world!

Because the world's will was dependent on the existence of this world, these gods were everywhere, but they could not really exist.

We believe in the gods, which is equivalent to believing in the will of the world. While we offer sacrifices, the will of the world will also give us believers generous rewards!"

When the chief of the Somers said this, he looked at Tang Zhen and said,"Are you satisfied with my answer?"

"Of course, I'm very satisfied. It can even be said that I've been enlightened!" Tang Zhen smiled.

"So it's still the same question. Do you intend to be a passerby or an evil guest?"

"If master is satisfied with your hospitality, I will naturally be a good guest. But if master is too stingy, I can only be an evil guest once!"

The leader of the Somers nodded and smiled. "Then, may I ask, what kind of press conference would satisfy you?"

They finally reached the most basic issue of benefits. Since the high Elves wanted to control Holy Dragon City, they had to give them enough benefits.

No matter what the follow-up plan was, at the very least, they had to stabilize Holy Dragon City.

“We came here because there are a large number of soul stones in this world. The thing I want is naturally soul stones!

As long as you give me enough soul stones, I don't mind being a well-behaved guest. At the very least, I won't affect your plan to conquer this continent!”

Tang Zhen made his request, and the next step was to wait for the reply from the chief of the somersaults.

Although they were guests, it was not impossible for the Holy Dragon City to turn from guest to host. However, if they did so, they would become enemies with the entire mainland's indigenous people. This was definitely the worst situation.

Although Holy Dragon City was powerful, it would also produce terrifying war consumption, which would greatly reduce the benefits of the invasion.

Hence, how to plan and maximize the benefits was also something that city Lord Lou had to consider.

As for the true target of Lou Cheng's invasion, which was the origin Energy of this world, Tang Zhen already had a hint of speculation and plan after hearing the explanation from the leader of the Somers.

However, before the Holy Dragon City descended, he still decided to keep a low profile.

Because if he wanted to obtain the origin of the world, he would probably have to do something shocking.

And that was ... Killing a God!
