

Am I A God 211

Chapter 211

The two cats that were capable of communicating remained in the depths of the bunker.

Evidently, both of them were supercats and they were probably the only ones in the district. Their superior intelligence naturally elevated them as the leader in the district.

One of them was a tri-colored female cat. Black, white and brown patterns were printed all over her body.

The other cat had a body full of orange fur. However, one of his eyes were permanently shut and was most probably partially blind.

The one-eyed cat scrutinized Fish Ball from head to toe before breaking into chortles. He exclaimed, "Meowhaha, Chrysanthemum look! This ability is so cute!" The one-eyed cat was on the verge of joining the gang of cats in chasing after the light.

The tri-colored cat, which was referred to as Chrysanthemum, spoke condescendingly, "Do you take us for fools? You want to be the king of this district using that pesky little power of yours?" She slowly got on her four feet and stared at Fish Ball with a look of disdain. She sniggered, "Haven't you heard about our leader, king Hanada?"

"King Hanada?"

Fish Ball and Noodle's eyes met before they broke down into waves of laughter.

"Hanada? King? What a lame name. I never expected anyone to give themselves such a stupid title?" Fish Ball clutched his belly while he fell to the ground in laughter.

Noodle wagged his paws in Chrysanthemum's face and sniggered, "Are you really that desperate to even bother mentioning this kind of name? You have already lost!" Noodle had difficulty completed his statement as it was interrupted by his constant cackling.

A vein popped out in Chrysanthemum's neck and her temple throbbed with fury. Her pupils constricted as she death-stared the husky and American Shorthair standing opposite her.

The incessant laughing was only interrupted when Chrysanthemum opened her mouth, "The title of King Hanada is closely related to the district which we all live in, Handa district. This is the reason behind his title. All the kings of the various districts in Jiangmen city are named as such. Do you have any objections to this custom?"

"Oh, so this is how it works." Fish Ball lowered his head in embarrassment and started grooming the fur on his groin. Then, he announced, "No matter what, Noodle Boss will be the leader of this district from today onwards. Your only option is to submit to his reign and be his loyal servants."

"Do you feel anger pulsating through your body? However, your rage is futile." The husky waved his paws in Chrysanthemum's face and sneered, "Honestly speaking, the difference between you and me is beyond what you can possibly imagine. We are worlds apart ..."

"Worlds apart!" Fish Ball cheered along in unison.

The husky shut his eyes before shaking his head in despair, "Do you even know how weak you are as compared to me? Never mind, I'm afraid your puny brain will never be able to comprehend the difference between you and me. It's impossible for you to realize just how strong I am with that brain of yours."

"Cannot understand how strong Boss Noodle is!" Fish Ball repeated.

"That's enough, Fish Ball." Noodle gave a dismissive wave of his hand in embarrassment and said, "You do not have to repeat everything I say."

Noodle continued explaining, "There are only two important words in my dictionary, conquer and destroy. I will annihilate the opponent standing in front of me, regardless of their abilities or strength."

Noodle clenched his fist in dramatic fashion before announcing in his most solemn voice, "Join me in becoming the ruler of this world and leave our mark in the history books, or you can choose to be banished from this district and be forgotten forever. You have a choice."

Chrysanthemum glanced at the one-eyed cat before letting out a deafening shriek. She immediately got to her feet and spat in Fish Ball's direction.

Fish Ball bit back a scream as he narrowly avoided Chrysanthemum's spit attack. The spit lay on the floor before vaporizing into green fumes, leaving behind a trail of burnt marks.

Fish Ball was enveloped in both anger and fear as he reported, "Boss, this cat's saliva is venomous."

"Move aside, let me take care of her." The husky took a step forward and blocked Fish Ball from her sight. His eyes met Chrysanthemum's as he sniggered and announced, "Understand the meaning of despair! Without even using my true strength, the both of you will ..."

While he was exaggerating his claims, he was actually speaking to Nekomata telepathically, "Nekomata, follow my actions and destroy them! Make it as cool as possible!"

After making his grand speech, the husky bolted towards the two cats and roared at the top of his lungs.

...

...

...

The two supercats were wary of the husky's ability. However, the attack which they had imagined never materialized. They tilted their heads and stared at each other in disbelief before sweeping their eyes back on the husky.

Noodle, himself, was equally confused. He put on his most menacing look and pinned them down with his eyes. He continued barking in an attempt to instill fear.

"Woof! Woof! Woof!"

"Nekomata, what are you waiting for?"

After approximately a minute of pure barking, even Noodle himself could not handle the embarrassment. The fear on the two cats' face slowly evaporated and was replaced with a menacing smile.

"I'm so sorry but I really need to go to the toilet now." Noodle took a deep breath and mumbled a few words, "I'll be back." Immediately, he dashed out of the bunker with his tail between his legs.

Chrysanthemum sneered at this sight and cocked her head towards the one-eyed cat, "Scar Eye, your turn."

Scar Eye watched the pair of cat and dog escape after making their impudent speech and bellowed, "The two of you ... Bastards!"

His words punctured the air and rang in Fish Ball and Noodle's ears. Suddenly, both Fish Ball and Noodle froze before turning their head around in unison. They stared at Scar Eye furiously as anger thundered through their bodies.

Immediately, they changed their tracks and bolted towards Scar Eye like a lunatic. They began growling, barking, and biting at Scar Eye.

However, all their attacks were to no avail. There seemed to be an invisible armor enveloping Scar Eye's body which was shielding him from the attacks. Nothing was working.

"Hmph, this is my ability." Scar Eye bellowed with laughter as he stared at the pair of cat and dog. He thought, "As long as I infuriate my opponent using words, they will lose control over their body and start attacking me. The extent of the anger will determine the strength of my armor and the duration of the control."

He sniggered, "Now! Chrysanthemum! Take them out now!"

"Understood!" Chrysanthemum stretched open her mouth and started flooding the pair of cat and dog with her saliva. Every drop of saliva would burn a portion of their fur and scald their skin.

Three seconds later, Noodle and Fish Ball finally regained consciousness and control over their bodies.

“Why did we even attack him?” This thought flashed through their heads simultaneously. Before they could react to it, they were already screaming in pain.

“Ouch! Ouch! Ouch!”

“So hot! So hot! So hot!”

Both Noodle and Fish Ball had experienced the devastating impacts of Chrysanthemum’s abilities and cowered in fear when they saw her getting ready for the next onslaught. Fish Ball immediately ran to a corner while Noodle took a step forward and roared in her face.

“F*ck your mum!” Suddenly, Scar Eye’s voice once again rang in their ears.

Three seconds later.

“So hot! So hot! So hot!”

“Boohoo!”

“Quickly run now!” The cat and dog exclaimed as they bolted towards the exit.

“F*cking cowards!”

Instantly, the pair returned with an unprecedented anger pumping through their bodies.

The surrounding cats gather around to observe this spectacle.

Scar Eye and Chrysanthemum finally decided to take a break after rounds of manipulation.

Scar Eye cleared his throat and spoke in his raspy voice, “Now, do you understand King Hanada’s power?”

Meanwhile, Chrysanthemum was gulping down bottles of water as the previous attack had left her throat all dry. She felt as if her throat was on fire.

In front of them laid Noodle and Fish Ball. Both of them were already exhausted from the ordeal. Their entire body was covered with bald patches and burnt fur. They looked as if they had been raped by a mammoth.

Noodle's body locked up with rage as he stared at the duo who destroyed him, but all he could do was sob.

Suddenly, Nekomata's voice once again rang in his head.

"Haish, I knew that the both of you would not be able to survive without me."

Chapter 212: Conquer Jiangmen City!

Tears welled up in Noodle's eyes when Nekomata's voice rang in his ears.

He was screaming at the top of his lungs in his head, "Nekomata! You're finally back!"

"I'm here, I'm here," Nekomata never expected to see the husky breaking down into tears like a 200 pounds fatso. Nekomata could not help but sniggered, "These two fellows are really getting a little out of hand. I can't even take my eyes off of them for a second."

Initially, Nekomata wanted to pay a surprise visit to Zhao Yao's apartment but gave up the thought because of this pair of cat and dog. He went in search for them and was greeted by this embarrassing scene.

Scar Eye glanced at Fish Ball and Noodle lying on the floor and gave a lopsided smile. He exclaimed, "You two fools, do you finally understand the power of King Hanada? However, I would not mind having a few supercats as our surbodinatees, hence you can work under Chrysanthemum and I ..."

Nekomata had already floated to Noodle's side when Scar Eye was making his pretentious claims. Nekomata had activated his powers according to Noodle's instructions.

Finally, Noodle raised his paw in the air and tightened them into fists. Immediately, a beam of blinding light shot out from each eye as he levitated into the air.

Scar Eye and Chrysanthemum stumbled backwards when they saw this scene. Their expression immediately changed and they looked on in fear.

"The two of you!" Noodle mustered his most menacing look despite his body being covered in burn marks and bald spots. He exclaimed, "You have infuriated me!"

With Nekomata's psychokinesis, Noodle stretched out his paw and sent Scar Eye and Chrysanthemum flying into a corner of the bunker. Their bodies slammed against the wall before collapsing to the floor.

"F*!" Scar Eye raised his head and was about to rain down on Noodle with profanities. Before he even uttered his first word, the husky had already stretched out his other arm and balled his paw into a fist.

Instantly, Scar Eye felt an invisible force strangling his neck, preventing him from saying a single word.

Meow!"

When the surrounding cats saw this scene, they jumped out from their positions only to hear the husky's howl, "Get lost!"

Bam! An invisible wave of force swept across the room and sent the cats flying off in all directions. They lay on the floor, unconscious.

Fish Ball was amazed by the scene and shouted, "Boss Noodle is invincible! Long live Boss Noodle!"

Meanwhile, terror overtook Chrysanthemum and Scar Eye's faces. Before they could retaliate, Noodle had already waved his arm which sent another invisible attack directly onto them. Their bodies flew into the sky before crashing down onto the ground. Both of them were writhing in pain.

Scar Eye struggled to open his eyes only to see Noodle raising his paw once again. Consequently, their bodies floated again and Scar Eye launched his tirade, “You mother*cking bastard! I f* ...”

“Hmph,” flames of anger shot off out of the husky’s eyes. He bolted towards Scar Eye and landed a series of slaps, swipes and punches on his face. During the attack, both cats were also struck by a pair of invisible, large hands which sent them crashing into the wall again and again.

Both cats collapsed on the floor, with their bodies covered in dust. They looked as if they had just been raped.

At this moment, even though the husky was under Scar Eye’s control, the invisible armour Scar Eye received from the husky’s anger was rendered useless against Nekomata’s attack.

The onslaught finally stopped when Noodle finished venting his frustrations. Chrysanthemum and Scar Eye’s eyes were full of fear and they had admitted defeat.

The beams of light shooting from his eyes finally dimmed down. Noodle looked across the bunker and saw the cats trembling in fear. Instantly, a smile crept up his face.

“That’s good. From today onwards, I’ll be the new ruler of Hanada district. Who agrees and who disagrees?”

The ordinary stray cats had no problem submitting to his reign. They had always obeyed the law of the jungle, survival of the strongest.

The two supercats stared at each other and memories of the previous fight flooded their minds. They were both traumatized and in awe of the dog, hence they also submitted to his rule.

“Excellent!” Noodle took a step forward with Fish Ball following immediately behind. He whispered in his head, “My lightht.”

“Huh?”

“Use a spotlight and shine it on me.”

Under the stray cats' watchful eyes, a beam of light descended from the sky and shone upon Noodle's body. A mysterious and scared aura emanated from his body.

The dog's body was bathed in the holy light before he stopped in the middle of the bunker, atop a bunch of catmint. He raised his paw and announced solemnly, "I'll be King Hanada from today onwards!

From now on, refer to me Noodle of Hanada district, first of his name. I will conquer all the districts in Jiangmen city!

This district is just the first step towards my destination. Under my leadership, we will set off from here and venture into the depths of the world. We will unite everyone and end all sufferings, hence ushering in a new era."

"Woof! Woof! Woof!" Fish Ball couldn't help but started barking after hearing the inspirational speech.

Chrysanthemum and Scar Eyed glanced at each other before meowing along. However, Noodle gave them a cold glare and they instantly started barking along.

The remaining stray cats simply followed what the rest were doing, but it seemed as if the ywree cheering after hearing Noodle's speech.

"Excellent," Noodle thought, "I've completed my the first mission for my grand plan. Now, I'll have to conquer the neighbouring districts and rule over more cats. I'll take one step at a time towards my dream of world domination."

A few minutes later, the underground bunker had finally resumed its normal activities. The stray cats were running around the place with some lying down and others immersed in catmint.

Noodle sat in the middle. Next to his feet was a bundle of catmint tied together.

"This is catmint! I didn't expect Hanada district to have so many of it!" Noodle exclaimed, "Were you guys the one who collected them?"

“Yes,” Scar Eye reported, “We sent the cats out to collect them.”

Noodle nodded his head gleefully. He stretched his arm out and grabbed a handful from the ground, “This is wealth. This is power. This is strength!”

Fish Ball took a few sniffs of catmint and revealed a smile which stretched from ear to ear. As a domestic cat, he had never tasted or smelled catmint because Xiao Yu had never bought them. His body was immediately overcome with an intense euphoric sensation.

“Fish Ball, all the catmint in Hanada district will belong in my paws from today onwards. Our next target is the neighboring district, Hanada II. This allows us to collect more catmint. With every district under my belt, I will have access to even more catmint. This is my weapon to rule the world.

When I finally conquer Jiangmen city, I will be in control of all the catmint trade within this city! If any supercats ever want a catmint, they’ll either have to join me or cooperate with me.”

Fish Ball’s eyes glittered in excitement as he exclaimed, “Big brother! You must let me join you in this grand journey!”

Noodle licked the fur on the back of Fish Ball’s head and commented, “Not bad. I’m right to have chosen you as my assistant. Now, come and give me a massage.”

Fish Ball stood on his feet and walked to Noodle. His meaty paws gave the best massage Noodle had ever received.

Noodle tilted his head to the side and spoke to Chrysanthemum and Scar Eye, “Come over and tell me your name and your ability. Also, share your story since you’ve awakened your power.”

Chrysanthemum and Scar Eye used to be ordinary cats as well. They awakened their power half a year ago and had utilized them to establish their rule over the district. Even if do nothing for an entire day, they could still survive using the stray cats’ offerings.

After talking about themselves, Scar Eye looked towards Noodle and said, “Boss Noodle, there is a golden opportunity for you to rule over Jiangmen city.”

Noodle asked curiously, “Oh, tell me more about this opportunity.”

Scar Eye reported, “The strongest cat kings in Jiangmen city have come together to organize a competition to find out who’s the strongest of them all. Their strength will dictate the hierarchy amongst the world of cats.”

Nekomata giggled as he floated past Noodle and overheard the conversation.

“Rule over the cat kingdom in Jiangmen city? Things are getting really interesting.”

...

Because of the café’s ongoing renovation, Zhao Yao had his cat stay in his apartment the following day.

However, Zhao Yao had gotten ready to leave his house in the afternoon. He had promised his parents to return home for dinner. However, his old house was in the rural area and he required some time to get there.

He stared at Lightning and Hanako before saying, “I’m going back to my old house and Hanako will be coming along. I’ll only be able to protect you if you stay by my side.”

Hanako nodded her head and agreed.

Zhao Yao glanced at Lightning who looked at him with his sparkling eyes, overflowing with excitement. Zhao Yao gave a long sigh because it was rather inconvenient to bring an endangered species out. He changed the topic by asking, “Oh yes, I still do not know what’s your power after so long. Care to show us your ability?”

Hanako immediately cocked her head towards Lightning as she too was interested in finding out his power.

Since learning about the existence of supercats and realizing that her Lightning was part of this exclusive group, she had been waiting to find out what his power actually was.

Lightning threw his head back as he noticed the spotlight shining on him. He announced proudly, “Since all of you are so eager to witness my power, I shall demonstrate it to you. Be prepared and do not piss your pants.”

Chapter 213: Static and Returning Home

Surrounded by pairs of watchful eyes, Lightning’s pupil constricted as he let out a thunderous roar. Immediately, all his fur stood on end, turning him into sea urchin balloon.

Pallas’s cat’s fur was naturally extremely long. Lightning easily doubled in size with his fur erected.

Lightning exclaimed the words one by one in a dramatic fashion, “Expansion! Is! Power!”

“This is it?” Zhao Yao waited for a moment before asking. He thought that this was just the introductory act before his climatic performance.

“Obviously I’m done. Am I not big enough? How big do you want me to get?”

Zhao Yao was left speechless by Lightning who had just expanded like a balloon. Zhao Yao then stretched his hand out to caress Lightning’s fur. He did this to understand the mechanism behind the expansion. Did lightning’s body really expand or was he just controlling his fur?

However, Zhao Yao immediately withdrew his hand after touching Lightning because of the sharp, piercing pain.

“Is this ... static?” Zhao Yao thoughtfully scratched his chin before the corners of his mouth curled upwards, “This is rather interesting.”

After deliberating for a while, he carried Mango over to Lightning and placed him next to Lightning’s feet.

Instantly, Mango’s fur puffed up to twice its original size, turning him into a grey fur ball.

“Meowhaha, this is so interesting!” Matcha meowed and bolted towards the Pallas’s cat. He rammed against Lightning with a loud thud and instantly transformed into a cat twice his original size.

However, Matcha did not stop. He turned his body around and dashed in Elizabeth’s direction. Elizabeth, who was engrossed in her television drama, could not react in time and collided into Matcha.

Bam!

Immediately, Elizabeth’s fur puffed up as well as her fur stood on end. She had turned into another fur ball. She was perfectly spherical in shape and was a few times larger than Lightning.

“Meowhahaha!” Matcha wagged his finger in Elizabeth’s face as he sniggered, “Elizabeth! You look so fat!”

However, Roly Poly’s eyes shone with happiness. In his head, he thought, “An expanded Elizabeth looks just as cute as ever.”

Dust Ball’s eyes glimmered with excitement as she sprinted towards Lightning shouting, “Hey give me some electricity as well! I want to be huge!”

Before she managed to collide against Lightning, she had already been stopped by Hanako’s arm. Hanako pointed at Dust Ball with her shaking finger and said, “Don’t ... Don’t ... come near me!”

The images of Dust Ball vomiting shit out from her mouth was freshly imprinted in Hanako’s mind. Hanako tilted her head towards Lightning and instructed, “Lightning, never ever let this cat near you. That cat is extremely smelly!”

Meanwhile, Elizabeth was perplexed by Matcha who was bellowing with laughter. She craned her neck and took a look at her reflection on the phone. Instantly, terror overtook her face as anger thundered through her body.

Elizabeth was already rather puffy before this which resulted in others mistaking her for being a fat cat. Now, she looked twice or even thrice as fat as before.

Just when she was busy reacting to the situation, her thoughts were interrupted by the sound of a camera shutter. She quickly turned her around and saw Matcha snapping photos of her.

“Meowhaha, Elizabeth say cheese! You look so funny like this. I’m going to post this on WeChat and share it with everyone!”

Elizabeth remained rooted to the ground but her expression changed dramatically. A glimmer of red light flashed across her eyes as she activated her power.”

“Click!”

Suddenly, Matcha had lost control of his body. He watched as his mouth started to open on its own. Then, his body bent forward as his mouth crept closer to his groin area before it took a hard bite.

Meow!!!

A shrilling scream punctured the air and swept across the apartment. Matcha was already lying on the ground, writhing in pain. His eyes were devoid of spirit as Matcha laid there bawling in agony.

“F*ck! Matcha, are you okay?” Zhao Yao never expected this to happen as he rushed over to check on his condition.

Matcha’s eyelids quivered as he slowly lowered his eyes to inspect his precious heirloom. Matcha asked, “Is it still there? Zhao Yao, is my precious still there?”

Zhao Yao carefully inspected the tiny treasure before saying, “Thank goodness it’s alright. It’s just a little swollen but I’m sure you can still use it.”

“Hmph,” Elizabeth gave Matcha a cold glare before she pranced to his position. Matcha was trembling in fear as he stared at Elizabeth inching towards him.

Instead, Elizabeth simply snatched the phone out of Matcha’s hand before deleting her photos from his gallery.

“I’m telling you, sissy. If you ever snap another photograph of me without seeking my permission. I will make sure I turn you into a female myself.”

Matcha did not even dare to blink as he struggled to get the words out,” I ... I .. I understand.” In his head, he was complaining, “Isn’t it just a photo?”

Soon enough, Matcha had already recovered from the harrowing experience and was jumping around in the living room. Zhao Yao shook his head and said, “Alright! Alright! I’ll be bringing you back home as well. I need your help with something.”

As he spoke, he bent down and carried Matcha off the floor and into his arms before he led Hanako to his parent’s house.

...

Silence engulfed the car throughout the journey. The traffic was smooth and they had reached Zhao Yao’s old home in 90 minutes.

The moment Zhao Yao set foot in the house, his nose was inundated by the fragrance of home-cooked food. Zhao Yao took a deep breath in and was greeted by that familiar smell – the food that he had eaten since young. A smile found its way up Zhao Yao’s mouth.

“Your son is back!”

“Oh, I thought you had forgotten your way home. You even brought your cat back?”

“Old man, what are you trying to say? It’s not every day that your son gets to come back home to visit us. Come here and take a sip of the pork ribs soup that I’ve been preparing for hours. I went all the way to the market this morning to get the freshest ingredients!” Zhao Yao’s mother noticed Hanako hiding behind Zhao Yao and instantly beamed from ear to ear. She was certainly pleased with Hanako’s appearance.

His mother even secretly whispered to Zhao Yao, “Zhao Yao? Is she a Japanese? Japanese are nice people. You don’t have to worry, your mother here is extremely understanding. I will definitely support you. From the looks of it, she seems really polite and sensible.

However, there's something that I cannot compromise with. Your children must stay in China. I will not let them stay in Japan. I'll go crazy if I don't get to see my beloved grandchildren."

Zhao Yao almost choked on his banana when he heard those words. He immediately explained, "What are you even thinking about? She is a domestic helper who I recently hired. She is not good enough for me." This was the story which Hanako had agreed with.

"Have you ever looked at yourself in the mirror? If I were you, I'll be over the moon if I ever get to marry a beautiful girl like her."

Zhao Yao lifted his shoulder in a half shrug and could not bother explaining to his mother.

"It's time to find out whether my parents are apostles."

Matcha was devouring the food in his cat bowl, just like an ordinary cat, until Zhao Yao uninstalled Mobile Legends from his phone in his face.

"D*mn it, Zhao Yao! What are you trying to do?" Matcha was not angry but just somewhat confused as he could easily re-download the game if he wanted to.

Zhao Yao shook his head at this sight and decided to re-download the game. He tapped on the application and sold Matcha's most beloved game skin.

Matcha's loyalty instantly dropped by one point.

"Zhao Yao! What are you trying to do? Do you know how long it took for me to save up to buy this skin? Are you even human?" Matcha trembled with fury as rage swept over him.

Zhao Yao then explained, "Try to lend your superpower to my parents. I want to check if they are apostles. After this, I'll charge RMB 100 to your account."

Matcha's eyes lit up the moment the words rang in his head.

Zhao Yao had mastered the mechanisms of his BOOK. His supercats would not be able to lend their powers to other apostles once their loyalty hit 100 points. Hence, Zhao Yao had to lower Matcha's loyalty to conduct this test.

Matcha tried a few times but there were no signs of his power being successfully lent out. Zhao Yao concluded that his parents were not apostles.

"Alright, alright, I'll transfer some money to your account."

Matcha's loyalty increased by 10 points.

The atmosphere during dinner was warm and pleasant. It proceeded well with brief interruptions by Zhao Yao's mother as she began bantering with Hanako. She asked about Hanako's family background and marriage views which Hanako politely declined to answer. Meanwhile, Zhao Yao also failed to gather any information on supercats.

Both his parents were ordinary factory workers. They led a peaceful and ordinary life here. They were not proficient with the internet and had not fully understood how their smartphone worked. Their source of information came solely from the government's official news site.

It would be a herculean task to educate this elderly pair on the existence of supercats and superpowers. Even if Zhao Yao broached the topic and told them about his new identity, it would only cause them to worry incessantly. Furthermore, they weren't even apostles themselves.

"Never mind, I'll get Inspector Ho to help out instead." Hence, Zhao Yao contacted Inspector Ho to send some people over to take care of his parents' safety.

After a hearty meal, Zhao Yao used the excuse of starting a company with his partner to explain his current situation.

"Mother, it's alright. We have attracted many investors and we're doing very well. You don't have to worry about me."

He left some money with his parents before making his way back home. Hanako was always hiding behind Zhao Yao with her amiable smile. She behaved just like a Japanese wife.

When he was walking along the streets, Zhao Yao felt the scurry of rain pelting against his chest. Once again, he had left the warmth and comfort of his family to face the harsh realities of the world alone.

He zipped up his jacket before heaving a long sigh, "Time passes so quickly. It's almost autumn and the weather is getting rather chilly. Hanako, don't worry about my parents' words. They are old and like to blabber about nonsensical things."

Hanako shook her head and responded, "Your parents are very loving and kind." Meanwhile, another thought flashed across her head, "A pity they had no idea their child had gone crazy." She could not help but felt sorry when she looked in Zhao Yao's direction.

Matcha who stood next to Zhao Yao stretched his body before complaining, "Let's go back, Zhao Yao! There isn't even wifi here!"

Chapter 214: Sister and Stray Cats

Soon enough, they had almost made their way out of the district. Suddenly, Matcha climbed onto Zhao Yao's shoulder and started complaining, "Zhao Yao! Zhao Yao! I want to go the toilet! Toilet!"

Zhao Yao's eyebrow shot up as he asked Matcha, "Can't you just hold it in until we get back home?"

Matcha retorted, "Try and hold it in yourself! I've been holding it in since our journey here. I have not visited the toilet for the past five hours and you still expect me to hold it in? Are you still a human? What if I fall sick from this? Try and hold in your pee for six hours. My bladder is going to burst!"

Zhao Yao shrugged his shoulders and responded, "Alright! Just settle your business inside the bushes. We'll be waiting for you at the entrance of the district."

Matcha leaped from Zhao Yao's shoulder and disappeared into the bushes.

Zhao Yao was getting a bit impatient from waiting for Matcha and had no idea what's holding him up. However, Zhao Yao's body suddenly froze when he noticed a couple standing by the gates. They cuddled together and stared at each other affectionately. They even started kissing in front of Zhao Yao.

From his angle, he could only see the woman's face as the guy was back facing him.

The man wore a green jacket, coupled with a pair of jeans. His hair was kept in a neat pompadour. Other than his relatively thin frame, there was nothing special about him.

On the other hand, the girl wore a long-sleeved romper which gave others a rather playful impression.

Zhao Yao froze because of the girl's identity. She was Zhao Yao's younger sister, Zhao Xue.

"Hmph," Zhao Yao was carefully evaluating the guy based on his looks and appearances. He realized that his sister had noticed him as well. She awkwardly rubbed her chin as she looked in his direction. Zhao Yao thought, "I guess my sister has reached the age where she gets in a relationship. Zhao Yao, you must learn to step back and not interfere."

"Indeed, I must maintain my image as the cool elder brother and pretend that everything is normal. I cannot embarrass my younger sister."

"However, I'm still a little pissed."

Zhao Yao constantly reminded himself while he nodded in his sister's direction before he walked up to them. He asked, "Hey, I heard you were pretty busy with school. What brings you back today?"

Zhao Xue replied nonchalantly, "I'm here to pick up some stuff."

The two of them who were originally glued together immediately separated. Zhao Yao was taken aback when the guy turned around and revealed his face.

Zhao Yao scanned him from head to toe. He had a pretty face but was rather skinny. The anomaly was the curvature of his chest. Zhao Yao finally understood what it meant. She was actually a girl dressed in a man's clothing.

Zhao Yao opened his mouth but had difficulty reacting to the situation, “Hi.” Cold sweat beaded his forehead as he thought, “Oh my god, is she really a girl? Is my sister a lesbian? D*mn it! Why am I getting excited from this?”

The girl hesitantly nodded her head and asked, “Hi, and you are ...”

“He’s my brother.” Zhao Xue interrupted with her scarlet face, flushed with embarrassment. She couldn’t even make eye contact with Zhao Yao.

“Oh, hi bro.” Evidently, the girl realized that Zhao Yao had witnessed their intimate behavior and she became somewhat edgy. She explained, “I’m Zhao Xue’s classmate, Li Jing Yi. We just came out today for some fun.”

“Oh, it’s alright.” Words started to fail Zhao Yao as he had no idea what to say. He stared at them briefly before saying, “It’s good to hug. Don’t be nervous. I have no prejudice against people like you. Actually, I’m a feminist.”

“What are you even saying?” Zhao Xue’s body locked up with rage as she stared daggers at Zhao Yao’s eyes. She screamed, “Zhao ... Zhao Yao! I’m warning you. Do ... do not spout nonsense in front of dad and mum. Do you understand? Xiao Jing and I are just ordinary friends.”

“Then why can’t I mention her name to dad and mum if you’re just normal friends?” Zhao Yao said with a shrug of his shoulders.

Rage swept over Zhao Xue and she reacted by doing the only thing she knew: kick Zhao Yao on his shin. She shouted, “Just ... just don’t say anything about this.”

Zhao Yao took a deep breath to suppress the intense pain and sneered, “Do not worry. Our mum is such an enlightened individual. I’m sure can understand your behavior. Hmm ... but our dad might get a heart attack from this.”

Zhao Xue retorted, “If you understand our dad, I guess you know what not to do.”

Hanako who observed the entire incident started laughing and asked, “Is that your sister?”

Zhao Xue turned her head towards Hanako and asked in a voice of disbelief, “Is she your friend?”

Hanako took a deep bow and announced, “Hi, I am Zhao Yao’s newly hired employee. My name is Hanako. Nice to meet you.”

“New employee?” Zhao Xue was shocked beyond words and could not believe her eyes. She was taken aback by Hanako’s flawless white skin and tiny frame. Her cute face even made Zhao Xue blushed.

In her memories, Zhao Yao had always been an indolent and lazy individual who simply waited for time to pass. His performance was at most average in whatever he did, be it working or studying. She can’t believe he had actually hired an employee, particularly such a cute employee.

“Hanako, are you Japanese? Hanako, I’m telling you that my brother is not a fuerdai. He did not strike a lottery nor is his bank account frozen. Do not fall for his lies.”

Hanako laughed in response and replied, “I understand. Allow me to paraphrase, I hope Zhao Yao will take me in as an employee.” Hanako looked at Zhao Xue before her eyes swept back to Zhao Yao. She thought, “Zhao Xue’s appearance was at least worth 90 points. Meanwhile, Zhao Yao would barely hit 80 if she included all his positive traits. I wonder who the adopted child is.”

Zhao Yao could not help but gloat, “See, I told you. Your brother is extremely popular nowadays. Recently, I opened a café with a few other friends. Also, I bought an apartment that’s worth over RMB 10 million.

Hanako is also my employee. Look at you, haha. I didn’t expect you to have this sort of interest.”

Zhao Xue’s face turned crimson, however, she channeled her embarrassment into anger as she retorted, “Do not mention this to dad or mum. If not, I’ll tell them that you went to Thailand for a sex change surgery. Xiao Qing, let’s go.”

Zhao Yao’s temple throbbed with rage as he imagined his parent’s reaction when they hear Zhao Xue’s baseless claims.

Li Xiao Qing remained rather awkward as she said, “Bye brother. Do not worry, I’ll take good care of Xiao Xue.”

“What’s the point of talking to this piece of shit?”

As their shadows disappeared into the horizon, Hanako could not help but laughed, “You are quite close to your sister, aren’t you?”

“Close? I think we are arch enemies.” Zhao Yao laughed bitterly. He never expected such an incident to happen in his life. He then started recalling his relationship with his sister.

Zhao Yao was the most average and ordinary student in his school. On the other, his sister was the total opposite. She was like a dazzling diamond.

She had topped her class since her first year in primary school. Now, she was an all-rounded student in the nation’s top university, the captain of the female basketball team.

Her healthy tan skin was the result of her long hours toiling under the blazing sun. Her toned body was the product of her commitment to her sport. She was also very popular in school because of her active participation in all sorts of activities.

Naturally, Zhao Yao’s parents especially doted this perfect daughter – their precious gem. Even their relatives mentioned her when boasting to their friends.

Comparatively, Zhao Yao was rather insignificant. His parents never had any high hopes of him doing well in life.

Zhao Yao let out a long sigh before explaining, “We were rather close when we were young. However, we grew distant after she entered college. I never expected her to be interested in her own kind.” Zhao Yao then buried his hands in his hair.

Hanako comforted him by saying, “It’s not that bad ...”

At this moment, Matcha returned with a mysterious smile on his face. He announced, “Zhao Yao, do you have any idea what I just saw? I saw two girls fooling around with each other. Is that cool or what?”

“You are so full of shit.” Zhao Yao bent down and carried Matcha into his arms before slapping him on the back of his head, “Come, let’s catch up with them.”

“Huh?” Hanako could not believe her ears as she clarified, “Are you stalking your own sister? I don’t think that’s advisable. The encounter just now wasn’t ideal. If she knows that you stalk her, she will be really angry ... Wait or maybe you’re afraid that she gets into some sort of trouble?”

“No.” Zhao Yao took a few sniffs in his sister’s direction and said, “There’s a strong cat smell coming from my sister.”

“Cat smell?” Hanako stood rooted to the ground and had not reacted to the situation.

Zhao Yao continued by explaining, “It’s not the normal smell you get from playing with stray cats. Such an intense smell is only possible if you have a cat at home. Furthermore, there were lots of cat fur on her skirt.”

Hanako seemed to be in deep thought when she asked, “Zhao Yao, are you worried that she has a supercat at home?”

“Hmph, you can never be too careful with anything that’s related to cat nowadays.”

Hanako looked at Zhao Yao who suddenly turned all serious and thought, “Even though this guy is a pervert, he is still rather concerned about his family members.”

Matcha cried in agony, “When can we go home?”

Hence, Zhao Yao began his mission to stalk his sister. His sister did return home to pick up some stuff before she made her way back to college. She then proceeded to a small garden next to the school’s cafeteria.

From their position, they could only see two shadows moving about in the darkness. Hanako grew very curious and asked, “What are they doing?”

A series of keywords flew across Zhao Yao’s head: Night, college, garden. Immediately, he had arrived at a conclusion.

“This can only mean one thing.” A dark thought flashed across Zhao Yao’s head, “What can they do at the garden in the middle of the night? This is bad. Should I go and stop them? However, they are both girls. What would they think if they realize that I’ve been stalking them all the way from our old house?”

However, if I don’t stop them, I would let a pair of teenagers go down this slippery path of darkness. It’s still not too late to turn over a new leaf. Mum and dad would be furious if they hear of this.

I can;’t think of any solution. I’ll just take some photo as evidence, I’ll settle this when I come up with a good solution.”

Just when Zhao Yao was fishing his phone out of his bag, a series of meows grabbed his attention.

Hanako screamed in delight, “Look, there are so many stray cats!”

With Zhao Xue at the center, hordes of stray cats started appearing in all directions as they converged towards her.

Next, the two girls took out some cat food from their bags and started feeding them.

Zhao Yao rolled his eyes and commented, “So they were just here to feed cats.”

Hanako asked curiously, “What else can they do?”

“Nothing.” Zhao Yao replied, “Be on your toes. There might be supercats amongst them.”

Chapter 215: Fat Cat and the Pursuit

“Isn’t feeding stray cats a really good thing to do?” Hanako suppressed her laughter and continued, “I remember I also had the habit of feeding stray cats during my college days. I had no idea why but the stray cats on university campus were especially affectionate towards people.”

Zhao Yao nodded his head in agreement. Certainly, cats living in school compound were particularly affectionate. Furthermore, among the many youngsters living within the campus, a huge proportion of them were cat-lovers. They would shower their favorite cats with love and food. Not only were these stray cats well fed, they also had much more interaction with humans.

Soon enough, Hanako and Zhao Yao had already stood there for more than 10 minutes, observing Zhao Xue's behavior. Matcha stretched his body over Zhao Yao's shoulder as he let out a loud yawn. He grumbled, "Can we go back yet? Why are you spending so much time observing cats eat? Are you guys crazy?"

Zhao Yao lifted his shoulder in a half shrug and replied, "Alright, I don't think there are any dangerous characters lurking around. We will leave in a minute's time." Based on his astute observation skills, there weren't any supercats living amongst the stray cats.

Zhao Yao propped his chin on his hand as he thought, "With the huge cat population living in the campus, is it possible that none of them have awakened as supercats?"

With the thought at the back of his head, the stray cats which buried their heads in the cat food suddenly raised their heads in unison. They cocked their head towards the direction of the small garden.

A shadow emerged from within. From the looks of it, it was a rather fat animal. The stray cats immediately took a few steps back when the shadow crossed paths with them and presented their cat food to this unknown figure.

Finally, Zhao Yao managed to make out its appearance. She was a tri-colored female cat, predominantly covered in silky white fur. Her spine was adorned with black and yellow stripes.

Other than her unusually fat body, the unique aspect of her appearance was her 'moustache', which was just some black fur beneath her nose. However, it somehow exuded a majestic aura.

Matcha was flabbergasted by this cat's appearance and asked, "Did Roly Poly just change skin?"

"How can that be Roly Poly? She's just another cat that is just as fat as Roly Poly." Zhao Yao chuckled, "It seems like she receives quite a lot of food from the other cats to maintain this figure. She might be their queen."

Zhao Xue's eyes shone with excitement when she noticed the cat. She rushed over and exclaimed, "Lion Head! You're here? I thought you weren't coming today."

She then kneeled down before carefully sprinkling a handful of cat food in front of the fat cat.

"Hmph, this cat food isn't too bad." The fat cat grabbed it and brought it to her nose before taking in a deep breath. She opened her mouth and devoured it in one bite. Then, she raised her meaty paw in the air and waved in Zhao Xue's direction.

"What are you doing? I didn't come here just for this. Come over here now."

Zhao Xue was not a stranger to this scene. Even though she had no clue what the fat cat was saying, she immediately stretched her hand out, in front of the cat's face. Lion Head then rested her paw on Zhao Xue's palm before both of them simultaneously shut their eyes.

When Li Jing Yi witnessed this scene, she was both excited and envious as she cupped her mouth with her hand.

Meanwhile, Zhao Yao and Matcha immediately tilted their head to each other when they saw this. A glimmer of shock flashed across their eyes.

"It's a supercat!"

"Zhao Yao, your sister is an apostle."

Zhao Yao squinted his eyes into a hard line and seemed to be deep in thought.

After some time, Zhao Xue's eyes finally opened before she took in a deep breath and whispered, "We have completed today's mission."

Li Jing Yi, who stayed right next to her throughout the process, asked, "Xiao Xue, did you inform your family about this?"

"I guess it's better that I keep this a secret." Zhao Xue said as she bit her lower lip, "Everything turns so much more complicated and dangerous in the world of supercats. My parents and my brother are just ordinary people. I just want them to live a peaceful and stable life. Knowing the truth about supercats might just rob them of the opportunity to do so.”

Zhao Xue heaved a long sigh before continuing, “The world of superpowers and the world which they are used to are totally two different worlds.”

The two chatted for a while more before Li Jing Yi said, “Zhao Xue, I’ll be going back first. Don’t stay up too late as well.”

Zhao Xue nodded her head before revealing a lopsided smile. She swung her left arm across Jing Yi’s waist and pushed her body against hers before kissing her on the cheek. Jing Yi struggled to no avail as her face instantly turned crimson.

Zhao Xue finally decided to let go after quite some time. She smiled when she noticed Jing Yi’s innocent expression and muttered, “Hmph, you should return first. I’ll be playing with Lion Head before returning to the dormitory.”

Jing Yi tucked a lock of hair behind her ear embarrassedly before she took her leave. The tri-colored cat known as Lion Head shook her head before she sauntered towards the depths of the jungle.

Lion Head turned around and noticed Zhao Xue was not following behind. She then shook her head once more to gesture Zhao Xue to follow behind her.

Zhao Xue’s brows shot up as she asked confusedly, “Lion Head, you want me to come with you?” Excitement raced through her as she exclaimed, “Is today finally the day?”

Lion Head nodded her head before continuing down the path.

Happiness coursed through Zhao Xue as she was beaming from ear to ear. She chased up to Lion Head and followed closely behind her.

With their shadows disappearing from sight, Hanako tapped on Zhao Yao’s shoulder and asked, “They are leaving. Do you want to follow them?”

Zhao Yao simply nodded his head and walked towards that direction. Even though he had no idea what to do if his sister realized that he had been stalking her all this while, only one thought lingered in his head for now: protect Zhao Xue.

Matcha sat on the ground with his arms folded across his chest and grumbled, “When can I finally return home? Zhao Yao, why don’t you just knock your sister unconscious and then tie her up before bringing her home?”

“Are you stupid? She will realize that I’ve been stalking her if I do that. Coupled with what I saw just now, I’m quite sure she’ll break all familial ties with me.” Zhao Yao gave a gentle pat on the back of Matcha’s head before he cocked his head towards Hanako and instructed, “I believe my sister has been embroiled in the world of supercats. I need you to follow me.”

Hanako was surprised by the sudden change of tone but nodded her head in response.

Hence, the trio quickly started moving behind Zhao Xue and Lion Head. With Zhao Yao’s acute sense of awareness, he was able to keep up with them without them realizing their presence.

Suddenly, a frown crept up Zhao Yao’s face when they came to the mouth of a sewer system.

Hanako stared at Zhao Yao with a look of confusion and asked, “Zhao Yao, what’s wrong?”

Zhao Yao bent down and scrutinized the manhole before saying, “They went down this place.”

“Huh? But this hole is so small, I think even that cat might have difficulty entering it.” Feelings of doubt crossed Hanako’s mind as she tried to measure the entrance to the sewage system. She asked, “Are you sure they went in here?”

“Hmph,” Zhao Yao’s chest rose as he drew in a deep breath. He thought, “Based on their scent, they had definitely entered through this manhole. The fat cat should not even be able to enter it, let alone Zhao Xue. I can force Matcha to go in, but ...”

His forehead puckered together as his eyes swept across his surroundings, in search of another entrance to the sewage system. However, it was to no avail.

“Only one possibility remains.” Zhao Yao whispered, “Is this the work of a superpower ...”

“Wait for me.”

Instantly, Zhao Yao had channeled Dust Ball’s power and had absorbed himself into his extradimensional belly before calling on Dust Ball.

In Hanako’s eyes, all she saw was Zhao Yao disappearing for a split second before re-appearing in the same spot, with an adorable black cat cradled in his arms.

“Eh, isn’t that Dust Ball? Isn’t she supposed to be at home?” Hanako was startled by her abrupt appearance and immediately took a few steps back. She was afraid that Dust Ball would start vomiting shit out of her mouth again.

“I have no time to explain everything, they are already quite a distance away from us.” Zhao Yao explained matter-of-factly, “Hanako, I need you to enter Dust Ball’s belly with me.”

Zhao Yao raised his palm in the air before balling it into a fist. Instantly, his deflective field expanded and then contracted before lifting the cover to the manhole.

“Dust Ball, Matcha, I need the both of you to enter this manhole and follow behind my sister. You must do your best to protect her. Dust Ball, remember to maintain communication with me. Alert me to the situation. If you encounter anything dangerous, release me immediately.”

Dust Ball opened her mouth to reveal a different dimension swirling within it.

Before Hanako could react to this phenomenon, Zhao Yao had already grabbed her hands and led her into Dust Ball’s outstretched mouth.

“No! I do not want to go in!” Hanako struggled with all her might as she was inches from Dust Ball’s mouth. It was like being forced to jump into a furnace.

Left with no options, Zhao Yao cast an illusion on her before tricking her into the extradimensional belly.

Zhao Yao and Hanako's bodies turned into two solid lines before they were absorbed into Dust Ball's mouth as they disappeared into thin air.

Dust Ball shut her mouth as the corners of her mouth curled up. She remarked, "It has been a really long time since I've had a chance to mix around with some stray cats. Let's go."

"Huh?" Matcha glanced at the manhole as terror overtook his face. He exclaimed, "It's too dirty. My snow-white paws would instantly turn black and the stench is unbearable. How about I just wait for you over here?"

Dust Ball turned a deaf ear to Matcha's request and rammed his butt using her foot, sending him straight down the manhole. Instantly, their vision was blanketed in darkness.

Chapter 216: Sewage Channel and the Discovery

Ares and the other cats were sleeping soundly within the extradimensional belly.

Meanwhile, Zhao Yao and Hanako sat at a spot not too far away from them.

This being her first visit to the extradimensional belly, Hanako was naturally awestruck by it. She stared wide-eyed at this amazing place and asked, "Is this also a superpower? It's so magical. Is it a space manipulation power? Are we inside Dust Ball's belly?" Inside her head, she thought, "Thankfully this place doesn't smell as bad as her mouth."

"Hmm, I guess you can say that." Zhao Yao was still communicating with Dust Ball to understand the situation outside. He continued, "Other than Dust Ball and myself, no one can enter this place without our permission. This is the ultimate safe haven. The thought of keeping you here did cross my mind."

"Erm, I guess I can pass on that." Hanako said as she wiped off the sweat from her forehead, "Will Matcha and Dust Ball be alright?"

"There won't be a problem. Do not worry." Zhao Yao pounded his chest and declared, "Even though they might seem a little lazy and stupid, but you can definitely count on them in times like these."

...

On the other hand, Matcha and Dust Ball were exploring the mysterious sewage channels.

“It’s so dark in here.”

“It smells so bad.”

“Dust Ball, are you still there?”

“Can you any louder than this?” Dust Ball turned her head around and shot a death glare at Matcha, “Are you even a cat? Even I feel embarrassed on your behalf.”

“These sewage channels are really disgusting. Please let me enter your extradimensional belly!” Matcha pleaded as he tugged at Dust Ball’s hind legs. He then took a look at his snow-white paws and realized that they had turned grey. There was also an indescribable sticky sensation which he cannot tolerate.

Dust Ball curled her lips in disgust and sneered, “You can’t even take this bit of grime and dirt? You’ll have to thank your lucky stars if you get to stay here when you’re living in the wild. Even though it might be a little dirty, but the safety it provides more than makes up for it. There are worse places to be in.”

After making her point, Dust Ball turned her head around and continued down the path, turning a deaf ear to Matcha’s incessant complaining and grumbling.

Soon, they had already traveled a few hundred meters and had crossed umpteen junctions. Even though they had not seen Zhao Xue or Lion Head, but they could still detect their scent.

At this moment, two shadows emerged from an intersection up front. The shadows inched closer and blocked Dust Ball from proceeding further down. Because of her bad eyesight, Dust Ball only recognized them as Zhao Xue and Lion Head when they stood right in front of her. They had detected their presence and laid an ambush for Dust Ball and Matcha.

Lion Head roared, “Why are the two of you following us?”

Dust Ball and Matcha were shocked beyond words as they stared at the pair of cat and human. Actually, their eyes were glued to Zhao Xue.

Zhao Xue originally stood at 1.7 meters but had shrunk to the size of a human’s palm. Even her romper had shrunk accordingly. She sat on Lion Head’s back as she eyeballed her stalkers.

Matcha thought, “Oh, so is this the power to expand and shrink? She even managed to shrink Zhao Xue’s romper. This explains how the both of them managed to enter the manhole.”

Finally, Matcha spoke, “We are just some random stray cats that had just arrived at this place. Are you guys the supercats residing on the campus?”

“Oh, you guys are also supercats?” Lion Head nodded her head proudly when she realized that Matcha was capable of communicating with her via their shared consciousness. Lion Head then started speaking in an extremely solemn tone, “To my new supercats, I am the cat king of the north, the ruler of this district. What is your purpose for coming here? Is it for war, or is it for peace?”

“You stu ...” Dust Ball instantly pressed her paw against Matcha’s mouth before he could start offending Lion Head. She whispered, “Shut your mouth and let me do the talking.”

“Meow ...” Matcha struggled with all his might as he pried the paw off of his mouth. Matcha ran off to the side and started spitting non-stop. He exclaimed, “So smelly! So smelly! So smelly! Do you know how dirty your paws are from walking along these filthy sewage channels? Why did you use it to touch my mouth?”

Dust Ball waved her paw awkwardly in the air and tried to put on her most amiable look before saying, “Hi, cat king of the north. We were banished by the cat king of our original district. We came to this place in search of friendship. We would like to join forces with you. If you don’t mind, can this place be our new haven?”

Lion Head stared at Dust Ball and Matcha with a look of suspicion and abruptly asked, “Are the two of you domestic cats?”

“Yeah, we ...”

Bam! Dust Ball sent a tight slap across Matcha's cheek and started bellowing in laughter.

"Meowhaha, how can the two of us be domestic cats? We are pure-blooded stray cats. Initially, we lived in the malls on the southern side. Who even wants to be a pet? The notion itself disgusts me. I'll just grow fat and stupid if I stay in a human's house!"

While Dust Ball was fabricating their background, she instructed Matcha telepathically, "Zhao Yao instructed us to stalk them and find out what they are doing. Do not tell them that you are domestic cats. Stray cats despise us, domestic cats."

Matcha pouted and set his lips in a hard line.

Lion Head listened to Dust Ball's story and nodded her head. She announced, "Since that's the case, I would like you to join us. You guys are really lucky because something momentous is about to happen today. You can come and witness it."

Lion Head instantly turned her head around after extending her invitation. However, Zhao Xue who was sitting on her back continued to stare at Matcha. She thought, "Why does this cat seem so sneaky?"

Throughout the journey, the cat king of the north introduced the current situation in Jiangmen University to Dust Ball and Matcha.

The school which Zhao Xue currently studied in, Jiangmen University, had a huge campus ground. However, a road ran through the middle, hence dividing the campus into two: the northern campus and southern campus.

To an ordinary human, a six-lane road was a common sight. However, a six-lane road could be the difference between life and death to an ordinary cat.

Even though it was one university, cats had divided it into two territories with the six-lane road as the border separating them.

Lion Head was the king of the northern campus.

Lion Head declared, “Today, we are going to meet the silly fools of the southern campus and negotiate with them. We will decide on who is going to represent us in the competition?”

“Competition? What kind of competition?” Matcha asked.

Lion Head’s right eyebrow shot up as she stared at the pair of cats, “You guys don’t know about the competition?”

“Meowhahaha,” Dust Ball slapped Matcha on his back and used her laughter to divert Lion Head’s attention. Dust Ball explained, “This guy over here just came from the village. He is still rather ignorant about life in the city.”

“Oh, he comes from the village?” Immediately, Lion Head changed the way she looked at Matcha. There was a tinge of disdain emanating from her eyes. She sniggered, “No wonder this village bumpkin reeks of the village stench. He doesn’t even know about the cat king competition in Jiangmen city.”

“Me? Village bumpkin?” Matcha wagged his tails in anger. In his head, he was screaming at the top of his voice, “This cat has the audacity to call me a village bumpkin? I think she should just stare in the mirror and take a look at her hideous black spots. Has she ever played Mobile Legends? Does she have WeChat? Why does she even have the cheeks to call me a village bumpkin?”

“Alright, alright, just give in to her for now. Zhao Yao had given us clear instructions to follow her. Do not foil the plan.”

“No, I want to beat her up and kill her now.” Matcha stretched out his right paw and unleashed his razor-sharp claws, “I’ll use this pair of musician paws to send her to the afterlife.”

Dust Ball pounced onto Matcha and cupped his nose with her mouth. An intense stench flooded Matcha’s nose instantly.

“Stupid cat, if you hinder me from completing this mission, I’ll force feed you with shit till the day you die.”

Matcha instantly covered his nose with his paw and took a few steps back, “Tsk, I have no idea what Zhao Yao used to entice this stupid cat. Why is she even so serious?”

Meanwhile, Lion King was oblivious to the commotion and continued to explain the details of the cat king competition.

Chapter 217: Cat King Competition and the Discussion

The cat king competition was a large-scale competition jointly organized by Jiangmen city's four strongest cat kings, using one on one fight as a method to determine the territory for the respective cat kings.

The contender would be the representative for their individual areas, be it their district, street or even school.

The ultimate victor would be crowned Jiangmen city's cat king. With the help of the four cat kings, the winner would rule over the entire Jiangmen city until the winner of the following year's competition took over.

"Even though it's stated as a cat king competition on paper, but it doesn't matter if cats or their apostles go out and fight. Admittedly, humans are better at wielding certain power as compared to cats."

Lion King's nostrils flared and her eyes burned with excitement as she announced, "And today will be the day we decide who is to represent Jiangmen University for the competition."

...

Zhao Yao propped his head on his chin as he listened to Dust Ball's recount inside her belly. A frown appeared on his face as he commented, "The organization of stray supercats has already developed to this stage? Evidently, they have already informed and planned a series of activities for the entire city. Dust Ball, have you ever heard of the four cat kings?"

"No." Dust Ball replied, "I have left the world of stray cats for months. Obviously, I'm not kept up to the date with the latest news. However, back when I was roaming the streets, supercats had already started dividing their territory based on districts and streets. Every area would have their own cat kings."

...

Matcha listened to Lion Head's explanation and clarified, "Why can there only be one representative? Can't we just send out more cats for the competition?"

"No." Lion Head replied with a shake of her head, "The competition has clearly stated that there can only be one contender for each area. He can either be a cat or an apostle but there can never be two cats or a combination of a cat and an apostle. This is to ensure fairness."

Zhao Yao listened to Dust Ball's recount and nodded his head. He thought, "This is why they had to decide on the representative because everyone shares the same chance of being crowned cat king."

"However, the ability to inform all the supercats in Jiangmen city of this competition is rather remarkable. Is this done with the aid of a superpower? Or is it done with the help of human intervention? Or maybe the government is behind all this?"

The trio of Lion Head, Dust Ball, and Matcha continued down the path. Soon, they had reached a crack which could barely fit a cat.

Matcha glanced at the crack and asked, "What is this?"

Lion Head explained, "Behind this crack is a dugout. Originally, they had sealed the entrance leading to it but recent earthquakes caused the walls to crack, creating a new entry point. This is the venue for today's discussion."

The group of cats went through the cracks and entered the hall of the dugout. Darkness flooded the room but the cats could roughly make out their soundings with their keen eyesight. The unusually large hall was adorned with high ceilings and had plenty of space. It seemed like the dugout was previously used as a warehouse.

When the trio entered the hall, it was already swarming with cats. At least a hundred cats huddled inside the grand hall. Meows, growls, and snarls inundated the place.

Only a few torches were switched on despite the pitch-dark surrounding, however, that was sufficient for the cats to see and observe their environment.

Shock overtook Dust Ball's face as she whispered, "I never expected so many cats to be here."

"Of course," Lion Head announced smugly, "Today, all the stray cats living in our territory have come forth to witness this discussion. The fate of Jiangmen University is dependent on the outcome of today's debate. Obviously, everyone must be here to observe this momentous hour."

Matcha rolled his eyes as he mumbled, "These retards are so stupid, what's the point of them being here."

Lion Head cocked her head towards Matcha and mustered her most menacing snarl. She exclaimed, "They are still your family by blood. Even though they might not be as intelligent as us, but they still have emotions and thus have the rights to express themselves!"

"But that does not change the fact that they are still retarded."

"GRRR!"

Seeing that both cats were on the verge of breaking into a fight, Dust Ball instinctively slapped Matcha on the back of his head and retorted, "What the f*ck are you trying to do? Do you dare to refute Boss? Do you still intend to live at Jiangmen University?"

Matcha wanted to teach Lion Head a lesson so badly, but he held his cool when Dust Ball's voice rang in his head. Instantly, he was depleted of his urge to start a fight.

"Zhao Yao said that if you continue to mess things up, he will take away your wifi the moment we get home."

"I'm sorry for committing this mistake!"

Matcha fell to the floor before turning around to reveal his belly. By forcing the most courteous smile that his mouth could possibly make, Matcha tried his best to appease Lion Head and atone for his mistakes.

Following Lion Head's arrival, the swarm of cats separated into two halves and opened up a path along the middle. From it emerged a maroon Dragon Li, which instantly started exclaiming the moment it noticed Lion Head, "Big sister, what took you so long today? Why did you bring Zhao Xue along for today's discussion? And who are those two cats behind you?"

"Zhao Xue's ability can help act as a bargaining chip during the discussion. Furthermore, she can lend us her power if the discussion ends up in a fight. These two fellas are cats I picked up along the way. They are my subordinates. The small and black cat is a rather sensible fella but the big, fat orange cat is quite dumb. Do spare some extra effort to take care of them."

Naturally, these thoughts were communicated telepathically to the maroon Dragon Li. Lion Head opened her mouth and announced, "These two are Dust Ball and Matcha. They are my newly recruited subordinates."

"This is Baozi, my most loyal subordinate."

The two parties nodded at each other before updating the other party on today's situation. Even though there were hordes of stray cats gathered today, but Lion Head and Baozi were the only supercats from the northern campus. Hence, they played an integral role in determining the fates of everyone here.

However, they were not alone today. They had brought along Zhao Xue and the two supercats which she picked up during their journey here. This gave Lion Head a much-required confidence boost for the discussion.

Suddenly, the swarm of cats separated into two halves again, opening a path down the middle. This time around, two cats slowly sauntered in elegantly, with their tails standing on end. These were the two supercats representing the southern campus.

They were the king of the south, Airplane, and his lackey, Sausage.

Airplane was a long-furred cat with orange stripes adorning the length of its body. From the looks of it, Airplane was most probably a mixed blood between a Persian cat and a tabby. Immediately, its voice echoed down the length of the hall, "Hey, isn't that Lion Head, our dear sister? We haven't seen each other for a few days and you had already grown fat."

Lion Head carefully let Zhao Xue down when she heard Airplane's voice. She walked up to Airplane to welcome him and sneered, "Isn't that Airplane? It's only been a few days and you've already grown uglier than before."

"What kind of bullshit are you spouting?" Sausage roared as he charged out from behind Airplane. With his fingers wagging at Lion Head's voice, he retorted, "Stupid fat bitch, watch your words!"

Similarly, Baozi dashed out from behind Lion Head and landed a tirade of words on Sausage, "What the f*ck are you trying to do? When did it become your turn to talk? Do you even know the rules here?"

The somewhat cordial greetings instantaneously morphed into a heated argument the moment the two parties met.

The stray cats surrounding the two parties puffed up their fur in their attempt to intimidate their opponent as they cheered on their respective cat kings.

Matcha rested his chin on his paws and pressed his ear downwards when the commotion started. He thought, "Why do they have to scream and shout so loudly. At this rate, they are definitely gonna die from this."

Dust Ball simply observed the action unfurl from afar and had no intentions to take any action. She explained, "This is the unspoken rule in the world of stray cats. Before the start of any battles, the side that has the louder roar would gain an advantage over the other party."

As the intensity of the screams and shrieks heightened, Zhao Xue could not help but cup her ears with her hands to block out the ear-splitting noises. Finally, Lion Head let out a thunderous roar and announced, "This is enough, Airplane. Does this mean that you're uninterested in a discussion by allowing your subordinate to create an uproar? If you're not interested in talking, we can start a fight right here and right now. I, Lion Head, have ruled over Jiangmen University for years. I have even bitten the principal before. Do you think I'm actually afraid of you?"

"Lion Head sister, it's not that I'm uninterested in a discussion but it's your subordinate, Baozi, who is not co-operating with us. Do you know he raped Sausage's wife the previous month? Now, she's here to find the father of her unborn kitten." The long-furred Airplane exclaimed, "Settle this thing first before we move on to our agenda. If not, how am I supposed to face my fellow cats? By then, they would lose all respect for me and how am I supposed to rule the campus?"

Lion Head turned her head around swiftly as fury poured out of her eyes. She death-glared her subordinate, Baozi, and asked, “Is Airplane speaking the truth?”

Baozi lowered his head in shame before whispering, “Big sister, it’s not as straightforward as he claimed. The female cat seduced me.”

“There are rules in the world of stray cats. Haven’t I told you to never lay your hands on defenseless female cats?”

Baozi collapsed onto the floor and whispered, “I really did not make the first move.”

Meanwhile, Matcha added fuel to the fire by saying, “Are you serious? You don’t even dare to admit your mistakes after f*cking the female cat? Are you even going to disown your own child? I think you should just go back to catching rats.”

Matcha’s words captured the attention of all the cats within the hall. Immediately, tens of pairs of eyes swept towards him, including Airplane and Sausage.

Chapter 218: The Negotiation and the Compatibility

Airplane arched his back and squinted his eyes into a line when he heard Matcha’s insolent words. He threw Matcha a cold glare and remarked, “Lion Head sister, today we came here to resolve a domestic issue. Why did you invite an outsider here?”

Lion Head took a step forward and stood in front of Matcha. She roared, “Airplane, do not do anything stupid. He is not an outsider. He is a brother of the northern campus.”

Matcha craned his neck over Lion Head’s shoulder and sniggered, “Is your name really Airplane? Don’t you find your name a little stupid?”

“D*mn it, are you sick of living?” Sausage dashed out with his finger pointing in Matcha’s face, “Do you know that Boss Airplane hates it when people poke fun at his name?”

Bam!

Airplane sent a slap across Sausage's face before instructing, "Get lost." With his eyes glued to Lion Head, he spoke calmly, "Lion Head sister, your friend here does not understand the rules in our world. Since you are the ones who flout the rules in the first place, I guess I can only follow suit."

With a deafening roar, swarms of stray cats appeared from the two channels leading to the hall.

Lion Head's pupils constricted when she saw the wave of cats flooding the place. She was especially taken aback by the cat leading the charge. Baozi huddled to her side and whispered, "Sister, that is Uncle Egg from the neighboring district, what do we do now?"

Worry snaked through Lion Head as she began to swing her tail around restlessly. Dust Ball couldn't understand why they suddenly turned so fidgety and came up to ask, "Who is this supercat?"

Baozi immediately gave a detailed introduction to this cat's background, "Uncle Egg is a tabby that is almost nine years old. He spends all his time grooming his fur, ensuring that they were speckless and free from dirt. He is a respected and highly-regarded cat in our area. Many stray cats in our district are even related to him by blood. I think my grandfather's grandfather was Uncle Egg's son.

By using his seniority and connections, he grasped control over the catmint circulation in more than ten districts in Jiangmen city."

Dust Ball's eyes sparkled with excitement the moment she heard the word, catmint. In her eyes, Uncle Egg had instantly transformed from an old cat to a treasure chest.

Other than the cats living on the northern campus, the remaining cats flocked to Uncle Egg's side and stood behind Airplane and Sausage.

Instantly, the tables have turned as the supercats ratio turned to 3: 4.

Airplane, Sausage and Uncle Egg VS Lion Head, Baozi, Matcha and Dust Ball.

Lion Head rubbed her temples at this sight and asked, "Uncle Egg, what are you trying to do by coming here tonight? Are you trying to interfere with our domestic territorial discussion?"

Airplane stretched open his mouth and revealed his razor-sharp teeth. He exclaimed, “Fat bitch, Uncle Egg has always found you a pain in his ass. If you are smart, you should just relinquish your position. From today onwards, I, Airplane, will be the sole ruler of Jiangmen ...”

“blablabla beeebee boo boo!” Matcha interrupted Airplane’s grandiose claim.

Airplane suppressed his anger before continuing, “From today onwards ...”

“Blablabla bee poot!”

“Are you done with your nonsense?” Airplane retorted as his body locked with rage. Sausage, who stood by his side, charged forth and began tussling with Lion Head’s subordinates.

Uncle Egg lamented, “Alright, alright, just stop arguing. You guys have it too easy nowadays. Back in my time, fights were only over food and never over such lame issues.”

Airplane interrupted and said, “Uncle Egg, times have changed.”

“Regardless how much things have changed, one thing will always stay the same. The law of the jungle. Whoever has the tougher claw, sharper teeth will reign supreme. That also applies to the election of our boss. At the end of the day, it’s about selecting a representative for the competition and there’s no point in selecting a useless cat. The two of you should just fight it out. Whoever who wins will be crowned the king of the entire Jiangmen University.”

Chatters erupted amongst the cats as they broke up into discussions. Lion Head regained her confidence and stared at Airplane before saying, “Are you up for it? I will send my apostle.” Lion Head turned around and pointed to Zhao Xue who stood behind her.

Zhao Xue was still in her shrunken state and looked powerless to even defend herself from a rat.

Airplane’s eyes swept towards Zhao Xue as he scrutinized her from head to toe. He roared with laughter and said, “I knew that you would send your apostle given how weak you are. Come forth, my apostle.”

Following Airplane’s meows, a shadow emerged as his group of cats pushed his apostle forward.

Zhao Xue recognized the apostle the moment she appeared in their sights. Her stout figure combined with her curly hair and all white uniform could only be one person. Zhao Xue exclaimed when light from the torches illuminated her face, “The lady working in the cafeteria?”

“Indeed! The lady working in the cafeteria is my apostle.”

“Despicable fella.” Lion Head’s temple throbbed with rage as she roared, “How can you use that lady as your apostle. Zhao Xue would never lay her hands on the school’s staff.”

“Hmph, do not make your problem mine.”

Aunty Wang stared at Zhao Xue who had shrunk to the size of a toddler and asked with a look of confusion, “Little kid, why are you here? Do you know what is going on? After work, this group of cats suddenly surrounded me and started meowing non-stop. They led me to this place and I have no idea what’s going on.”

Zhao Xue could only give a bitter laugh.

Instantly, Airplane and Lion Head began drawing all sorts of doodles on the ground using their paws. From time to time, they would roar at each other. It seemed as though they were explaining the situation.

Matcha was perplexed by their behavior and whispered into Dust Ball’s ears, “I didn’t know that these bunch of fools were literate.”

Dust Ball nodded her head as she replied, “It seems like all awakened cats are literature. I have no idea why though.”

Moments later, Zhao Xue looked in Aunty Wang’s direction and clarified, “Aunty Wang, do you understand? We are about to fight. I believe you have also been endowed with certain power.”

“What is this nonsense? How can I lay hands on a kid?” Aunty Wang shook her hands in the air and shouted, “I need to go back now, I still have to prepare the ingredients for the following day.”

Zhao Xue raked her fingers through her hair helplessly before explaining, “Aunty Wang, these are supercats. They can ...”

Just when Zhao Xue was about to explain the situation to Aunty Wang, a beam of silver light flashed across her eyes and crashed into Zhao Xue’s head with a loud clank.

“Hey!” Zhao Xue knelt down on the ground and rested her head on her palms. She exclaimed, “Why did you hit me?”

With a huge ladle in her hand, Aunty Wang sniggered, “Heehee, do you really think that I’m so ignorant? Attack!”

Instantly, the ladle came flying towards Zhao Xue.

Zhao Xue took a few steps back to evade the attack. Suddenly, her body expanded and she had morphed into three meters tall mini giant instantaneously. This was the power Lion Head had given her – the power of expansion. After expanding, her physical strength had also grown correspondingly, giving her a much-needed power boost. Every movement of her arms sent shockwaves into the surrounding.

“What an amazing power!” Dust Ball exclaimed as she stared at Zhao Xue in awe. With a look of envy, Dust Ball shouted, “I also want the power of expansion.”

“Despicable!” Zhao Xue roared as she sent her unbelievably long legs straight towards Aunty Wang’s body. It was as if a totem pole was flying towards Aunty Wang.

Aunty Wang remained unfazed against Zhao Xue’s attack. She simply waved her ladle in the air in an elegant manner and managed to dodge the attack with a swing of her hip.

Zhao Xue gave a cold laugh before she took a few steps forward. She then launched a barrage of punches on Aunty Wang. Each punch produced a mini shockwave that resulted in a huge explosive sound. The impact of the attack even caused the concrete floor, which she stood on, to crack.

Faced with this seemingly unavoidable attack, Aunty Wang somehow managed to avoid it by executing a series of dance-like moves. Astonishingly, not even a single hit landed.

She guffawed as she dodged, “You know what, at the rate that I’m dancing at, even Usain Bolt cannot catch up to me. Do you think you actually stand a chance?”

Lion Head stared dumbfounded at this scene. She exclaimed, “How is this possible? After evolving into a mini-giant, Zhao Xue’s body had surpassed that of an ordinary human. How can she miss all her punches?”

“Why not? When it comes to superpower, it is not solely dependent on explicit factors like the user’s body condition and mental state. It’s also dependent on their compatibility.” Airplane announced gleefully, “My power, constant flux, will never allow the opponent to predict my next move. I have the power to control probability.”

“My power is the perfect match for Aunty Wang. I had a few apostles but she was the only one who could unleash the full potential of my ability.”

Lion Head remained bewildered and shouted, “Why?”

“Haven’t you heard of the saying? You never know what the cafeteria lady is doing behind your back and you never know where the line dancers are going to perform next. Coincidentally, Aunty Wang is a cafeteria lady and a line dancer. All her actions brimmed with uncertainty.” Just when Airplane was in the midst of his explanation, his eyes sparkled with excitement as he exclaimed, “Get ready for her next attack!”

Lion Head looked on with a face of confusion. Meanwhile, Zhao Yao who was eavesdropping from inside the belly had a clue as to her power.

“Compatibility? I guess being a cafeteria lady and a line dancer are just what you see on the surface. The true reason lies in Aunty Wang’s personality and habits. No, it’s not just her habits. The reason why she uses a ladle as a weapon and her dance moves as her defense is that her behavior during these activities is a perfect match for Airplane’s power.”

Meanwhile, light from the torches reflected off of the ladle sent beams of light erupting in all directions. Zhao Xue couldn’t even see the position of the ladle when Aunty Wang came charging towards her with the ladle in hand.

Chapter 219: Human Cat Hybrid

“As long as I can shake my ladle fast enough, I can even shake away the void in my heart.”

The ladle turned into afterimages as the words poured out of Auntie Wang’s mouth. She went straight for Zhao Xue.

The orange Persian cat, Airplane’s, ability ‘Constant Flux’ would prevent the opponent from ever predicting his next move. In the context of the current battle, Zhao Xue would never be able to evade Auntie Wang’s attack regardless of how she dodged. Similarly, Zhao Xue would never land a single attack on Auntie Wang regardless of the attack she threw at her.

In the span of a few minutes, Auntie Wang had landed a barrage of attacks on Zhao Xue. Zhao Xue’s face swelled till it was beyond recognition.

Airplane burst out laughing and sneered, “It’s futile. You stand no chance against Auntie Wang. I’m the winner of this match.”

Lion Head replied in a calm and composed manner, “That’s too early to say.”

Suddenly, Zhao Xue bent down and stared at the floor. She whispered, “It’s finally complete.”

Auntie Wang was taken aback by Zhao Xue’s words and similarly looked towards the ground.

Because of the intense battle, the concrete floor had been destroyed completely. Pieces of concrete slabs were strewn all over the ground with rocks and pebbles littered across the battlefield.

“You have already lost.” Zhao Xue let out a cold laugh before she sent the pebbles into the air with a sweep of her foot. Then, she clapped her hands together which unleashed an enormous wave in Auntie Wang’s direction.

The strength of a 3 meters giant like Zhao Xue was unparalleled. The only reason stopping her from annihilating Auntie Wang was her inability to land a single strike.

The enormous wave sent the pebbles, which was in the air, flying towards Aunt Wang. The pebbles rained on her like bullets from a machine gun. The pebbles came in all directions, rendering it impossible to dodge this attack.

“Airplane’s power also has its limitations. Even though Aunt Wang is extremely adept at dodging, but as long as my area of coverage is large enough, I should be able to ...”

Everyone witnessed how Aunt Wang tried to dodge the storm of pebbles but was still struck by quite a number of them. She fell to the ground unconscious amidst the chorus of clunks.

Zhao Xue immediately rushed forward and cushioned her fall. Thankfully, she was only knocked unconscious by the attack but did not suffer any serious injury. Zhao Xue finally heaved a sigh of relief when she realized Aunt Wang was still alive.

Aunt Wang’s eyelids quivered as she struggled to open her eyes. She looked at Zhao Xue and whispered, “You won.”

“Meow! Meow! Meow!” They stray cats from the northern campus broke out in cheers while the maroon Dragon Li shouted, “So do you admit defeat?”

Airplane stared indignantly at Lion Head’s side who were busy cheering. He exclaimed, “This does not count. Aunt Wang only received her power recently. She has not fully mastered her control over the power and I would like to request for a re-match.”

“Re-match! Re-match!” Sausage started chanting behind Airplane, “Give Aunt Wang some time to train and she’ll definitely be stronger than Zhao Xue. Our chances of winning will be higher if we sent Aunt Wang as our representative.”

“What’s the meaning of this, Airplane? Are you trying to go against your words?” Lion Head retorted as anger seared through her.

Uncle Egg, who was a bystander, let out a long sigh and commented, “Airplane, you have to admit defeat when you lose. You should never run away from your failures. If you do not keep your word, no one would ever respect you as their leader.”

“You silly old man I’ve been putting up with you for a long time,” Airplane roared, “I asked you to come here to help me. I didn’t ask you to lend support to that stupid fat bitch. Who cares about rules in this day and age? I only know that the strongest will prevail.”

Suddenly, Airplane arched his back and started pacing around the place, adopting his natural hunting stance. Amazingly, his body started turning blurry and everyone couldn’t make out his actual position. Evidently, he had activated his power.

Sausage who stood beside him roared as all his fur stood on end before turning into metal spikes. He had instantly transformed from a cat into a metal porcupine.

Meanwhile, the horde of stray cats standing behind them puffed up their fur and flooded the place with their ear-splitting meows.

“If you want to fight, we shall comply. We, the northern cats, have never shied away from a fight.” Lion Head let out her most fearsome roar as her body expanded. In the blink of an eye, she had evolved into a tiger. The cats standing behind Lion Head snarled in response.

The corner of Uncle Egg’s eyes crinkled as he let out a deafening meow. Immediately, sparks erupted from the surface of his skin.

Within the span of a minute, the entire place was in shambles as some cats snarled at each other while others were already fighting against one another. Even though Zhao Xue had no idea what they were saying, she grew flustered and repeatedly tried to stop their argument.

However, a furious cat could never be stopped by words alone. After a chorus of meows, Airplane was the first supercat to strike. His body started turning blurry and areas his paws swiped past turned into afterimages. Suddenly, streams of blood started spurting out of his victims’ bodies.

Seeing this, the remaining stray cats went forth to take Airplane down. The chaos inside the room was indescribable. Stray cats would simply fall to the ground whenever a supercat passed by them.

“Stop fighting!” Auntie Wang exclaimed only to see the tiger sprinting towards her.

The dugout had instantly turned to shambles, flooded with meows and shrieks.,

Zhao Yao who was still inside the extradimensional belly said, "I cannot allow them to continue fighting like this. Dust Ball, let me out. Matcha, stop them."

At this critical juncture, Matcha took a step forward and roared, "All of you, stop right now!"

Not a single cat listened to Matcha's instruction.

Anger shot out of his eyes as he repeated, "All you trash stop what you're doing! Do you hear me?"

Immediately, tens of pairs of eyes swept towards Matcha's direction. However, what they saw petrified them as they broke out in screams and stumbled to the ground. More and more pairs of eyes stared in Matcha's direction and their reaction was all the same. Soon enough, the entire battlefield had come to a standstill.

"Hmph, are they in awe of my fearsome aura?" Matcha stared at his own paws in delight. He turned his head around and saw Zhao Yao climbing out of Dust Ball's mouth, but could only see his head at that point. From the looks of it, Dust Ball was about to expel a human head out of her mouth. It was frightening.

"Meow!" Matcha collapsed to his feet when he saw this scene. He finally reacted to it and exclaimed, "What's wrong with you? If you want to come out, come out in one entire piece!"

Zhao Yao shrugged his shoulder and shouted, "Hanako, let go of my hand, I'll be back in a second."

Inside the belly, Hanako was clutching onto Zhao Yao's waist and shouting, "No! Zhao Yao! Do not leave me here alone! It is too dark!"

While Zhao Yao was busy pacifying Hanako, the stray cats had also recovered from their initial shock and the place started to quieten down. They just stared at Zhao Yao and Dust Ball with a look of confusion.

Lion Head roared, "What the hell is this?"

Baozi shouted, "It's a hybrid between cat and human!" He turned his head around and looked in Uncle Egg's direction before shouting again, "Uncle Egg is unconscious! The sight of this creature has knocked Uncle Egg unconscious!"

Airplane and Sausage were also taken aback by this baffling sight. Airplane's voice trembled as he spoke, "Hi, Mr. Warrior, did you eat a human?" In his head, he was shouting at the top of his voice, "This is crazy! Too crazy! How can a cat eat a human? I can never be an enemy of this cat!"

Chapter 220: I want to be the Cat King!

However, Zhao Xue and Auntie Wang had no idea what was going on. The dugout was only illuminated with a few dimly lit torches. Even though it was bright enough for cats to see, that was not the case for humans.

Zhao Xue slipped a curious glance at Auntie Wang and asked, "What happened? What's going on?"

Meanwhile ...

"This is so troublesome!" Zhao Yao's forehead puckered together as he was left with no choice. He said, "Dust Ball, can you help expel Hanako out of your belly as well?"

Zhao Yao would never let Hanako out of the belly and exposed her to an environment swarming with supercats because her safety directly affected the probability of his mission's success. However, he can't just remain in this position forever.

With a loud whoosh, Zhao Yao and Hanako were expelled out of Dust Ball's mouth and into the dugout.

With the power of "Three is better than two", Zhao Yao executed a half somersault before landing gracefully on the ground.

Meanwhile, Hanako just fell to the ground with a loud thud. She slowly struggled to her feet before opening her eyes to a sea of cats. She let out a shriek and dashed to Zhao Yao's side, "Zhao Yao, why are there so many cats here?"

"That's why I told you to stay inside the extradimensional belly but you chose to come here."

Hanako looked into Zhao Yao's eyes and replied earnestly, "I will go wherever you go. I am only safe when I'm beside you." Actually, she was sniggering in her head, "Are you kidding? Who would stay in that place which is so dark and filled with so many foreign supercats?"

"What the f*ck! So it's just a superpower?" Lion Head bellowed before continuing her battle with her opponents.

Following Lion Head's roar, the chaos resumed in the dugout as screams and slashings flooded the place. Even Uncle Egg was awakened by the incessant shouting and his body once again illuminated with beams of blinding light.

A thought flashed across Zhao Yao's head, "I still have to stop them. Furthermore, there are so many supercats and stray cats in here. I can use them to complete my chain mission of establishing my cat kingdom. I can also use them to expand the scale of my cat café."

"However, if I just grab them against their will, they would not submit to me as their owner. Controlling them in the future would be impossible... I must come up with something good ..."

Zhao Yao could not simply resort to violence to solve this problem since the cats here did not commit any crimes or offenses.

Zhao Yao couldn't make up his mind on a single method to address the problems in this battlefield. Suddenly, he was notified of a change to the mission panel on his BOOK. He had a new mission.

Mission: Only your cats deserve the title of Cat King

Objective: Ensure that one of the supercats registered under your BOOK is crowned Cat King of Jiangmen University

Reward: 300 experience points

Punishment: Nil

Zhao Yao's eyes beamed with excitement when he read the content of his new mission. He thought, "Not bad. By crowning one of my cats as the new Cat King, they would instantly respect my authority. This is way better than forcing them to submit to me by resorting to threats."

Zhao Yao had made up his mind and he started shouting at Matcha telepathically, “Matcha, I need you to fight against the cats and make them submit to you wholeheartedly. Then, you’ll be crowned the Cat King of Jiangmen University.”

“Huh?” An alarm rang in his head as Matcha retorted, “Are you sending me to my grave? There are so many cats here! If every single one of them takes a single bite off of my body, I would be excreted as feces in a few days’ time.”

“Do not worry, I’ll be here to help you. You just have to act along”

Instantly, Matcha’s eyes shimmered with confidence. As his longest companion, Matcha knew exactly how strong Zhao Yao was. With Zhao Yao’s support, Matcha burst out into laughter and walked to the middle of the dugout. He even turned his head around and shouted, “Oh yes, do not forget to help me record this moment. I want to show it to Elizabeth when I get back home! Previously, she called me a stupid sissy! Now, I’ll show her just how much of a man I am!”

Zhao Yao curled his lips in disgust when he heard those obnoxious words. However, he still whipped out his phone from his pocket. By heaving a short sigh, he had already activated his power of illusion.

Matcha started encircling the dugout in top speed as he shouted at all the cats, “All of you! Stop what you are doing! Right now!”

Airplane threw a condescending glare at Matcha and sniggered, “This is none of your concern, foreign village bumpkin. Get lost!”

Lion Head retorted at the top of her voice, “He is not a foreigner! He is a new member of the northern campus!”

Matcha roared, “Enough! All you pieces of shit, stop it!” This time, Matcha managed to capture the attention of all the supercats. He stuck out his tongue arrogantly before he started licking his razor-sharp claws like a rebel. He announced, “From today onwards, ptui! Ptui! Ptui!”

“Why am I licking my paws? They smell so bad from the journey here!” Matcha simmered with anger as his eyes swept across the supercats standing in front of him.

Matcha declared, “All you rubbish, it’s time for you to meet your savior. In this time of confusion and uncertainty, only true power will prevail. You can only depend on violence to survive.” Matcha shot out his claws and continued, “And I, George Matcha, am the strongest cat in this day and age. Cats regard me as a natural disaster while humans see me as their arch-nemesis.”

While Matcha was delivering his grandiose speech, his body started to transform as well. Well-toned and enormous muscles started appearing all over his body. First, it was his deltoids. Then, it was his chest followed by his abs. Finally, it culminated in his back and lats. He propped his head on his claws before announcing, “Violence is justice!”

“You have to depend on me if you would like to survive in this dark, corrupt world! You have to come to me, the savior of the cat race! Joining me is your only chance at survival!”

“You stupid brat!” Airplane could no longer suppress his anger at Matcha. In his eyes, Matcha had been acting macho all this time which infuriated him. Instantly, he activated his power and his body flew towards Matcha like a phantom.

All eyes were on Matcha as he waved his paw in the air and shouted at Zhao Yao, “I want Luban’s power!”

Matcha pointed his fingers at the sea of cats and roared, “Invincible shark cannon!”

Instantaneously, a rocket emerged from nowhere and went straight for Airplane, crashing mercilessly into his face. A deafening explosion ensued as Airplane’s body slammed across the ground. ‘Constant Flux’ endowed Airplane with phenomenal dodging abilities but it was futile against a large-scale illusion. Naturally, he could not avoid the attacks within the illusion.

“Meowhaha, guns and rockets are the true definitions of justice!” Matcha’s claws slowly scanned the room before pausing at a group of cats. Suddenly, there were two rifles resting on his paw. At his command, cannonballs rained down on the cats as their bodies were illuminated by the flares. The attack knocked them out instantly.

“Air support!”

The halos which were scattered all over the ground levitated into the air and stormed towards the cats. Any cat within 3 meters from the halos was struck by a destructive force that materialized out of thin air, knocking them unconscious instantly.

More than half the stray cats had been destroyed in a matter of seconds. Even the supercats were struggling to fight off the insane firepower.

Uncle Egg exclaimed, "Everyone! Spread!"

Matcha immediately stared in Uncle Egg's direction after hearing his words. The bullets instantly changed direction mid-air and went straight for Uncle Egg. Some cats made use of this opportunity to escape. Meanwhile, Lion Head let out a menacing roar and dashed in Matcha's direction.

Matcha simply threw away the guns in his hand and fished out a spear from his fur. The spear expanded the moment he wielded it in his hand.

Zhao Yao observed Matcha's obnoxious behavior and could not help but reminded him, "Don't just spend your entire time acting cool. Remember to impress them so that they would crown you as their king."

"I know! You just have to co-operate with me by ..."

"No, no, no! There are still some things that I have to do."

On one hand, Matcha was busy fighting against the masses of cat within the illusion. On the other hand, Matcha was discussing with Zhao Yao on their next course of action.

Meanwhile, Zhao Xue observed the entire incident transpired with her heart in her throat. The stray cats started falling to the ground like domino pieces while Lion Head had been destroyed by the opponent with one blow. Zhao Xue shouted as she sprinted towards Matcha, "Stop it!"

A three meters Zhao Xue seemed more ferocious than a lion when she was charging at you at full speed. Every step she took produced a thunderous roar. She swung her arm across the ground in an attempt to grab Matcha.

However, all she managed to grab was thin air. Matcha had literally evaporated from his position.

"Are you guys done playing yet?"

Zhao Xue tilted her head upwards only to see the ceiling of the dugout replaced by the night sky. An enormous cat head was staring at the stray cats and her. Behind the cat head was a giant halo sparkling against the night sky.

All the stray cats suddenly realized that they were lying on the giant cat's meaty paws. They were surrounded by beautiful white clouds as a gentle wind blew across their faces. They were no longer in the chaotic dugout. There were no more bullets, missiles, and rockets in this beautiful and serene environment. The cats could not believe their eyes but everything just felt so realistic.

Fear snaked through Zhao Xue as she stared at her surrounding in shock. She thought, "Are you joking? How can a superpower actually achieve this?"