

Am I A God 461

Chapter 461: The Battle and Pretense

Red Packet who was still being punished nodded his head vigorously. As he was the one who led Lightning to leave home, Lightning had already went for a holiday but he was still being punished at home. As he heard Roly Poly's plea, he was extremely grateful.

"Roly Poly, you are a good cat. When I'm fine, I will repay you."

Roly Poly was gloating in his heart as he looked at Red Packet's grateful gaze while massaging Zhao Yao. "He he, Red Packet's money earning ability is much more useful than time stoppage, magic. Even if Zhao Yao refute my statement, I still managed to win over Red Packet."

As he continued thinking, Roly Poly exhaled, "Haish, in this battle to inherit the cafe, I especially need to win over Dust Ball and Elizabeth who both don't earn much. With the help of Red Packet, this could be resolved."

While Roly Poly was thinking, Matcha had already appeared in front of Zhao Yao and said, "Zhao Yao, you've been working hard these few days. Two hundred million is a lot of money, you must have had a hard time earning it right?"

"Yes it's tiring," Zhao Yao nodded emotionally, "It's difficult to be a rich man."

Matcha instantly ran to the massage chair and patted on the seat, "Zhao Yao Zhao Yao, come sit on my massage chair for a relaxing massage. Roly Poly's small paws can't do much."

Zhao Yao nodded, "I haven't sat on the massage chair for a long time."

Roly Poly stared coldly as Matcha pulled Zhao Yao over to the massage chair. He thought to himself, "This fellow, when did he start playing these tricks?"

As Roly Poly was in disbelief, Matcha sat on Zhao Yao's lap and said to him, "Zhao Yao, Red Packet had committed a big mistake. I'm heartbroken, it's a result of my inadequate leadership and supervision."

Roly Poly laughed to himself, "Hng, so boastful. He never forgets to emphasize that he's the leader."

Matcha continued, "Red Packet deserved to be punished but it's detrimental for his body to be standing for so long. If his leg was to be handicapped, how is he going to find a wife? Since I am the lead descent of this household, I will also take responsibility when the young ones commit a mistake."

Matcha turned and looked at Red Packet, "I shall continue the rest of the punishment for Red Packet."

Red Packet looked at Matcha and his eyes were filled with respect, appreciation and gratitude.

Rice Cake, Elizabeth, Dust Ball and the rest were moved when they heard that.

Matcha went to help Red Packet out of his position and took over his place.

Red Packet's legs crumbled and fell onto the floor. He looked at Matcha and instantly said, "What a good cat. I won't be following any other cat other than you."

"Brother Red Packet, that's an honor." Matcha replied, "The business at the coffeehouse is improving by the day. Our income is increasing, I know you have worked hard, I wouldn't forget..."

Red Packet heard that his work was being recognised and he was touched.

Roly Poly shot an icy cold glare and thought, "This Matcha, when did he become so scheming in buying over the cats?"

He suddenly looked at Old Cat who was smiling at the side and instantly understood, "It was this old thief that taught him? Damn it, things aren't going well."

But after a moment, Roly Poly smiled, “He he, it’s a pity that you can win over the cats and have a room full of friends but there isn’t a point? Zhao Yao’s not dead yet. Your scheming is obvious, who knows if it’s a blessing or a disaster?”

Roly Poly carefully observed Zhao Yao. He was playing with his phone and ignored Matcha and Red Packet. He was secretly happy, “Hee hee, he’s displeased and dissatisfied with Matcha forming alliances.”

Zhao Yao opened Alipay to obtain the interests from the hundred thousand that was placed inside, “Haish, what a pity that there’s a limit now. If not, I will immediately place 200 million in it and attain tens of thousands of interests everyday.”

Zhao Yao opened up his WeChat circle and was pleased, “I shouldn’t act dumb when I have money.” He thought and decided to post a picture of his bank balance.

“Hm, Xiao Yu, Zhao Xue, father and mother were screened already. I could consider sharing with them about the abilities. But I should singly be responsible for the two hundred million dollars. If not, they can’t fall asleep at night.”

In a short while, the message ‘Finally accomplish two small targets, I felt that I had substantiated my abilities and the money would come in naturally.’ was posted on the circle.

A photo of his bank balance was attached to the message.

There were replied immediately.

Matcha liked.

Roly Poly liked.

Fishball replied, “Zhao Yao, why did you send me this? And this profile photo is too old, I’ve seen Xiao Yu using it when in kindergarten.”

Zhao Yao frowned, “This fellow, let me remove him.” Many messages followed.

Xiao Shiyu replied, “It’s time for increment of wages.”

Baiquan replied, “Boss, the cats in the household are increasing. Let’s change a house?”

After seeing Baiquan’s reply, Zhao Yao recalled Faceless’ suggestion to change house, he thought to himself, “There are more and more cats, there’s room for consideration to change to a villa.”

But accompanied by that, there’s the physical shifting, cleaning and furnishing, he thought that it was too troublesome.

Thinking til here, he replied Baiquan, “There’s no point in shifting. Let’s just buy a house for the cats.”

Old colleagues and classmates replied.

“Old Zhao, you are posting such an old photo?”

“200 million dollars? Zimbabwe dollars?”

“Old Zhao, where did you take this picture from?”

Essentially all those that knew him from long ago, no one believed that he could have possible earned that amount. Zhao Yao was enraged.

At this moment, someone replied. It was a photo of a husky.

Noodle replied, “Zhao Yao why did you send me this? You included father and mother too? I think you’re overthinking. You thought that by sending this photo, your parents will think it’s real. From Xiao Yu.”

“Hmph, since when did I add this silly dog in?” Zhao Yao was furious as he removed his reply and added him into the spam list.

“A bunch of poor people who can’t see what’s in front of them.” Zhao Yao was enraged, “Place all of you into the poor people group the next time.”

Zhao Yao continued fiddling with the messaging platform and realised someone sent him a message.

Xiao Ming sent, “Centre of the city, an exclusive condominium. It’s only 5 minutes away from the train station and only costs 2 million! It’s a rare opportunity, grab onto it!”

“I don’t even believe this,” Zhao Yao thought, “Let me remove him from the friend list too.”

Chapter 462: Detailed Strategy

At night, Matcha had finished his punishment and ran into the extradimensional belly to take a break. A group of supercats gathered around him.

There were familiar cats and there were also newcomers.

All of them looked at Matcha with either admiration or respect.

Gaia massaged Matcha’s shoulders and asked with a delightful tone, “Sir George, how was my matter handled?”

“Your matter? Oh, Gaia you want a PS4 right? I have mentioned it to Zhao Yao and he should be buying within these few days.”

Gaia was excited. He had recently watched videos of PS4 games and had an unbearable urge to play them. As he heard Matcha’s reply, he immediately massaged him with greater attention and said, “Sir George, your Glory of Kings account, I will push it to Diamond.”

“Hm, you are thoughtful.” Matcha squinted and nodded with satisfaction.

“Sir George, what about me?” Airplane from Jiangmen University joined the conversation as well. He rubbed Matcha’s back while asking, “What about my matter?”

“Hm, Airplane?” Matcha stopped to think before speaking, “Your matter is more complex.”

“Ah?” Airplane was anxious, “Sir George, is there not enough money? I can go borrow if there isn’t enough.”

“Haish, it’s not a money issue, why I will I be after your money?” Matcha replied, “Your matter is difficult to handle. I had briefly mentioned about prostitution to Zhao Yao and he was enraged. As you know, I am in the position I am now because I am Zhao Yao’s favourite. Since Boss isn’t happy with this, I think you should not mention it again.”

“Ah!” Airplane left with dejection.

Dust Ball came up too and asked, “What about catmint? Did Zhao Yao agree to the expansion of production? Now that the cat kingdom has expanded, the supply of local catmint can’t cope with the demand. This is a great opportunity that we will regret missing.”

“I haven’t mentioned the catmint issue to him. You don’t understand, it is difficult for me to raise so many issues to him at once.”

Dust Ball was worried, “How can you not mention it yet? This has to do with the well-being of all cats. This needs to be settled early...” As he spoke, he lifted up his head and tilted in the direction of the catmint fields. He saw a few of the new cats and shouted, “Hey! All of you get lost! Don’t you dare touch the catmint!”

While bellowing, she had already went after the cats.

Matcha lifted his head and glanced at him. He shook his head and said, “Haish, Dust Ball is too hot-tempered. He requires more training.”

Old Cat joined in too and flattered him, “If Ms. Dust Ball was half as calm as Sir George, she would be outstanding too.”

Matcha smiled happily. He suddenly turned around and looked at Faceless who was standing behind Old Cat and asked, “What’s up? Why did you bring this fellow here?”

Old Cat replied, “When I was chatting with this fellow (Old Cat’s brainwashing ability included the ability to speak in the human language), I’ve realised that he looked up to you. Hence I brought him over to see you and you can talk for a bit with him?”

Matcha thought and replied, “Alright.”

In a distance, Roly Poly, Lion head and Uncle Egg were looking at Faceless chatting with Matcha, together with Old Cat who was translating for them.

Roly Poly thought to himself, “Who would have thought that Matcha would grow so quickly, it’s no wonder that he is my lifetime enemy.”

Uncle Egg was worried and asked, “Roly Poly, what do we do? Matcha is amassing his support and gaining more power. Airplane and the rest had also sided with him. We need to make plans too.”

Roly Poly squinted and said, “Rest assured, I already have a master plan. I will utterly destroy him and he won’t be able to battle with me.”

...

Zhao Yao lay on his bed and was looking at his book. His current experience levels were:

Book: Lv 6 (26902/20000)

Matcha Lv 7 (4400/20000)

Elizabeth Lv 6 (3900/10000)

Dust Ball Lv 8 (5755/50000)

Ares Lv 6 (4800/10000)

Lucifer Lv 6 (2600/10000)

Sphynx cat Lv 5 (2300/5000)

Zhao Yao looked at his book and thought to himself, “I can not level up my book and use the experience points to raise the level of Elizabeth, Ares or Sphynx cat. Which cat should I use it on?”

Zhao Yao was very adept at utilizing Elizabeth’s illusion ability. He used it well to assist and control the field. It was even more effective when he utilized it in solo battles and was his most holistic ability.

Repulsive field was Zhao Yao’s initial defensive ability. After which, he had the extradimensional gate, although its defence is not the strongest, it was effective on the offensive. It was especially useful to repel against fields and forces.

There was not much to elaborate about Sphynx cat. Although his combat power would not increase with his level, his physical constitution had been improving but the speed has been dropping. If he was to increase the level of the Sphynx cat, his effectiveness would improve too.

Zhao Yao thought to himself, “Even though Elizabeth’s ability is impressive, there isn’t an immediate need for her to raise level. The five senses illusion as well as illusion’s seal are sufficient for me. Ares’ and Sphynx cat’s abilities are instead lacking.”

“Looking at Ares’ ability, his combat and strength are starting to lack behind. When encountering an exceptional force, his ability would be broken down. Hence, there’s a need to consider raising his level.”

“But it’s better for Sphynx cat to rise in level early too. The earlier, the more benefits.”

Zhao Yao was in a dilemma as it was a conflict between short-term and long-term benefits.

After thinking about his condition, he then decided to emplace the experience points on Sphynx cat.

“Anyway my combat power is strong now. Sphynx cat is also the lowest level among the cats under contract. This time, he will reach level 6 and then he will have the ability to grow right? Then let’s add the experience points to him the.”

At the next moment, 2700 experience points were added to Sphynx cat and the panel displayed – Sphynx Cat Lv 6 (0/10000)

Zhao Yao opened the ability branch and immediately, 2 branches appeared in front of him.

Elemental Resistance: With training, the body will develop resistance to the various forms of attacks. With the increase in level, the resistance will become stronger.

Ability Exemption: With training, after the body undergoes a hit, there's a probability that the ability will be exempted. The highest probability would be 5%.

After seeing these 2 points, his eyes brightened, "It is indeed a growth ability."

His attention shifted to the ability exemption. It meant that a level 6 Sphynx cat would have 3% probability of exemption. This would rise with Sphynx cat's level. This thought caused him to be emotional.

"Impressive, this ability is really impressive. Even though the growth is slow, but when it reaches a significant level, that would be..."

Zhao Yao immediately added his ability and he was looking forward to when Sphynx cat's rise in levels.

...

At this moment, in the skies above the eastern seas of Jiangmen City, a cat was sitting on a floating red carpet, headed towards the city.

Looking at the metropolitan city, he let out a soft sigh, "So this is a human city?"

Chapter 463: Incident

Sitting on the flying carpet was a grey Scottish Fold. He looked toned and lengthy, not like any other ordinary domestic cat.

He sat on the flying carpet as it glided smoothly across the sky. Looking at the crowded city, there was an expression of bizarreness.

“It was close to one year before I was back in a city of humans.”

When he flew across a small districts, there were traces of supercats. He frowned and thought, “So many supercats? This is troublesome, how long do I have to search for?”

He fixed his glance and saw a cat walking a dog.

“A powerhouse who is capable of walking dogs? It’s such a big dog. This supercat must be powerful and perhaps is able to help me...”

The Scottish Fold continued on his voyage and reached the middle of this small district and gradually lowered to float right above the middle of a lawn.

Fishball lay in the path of Noodle and said unhappily, “You dogs still need to specially leave to pee and poop. That’s too primitive.”

Noodle grinded his teeth and replied, “You don’t know anything. This is being healthy.”

While they were arguing, a voice sounded out, “Hello.”

Fishball and Noodle lifted their heads and saw the Scottish Fold on the floating carpet.

Fishball’s eyes shone and the light was directed to the supercat floating in mid-air. He shouted excitedly, “There’s a flying carpet! What’s your ability?”

The Scottish Fold replied, “There’s nothing much to this, it just lets this thing fly. I am Cheese, are y’all supercats from this area?”

“Yes, I am Fishball. I am the King of Huatien District.” Fishball tapped his chest and continued, “I manage everything in the vicinity.”

Noodle frowned but didn't bother to refute Fishball's boasting. He just looked at the Scottish Fold and thought to himself, "Make this thing fly? This ability can be very trash or very impressive. I wonder which category he belongs to."

Cheese heard Fishball and was pleasantly surprised, "Is that so? King of Huatien, I am here to look for my sister. Can you help me?"

"That's no problem, you can count on me." Fishball replied, "Can you let me sit on the flying carpet?"

His new cat friend replied, "Of course."

...

In the office, Uncle Ho was scratching his head over Zhao Yao's report.

"This fellow always gives us trouble. We need to go through the approval of 17, 18 superiors before acting. This really bounds us."

Uncle Ho sighed and decided to rest for a while by browsing his social media.

The first thing he saw was Lin Cheng getting married to his girlfriend on the online game and also posted a screenshot.

"This trash," Uncle Ho shook his head and continue scrolling and saw ZHao Yao's screenshot of his savings.

Different from the rest of the people who commented, he knew that Zhao Yao really had over 200 million, he was jealous and hateful.

Hence, he began leaving a comment, "Brother Zhao666, when are you bringing your little brother out to get rich too."

At this moment, Lin Chen rushed in all of a sudden. Uncle Ho rubbed his bald head and said with unconcern, “There’s no way the leave will be approved. Online wedding isn’t real, even if you apply it for over a thousand times, I still will not give it to you.”

“It’s not this,” Lin Chen shouted, “Check your inbox.”

“Eh?” Uncle Ho was taken aback and opened his inbox. His expression became much more solemn and he immediately stood up and ran out of the office.

“Notify everyone to gather now.”

“Link me up with our naval fleet, we need to seal off the entire sea area.”

“Call the weather agency, I need to to know if this is a natural phenomenon.”

As indicated on the screen, a large area of mysterious fog had risen over the sea.

Within the fog, all ships and crew had lost connection.

...

On the other side, in the wee hours of Zhao Yao’s home.

Sounds of typing on the keyboard continued. Matcha, Roly Poly, Elizabeth and Rice Cake were playing the game together and were live streaming it as planned before.

Old Cat, Uncle Egg, Airplane and the rest were gathered around watching them.

It was a pity that Roly Poly did not have additional in-game items, hence the four of them had subpar standard and it was hard for them to win. They became more dejected as they proceeded on.

After it ended, Matcha sighed and lay down on the massage chair, “This is difficult. I think it’s difficult to carve ourselves a name in this game.”

At this moment, Roly Poly's voice sounded out beside him, "Matcha, I hadn't used this in-game item, let me give it to you."

Matcha's eyes brightened and replied, "Eh? Why are you so nice?"

Roly Poly sighed, "Matcha, since the incident at the landing company, I have decided not to be calculative and live the days of chasing after materialistic gains. Now I only want to eat, sleep, lay in the sun and live like a normal cat."

"Amitabha," Roly Poly continued, "Wealth, fame, power are all just temporary. If you were like me and had spent over five thousand dollars in a month. You would understand that money ultimately is just a number. If I can sleep peacefully, that's better than anything."

As he continued, he gave his account details to Matcha and kept silent.

After Matcha finished listening, he stood up from the massage chair and was hesitant.

"This fellow, is he for real? Becoming so kind all of a sudden?"

After deliberating for a long time, he decided to give it a try.

"I won't get pregnant trying anyway."

After half an hour, Matcha was delighted. "Ha ha ha, die!"

"Hide? What's the point in hiding? Headshot from 800 metres out!"

"Bang bang bang! Watch me use my fist to destroy you!"

The next few days, Elizabeth, Rice Cake and the rest realised that Matcha's standard was rising and was able to lead them to victories.

That night, Airplane, Old Cat and even Dust Ball were behind Matcha. They cheered with delight with every kill that he made.

“Good!”

“Sir George has good skill!”

“Woah, Sir George, they didn’t even know you were there.”

Roly Poly laughed to himself as he watched the rest flatter Matcha. Uncle Egg was worried and said, “Roly Poly, after you hand over this to him, the cats would be more on his side.”

“Hm, the cliff is after the peak. This fellow’s biggest weakness is his mental strength. Remember the last time he was slightly struck down, he was looking for die? I think he would be finished for good this time.”

Roly Poly looked at his phone and continued on his micro-blog, “Cutie Fruity Tea (Matcha’s ID) is unscrupulous.”

Chapter 464: Decadence

Following the posting of the message along with the tagging of a group of famous people, more and more people began commenting.

Roly Poly laughed and didn’t bother after. Matcha was still immersed in the happiness of his 29 kill streak.

Matcha quickly realised that there were people scolding him on the chatroom. Although he was unhappy, he ignored them.

Until the next day, he realised there were more people scolding him.

In reality, there was already very little attention on him compared to other matters on the internet. There was only five or six people scolding him but it was already a huge blow to Matcha.

“Lousy streamer.”

“Aimbotter.”

“Stupid.”

Matcha continued playing gloomily. He was increasingly unhappy as he hadn't been scolded by this many people before.

Elizabeth said, “Matcha, it's okay. Now that you are popular with over a hundred spectators, next time we depend on you to earn money.”

Rice Cake urged him, “Stop talking, start another round.”

Roly Poly acted concerned, “Matcha, are you okay? Don't care about them, I believe your skills are the best.”

Matcha nodded, “Rest assured, no one will defeat me! Roly Poly, thanks.”

Roly Poly smiled and continued secretly using a nickname and commenting in the chat room, “You trash.”

Matcha's expression became worse and the next day, he changed the name of the chatroom to ‘Will you all stop scolding me only when I'm dead.’

However, the number of people scolding him increased. Matcha who hadn't been on the receiving end of these cyber bullying felt terrible.

He didn't dare to continue playing the game. However, the scolding online continued and they became worse. Gloomy Matcha then decided to stop broadcasting.

Elizabeth saw a dispirited Matcha and asked worriedly, “Are you okay?”

Matcha slowly coasted into his room and replied, “Don't bother about me, I'm just trash.”

Elizabeth said, "...This fellow, he is defeated again."

Rice Cake asked, "Don't care about what?"

Elizabeth frowned, "Leave him. It was the same the previous time he was scolded. It will alright in a few days."

Matcha's head extended from his room and said, "This feels terrible. I don't feel like living."

Matcha frowned and called Rice Cake and Roly Poly, "The three of us go ahead then."

Matcha's faint voice continued from his room, "Ah, no one cares about me. No one likes me. What's the point of living."

Elizabeth stood speechless and was about to go console Matcha, Roly Poly stood up and said, "Let me take care of Matcha. You guys go ahead and play first."

Once Roly Poly entered the room, Matcha had already lay down on his bed. He seemed to be staring at the door but once he saw someone entered, he immediately turned around.

Roly Poly frowned and patted Matcha's back, "Are you fine?"

"I am so angry," Matcha quivered, "Why are they scolding me like this."

Roly Poly said immediately, "Not all of them are scolding you." He took out his phone and changed account on his weibo, "Look, there are people who like you too."

He looked at the comments and pointed out one of them, "I believe that the broadcaster is not cheating."

Matcha was touched, "There's still people that believe in me?"

Roly Poly placed his phone in front of Matcha, "Look if you don't believe me."

Matcha briefly skimmed through and saw over ten comments scolding him. He became angrier.

Roly Poly watched Matcha making hissing sounds and he laughed to himself. Matcha then asked, “You can leave comments too?”

“How do you leave? Do you press this?”

As he watched Matcha began arguing with the commenters on Weibo and the argument became more aggressive. Roly Poly smiled with satisfaction and left quietly.

On the third day, Zhao Yao woke up and saw a sickly Matcha.

“What happened?”

Matcha was covered in a blanket on his face. His mouth was opened slightly and looked like he was close to dying. A string of mucus was also hanging from his nose.

As he saw Zhao Yao approaching, Matcha said blankly, “No one likes me. Everyone hates me.”

Zhao Yao touched his head and said, “What is going on? You played the entire night yesterday right?” Zhao Yao touched his forehead again and looked at the mucus on his face, “You’ve caught a flu. Don’t work today and have a good rest.”

At this moment, Zhao Yao’s phone rang and he answered, “Yes? Uncle Ho, what’s the matter... Hm? There’s such a thing? I don’t know too, I didn’t see that before...”

Roly Poly peeked into the room sneakily and saw the dispirited Matcha. He secretly covered his mouth and laughed.

“Hm hm, you want to compete with me? I will let you stay beyond redemption.”

Roly Poly followed behind Zhao Yao and walked away. When everyone was away, Matcha perked his ears and jumped up excitedly.

“Ha ha ha ha, I don’t need to work!”

He immediately turned on his phone and sent out a message on his social media whilst blocking Zhao Yao.

“I’m the only cat at home! Who wants to be high with me!”

He then sent a personal message to Fishball.

Matcha thought to himself, “This Fishball always proclaims that he knows a lot of females, I don’t know if that’s real or not.”

Not long after, a knock was heard from outside. Matcha opened the door excitedly and it was Yellow Mud.

Yellow Mud said with excitement, “I heard that you’re having a party here? I can eat anything I want here?” He licked his lips uncontrollably after saying that.

Matcha rolled his eyes and swivelled his head in the direction of the living room and casually said, “Come in.”

Yellow Mud rushed to the cat food containers and took a big mouth.

Half an hour later, another knock was heard. Matcha rushed over to the door, Fishball, Noodle and Spirit Cat were all here.

Matcha looked excited at who was behind them but there was only a Scottish Fold.

Fishball said, “Why are you blocking the door? This is a cat that we just met, he is called Cheese. Cheese, this is Matcha, the head of this little district. Today’s the gathering of the leaders.”

Cheese nodded at Matcha respectfully, “Hello.”

Matcha just nodded his head and led them into the house. He then approached Fishball and whispered, “Where are the females? Didn’t you say that you know a lot of super sexy and fun females? Why didn’t you bring them over?”

Fishball was taken aback, “I really thought it was a meeting for the male cats.”

“Who wants to have a meeting with you? Quickly bring the females over.”

Fishball nodded and said, “Okay okay. I will call them over.”

Chapter 465: Strategy

On the rooftop, Matcha looked at Fishball and asked, “Can it be done? You can just send an invite on your social media or send out a group message, isn’t that more convenient?”

Fishball sneered and wagged his finger, “You don’t know this then. You need to understand the females’ mentality, sending out a text? Who don’t know how to do that? Females like something special, romantic. Do you understand what’s romantic?”

Matcha thought and grabbed onto his fur, “I can send them 999 balls of my own fur?”

Fishball rolled his eyes and said, “You can’t be helped. Let me teach you how to actually pick up chicks.”

As he spoke, his paws shone brightly and streaks of light shot into the sky. An image of his head appeared in the sky.

Fishball was proud, “Can you see this? This is my signature call for females, they will come in a while.”

Matcha was shocked by the mark in the sky. He asked unconvincingly, “How do they know that this your mark of courtship?”

Fishball smiled with disdain. He took out the phone which connected the cats and dug out a note. He said, "Look at this."

Matcha looked at the note and saw that the photo on the note was exactly the same as the image that appeared just now. Along with it, there was a caption – 'A handsome shorthair is looking for his sister. He had lost contact with his sister since young and bravely grew up on the streets alone. Now that he's successful and became a wealthy cat, he just wants to find his sister. Everyday, he creates this image to search for his sister. It was said that this was her appearance when she was young...'

Matcha was curious, "You lost contact with your sister when you were young?"

"How is that possible? I don't have a sister." Fishball said with disdain, "I was inspired by a friend and thought of this idea to pick up chicks."

Matcha replied with a blank look, "Eh?"

Fishball continued, "Think about it, a handsome cat who grew up alone on the streets after losing contact with his sister. After which, he grew up to be successful and is still searching for his sister. How pitiful is that? This will immediately attract the attention of the females. When they are here, I will tell them my sister is dead and this will instantly induce their pity for me."

Matcha was a little unconvinced and said, "Is this even useful?"

Ten minutes later, a female persian cat appeared at Zhao Yao's home.

Fishball opened the door and bleakly said, "Hello"

The female persian cat replied, "Hi, are you looking for your sister?"

Fishball replied with affection, "You look really like my sister."

She replied, "Er... Actually I saw a cat in the opposite street that looked like the one in the image."

Fishball suddenly bawled and hugged the female cat. When she didn't know what was going on and was about to withdraw herself, he said with desolation, "Sorry, I am too upset and couldn't control myself."

She was curious and asked, "What's the matter?"

While bringing her in, he continued, "Three days ago, I found the family that adopted my sister but I found out half a year ago, she was already dead because of leukemia."

Looking at the bawling Fishball, the persian cat didn't know how to react, "So.. Sorry, I didn't know this happened. I..."

"Don't speak, just let me have a hug alright?" Fishball widened his watery eyes and said pitifully, "You really look like my sister."

"Oh," She was heartbroken as she hugged Fishball and consoled, "It's alright, just hug as long as you need to."

Fishball smiled to himself and displayed a victory sign at Matcha who was standing a distance away.

Matcha was shocked, "This works too?"

At this moment, the persian cat saw a handphone which was floating about mid-air. She was shocked and asked, "What's that?"

Fishball was unconcerned, "Just a silly person, don't bother."

In a void that no one else could see, Spirit Cat was holding onto the phone and recording down everything in Zhao Yao's house, especially Fishball. He made sure to have a 360 degrees recording with no blind spots.

Fishball shouted in his consciousness, "That's enough, stop filming me." He was unhappy as he thought to himself, "This damn cat, since he had the phone, all he does is take photos. Even when taking a poop, he wants to take photos."

He then floated to one side and said, “Actually you all don’t have to feel any burden. I am just a spectator who silently records everything.”

Once he left, Matcha then saw Fishball and the persian cat enter the cat’s nest. He was taken aback and at this moment, the doorbell rang. He looked at the door with anticipation and was going to open the door.

But after the few steps, he was hesitant and thought, “What if I fail, won’t I be scolded?”

Fishball’s head stuck out of the cat’s nest and gave Matcha a thumbs up, “You can do it.” At the next instant, he was dragged back into the cat’s nest by the persian cat and the whole next started vibrating.

With Fishball’s encouragement, Matcha was more spirited and ran to open the door. He saw a maroon shorthair who was observing him.

Matcha was a little nervous and spoke, “Hi, did you come here after seeing the image?”

“Er...” She observed Matcha’s head and belly and was taken aback. She was taken aback and responded, “I’m sorry, I pressed the wrong doorbell.”

As he watched her leave, Matcha felt desolate yet again.

After a while, the puffy and messy Fishball came out and looked at Matcha, “Not successful?”

Matcha was angered, “Is there a mistake, I am a Jiangmen Scottish Fold. Why did she look at me with an expression of displeasure? I can’t take this injustice.”

Fishball spoke while licking his fur, “If your appearance can’t, you need to rely on your character.”

“Character?” Matcha looked at Fishball. Suddenly when talking about picking up chicks, this fool seemed reliable.

Fishball sent the persian cat away. After over ten minutes, Matcha was wearing a pair of spectacles and was standing together with Fishball. While Matcha was wearing a pair of spectacles, Fishball wore a tie. These were bought by Zhao Yao previously for the cats to play with.

Fishball introduced Matcha to the female cat, “This is Sir George, he is a Scottish Fold which just returned from England.”

The female siamese kitten was shocked as she eyed Matcha, “You are from England?”

“Yes,” Matcha adjusted his spectacles as he spoke.

“George just returned from England and is still isn’t too familiar with Mandarin.” Fishball added, “His mother is an English shorthair while his father is a Scottish Fold. He grew up in England and lived in Cambridge for a period where he specialised in biological sciences and physics.”

Chapter 466: The Search for Sister

The siamese kitten opened her little mouth as she asked curiously, “Then why did you return here?”

Matcha loosened his shoulders and said, “Yes.”

Fishball assisted in elaborating, “His father hopes that he can return to take over the throne and he then resided beside me. He was here to borrow a book from me but little did he know he would be meeting a pretty lady like you.”

The siamese kitten smiled shyly, “You are humorous. What book does he want to borrow?”

“A brief history of time. He already had one in England but had forgotten to bring it here.” Matcha continued with an accent, “Yes, Fishball, do you have this book?”

From the cat’s toilet, a dog’s head vigorously extended out. With a face of anxiousness, he exclaimed, “Who wants to poop? Who wants to poop? I don’t know anything.”

Fishball, Matcha and the female were all taken aback. Fishball rolled his eyes and said, “Noodle, do you want to go wipe your mouth? You have messy things all over your mouth.”

Noodle was anxious, “This isn’t poop. This was when I ate cat food and it mixed with water.”

As Fishball looked at him escaping in great hurry, he answered the female’s astonished expression, “That’s our household’s sled dog.”

The siamese kitten replied, “Your household raises a dog?”

He relaxed his shoulders and replied surely, “The George family opened a snow park in Switzerland. I will be there with George every year to ski. I specially adopted one of the sled dogs from there.”

The siamese kitten answered with adoration, “You two are so kind.”

Matcha’s mouth widened in shock as he stared at Fishball. He shouted inside, “You can even come up with this?!”

Fishball replied, “Don’t spout nonsense. She is already interested in you, later you can bring her inside to talk more.”

At this moment, a rumble could be heard. Matcha looked towards the entrance and was delighted, “Another cat came?” When he turned his head, he saw a bewildered Fishball.

“What happened?”

Fishball hid in his room and shouted in his consciousness, “If a cat is looking for me, tell her I’m not around.”

Matcha nodded with uncertainty and told the female cat, “You wait for a moment, I will open the door.”

Who knew that once the door was opened, a gush of seawater pinned him on the wall.

The King of the South, Li Li, walked in. She coldly swept her eyes across the entire living room and stared at Matcha, “Where’s the scum, Fishball?”

Matcha was stunned and replied blankly, “You... You are the King of the South?” She was indeed the one who appeared in the battle and had the ability to create and control seawater.

Li Li stared coldly at him and said, “It’s good that you know who I am. You better tell me where Fishball is or I will drown you.”

“Haish,” Matcha sighed and as he looked at the water body surrounding him, he immediately pointed towards the room that Fishball entered and said, “He went in that direction.”

Li Li walked towards the room and as she passed by the siamese cat, she shot her a condescending look and said, “Slut.”

The siamese cat was angered, “Who are you scolding?”

Li Li immediately opened her mouth and spat out a mouthful of water which drenched her entire body.

“Ah!” The siamese cat was drenched and ran out with a shriek.

As he look at the escaping siamese cat which he had convinced, Matcha gasped and extended his paws in her direction. With a look of regret, he said, “Don’t go.” It was a pity that his lower body was engulfed by Li Li’s water body and he was unable to go after her.

Matcha could only watch her leave and after Li Li bashed into the room, there was incessant screams and sounds of things breaking.

A phone gradually floated towards the room which Fishball and Li Li were in. There was a faint sound that went, “Life is interesting. I must record every detail down.”

The Scottish Fold who was brought here by Fishball, Cheese, went up and shouted, “Fishball, are you okay?”

Fishball walked out bruised and replied with a bitter expression, “I am fine. I just slipped and fell.”

The water body surrounding Matcha evaporated in an instant.

Li Li smiled and said, “I’m sorry, I was too impulsive. I thought Fishball committed a mistake again.”

The individual conversations they had after that were all held in their consciousness.

Matcha looked at Li Li with shock and then stared at Fishball. He shouted at Fishball crazily in his consciousness, “Fishball? You hooked up with the King of the South?”

Fishball replied bitterly, “If I knew that she was so violent, I wouldn’t have bothered.”

Cheese directed her thoughts at Fishball, “You’ve settled this female already? Do you need me to help you with her?” Fishball had been helping him search for his sister these few days and he was immensely grateful.

Fishball immediately shook his head and replied, “It’s okay, it’s all within my control.” He patted Cheese on his shoulders and spoke to him out loud, “Cheese, don’t worry. We will definitely find your sister.”

Li Li looked at Cheese and Matcha scornfully. She then directed her thoughts at Fishball, “Two of them? Trying to use this trick to pick up chicks?”

Fishball replied, “Yes, they are trying to utilise females’ pity. They are scums and I couldn’t take it anymore so I specially came to stop them.”

Li Li warned him, “Fishball, you better stop interacting with them. If I find out that you use this method to pick up girls, I would rather die.”

Fishball’s eyes shone and shouted in his consciousness, “For real?”

“Drag you to die with me.”

Matcha, Fishball, Cheese and Li Li were standing together but were all communicating with their thoughts and had different outcomes.

Li Li glared at Matcha and Cheese and said coldly, "They look normal but are actually scums."

Fishball was angered, "Yeah, I didn't know they were like that. Li Li, let's go and leave this polluted place."

"Hold up," Li Li replied, "I want to stay here to watch."

Fishball was afraid he would be exposed and was anxious, "What do you want to watch? Let's go."

Li Li shot him a look and said, "What's the rush? I want to stay here and stop them from hurting other females."

Fishball proceeded to wipe cold sweat of his forehead.

Matcha scratched his head and couldn't figure out what was going on.

As he watched Fishball accompanying Li Li to the side to converse, he helplessly directed his thought to Fishball, "Fishball, Fishball, when are you done with her? What am I supposed to do now?"

"Don't worry," While massaging Li Li, he replied, "I have already taught you my skills of picking up chicks. You just carry on with Cheese, there won't be a problem."

Matcha nodded and replied with determination, "Okay!" He walked towards Cheese and said, "We will act together now."

Cheese nodded and smiled, "Thanks for helping me find my sister."

"Instantly in the act? Professional, Fishball's recommendation is indeed a professional." Matcha's eyes shone and continued, "Not bad, we need to try out best to find your sister."

Chapter 467: Grab what I want

After Matcha and Cheese continued finding the sister for half an hour, Matcha lay on the massage chair. He looked at the situation at the living room sternly.

Two long furred females were circling Cheese as they continuously inquired about Cheese's sister.

As he saw Cheese being much more popular, Matcha was upset, "Damn it, we are both Scottish Folds. Why is he so much more popular? Do they only care about skin colour? That's so shallow."

He then turned and look at Yellow Mud. Even this trashy cat was chatting happily with a female cat. Matcha was then even more enraged.

At the next moment, he glanced to the side and saw the husky laying expressionless on the floor and his mouth was swollen like a sausage. A female cat was standing beside and asked caringly, "Little doggy, what happened?"

Noodle replied blankly, "I'm poisoned."

The female cat was heartbroken and patted his head, "Pitiful little doggy."

Matcha was angered, "Damn it, even this dog has a cat to accompany him! Am I not even comparable to a dog?"

Fishball suddenly appeared behind him, patted him on his shoulders and said, "Don't belittle yourself, how are you not even comparable to a dog." Fishball pointed to a flying handphone and a few small female cats chasing after it.

"Ah, you are not even comparable to a phone."

Puff! Matcha clutched his chest and with a heartache, he collapsed onto his massage chair. He stared blankly at the ceiling and muttered, "I'm such a trashy, it's better that I'm dead. Next life I want to be a tiger."

Fishball sighed, “Don’t give up first. There’s a last resort.”

Matcha replied without any emotion, “What’s that?”

“Drug,” Fishball said, “You know catmint right? In this world, there’s one in two cats that like catmint. Once they consume that, they can’t think and act properly. That will be the best opportunity for you.”

Matcha instantly sat up and said, Okay, I will ask people to bring catmint over.”

At this moment, Li Li walked out from the toilet and shouted, “Fishball? Where have you been?”

“Here,” Fishball ran over immediately.

After a short while, Dust Ball stuck his head out from the extradimensional gate in Zhao Yao’s house.

Matcha instantly rushed over and said, “Dust Ball, here, here, here.”

Dust Ball surveyed the surroundings and said to Matcha, “You are the one that want goods?”

“Yes, yes, yes,” Matcha rubbed his paws together and continued, “Have you brought it over?”

Dust Ball replied calmly, “Pay up and you will receive it.”

Matcha took out of his phone and wired half the amount over. He then asked, “Where’s the goods? I want them.”

Dust Ball looked at the amount on his phone. He smiled with satisfaction. He opened his mouth widely and spat out a bag of catmint from the extradimensional belly.

“This is a fresh product that I had cultivated myself. This is much better than those in the market and I guarantee that you will be extremely high.”

Matcha extended his paw and slit open the package of catmint. He then retrieved a tiny bit of leaves and smelled it before licking it.

Immediately, a joyful expression appeared on his face, “Yes, this is good stuff.”

At this moment, a voice sounded out from inside the extradimensional belly, “What are you all doing? I’m going to tell Zhao Yao!”

Dust Ball leapt up in shock and shouted madly, “Stupid Matcha! You betrayed me?”

Matcha extended his claws and was enraged, “There’s an informant? Dust Ball, you want to drag us both down?”

“I’m not the informant.”

Dust Ball and Matcha looked in the direction of the extradimensional gate and saw a cat’s face pressed against the gate. Because Dust Ball did not give permission for any other supercats to access, the cat’s face seemed to be distorted as it pressed against the gate.

Matcha briefly exhaled, “Oh, it’s Rice Cake. Why did you put him in the extradimensional belly?”

Dust Ball exhaled too, “Zhao Yao wanted all the supercats at the shop to be able to enter the extradimensional belly. When we want to use the toilet, we will use the one in the extradimensional belly. If not we will waste Matsuo’s and Faceless’ efforts.”

Rice Cake’s head continued leaning on the gate and said, “Matcha, you’re not sick at all and you are still taking in catmint! And Dust Ball, you neglect your work during office hours, I’m going to tell Zhao Yao!”

Dust Ball immediately jumped into the extradimensional belly and covered Rice Cake’s mouth, “You want to expose us? Dream on!”

Rice Cake began struggling and let out muffled sounds.

Matcha shouted at the side, “Rice Cake, if you don’t want us to kill you, you are not allowed to speak. Do you understand?”

Rice Cake instantly kept blinking. But once Dust Ball released his grasp, Rice Cake shouted, “I want go play games at home!”

Dust Ball and Matcha exchanged a helpless glance and ended up agreeing to his request.

Hence, Rice Cake happily came out of the extradimensional gate and ran in front of the computer to being gaming.

Matcha took the catmint and started distributing them out.

After the females consumed the catmint, they either lay on the floor, rolled around or looked dazed. Matcha was instantly happy.

“It’s finally my turn.” Matcha licked his lips and headed towards a female cat. But as he was approaching, he was shot by a burst of water. He fell on the floor drenched.

“What are you doing?” Li Li coldly observed Matcha and she looked like she was ready to kill him if he said something wrong. “Let me tell you, as I’m here today, don’t dream about doing whatever you intend to.”

Matcha couldn’t stand being stared at. However, his eyes brightened and smiled, “He he, in this world, there’s no cat or human that can stop me. Because my ability is the best in this world.”

At the next moment, Li Li felt the Matcha in front of her flickered and then he sighed before lying on the ground with a look of satisfaction.

Scream could be heard from a female cat.

Li Li shouted, “What did you do?”

“He he he he,” Matcha looked at her proudly and replied calmly, “You don’t understand? You’re feeling anxious? Just try stopping me.” At the next instant, his body flickered again and a scream came from another female cat.

Li Li glared at him.

Matcha had a satisfied look and laughed, “This is my ability! Just because you are the King of the South, you can’t stop me.”

Matcha slowly stood up and continued, “I’m not the me in the past. As the strongest supercat in the world, I don’t need any morals, rules or methods! I only need my own ability to achieve what I want to!”

He laughed maniacally, “Whatever I want! I will take it myself!”

Chapter 468: I’m Done

After hearing that boisterous laugh, Li Li felt a gush of energy rush to her head. Even though she did not know what Matcha did, she still felt very disgusted.

As Li Li was about to act again, Fishball stopped her and said, “That’s enough. Don’t lower yourself to her level, he’s been single for too long and turned crazy.”

Rice Cake was happily playing his game and someone unknowingly appeared beside her. It was Cheese who was finding his sister.

This Scottish Fold observed Rice Cake’s ears and went up to the front to face Rice Cake. He carefully observed his face and his eyes gradually became brighter.

Rice Cake couldn’t stand being stared at for much longer and spoke, “What are you looking at, what’s so nice to look at.”

Cheese was taken aback and replied, “On your rear paw, is there a heart-shaped birthmark?”

Rice Cake was angered, "When did you look at my paw?"

Cheese smiled warmly and tried to imitate him but Rice Cake waved him off.

Cheese shook his head. After looking at Rice Cake's angry expression, Cheese wasn't angered but he replied even more gently, "Only with such an attitude can she survive in this world."

He pitifully look at her paw, "I didn't steal a look at your paw. I know your birthmark because I am your brother."

Rice Cake looked at Cheese with shock, "Brother?"

"Yes, have you forgotten?" Cheese replied slowly, "When we couldn't remember, we were already abandoned. We didn't even know where father and mother had went already. The two of us lived together. But once when I went out to search for food, you were gone when I returned."

Rice Cake frowned, "I seemed to remember that for a bit."

Cheese continued, "You are 19 months old right? Your favourite is mutton right? You had fractured your tail before and that was because some cat had bitten it before when we were on the streets..."

As Cheese continued describing in detail, Rice Cake was further in shock. All these pieces of information could be individually known by the other cats but no cat would know all of them. There was only one possibility.

Rice Cake was angered, "You investigated about me? Did you follow me? That's disgusting." Rice Cake simply could not remember having a brother.

Cheese replied helplessly, "Before we were separated, you weren't awaken. You were still small, perhaps that's why you don't remember but I'm telling you the truth. Are you called Rice Cake now? Rice Cake, follow me."

Rice Cake frowned, "I have no interest." She continued looking at her screen, "You go away, don't interrupt me."

Cheese looked at the screen and didn't understand what was the fun about the moving characters.

Cheese said sternly, "Rice Cake, I know that perhaps couldn't accept this in such a short time, but I need you to leave with me."

He looked at Matcha and the rest who were still arguing, he sighed, "This world is changing rapidly and there is a huge potential for supercats. Although your buddies are good but they are simply too weak for the dangerous future. If you stay in a human city with them, it's extremely unsafe."

Rice Cake rolled her eyes and as she thought about Zhao Yao's power while playing her game, she said, "I already feel safe enough."

"No, you don't understand. In such a safe environment, you are unaware of the drastic and rapid changes on the outside." Cheese looked at Matcha and Cheese who was lying on the sofa.

Matcha was introduced as the champion supercat in the competition by Fishball. This proclaimed King of Jiangmen City was actually weak. His ability was merely teleportation.

As for Fishball, even though they had a great time these few days and he claimed that he was king of a district, his ability was a joke.

There was not much to say about the other cats who could fly or be invisible and even the speaking dog.

Dust Ball's ability to open the teleportation door was interesting but in combat, it was simply too weak in battle.

Rice Cake's buddies were great, they were interesting, friendly and were happy together. Cheese liked them.

However good they were, they were too weak. As they were domestic cats for too long, they weren't aggressive anymore. As they just lived without a purpose, Rice Cake would follow them and became weak like a city cat.

With the changes ingoing, they would not be able to protect Rice Cake. She had to leave with him.

Furthermore, the operation on Cat Island had already started. There wasn't time to convince, the next time they would understand why he was doing this.

Cheese did not deliberate anymore. With a tap on the floor, the floor beneath him became floating and wrapped Rice Cake in a stone. With a thud, it knocked the wall open and flew out.

Matcha and Dust Ball were shocked at what they saw and exclaimed, "What are you doing?!"

Cheese did not care about them but instead looked in the direction of Fishball and Noodle who had accompanied him these few days.

"Fishball, Noodle, if you all stay here, you will be exterminated. Follow me, you will be grateful in the future."

After he finished, the pieces of floor flew up and encompassed the two of them too and flew out like shooting stars.

"What are you doing!" Li Li howled. Gushes of water were directed from her mouth to Cheese.

In terms of brute force, Li Li had sufficient energy as her water power was that of a tsunami.

However, in terms of speed, she was subpar as compared to Cheese.

Bursts of water were struck onto Cheese. The floor beneath him flew up with a whizz. With a whole bunch of smashed rocks, the wall flew into the sky.

However, Nekomata retaliated. The powerful phantom grabbed onto Cheese and hung onto him.

Li Li's bursts of water then struck him.

"Psychokinesis and control of water? You are more powerful than I thought." Cheese muttered, "But that's all, the world outside is much more vast than this small little place."

Cheese's mouth opened slightly and revealed a little pebble that was held in his mouth. The pebble shone. Nekomata and Li Li felt a burst of energy emanating from him which dismantled their resistance.

The room was torn into two and half of it flew up to a height of a hundred metres as it carried onto the rocks of Rice Cake, Fishball and Noodles and flew in the direction of the East China Sea.

Streaks of water surrounded Li Li as she furiously gave chase.

Matcha and Dust Ball were stunned as they witnessed the destruction. The floor was smashed, the walls were cracked and the outer walls were blown apart along with the furniture.

The female cats shrieked and escaped upon this sight.

Matcha fell onto the ground. He stared at the sight and said dejectedly, "Fishball, I am done."

Chapter 469: Exchange of Intelligence

When Zhao Yao exited from the extradimensional belly, Matcha felt time came to a standstill.

"Zhao... Zhao Yao..." Matcha muttered, "I was lying in bed resting when someone bashed in and took Rice Cake away!"

Zhao Yao stared gloomily at the wreckage. He frowned and questioned, "Who did this?"

"A Scottish Fold," Matcha replied, "He claimed that he was Rice Cake's brother and wanted to bring her away. Of course I disagreed and tried my best to stop him. I managed to grab him in the face..."

"Stop talking nonsense," Zhao Yao knelt on the floor and observed the footprint. He twitched his nose and asked, "Did a lot of cats come here?"

"Uh..." Matcha panicky replied, "I was sick, a lot of my friends came over to visit. Zhao Yao, you know I have a lot of connections..."

Zhao Yao glared at him and said, "I will settle with you after investigating on this matter."

Matcha immediately heaved a sigh of relief as he survived temporarily.

Zhao Yao walked around and touched the cracked walls, exploded pipes and the water puddles, footprints. He sniffed and asked, "Fishball and Noodle was here too?"

"Yes," Matcha replied, "They specially came to visit me and they were taken away too by this damn Scottish Fold. There was Li Li too who went after him."

At this moment, Zhao Yao saw a mission the tablet.

Task: Save cats and capture the culprit!

Mission: Save your cats! Make the culprit compensate for your repair fees, mental damage compensation, recuperation fees along with 108 others.

Reward: 2000 experience points

Punishment for failing to complete: None

As he looked at the content, Zhao Yao nodded contently. The Book was still fair and perfectly described his request.

Zhao Yao turned and looked at Matcha, "Where's he now? And where's Nekomata?"

Matcha was slightly taken aback, "I don't know. When Cheese escaped, Nekomata disappeared too."

"The security of this house is too low. Looks like after this, I am going to change a house. But before that, that cat named Cheese is dead." Zhao Yao said sternly.

After listening to Matcha's replied, he thought as he rubbed his chin, "This Nekomata chased him? It seems like I can't connect with him, let me try to find..."

...

One day during the winter vacations, Xiao Yu was back home after playing with her friends. She opened the front door and shouted, "Fishball, Noodle, help me keep the clothes."

However after her calling, they didn't appear.

"Eh? What happened? Where did they go?" Xiao Yu walked to the front of the table and opened her homework. She casually flipped through them and was enraged, "Damn it, these two fellows. Didn't I ask them to help me copy? They didn't even do anything, did they go out to play?"

Xiao Yu picked up her phone, wore her coat and ran to the district to search for them but still didn't managed to after some time.

At this moment, her phone rang and she saw that it was Zhao Yao calling her/

"Zhao Yao? Why did you call me?"

Zhao Yao replied, "Xiao Yu, your cat and dog were taken away. Nekomata should be chasing them. Can you contact him?"

Zhao Yao rushed through his message and with the information he conveyed, Xiao Yu was stunned for a moment. "What did you say? A cat captured my cat and dog!?"

"Yes," Zhao Yao replied, "You try to connect with Nekomata to locate them. I will call you in a while."

After hanging up, Zhao Yao called Uncle Ho and described in detail.

After hanging up the call, Zhao Yao's handphone rang. He answered, "How's it?"

Xiao Yu shouted, "It didn't go through."

Zhao Yao focused and said, "With his ability, he wouldn't be caught. It should be that he haven't found the opportunity to link up with us."

Xiao Yu panicked, "Ah? What should we do?"

Afterall, Xiao Yu was still a student. Her cat and dog were missing all of a sudden and it was understandable that she was anxious.

"Don't panic. They can't escape." Zhao Yao looked at his phone and said, "I pick up a call first. Let's talk later."

Uncle Ho's call came through, "We captured some images at the East China Sea. Check if it was your captured cat."

Zhao Yao was shocked, "Taken from the East China Sea? Would this have to do with the fog?"

A vast area of fog had appeared on the East China Sea recently. Those who have entered have lost connections. Before this, Uncle Ho had sought advice from him and he had agreed to take a look in the next few days.

He opened his messenger and looked at the photos Uncle Ho sent. There were three stones and a large roof travelling across the sky.

Zhao Yao squinted and placed the photo in front of Matcha and asked, "Is this the cat?"

Matcha instantly jumped and shouted, "That's him! That's him! That's him!"

Zhao Yao dialed Uncle Ho's number and said, "Don't tell me that they have entered the fog?"

Uncle Ho felt helpless and answered, "It seemed so."

Zhao Yao nodded and replied, "I understand. I will go into the fog later to find the cats. You let me know the location of it."

Uncle Ho was delighted. They have tried multiple methods to investigate this fog but to no avail. Now that Zhao Yao was willing to do it, that was the best.

As he spoke, he lowered his head and saw police cars outside his window. There were also residents who were pointing around and he said, "Oh yes, my house was under attack and police came. Help me find people to lockdown the area and don't let anyone enter."

After finishing his conversation with Uncle Ho, he called Xiao Yu, "Hello, I sort of know their whereabouts. Did you manage to contact Nekomata?"

"He didn't reply," Xiao Yu was still anxious and asked, "Where did they go?"

Zhao Yao frowned and thought to himself. There was no reply now probably because while Nekomata was following him and to not reveal himself, he did not initiate any contact. With the opponent's ability, it would still be extremely hard to capture him even if he was invisible the whole way.

But Nekomata didn't know that once he entered the fog, he would lose all connections with the outside world.

Til here, Zhao Yao looked at Xiao Yu and said, "Don't worry. Just stay at home, I will rescue them back."

"No! I want to follow you! Besides rescuing Fishball and Noodle, the culprit needs to compensate us! I didn't even do my homework when I left to find the cats!"

Chapter 470: The Flight and Cat Island

Zhao Yao muttered, "... don't worry, I'll get everything back for you."

This was not the answer Xiao Yu wanted as she refuted anxiously, “No way! You have to bring me along! I am a minor! I will make a difference during the crucial moments!”

As Xiao Yu’s exasperated voice continued to echo in Zhao Yao’s ears, a body of black gas had already agglomerated before his very eyes. Piece by piece, Xiao Yu had materialized before him.

Evidently, she had rushed over the moment she received this piece of traumatic news.

“This is not a plea, it is an instruction! Bring me along!” Rage poisoned her veins as she continued reasoning, “Do you know that no power is capable of capturing me if I choose to hide from them? I will catch that outrageous thief with my very own hands!”

Seeing his favorite exclamation mark floating above Xiao Yu’s head, Zhao Yao grudgingly gave in to her, “Since you’re so adamant to contribute to this effort, I shall just bring you along then.”

Those words were music to Xiao Yu’s ears as a wide grin stretched across her face, “So you’re agreeing to bring me along?”

With his eyes staring intently at the exclamation mark, Zhao Yao nodded his head, “You want me to help you, don’t you?”

“What are you trying to say?” Xiao Yu asked with her forehead furrowed together, “Why I do feel as if you are talking to someone else?”

Zhao Yao interrupted her, “Just stop your blabbering. The expert here is bringing you along to catch the cat thief. He is asking if you want to board the car.”

“Yes, I want!”

Zhao Yao accepted the mission instantly. Consequently, the mission panel reflected the corresponding changes.

Mission: Help Xiao Yu find Fish Ball and Noodle

Objective: Assist an elementary school student in her search for her beloved pets and catch the thief responsible for it. Make him apologize to Xiao Yu specifically.

Reward: 1000 experience points

Punishment: Nil

Zhao Yao nodded his head with a contented glee shining on his face, “One mission, two rewards. I guess this isn’t that bad after all.”

By stretching his mouth wide open, Matcha immediately leaped into it and entered the extradimensional belly. With that, Zhao Yao also stepped into the invisible extradimensional gates as his body whizzed forward.

“Follow me.”

Xiao Yu morphed into her invisible spirit form and followed closely behind his nephew. She asked, “Where are we going?”

A calm voice rang in her ears, “Don’t worry. Just follow me. The professional will lead the way. Your only responsibility is to clap for me when it’s all done.”

...

Meanwhile, Cheese and the three levitating rocks had traversed across the vast sky and noticed the giant body of fog looming towards him.

However, he was no stranger to this. In fact, he was extremely familiar with it. With no hesitation at all, he plunged headfirst into this mysterious object.

However, a magical thing occurred the moment he dove in. The body of fog directly ahead of him began to spiral to the side as a narrow passage emerged. It seemed as if it was guiding Cheese forward.

Moments later, Cheese descended on a beautiful island along with the rocks.

A tiny shadow was seen sprinting across the sandy beaches from afar. It was actually a Dragon Li which welcomed Cheese with a wide grin, “My brother, you have finally returned? Have you managed to find your sister?”

“Kimchi brother, I have found my sister!” Both cats jumped forward and embraced each other in a warm hug, “Other than my sister, I also brought along two new brothers. However, they still do not understand ...”

Kimchi cut him off with a thunderous bellow as he reasoned, “I understand. After all, weren’t we all like them when we first arrived on the island? It’s only a matter of time before they come to their senses. Then, they’ll thank us for everything.”

The two cats sauntered along the beach with three rocks levitating behind them. These three rocks were none other than the restrained Fish Ball, Noodle, and Rice Cake.

A few minutes later, the duo once again bypassed another layer of thick fog before arriving at a beautiful creek. This place was astounding. It was blessed with perpetual spring, rewarding the inhabitants with weather that most could only dream of.

Supercats could be seen all over the place. Some of them were running around while others lazed beneath the canopy of the Eucalyptus trees. Others were chasing butterflies as their agile bodies pranced across the landscaped vistas.

In the far corner stood rows and rows of tiny cottages lined neatly against one another. It was a small village. It was also where the supercats lived. You could even spot traces of humans’ shadow weaving through it. It seemed like they were either feeding the cats or playing with them.

Even Cheese had to draw in a long breath as he took in this amazing scenery, “This is beautiful! This is our country! I don’t know why but I always get butterflies fluttering in my stomach the moment I look at this place in its entirety.”

Kimchi, who stood by his side, laughed along and reminded him, “Let’s continue walking and meet Cat Sage. The sage has been expecting you for quite some time.”

“Wait a second.” He glanced at the three rocks behind him as a thin crack appeared down the middle of the rock, exposing the beautiful surroundings to them.

Fish Ball's deafening howls punctured the serenity, "Cheese, you've got the wrong guy! My owner is just a penniless elementary school student! Her allowance is less than RMB 100. There is no way you can get any money out of her!"

Noodle's clumsy fingers traced the curvature of his sausage lips as he demanded, "Can you send me to a hospital? The pain is getting worse by the second!"

Rice Cake rammed her head against the tiny crack as she screamed, "Cheese, you b*stard! What do you want from me? Quickly! Let me out this instant!"

Inundated with their awful screams, Cheese simply responded with a nonchalant smile. He then directed their attention to the gorgeous sight before them and explained, "The cities which humans live in are not your true homes. Do you see it? This is a cat's true home, our heaven. This is where we truly belong."

Cheese and Kimchi continued making their way towards the village while introducing the spectacles in front of them.

It was not a huge island. In the past, no one lived on it. It was as good as a deserted island.

Hence, even though it was currently inhabited by intelligent super-cats, it was still completely devoid of electricity or internet. Everything here was more primitive and rustic.

However, the cats living here did not mind at all. They were contented with the nature surrounding them.

"This kind of backward farming village ..." Rice Cake scoffed as she noticed a cat burying its feces with layers of soil. Suddenly, terror flashed in her eyes as she shouted, "Don't tell me that there is no wifi in this place!"

Cheese was stunned by her sudden wrath and asked, "Wi what? What are you talking about?"

Evidently, Cheese had spent the majority of his time on this island since awakening. Hence, he had no clue what these phones and computers which they spoke of were. Even after spending the past few days with Fish Ball, he was still perplexed by these gadgets that flooded the human world.

Those words echoed in Rice Cake's ears like those bone-chilling nightmares. Words failed her at that moment as she uttered the word which succinctly described her predicament, "F*ck!"

...

Zhao Yao and Xiao Yu were making a beeline towards the fog region.

However, Zhao Yao's heart skipped a beat the moment they came to the vast sea.

"Wait a moment!" Zhao Yao threw his hand forward, stopping Xiao Yu from continuing forward. His wary eyes began to examine his surroundings in an attempt to identify the source of his uneasiness.

Since earning more powers with 'five is better than four', Zhao Yao had enjoyed significant improvements to his observation and perceptive skills. They had proved to be rather handy the past few times.

Hence, he was extremely confident in his abilities. Currently, the tremendous threat which he felt was unprecedented. It felt as if someone had wrapped their hands around his heart and started squeezing against it.

However, he just couldn't seem to identify the source despite how hard he tried.

"What's going on?" Zhao Yao stared at the boundless sea as worry started to creep into him, "Why can't I find it? Is this the effect of a certain superpower?"

Xiao Yu was confused by Zhao Yao's behavior and asked, "What happened, Zhao Yao? What are you searching for?"

Suddenly, both their expressions changed in unison as their eyes met a beach hidden beyond the vast sea.

At the start, they noticed some obvious vibrations down the coastlines. Because of the moving of the tectonic plates beneath the sea, a giant wave emerged and came crashing towards the coastlines.

However, this anomaly disappeared as quickly as it came.

Zhao Yao was stunned, “Is this an earthquake?” He was struck with a bad feeling, “I hope not.”