

Am I A God 51

Chapter 51: The End

The killer cat was on the verge of death.

Even though its body could mutate and transform itself, but there was a limit to it. Each transformation required a vast amount of energy to mutate the muscles and bone structure. Even though it possessed self-recovery, it was not as powerful as regeneration.

If the killer cat possessed the power of regeneration during the fight, it would be able to transform itself without any side effects, and it would be at least ten times stronger than what it was now.

However, there was no 'if' in reality. The killer cat was getting destroyed by the masked man, and it was an undisputable fact.

The killer cat was shielding its head with its arms as it stood there while Zhao Yao continued his attack. It had almost lost its consciousness and was only standing there based on pure willpower. Lin Chen rushed towards Zhao Yao and shouted, "Stop it! If you continue attacking it, it will die!"

Zhao Yao turned around and replied, "It had already killed so many people. Doesn't it deserve to die too?"

Most of the time, a human's courage was proportional to his strength, status, and experience.

If this happened a few months ago and Zhao Yao was in the same situation, he would not have acted in this manner.

It had been a few months since Zhao Yao had received the power to freeze and manipulate time, and he felt that societal norms no longer restricted his actions.

The laws in society were only effective in controlling people's action under normal circumstances.

However, the apostles who had received superpower were able to transcend these boundaries, and arbitrary laws no longer controlled their actions.

It was like how gambling rules were rendered irrelevant when faced with the power of time manipulation. Similarly, it was like how facial recognition was rendered irrelevant when identifying the killer cat.

When faced with Zhao Yao, who possessed the combined power of Match and Elizabeth, the laws of society could not control or govern him. The only thing that could do so was his moral principles.

Lin Chen replied to Zhao Yao, "Only the judge can sentence it to death. If you kill it today, you will be a murderer. Then, what's the difference between you and the killer cat?!"

Zhao Yao gave him a cold stare and replied, "R*tard."

As they were speaking, Zhao Yao stopped time again as he retrieved the foldable knife from his pocket.

When he decided to go for a patrol today, his purpose was to catch the killer cat. Hence, it was only natural for him to have the foldable knife in his pocket and now was time for him to end its life.

Lin Chen saw Zhao Yao waved his hand a few times and the killer cat was massacred with countless punctures in its body. Suddenly, a lot of blood gushed out of its body as it fell to the floor.

"It's over," Zhao Yao said calmly as he inspected the killer cat's body.

At the next moment, Zhao Yao saw its body turned into an infinite number of starlight as it floated in the air.

"This is..." Zhao Yao looked at it warily as he was afraid that it was using another of its power.

As the body vanished into thin air and flesh and blood of the killer cat disappeared before their eyes, a kitten's body appeared.

The kitten was curled up, and the main difference between it and other kittens was the countless scars on its body.

Its tail was broken; its back was deformed. There were also visible burnt marks on its chin and front legs. It also had a pair of black eyes which had never seen the light.

These were the product of the torture that the killer cat had experienced before it awakened its superpower.

This was its true form. All the other forms, be it the different humans or the monster were just armor that it had conjured using its power.

Its true body had gone through too much mutilation that it could not even recover with the power of regeneration.

It seemed like the killer cat could sense what was happening as it opened its mouth. Unlike the voice in its monster form, its original voice was crisp and clear.

It said, "Humans, between the both of us ... there can never be true peace; my death is only the beginning."

"Kill me... Just kill me."

"Only one of us can be alive. If not, constant fighting ensues..."

Bam! As it was speaking halfway, an explosion occurred, and the remains of its body had all turned into starlight. Its body had disappeared entirely. Until now, Zhao Yao still did not know its name.

Zhao Yao was staring at the starlight when he started to frown. Nobody knew what he was thinking.

Elizabeth seemed slightly sad and lost as she saw the body disappeared before her. She looked towards Zhao Yao and said, "Thank you. We have exacted revenge for granny. However, why am I not happy at all?"

"Hmm," Zhao Yao muttered as he was thinking about the killer cat's last words.

Elizabeth's ears started to twitch as she looked towards the northern sky. She immediately walked towards Zhao Yao and rubbed her furry body against his legs and said, "Zhao Yao, we should be leaving."

Sounds of propeller rotating were coming from afar. If you gazed upon the northern night sky, you would have seen a group of helicopter flying towards them. They were the military reinforcements.

Lin Chen was stunned by what he saw. In the meantime, Zhao Yao had activated his power to stop time and had disappeared from the scene. All that was left were the aftermath of the battle, a heavily injured Lin Chen and ...

"Hmmm," Xiao Shi Yu was in a daze when she stood up. Her body had already recovered from her previous injuries.

"What happened?"

Members of the town council were busy with the restoration works for the subsequent days. The official explanation by the government for the incident was an explosion in the gas pipeline.

However, there were all sorts of rumors and speculations among the public. Some claimed that they saw monsters fighting while others said that it was the work of terrorists.

However, the majority of the residents failed to notice one thing: the girl who used to go around feeding the stray cats in the district had disappeared.

Zhao Yao also spent a lot of time locating the supercat which had the power of regeneration. However, he was unsuccessful. It was as if it had disappeared and was nowhere to be found.

...

A few weeks later, Zhao Yao was in a shopping center's toilet and was scrolling through his WeChat groups.

As he was scrolling through, he noticed Matcha had posted one set of Sun Wu Kong's game skins from Mobile Legends and left a comment, "Quickly leave a like."

A few comments followed it.

Elizabeth commented, "The skins look rather cheap."

Chubby Luban Assassin commented, "Trash skins. If you have the guts, let's have another one on one."

Roly Poly commented with a crying emoji.

The WeChat group had been active as of late, and a few new members were added to the group.

Zhao Yao thought as he left his comment at the bottom, "Aren't you supposed to be on guard duty? Why are you playing Mobile Legends?" He ended the comment with an angry emoji.

Chapter 52: The Shopping Mall

Zhao Yao decided to come to this shopping mall tonight because of some news he saw on the internet. The rumor said that many items had been stolen; some even disappeared right in front of the shop attendant's eyes. The public had regarded it as a supernatural event.

However, Zhao Yao knew that a supercat was behind all of it and he wanted to find it.

He was hiding in the toilet while he waited for the shopping mall to close for the day.

Initially, he sent Matcha out to check on the situation, but it seemed like he was busy playing Mobile Legends and even bought new game skins.

The thing which irked Zhao Yao the most was the fact that Matcha even bought game skins when he was supposed to help check on the situation in the mall.

Zhao Yao left a message on the WeChat group, “Where did you get the money to buy your game skins? Did you steal the money from my Alipay account?”

Matcha did not bother to reply Zhao Yao, and this infuriated him. He decided to leave the toilet and teach Matcha a lesson.

...

Zhao Yao was hiding in the bathroom while waiting for the shopping mall to close. Meanwhile, Matcha was busy playing with his phone on a massage chair on the fifth level of the shopping mall.

The fur on his skin was as radiant as ever, and he looked like he had put on some weight since the last time. It was definitely because of his luxurious lifestyle and his lazy habits.

Beside the phone in his paws, he also had a tiny green-colored haversack. Zhao Yao only gave in to his request for that bag after he pleaded umpteen times.

The only benefit for giving Matcha a bag was to allow him to keep his phone inside it. In doing so, he could bring his phone out wherever he went. This had made bringing Match out for missions a much more straightforward task for Zhao Yao. If not, he would just stay at home and refused to take a step out.

At that moment, Matcha was lying comfortably on the massage chair while playing Mobile Legends; he did not notice the notification from his WeChat group.

Matcha was using Sun Wu Kong in the game and managed to defeat the opponent’s Luban with three strikes. It chuckled and said, “Hahaha, I’ve finally found the hero that suits me the most! This is the hero that I’ve always meant to use!”

The massage chair started to work on Matcha’s body as it gently massaged his neck. Matcha closed his eyes to enjoy the massage as he mumbled, “This massage is so much better than the ones from Zhao Yao and Mango. I should get Zhao Yao to buy me a massage chair when I get home.”

Suddenly, a woman’s scream echoed throughout the shopping mall as she saw Matcha lying comfortably on the massage chair while using his phone. She immediately fished out her phone to live stream the incident while she pointed her finger at Matcha in shock.

“Everyone! Do you see it? A cat! A cat is playing with a phone!”

However, when Jin Jia Jia turned her head to look at the massage chair again, the fat and lazy cat had disappeared.

She looked at her phone’s camera and continued, “Everyone! Did you see it? There really was a LiHua cat here just now, but it suddenly disappeared. There is something supernatural going on here, and we are here to find out.”

She turned around to the Fu Er Dai at her side and asked, “Xiao Ming, did you see it? There is something wrong with this shopping mall! How can such a fat cat just disappear like that and it was playing with its phone. I saw it playing with its phone.”

In another corner of the shopping mall, Matcha had just placed his phone into his bag while he walked into the darkness, with his butt swinging from left to right. After hearing Jin Jia Jia’s comments about him, Matcha grumbled, “Tsk, don’t you know that all LiHua cats are this fat? I’m already considered skinny for my species.”

The people who saw Matcha were Jin Jia Jia, a broadcaster on a streaming site, and Xiao Ming, a Fuerdai. They came here to investigate the reason behind the supernatural events that had occurred.

After the previous villa expedition, Jin Jia Jia had participated in multiple supernatural adventures and lived streamed it to her viewers.

News regarding supercats had received more attention recently. Consequently, supernatural happenings had become the hot topic. With her pretty face and her nerve-racking live streams of these events, Jin Jia Jia’s popularity had slowly been on the rise. Her average viewership was as high as one hundred thousand viewers per video.

Matcha’s sudden appearance and disappearance had created a furor on her live streaming site. Netizens left a barrage of comments regarding their speculations for what happened.

Xiao Ming’s face suddenly turned pale as he replied Jin Jia Jia, “You’re right, I also saw the cat.”

Since he last saw Zhao Yao used his superpower to get rid of the ghosts, Xiao Ming had been intrigued by everything supernatural-related. He had tagged along Jin Jia Jia in most of her supernatural expeditions.

Even though he was not as courageous as Jin Jia Jia, his financial support had helped her live streaming career significantly.

This shopping mall actually belonged to Xiao Ming's family, and they were only allowed entry into it after operating hours because of Xiao Ming's connections.

Jin Jia Jia looked at the camera and said sternly, "Dear friends and viewers, we have a devil cat in this shopping mall. Both Xiao Ming and I will look around and see if we can find it."

Before searching for long, they heard footsteps coming from afar.

The sound of the leather shoes hitting the floor was amplified by the large and dark shopping mall. Both Jin Jia Jia and Xiao Ming looked at each other and immediately went into hiding behind a counter.

"What is happening? I've already told the security guards to stop patrol for the night."

Jin Jia Jia stared with excitement as she said, "Could it be? Could it be the thing that we've been waiting for?"

Xiao Ming's face turned pale, and his entire forehead was drenched in cold sweat. His behavior was like a child watching a horror movie. Even though he was eager to explore the supernatural elements, yet would piss his pants when encountered with the actual thing.

When he saw the excited look on Jin Jia Jia face, he could not help but said, "Can you stop acting all excited and thrilled?" He took out his phone, got ready the number 110 and continued, "If anything happens, I'll call the police immediately."

"Why are you so scared?" Jin Jia Jia asked scornfully, "Let me see who it is." As she was speaking, she slowly stood up with the camera above her head.

"Everyone, let's take a look at who's here."

Jin Jia Jia carefully inched towards the top of the counter to take a look. Meanwhile, Xiao Ming was frantically holding onto the edge of her shirt, praying that the person did not spot them.

All of a sudden, the footsteps stopped, and the shopping mall was enveloped in silence.

The suffocating silence turned Xiao Ming's face paler than ever. He tried to swallow his saliva to soothe his nerves as he tightened his grip on Jin Jia Jia 's shirt.

The streaming site was bombarded with messages.

“I saw a girl in red dress.”

“Jia Jia, someone is sitting on your shoulder.”

“Jia Jia, you're getting prettier by the day.”

Jin Jia Jia could not be bothered by the comments as she scanned her surroundings in search of the source of the footsteps.

Suddenly, a voice erupted from behind them.

“Why is it the two of you again?”

Chapter 53: Divide and Conquer

Xiao Ming's expression suddenly changed when he heard the voice from the back of his head. He screamed in fear as he tried to escape from that person.

However before he managed to move, he was stopped by the person behind him.

“Hey, hey, hey, it's me, what are you so afraid of?”

Jin Jia Jia turned around to see Zhao Yao with an annoyed look on his face.

Zhao Yao was equally shocked by this situation. In reality, he walked towards the both of them when the time froze which gave Xiao Ming such a big scare. However, Zhao Yao did not use his power at all, which meant that something happened to Matcha which triggered the power.

He thought, “How troublesome. It seems like it would be better if Matcha and I worked together for our future missions. If either of us went solo, our shared power might interfere and affect the other party.”

Jin Jia Jia tilted her camera towards Zhao Yao and exclaimed excitedly, “Master, it’s you! Did you come here to catch the devil cat too?”

Meanwhile, the live streaming site was flooded with comments again.

“Xiao Ming, you’re a joke.”

“Two hundred thousand people saw you bawling like a kid.”

“Here comes the actor.”

Xiao Ming gave an awkward smile as he asked Zhao Yao, “Master since you are here, does it mean that something is wrong with this place?”

Zhao Yao blinked and replied, “Hmm, there seems to be a small problem. You mentioned devil cat?”

Hence, Jin Jia Jia explained what she saw just now, “... within the blink of an eye, the LiHua cat had disappeared. It vanished into thin air. Isn’t that the devil cat that you are trying to catch?”

After hearing Jia Jia’s description, Zhao Yao knew that she was referring to Matcha and said, “Yeah, I think I’m looking for that cat.”

Xiao Ming was in awe of Zhao Yao, and he requested, “Master, please let me help you. I’m quite familiar with this place.”

Jia Jia added, "This mall belongs to Xiao Ming's family. This is his childhood playground."

Zhao Yao's expression immediately changed after hearing those words.

"The previous villa must have cost at least one to two hundred million RMB. This mall is situated within the central district which means that it cost at least a few billion RMB." Zhao Yao stared at Xiao Ming in astonishment.

"What the f*ck! Why do I feel like his entire body is coated in gold?"

"He is the real tycoon. Will he give me a pile of cash, worship me and even appoint me as an elder or something? He might even build a house for me. The previous villa seemed pretty comfortable."

After his daydream, Zhao Yao continued, "Alright, you guys can tag along. I'll take care of you."

Xiao Ming nodded his head excitedly. All this while, Xiao Ming's decision to participate in this supernatural adventure was because he wanted to learn some magic and spells from a master but not to find spirits and ghosts.

Hence, the three of them commenced their patrol, in search of the supercat.

Meanwhile, Matcha was running around the entire mall after he got rid of Jia Jia. Finally, he decided to take a break on a sofa.

He rolled around the sofa before he stopped to groom himself using his white paws. He then fished out his phone from his bag.

"Hmm, let's see how many of my friends left a like."

He was scrolling through his WeChat messages when he chanced upon Zhao Yao's message. His body froze, and there were chills down his spine.

“F*ck. Didn’t I already block Zhao Yao on WeChat?” Match scratched his head and grumbled, “I’m finished. Once he finds me, he’ll ask me where the source of my money is, and he will discover my stash of cash is with Roly Poly, and he will take all my money away from me.”

“How? What am I supposed to do?”

Matcha was deep in thought as he regretted not blocking Zhao Yao on WeChat.

“No, calm down. Matcha, you have to calm down.”

He began to lie down and licked the fur on his legs.

Grooming themselves was an incredibly relaxing and enjoyable activity for cats. Doing so allowed Matcha to compose himself and think logically.

After rounds of frantic licking, Matcha was finally calm.

“Let me think...Hmm, I can just say that someone gave it to me.”

“However, I must seal Roly Poly’s mouth. I guess I’ll just buy him some KFC chicken,” Matcha shook his head and continued, “No, KFC is too expensive. I remember there was another fast food chain called OFC. The chicken seems similar, but it’s way cheaper than KFC.”

While he was contemplating what to bribe Roly Poly with, he suddenly noticed something different in front of him, “I remember there was a dustbin right here.”

He blinked his eyes and turned his head around and stared at another patch of emptiness, “Hmm, there was a counter here.”

Suddenly, Matcha fell to the floor with a loud thump as the sofa he was resting on disappeared.

“F*ck, who is it?” Matcha turned around to see both his bag and phone had been taken away.

“F*CK!” Matcha stood up with all his fur standing on end. He had a vicious look on his face as he continued, “I don’t care who you are, but you have picked the wrong cat to mess with.”

At the next moment, Matcha activated his power as a potted plant in front of him disappeared.

After freezing time, Matcha dashed towards the spot where the potted plant stood. He scanned the surrounding and spotted a small figure hiding behind a pillar.

However, Matcha spent too much time locating his enemy and time had resumed before he was able to capture it. The small figure had already run away.

“Stop running,” Matcha shouted as he chased after the small figure, “Whoever who runs is a dog.”

However, the small figure did not seem to understand Matcha’s words as it burrowed its way into a clothing store.

If it were Zhao Yao giving chase, he would have lost track of the small figure because of all the obstacles in his way.

Even though Matcha was fatter than before, he still maintained his original agility and was able to keep up with the small figure. Matcha activated his power again after 6 seconds.

“As if I’ll let you escape.”

Chapter 54: The Tussle

One small body was lying underneath a bunch of hangers as Matcha stopped time again.

Matcha finally had a good look at the cat’s face.

It was a tiny black kitten which was as big as a human’s palm. From the looks of it, it was only 2 or 3 months old. Because of its black fur, Matcha could only differentiate its eyes from its shadow.

“Wadawadawadawadawadawada!”

During the time freeze, Matcha vented all his frustration on the kitten as he landed multiple slaps across its face. When time resumed, the little kitten was howling in pain as it fell to the ground.

“You loser! Do you still want to fight against me?” Matcha asked with his paws pressing against the kitten’s face, “Where is my phone? Return it to me!”

His rage and fury erupted as the little kitten opened its eyes.

“Meow!”

It opened its mouth and let out a loud meow. The cement floor which they stood on started to disappear. However, if you took a closer look, you would have noticed that the floor had turned into rows and rows of thin curved lines as they went straight into the kitten’s mouth.

The supercat standing right in front of Matcha had a unique and strong ability. Its mouth was like a portal to a new space-time dimension. It could absorb any matter into it.

Matcha was taken aback by its power as he witnessed the kitten absorbed the concrete floor into its mouth. Matcha immediately asked, “D*mn it, don’t tell me you can’t retrieve the things which you have eaten? What will happen to my phone?”

Matcha grabbed onto the kitten as he continued shouting, “Return me my phone!”

However, the kitten did not seem interested in communicating with Matcha. It just widened its mouth and started absorbing the surrounding matter with an even stronger force. It looked like it was capable of absorbing all non-living matter in the world.

Layers and layers of floor started disappearing. They did not disintegrate nor shatter but just went straight into the kitten’s mouth.

Stemming from its inability to absorb living matter, Matcha continued grabbing onto its body. Both cats were engaged in a fist fight as kicks followed punches. Matcha kicked the kitten’s stomach while the kitten retaliated with a punch to Matcha’s face.

Bim! Bam! Boom!

As both cats were busy with their fight, the little kitten continued to use its power as larger and heavier matter got sucked directly into its mouth.

After absorbing the flooring, pillars, cement and even the steel columns, the entire building started to shake a little. Everything began to fall to the ground, and the whole place was in complete chaos.

During their fight, both cats tumbled and rolled down the staircase.

In the midst of their fall, a pair of hands grabbed onto their necks, with one cat in each hand.

“It seems like we have a good catch today – 2 supercats,” The man said with both Matcha and the kitten in his hands and had a smile on his face. He sported a buzz cut and looked extremely muscular. He was either a bodybuilder or a wrestler.

He was grinning from ear to ear as he saw how both Matcha and the kitten were trying to escape from his clutches.

All this while, he had been observing their fight and was waiting for the right moment to strike.

He thought, “One has the power to suck everything into another dimension while the other has the power to teleport. I’m so lucky. Both have such strong power.”

Both Matcha and the kitten continued with their retaliation. The kitten opened its mouth and activated its power. The flooring underneath the man’s feet was absorbed along with the man’s clothes, phone, wallet, and all other non-living matter.

“D*mn it,” The man roared as he activated his superpower. His entire body turned reflective as he was coated with metal. His muscular body coupled with his metal exterior bore an uncanny resemblance to C3PO from Star Wars.

This is the power of the apostle – Metal Skin.

This power not only saved him from further embarrassment, but it also provided him with armor against Matcha's retaliation.

Matcha froze time again, but it remained firmly wedged between the man's arms. Matcha tried to attack the apostle with its claws, but it was futile.

After absorbing almost all the flooring, the kitten finally deactivated its power.

The kitten burped as it stared furiously at the metal man who was holding on to it.

The man let out a sigh of relief and said, "It finally ended? Such powers do have their limits."

The man jumped out of the pit which they were in as he surveyed the destruction which the kitten had inflicted onto the shopping mall. He said excitedly, "What a strong power! Such a shame that it does not work against living matter. However, if it does work against living matter, doesn't it make you invincible?"

The man turned his head and looked at Matcha, "Hmm? Why didn't you activate your power of teleportation? Don't tell me you cannot teleport once you're restrained?"

The man carried both the cats in his arms as he walked towards the exit delightedly.

"Haha, one has the power to teleport while the other can suck everything into another dimension. Boss will be so happy to have these cats."

...

Meanwhile, the trio had heard the explosions, and felt a slight tremor on the ground as they raced towards the source of the destruction.

"What happened?" Jin Jia Jia shouted.

"Is it another earthquake" Xiao Ming replied as he remained as clueless as ever.

However, Zhao Yao already had an inkling of what happened. His hypothesis was confirmed when time froze again.

“Matcha is fighting with someone.”

“Is it the cat which we are looking for?”

Zhao Yao turned around and replied, “I’ll be going over first. Do take care of yourself and do not come too close to me.”

As he spoke, he suddenly disappeared and reappeared in a far corner of the shopping mall. He disappeared from their vision as he turned the corner.

Xiao Ming exclaimed in excitement, “So fast!”

Jia Jia was awe-struck as she commented, “Damn, is that a flash jump?”

She immediately spoke to the viewers on her live streaming site, “Guys, did you see it? Master pulled off a flash jump as he covered one hundred meters in less than a second.”

However, she noticed that she had used the wrong camera to film it.

“Damn, I didn’t get it on tape? Oh my God!”

A new flood of comments appeared on her live streaming site, and most of her viewers voiced their disbelief.

Jia Jia was furious and retaliated, “If I’m lying, I’ll eat my sanitary pad.”

“D*mn it,” Jia Jia mumbled as she adjusted her camera towards the direction which Zhao Yao was running towards, “Faster, faster! I must get this on camera.”

Chapter 55: The Fight

The metalman continued to walk towards the exit as he watched the two cats struggling to escape from his arms. He said, "Alright, I know you can understand me. So just stop struggling because it's useless."

"Furthermore, I'm not going to kill you or do anything bad to you. I'm just going to bring you to my friend. It will be a safer and more comfortable environment to be in."

The metalman shook his head as both cats continued their relentless struggle. He continued, "Don't be afraid, I'll give you guys canned food when we get back..."

Suddenly, metalman's vision turned blurry, and both cats had disappeared from his arms in a split second.

"Hmm?" Metalman heightened his alertness as he looked around for them. He immediately spotted Zhao Yao at the corner of the shopping mall. Zhao Yao took out the manila hemp from his waist and started to tie the kitten to restrain its movement. Matcha stood beside Zhao Yao with a smug on his face and shouted, "Hey big guy! Here comes my battle pet, you're dead!"

"Zhao Yao, attack him, just slam your body against his."

Metalman could not understand Matcha's words as he did not possess the BOOK which Zhao Yao had.

He just stared at Zhao Yao with a look of suspicion. This time, Zhao Yao had already covered his face using his mask, making him an even more suspicious character in metalman's eyes.

The kitten which was restrained by Zhao Yao's manila hemp started to meow too. It stared at Zhao Yao indignantly, and a fierce female voice erupted in Zhao Yao's head, "A*shole, let me go!"

"Hmm," Zhao Yao took a glance at the kitten and thought, "Another female cat?"

The kitten was shocked to hear Zhao Yao's voice in her head and replied, "You! You can understand what I'm saying?"

Zhao Yao sniggered and replied, "Take a break first. I will explain everything to you once I've taken care of this bloke." Zhao Yao placed the kitten on his back as he spoke to her.

Metalman demanded, “Hmmm...are you the apostle to the LiHua cat? You used the power of teleportation to take away the cats from my hands?” That’s interesting.”

Zhao Yao’s faced turned into a frown as he replied, “Are you a cat thief?”

Metalman started loosening his shoulders and said, “Don’t you collect supercats too? After adopting these supercats, we receive the power from them, making ourselves invincible. Does that require further explanation?”

“The fat LiHua cat belongs to me while the kitten is a stray cat. However, I’m here to adopt the stray cat which means that you are stealing from me.”

“What an accusation,” Metalman replied with a sneer.

As metalman was speaking, he accelerated towards Zhao Yao and was about to smash his body against Zhao Yao.

Not only did his defense improved radically with his metal coating, but his weight had also increased to a point where it was far heavier than any ordinary human being. The effects were similar to a knight wearing his armor. If not for his muscular body, most human beings would have crumbled under the metal’s weight.

He was like an elephant on a rampage as he sprinted towards Zhao Yao. Every step he took was followed by a thunderous boom as he continued racing toward Zhao Yao with an unprecedented amount of power.

If this force smashed an average person, he would undoubtedly suffer from fractures or even internal bleeding.

However, Zhao Yao had received Matcha’s superpower and had gone through rigorous training. When put against such a clumsy attack, he could have dodged it even if his power was on cooldown.

He tilted his body to the side to dodge the attack and whispered, “Elizabeth.”

A glimmer of red light flashed across his eyes, and Zhao Yao was in control of metalman's body.

Metalman just felt that his body went stiff and he had lost control of his body's movement. He stared at Zhao Yao with a look of astonishment and said, "You..."

Metalman's fist started to punch his face repeatedly. Under the influence of Zhao Yao's power, the metalman could not help but let Zhao Yao control his movements.

When his metal fist struck against his metal head, it was like a hammer smashing against a coin. There was a constant clanking sound as metalman was left in a daze after the beating.

At that moment, something violently grabbed onto Zhao Yao's ankle.

"Hmm, another partner?" The same red light flashed across Zhao Yao's eyes, and he had already controlled the opponent using Elizabeth's power.

Zhao Yao took a safer approach by putting the unknown enemy under Elizabeth's power immediately to prevent any mishaps from happening. It would be disastrous if the unknown enemy was extremely powerful and managed to subdue Zhao Yao.

Zhao Yao immediately took a few steps back from the unknown enemy. Consequently, metalman had been released from the influence of Elizabeth's power, and he once again charged against Zhao Yao with a loud roar.

Zhao Yao raised his eyebrow and whispered, "Matcha."

The cooldown for Matcha's power had elapsed, and the entire world turned into a standstill. Zhao Yao walked towards the metalman and landed a fury of kicks on his knee.

You would only be as strong as your weakest link. In metalman's case, due to the position of his joints, they were not coated with metal which left them wide open for attack. Under the pressure of the additional weight, his joints were made even more vulnerable.

When time resumed, metalman felt a blur in his vision, and Zhao Yao had disappeared. He felt a searing pain in his knee. It was as if a giant hammer had smashed against it. Furthermore, under the weight of his armor, his knee buckled.

Metalman's knee fractured as he collapsed to the ground with a loud clank. His fall was similar to a Spanish fighting bull collapsing in a bullfight.

Zhao Yao was standing not too far away, with the kitten on his back and Matcha in his arms. He stared at metalman carefully in case he suddenly retaliated.

Matcha tapped Zhao Yao on his shoulders and pointed his paws towards metalman and said, "Good job Zhao Yao! Now is the time for your million ton punch."

"Shut up," Zhao Yao said as he slapped Matcha across his head, "We still have one more enemy lurking around. The enemy's only option is to attack me or save his friend." Zhao Yao stared at the metalman and roared with laughter, "So what are you planning to do now?"

Metalman stared at Zhao Yao with a gloomy expression.

Within a short span of less than 1 minute, Zhao Yao not only wielded a vast array of skills and he did it nonchalantly. Zhao Yao was able to defeat him without breaking a sweat.

The metalman then shouted, "Don't save me, return first! Go back to our boss, and he will think of something!"

"Oh? So you guys have a boss?" Zhao Yao frowned and continued, "I guess you guys are a cat thief organization?"

The metalman just giggled as he looked at Zhao Yao. He did not want to initiate another fight nor was he interested in begging for mercy. He just stared at Zhao Yao and spoke in a matter-of-fact tone, "You are strong. Honestly speaking, I've never seen a human borrow so many power and used it so proficiently. You are definitely the first of your kind."

However, strength always lies in numbers. As long as we use an ingenious method to sneak up on you, even the strongest apostle or supercat will fall without a fight. Are you sure you want to be our enemy?"

Even though the enemy was incredibly strong and took him down in a matter of seconds, metalman was not dejected nor was in awe of the enemy's power.

To him, there was no such thing as absolute strength regarding superpower. This was unlike a martial arts novel.

Regardless of how strong you were, you would still be vulnerable to backstab, hypnosis and other methods of assassination.

Metalman believed that the only method to acquire real strength was in numbers. By establishing an organization where apostles and supercats could look out for one another, they would be invincible.

That was the goal metalman was heading towards.
